CONFIRMATION BY SENATE DESIRED

Washington, Oct. 30. — "The friends of the Federal Reserve system as at present constituted are doing their own cause no good when they propose that the President shall be given authority to reappoint a member of the Board at the expiration of his term, without confirmation by the Senate," declares the Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr. "This is a reflection upon the Senate or upon the incumbent whose reappointment is desired.

"It cannot be otherwise construed. If a present member is competent and his record of service is good, why should he be reluctant to have his appointment by the President go before the Senate for confirmation? If a man confident of his own fitness is unwilling to have his appointment sent to the Senate, then he must take the position that our system of government is wrong and that the Senate should not be given such power in any case. If the Senate cannot be trusted to confirm a reappointment, then it follows that it cannot be trusted to pass upon an appointment in the first instance.

"The framers of the American Constitution endeavored, and wisely, to prevent the establishment of an autocratic government in the United States. In this effort they erected several safeguards. One of these established three co-ordinate branches of government, legislative, executive and judicial. Another placed the initiation of revenue laws exclusively in the House of Representatives. Another kept the militia, in time of peace, in the control of the states. Still another limited military appropriations to two years. Another required that appointments by the President must be confirmed by the Senate. This last was not the least of the safeguards against dictatorship.

"It may readily be agreed that the Federal Reserve System is a very important feature of our governmental structure. We learned in 1920 that the Board can control credit. In its official report, the Board asserted that it could and did determine its policies with a view to aiding the expansion or contraction of credits. That being true, it is perfectly obvious that we have in our governing machinery no more powerful agency than the Federal Reserve Board.

"If confirmation by the Senate is desirable in any cause it is certainly desirable in apponitments to the Federal Reserve Board. To assert that such submission of nominations to the Senate is not desirable is a reflection not only upon the intelligence and honor of the Senate but a reflection upon the intelligence and honor of the people who selected the members of the Senate. If the people have elected fools and crooks to the Senate, then our system of popular government is a failure. That is the inevitable conclusion that must be reached from the demand of friends of the Federal Reserve Board who ask that reappointments be effective without confirmation by the Senate.

"There has been widespread doubt as to the success of the Federal Reserve System. That doubt will be greatly increased by the effort of friends of the system to get it out from under the restraining influence of a Senate composed of 96 men chosen from every walk of life, from every section of the country and from both leading political parties."

Sunday school is still moving on nicely though our attendance is not as many as we would like to see.

Preaching at the Methodist church Sunday was fine. Everybody near should have come out to hear the first sermon in the new church. The Sunday school also met and elected Mr. Arthur Crane Superintendent. We wish them much success in their new building.

Mr. A. V. Klinner of Orville was a welcome visitor to home folks Saturday night.

Mr. Harmon Broadhead and his sister, Miss Bernice, have returned home from an extended visit to relatives in Birmingham.

Messrs H. G. and C. S. Ratliff motored to Selma on business last week.

Mr. Charlie Carter of Clanton was a welcome visitor here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Ratliff and charming children of Maplesville, were visiting relatives here Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Alma Klinner of Plantersville High School was visiting home folks Saturday night.

The birthday party given Saturday night by Miss Anthel Ratliff in honor of her fifteenth birthday was the most beautiful of the season. Miss Ratliff was assisted in entertaining her guest by Miss Ruth Carter of Billingsley. Many interesting games were played, after which Miss Carter played many beautiful selections on the piano. The guests were then invited into the dining room where cake and hot chocolate were served to eighteen guests. The large cake held 15 cannels to represent the fifteenth birthday. The dining room was made bright for the occasion by large ferns and chrysanthumums. We wish Miss Ratliff many happy returns of the day.

The Railroads and Industries Are Siamese Twins—

The railroads of this country are dependent upon the industries for their existence; and, likewise, the industries are dependent upon the railroads. Like the Siamese Twins, they are truly joined together by an inseparable bond. The health of the one means the health of the other, and the sickness of one means the sickness of the other.

Without railroad service, the products of the farms and the output of the factories become almost valueless in their restricted markets. When the arteries of transportation are either choked or suffering from anemia, industry catches the contagion and suffers from the same diseases.

The railroads are among the country's largest buyers. They purchase and consume one fourth of all of the coal mined in the United States; one fourth of all the lumber, and from thirty to forty per cent of the output of the iron and steel factories. The railroads and their purchases directly feed, clothe and support some 12 million Americans. Verily, therefore, the good health of the railroads insures the good health of the entire nation.

The purchasing power of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad and of its more than fifty thousand employees aids materially in keeping busy the wheels of industry within the thirteen states which the L. & N. serves.

Governmental "regulation", or strangulation, of the railroads regulates your business and prosperity as well. You can't hurt one without hurting the other.

As susal, Senator Heflin was given a chance to enter into a joint debate with some of the Republican leaders while he was in Chilton County, and as usual, he did not have the time to spare. The Senator always pulls that same old bone when asked to share his time with a Republican speaker. There's a reason.

Someone remarked the other day that politics in Chilton County had gotten so that you could not tell when a political campaign was on. There is about as much fuss going on between times as there is during real campaigns. This is a bad mistake we make. When a campaign is over we ought to forget about politics and get right down to real business.

FORD NEEDS NO HISTORY

Bacon said that "Histories make men wise," but Henry Ford says that "History is Bunk." Perhaps, for Ford's purposes, history is "bunk," for Ford became a multimillionaire without having read any history. But history is not "bunk" for a man who aspires to the high office of President—an office that requires the incumbent to deal with international problems interwoven with history for thousands of yeares. The world was not built in a day, and no man can understand human institutions unless he has a pretty fair knowledge of their origin and development. To the statesman, history is of prime importance. But since Mr. Ford denies he is an aspirant for the presidency, it is not of much consequence that he thinks history is "bunk."

CITIZEN'S POLITICAL DUTY

Col. Theodore Roosevelt: "It ought to be axiomatic in this country that every man must devote a reasonable share of his time to doing duty in the political life of the community. No man has a right to shirk his political duties under whatever plea of business; and while such shirking may be pardoned the man of small means, it is entirely unpardonable in those among whom it is most common—in the people whose circumstances give them freedom in the struggle for life."

U. S. IS FRIEND TO ALL

The American Legion urges the Government to continue cordial relations with our war allies. The administration needs no spur in that direction. Those relations will never be endangered by anything this country may do, but some of the suggestions received from those allies are apt to create a strained feeling. Those nations owe American tax payers about $11,000,000,000 of just debts, and when they intimate the money may never be paid, cordial relations suffer a severe blow. Some other suggeestions from allied sources have failed to strike a friendly note in the United States. American foriegn policy is conducted on the basis of the square deal. We ask no more or less in the treatment accorded us by foriegn governments. So long as we are granted it our relations will be as cordial as any one could wish.

A GREAT CONSTRUCTIVE PLAN

The administration is taking the initiative in calling attention once more to the "super-power" project for the north-eastern part of the country. Secretary of Commerce Hoover will soon call a conference of state officials, electric power representatives, and Federal officers to study the details of the project, and the obstacles that lie in the way of fulfillment. A preliminary meeting of public utility commissioners and others has already been held with Mr. Hoover in New York.

The scheme involves the linking together of electric generating plants, the construction of new hydro-electric units, and the erection of additional steam generating plants adjacent to coal fields. It is claimed that great economies could be effected through the joint operation of the plants, and losses due to breakdowns or low water in one section obviated by furnishing power from neighboring generations. If the plan is adopted and works succesfsully in the last may be extended to other parts of the country.

A VAGUE SUGGESTION

Another instance of the wish being father of the thought is furnished in the case of President Hibbing of Princeton University, recently returned from a trip to Europe. Dr. Hibbing has long been an ardent advocate of American participation the League of Nations, so, like so many other travelers of similar mind, he finds Europe on the verge of war unless the United States employs its good offices to relieve the tension now existing. What those "good offices" may be is not stated, but they are not difficult to conjecture.

Mr. Hughes, in his New Haven speech last December, outlined a plan for settlement of the reparations problem, which is at the bottom of all the European unrest. It has been referred to by Mr. Lloyd George and other distinguished men as the most feasible scheme yet suggested. It did not involve United States officially in any way; nevertheless, were this Government to make suggestions to Europe, it is highly probable they would follow the lines of the Hughes address. It may be considered, therefore, that those countries have already received the advice of the Washington government, although it was not submitted in the name of the government.

But the fact that President Hibbing and other internatoionalists are still asking for the employment of our good offices toward Europe, indicates that the term does not include advice at all, but means something far more material. It means cancellation of the debt of some $11,000,000,000 owed by European countries to the American tax payers, the abolition of the Republican tariff that protects American workingmen from the competition of cheap foreign labor, the acceptance by the United States of the obligations of the League of Nations, with consequent policing by American soldiers and sailors of disturbed areas the world over, and the collection of the reparations bill from Germany. "Good offices," when used by our League friends, is a very elastic term. Those offices are good for Europe, but decidedly damaging to Americans.

MUSCLE SHOALS AND GORGAS

Although Gorgas, where the steam plant of the government which was recently sold to the Alabama Power Company is located, is 91 miles from Muscle Shoals, yet there are numbers of people in the United States who think that they are both located right together. This misunderstanding of the location of the steam plant has caused some people to criticize the government in selling the steam plant to the Alabama Power Company. Gorgas and Muscle Shoals are two separate and distant things and are located 91 miles apart.

It also might be interesting to know that in February, 1918, while the World War was in progress, the Alabama Power Company sold to the United States Government the land where the Wilson Dam and nitrate plants are now being constructed on the Tennessee River for the sum of $1.00. The war department needed this property to construct a munitions plant, so the Power Company virtually gave the property to them.

On September 24, 1923, the Alabama Power Compnay paid to the government nearly 3 1-2 million dollars for its interest in the Gorgas steam plant on the Warrior River. So it is very apparent that the criticism which Secretary Weeks and the government at Washington is getting for selling this property is altogether unfounded. It would be nothing more than right for the government to have given the Power Company its interest in the steam plant in lieu of the Muscle Shoals site donation in 1918.

EXPOSING DISLOYALTY

The American Defense Society, the Women's Constitutional League, and the Woman Patriotic Publishing Company have united in a petition to President Coolidge asking him to enforce that section of the United States criminal code which, they declare, prohibits unauthorized correspondence between a citizen of the United States and any officer of a foriegn government. It is the purpose of the patriotic societies to cut the lines of communications between this country and soviet Russia. They declare it is entirely a Federal matter for the reason that no state can deal with such correspondence. Without the enforcement of the law, they assert, American public opinion and institutions "are at the mercy of any revolutionary foreign government desiring to corupt or overthrow them by paid propaganda and the maintenance of criminal agents and factories in the United States."

The American Defense Society, and other organizations co-operating with it, are engaged in a laudable work. They have done much to inform the public of the insidious influences that are active in its midst, and to warn the people against their corrupting effect on our government. Whether the law they have cited can be applied with advantage is for the President and the Department of Justice to decide, but it is well to have it called to public attention and discussed. If there is any practical means for ending the stream of pollution that is coming into this country from Russia, it ought to be put into effect.

Why Mothers no longer fear Child-birth

AN eminent physician has shown why there is so much useless suffering on the part of many expectant mothers, for months before baby comes, as well as when baby actually arrives.

This same great doctor found the way to avoid much of this suffering. Mother, your baby's nerves, its whole structure should be free from any influence caused by your months of useless misery and pain. You yourself can be free from much of it. Here is a little message to all expectant mothers:

Mrs. Ida Milton, 108 N. Tremont St., Kansas, Ill., says: "I am forced to say something in regard to your wonderful 'Mother's Friend.' Just one application gave me such relief I could hardly realize I was in pregnancy. Before I used it I was suffering with pains all over, and today, I am able to do my housework with all ease and without pain."

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally, and enables the muscles, nerves and tissues to relax and readjust themselves with the growing changes during pregnancy, and at child-birth. It should be used for some time before baby comes—the sooner the better.

"Mother's Friend" contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. It is safe. For three generations "Mother's Friend" has relieved expectant mothers of much useless suffering. Mother! you must avoid mere greases and useless substitutes. Begin using "Mother's Friend" today. It is sold at drug stores—everywhere.

The Value of Land Abstracts

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

POOR ORIGINAL

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager)

Members of the Baptist church and congregation, who supposed they had secured an acceptable pastor in Rev. John J. Milford, of Birmingham, and had gathered in force to hear his first sermon, as their pastor, were subjected to a severe jolt when he arose and told his people that he had received and accepted a call to a church at Carrolton, Ga., and would go at once to his new field. Although present at that meeting last Sunday morning, the writer was unable to learn just why Dr. Milford had decided on this sudden change, but was satisfied that the Thorsby church were not responsible for his decision as they have recently shown unusual activity and zeal financially and spiritually and were rejoicing in having raised sufficient subscriptions to cover the sum needed to bring Dr. Milford to Thorsby for two Sundays a month. They have the sympathy of the whole community in their loss and disappointment. But like the plucky fellows they are, will soon be up and at it again in the search for a man who can acceptably minister to an intelligent people.

At the Congregational church on Sunday, Nov. 4th, Miss Olive Pearson, who has previously visited Thorsby, and each time made new friends by her eloquence and pleasing personality, will speak at the hour of morning service. We have not been informed as to her subject, but whatever it is Thorsby people may rest assured that she will bring a message worth hearing, as she has just returned from the Congregational National Council, with it's 3,000 delegates, held at Springfield, Mass., and also is this week attending the Congregational State Conference at Hanceville, Ala.

If present plans are not changed to give Miss Pearson opportunity to speak Sunday night, there will be at the Congregational church following the Christian Endeavor meeting, the regular monthly Praise Service, (singing), to which the people of Thorsby and vicinity are invited. There being no regular services in either of the other churches the first Sunday in each month, it has been planned to make a regular feature of first Sunday nights to have a song service at this church. The few already held have been greatly enjoyed.

A note received from Rev. Charles W. Snyder, who recently came to Thorsby with his mother, from his home near Lebanon, Ohio, and met with an accident that resulted in a broken leg. He was supposed to have made a remarkably quick recovery, at least to the extent of being able to get around with the aid of a crutch. On reaching his Ohio home and finding that the injured leg was not doing well he went to a Lebanon Hospital and submitted to an X-Ray examination which disclosed the fact that he had suffered a triple fracture of the bones of his leg near the ankle and that only one of the fractures had been set and that in a way that required it to be broken and reset in proper position. Although it was a complicated and ugly fracture and had it not been discovered in time Mr. Snyder would have been crippled for life. As it is he will be confined to the hospital for some time, but hopes to come out able to walk straight.

The principal social event in Thorsby last week was the triple birthday party in honor of Mr. J. L. Foss, Mr. M. J. Soberg and Mrs. C. R. Foss, all of them having a birthday anniversary within the one week. Rev. Wilhelm Petterson, who delights to stage such events as serve to quicken the social attributes of Thorsby community, was the instigator of the plan, which involved a complete surprise on all of the honor guests, except that Mrs. Foss knew that the assembly was to meet with her. Some very substantial presents were given to the unsuspecting victims who were haled into court to answer for misdemeanors and punished by gifts.

Everybody was in a jolly mood and did full justice to the bountiful refreshments.

Backache on the Farm

The farmer's wife who bears and rears children, does her own housework, keeps chickens and has other outside work to do, needs a sound back to carry her burden of toil. So does the farmer, who has to work early and late, and to do much bending and lifting.

Unfortunately, it is a fact that more farm men and women than other people suffer with lame or aching backs, and it is a trouble that allows hardly a moment's peace, day or night.

Chronic backache is very often due to weak kidneys and for kidney trouble, Dr. Pierce has worked out a new and special remedy, "An-uric." Ask your druggist for it.

"An-uric," by increasing the flow of the urine, helps the kidneys to flush out of the system the uric poisons that cause the damage to the kidneys and bladder, the aching back, swollen joints and many aches and pains that are ordinarily called rheumatism.

BLEED THROUGH

SINGING AT OAK HILL CHURCH LAST SUNDAY

Last Sunday was the occasion of an all day singing at this place. The United Singing Society combined with other singers from different parts of Chilton county, rendered one of the best musical programs ever listened to in this part of the country. The class was composed of a bunch of fine singers who can deliver the goods right off the bat when it comes to singing.

In the forenoon the following directors conducted lessons: E. L. Glasscock, Harrison Hays, Chester Maddox, James Franklin, O. L. Devaughn, Ralph D. Grant and Henderson Hays. This brought us up to the noon hour and a bountiful dinner was spread by the good ladies, unstingily and free for all.

In the afternoon we had the pleasure of listening to the directions of other noted singers, including Burl Martin, E. H. Foshee, Vester Campbell, Lee Grant, W. M. Devaughn, L. T. Grant, A. H. Glasscock, with W. M. Devaughn and L. T. Grant each directing the second time.

The class sang beautifully, "If you love your mother meet her in the skies," directed by master Jack Cobb. The Verbena quartette was present and rendered several selections. The quartette is composed of W. M. Devaughn, L. T. Grant, O. L. Devaughn, Ralph D. Grant. Their singing received a high note of praise from all who heard them.

The Jemison quartette, composed of David Childress, E. L. Glasscock, Vester Campbell and A. H. Glasscock, were present and rendered two beautiful selections which also brought forth high notes of praise.

Organists for the day were, Mrs. Chester Maddox, Misses Esther Atkinson, Miss Hays, Gena Collins, Flosise Cobb and Messrs Ralph and Lee Grant. E. L. Glasscock acted as chairman for the day and in his usual good natural way made everybody feel welcome and perfectly at home.

The whole day was pronounced a success and was expressed by many who came from different parts of the county that after being made acquainted with the Oak Hill Method of entertaining visitors they were anxious to again hear the call to come back and be with us again for another day of this kind, and we are always anxious to extend a glad hand of welcome to our many friends who visit us. We sing here every fourth Sunday afternoon, Sunday school at 10:00 a. m., every Sunday, preaching every first Sunday at 11:00 a. m., Class meeting every second Sunday 11 a. m., prayer meeting every Wednesday 7:00 p. m. The public is invited to attend all our services.

Weak Back

Mrs. Mildred Pipkin, of R. F. D. 8, Columbia, Tenn., says: "My experience with Cardui has covered a number of years. Nineteen years ago . . . I got down with weak back. I was run-down and so weak and nervous I had to stay in bed. I read of

CARDUI

and sent for it. I took only one bottle at that time, and it helped me; seemed to strengthen and build me right up. So that is how I first knew of Cardui. After that, . . . when I began to get weak and 'no account', I sent right for Cardui, and it never failed to help me."

If you are weak and suffering from womanly ailments, Cardui may be just what you need. Take Cardui. It has helped thousands, and ought to help you.

INTERNATIONAL HEALTH BOARD FIGHT HOOKWORMS

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 29.—After an inspection of conditions in Alabama and the thoroughness with which the research work is being conducted, the International Health Board has decided to spend more than thirty-five thousand dollars in continuing the fight against hookworm, in connectoin with the Alabama State Board of Health.

This decision was reached following a lengthy conference with officials of the State Board of Health, and a study of charts prepared by the engineering department showing just how this work is being done in Alabama.

Representatives of the International Health Board, after a visit to the state last week and a study of the work being done by the State Board, declared that Alabama has the best organization of any state in the union for the conversation of the public health.

Especially complimentary were the visitors upon the close attention to detail in the efforts to control typhoid fever and malarial diseases. The charts and statistics on these two diseases were declared to be as thorough as it is possible to make such charts and figures.

"I left my money at home," said the lady to the conductor. "You will have to trust me. I am one of the director's wives."

"I am sorry, madam," replied the conductor. "I can't do that even if you were the director's only wife."

EIGHT BIG UNITS NOW OPERATING IN ALABAMA

BY LEON W. FRIEDMAN.
Industrial Editor The Birmingham News.

Despite low water, the Alabama Power Company is caring for the needs of its customers in Alabama and diverting power to Georgia and the two Carolinas to pull them past the low water period, operating eight units, its total, in Alabama—five steam plants, including Gorgas and the Sheffield plant in the Muscle Shoals District, and three hydro stations, including Lock 12 and Mitchell Dam.

The power is being sent into Georgia and relayed to the Carolinas, where industries have been suffering for lack of power and in some instances closing down.

The surplus power in Alabama, not affecting the supply for this state, handle in the Caro- and ne-

Converting Alabama Coal Into Electricity Saves Many Industries

Electricity is energy. Like time, it passes without pause. Electricity cannot be manufactured and stored away for future use. It must be manufactured instantly, as required, whether one or a thousand turn on light and power. This necessitates plant capacity equal to the greatest demand, and constant watchfulness on the part of the men and women employes of the Power Company.

The surplus steam power which the Alabama Power Company has been, and is now able to send to the Carolina and Georgia industries, comes from the Company's four principal steam plants, and particularly from the Sheffield and Gorgas steam plants.

The Company is amply meeting all demands, supplying a 100% service at home and a maximum out-of-state load of 40,000 horse-power daily, despite the fact that Alabama's rivers are experiencing one of the longest droughts ever recorded in this section. This is made possible by the big steam plants being located at the mouths of Alabama coal mines.

As hydro developments now under construction are completed and the necessary steam reserve provided, Alabama grows in importance, not only as a producer of adequate and cheap power, but as the strong link in the chain of interconnected systems which serves as a means for conserving the State's natural resources and brings a revenue into the State that would otherwise be lost, thereby enriching Alabama and her sister States in like proportion.

It is the policy of Alabama Power Company to—

RED CROSS ADVANCING IN HEALTH CAMPAIGN

Extends Service to New Fields and Brings Healing Hope to Remote Sections.

"The supreme opportunity for leadership" for the American Red Cross is its health service. Thus a committee made up of prominent physicians, sanitarians and public health experts, after months of exhaustive study, reported and urged that not only should the Red Cross continue its present service, but should undertake a comprehensive educational campaign along public health lines. The annual report of the American Red Cross, just issued, discloses that it has grasped this opportunity in the fields of public health nursing, instruction in home hygiene and care of the sick, nutrition work, first aid to the injured and in water life-saving.

Health service is fundamentally, historically and practically an important function of the Red Cross, and each year marks its extension into new fields and along broader lines. In the Red Cross Nursing Service there are enrolled nearly 40,000 nurses, 20,000 of whom served during the World War. The past year Red Cross nurses were assigned to duty in isolated sections of Alaska and North Carolina and to work among the fishermen of Penobscot Bay, Me.

The Public Health Nursing Service, inaugurated by the American Red Cross in 1912, which operates chiefly in rural sections untouched by other public health agencies, has 1,038 Red Cross nurses working under the direction of Chapters. This work has won so high a regard that many of the nurses are taken over by the local authorities to maintain health services for their communities. Instruction in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick is noting a steady advance. Since 1914 certificates of proficiency have been given 304,427 women who completed the Red Cross course. In the last year 26,595 certificates were awarded and 65,901 students were under the instruction of 1,054 Red Cross nurses.

The benefits derived from meals balanced to meet each person's peculiar needs is winning widespread recognition through the work of the Red Cross Nutrition Service, particularly in the schools. During the school year 2,688 carried on regular instruction in nutrition, reached more than 150,000 children and adults. More than 2,250 volunteers assisted in this work. Throughout the country 35,283 health meetings were held under Red Cross auspices, attended by approximately 254,500 persons.

Mr. Maurice Lande, Manager of The Leader, is going to offer to the public of Chilton County the stock of goods which was damaged in the recent fire at his store at very low prices. The sale will be held in the McDonald old stand next to the railroal and also in the B. L. Jones old stand on West Side. Mr. Lande is getting ready to go back into business, and after the damaged goods are disposed of he will be permanently located in the McDonald place.

UNITY ASSOCIATION MINUTES PRINTED

The Banner Print Shop has just turned over to Mr. Grady Harris, Secretary of the Unity Baptist Association, their minutes for the Association held a few weeks ago. Mr. Harris has made record time in getting the proceedings of the association in minute form. The clerk generally don't get the minutes till two or three months after the association, but Mr. Harris believes in getting them out just as soon after the association as possible, which is a good idea.

CANE CREEK

Quite a crowd came out to church Sunday morning and listened to a masterful sermon delivered by Rev. Lockhart. We deeply appreciate the visit of Bro. Lockhart and ask him for another appointment at any time he sees fit.

In the afternoon the singing societies of Walnut Creek, Cane Creek and Refuge respectively, met at this place and witnessed one of the best singings in the history of either society. At 2 o'clock the house was called to order by the Chairman. Two songs were sung and prayer was offered by Rev. Malcom Lockhart. The committee retired for a few moments, returning with the following program: Mr. R. M. Robinson, Mr. John Clackler, two songs each; quartett by Mr. Willie Mims his brothers, and Mr. Marion Thompson. Mr. Leland Powell Mr. Clyde Mims, two songs each; quartette by Mr. J. A. W. Mims, Miss Beanie Mims, Mr. Rufus Powell and Mr. Enoch Mims. Mr. R. E. Powell, Mr. O. R. Robinson two songs each. Another quartette arranged by Mr. Willie Mims. Miss Zula Willis and Miss Everee Maddox two songs each.

Quartette arranged by Mr. Willie Mims.

By request a quartette, "Will It Be You," was rendered by Mr. O. R. Robinson, Miss Zula Willis, Mr. R. M. Robinson, Mr. Leland Powell.

Many more able directors were present but the hour being late the closing song "Beyond the Beautiful Gate," was sung by Mr. O. R. Robinson. We were then dismissed with prayer by Mr. J. N. Miner, thus ending the most successful singing ever held at this place.

Organists for the afternoon were: Misses Everee Maddox, Zula Willis, Mr. Clyde Miner and Mrs. Margaret Kennedy.

The societies will meet at Walnut Creek next Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and we hope to see a large attendance.

THIS YEAR'S COTTON CROP

A late report from the Department of Commerce at Washington says that Chilton County has produced this year 5,118 bales of cotton as against 9,519 in 1922. This is quite a decrease, and practically all of the cotton in Chilton County has been ginned. The total number for the state this year is 399,028 and 610,152 for last year.

The price quoted on the New York market Wednesday for good middling cotton was 33.25. The New Orleans market was just slightly below this figure. The price of cotton on the Clanton market Wednesday was 31½c per pound.

INDUSTRIAL REHABILITATION

Mr. Terry C. Foster, supervisor of Industrial Rehabilitation of the State Department of Education was in Clanton Tuesday in the interest of his department. The purpose of this department of the state's education system is to take people who are disabled from any cause and teach them some vocation which they are capable of handling. It is doing a great work in our state, and a more worthy cause than theirs is hard to mention. They have taken charge of cripples of all descriptions and taught them a trade which makes them self-supporting, and in some cases those whom they turn out are drawing nice salaries. Anyone desiring help in this line should communicate with this department at Montgomery.

Commissioner C. T. Walker of Lawley was in Clanton Monday seeing that circuit court was going on right. We didn't hear of him making any kick, so it must be all right.

NOTICE TO THE GENERAL PUBLIC

Dr. Gragg Wants Friends to Know That he is Still in Business For their Health.

Yes, I am right here, just west of the railroad crossing, with offices in the Roper building; and with the help of the Lord I expect to do more work than ever before.

Last summer, when I was very sick, and it appeared to me and my best friends that I could never be well again; a cowardly, vile wretch, who is worse than a thief and equal to a robber who would cut one's throat in the dark and rob his dead body, undertook to take advantage of my sickness and start a black and infamous lie regarding a conversation that it was alleged had taken place between my wife and daughter, and to this, other insinuations were added. Now, I want to brand this party as being everything low that the English language can describe and want to offer him $1000.00 and promise to borrow the money to pay it, if he will just let his identity be known and bring up the evidence to prove one bit of truth in his statement. I will also do lots more for him that I am not mentioning here!

Yes, I am here, and believe that the Lord is going to bless me with complete recovery of my health and I know that I will have all the work that I can do among the very best class of people.

Sincerely yours,
V. J. GRAGG.

NEW BUSINESS FIRM TO OPEN UP IN CLANTON

A complete change in the management of one of Clanton's leading mercantile establishments will be learned of with interest by the trading public of Chilton county. The concern of Connell & Kendrick which has been doing business in the building next to The Union-Banner office for the past year has dissolved and will do business here no more. Mr. Connell is taking his half of the goods and moving them to Mt. Creek, where he will go in business for himself, and Mr. Kendrick has sold his half to Messrs. Jesse Baker and Rowland Taylor, which two gentlemen will operate the business in the future. Mr. Baker was connected with the same establishment up to a year ago, when he and T. M. Taylor sold out to Connell & Kendrick. Mr. Rowland Taylor has been traveling for a wholesale grocery establishment in Anniston for the past eight years, before which he was in the mercantile business in Clanton.

Both Mr. Baker and Mr. Taylor are well known in this vicinity, and especially is the former by virtue of his having been in business here in some form or other for the past several years. Mr. Baker is now county treasurer of Chilton county. Mr. Taylor is the son of T. G. Taylor of Clanton and is a brother of T. M. Taylor, now manager of the Chicago Sales Company of Clanton. Rowland clerked in the store owned by T. G. Taylor in Clanton several years ago, and also worked in the mercantile store of L. H. Reynolds while that business was in operation here. He is well acquainted with the line of business he is about to enter, and we are sure that he and his partner will do good business when they get started out. They expect to have the store open for business next Saturday, Nov. 10, and they extend an invitation to their friends to call around to see them.

In passing we might state that "Jimmie" will still be the chief clerk of the store under the new management.

M. D. FOSHEE IN CLANTON

Mr. Marion D. Foshee, who is now living in Fort Payne and managing The DeKalb Republican, was in Clanton the latter part of last week. He came down here Thursday and returned Tuesday of this week. Mr. Foshee reports that everything in DeKalb county is on a boom, and that he and W. M. Wyatt are liking their new location better and better every day. We are indeed glad to hear that they are doing well up there.

FORD MAY BID ON MUSCLE SHOALS

Now Proposed by Congressmen to Have Another Plant Built for Detroiter's Use.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Plans for the installation of a new power plant to replace the Gorgas power plant and to aid in the disposition of Muscle Shoals were laid before President Coolidge today by Chairman Madden, of the house appropriations committee.

Mr. Madden declared congress was anxious to "clean up this Muscle Shoals proposition" through the lease or sale of the war built properties to private interests and would turn its attention along this line at the opening sessions.

The proposed new plant, Mr. Madden explained, would be built at Dams 15, 16 and 17, located about ten miles southwest of Gorgas. A new power transmission line from the plant to Muscle Shoals proper also would be authorized. This would bring a revised offer from Henry Ford for the property, he believed.

Additional expenditures by private interests of approximately $50,000,000 would establish there the "greatest power plant in the world," Representative Madden said.

Secretary Weeks announced today that the war department will approve renewal of the lease of the government's power plant at the Wilson dam, one of the units of the Muscle Shoals project, to the Alabama Power Company.

FORD TO ERECT PLANT ON MISSISSIPPI RIVER

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 5.—All major decisions covering the construction of the Ford Motor Company's plant to be erected along the Mississippi river between Minneapolis and St. Paul have been made and details just announced here give the first information regarding the magnitude of the new Ford project.

Hydro-electric plant, steam plant and manufacturing and assembly plant constitute the three important buildings with interest centering chiefly about the hydro-electric development since it represents the company's most extensive undertaking of this kind.

The dam where the power will be developed is 574 feet long and was completed by the Government in 1917. When the Ford engineers started work it was discovered that modification of the power house substructure built by the government was necessary in order to take advantage of improvements since made in water wheel design. More than 6,000 cubic feet of concrete work was torn out and the changes are now nearly completed. They will permit intsallation of modern turbines and besides flow conditions will effect the highest efficiency.

The power house will be 160 feet long by 74 feet wide and 48 feet above the foundation. Four water wheels of 4,500 horsepower will be installed, which, in conjunction with four vertical generators, will under normal conditions produce approxiately 18,000 horse-power.

Within a short distance of the hydroelectric plant, and on the river bank, it also is planned to erect a steam power house to supplement the water power in case of emergency.

The immense manufacturing and assembly plant will be erected on an imposing site on the bluff 100 feet above the water level. It will front on the Mississippi River Boulevard and will be faced with stone on three sides and so designed as to present a most attractive appearance.

The building will be one-story high, 1,720 feet long and 600 feet wide and will have more than 1,000,000 square feet or 23 acres of floor space.

Railroad tracks will, of course, enter the building, but a transportation feature will be two tunnels leading underneath the factory from a river dock to elevators which will carry freight directly into the building. This anticipates a new era of river transportation on the Mississippi.

Special attention will be given to landscaping and general improvement of the grounds in the copany's 187 acre tract so that all will blend harmoniously with the surrounding parkway development.

YOU TELL 'EM VIC, WE STUTTER

After carefully perusing The Union-Banner last week some of our good Democrat friends asked us why we didn't have a big write-up of Tom Heflin's speech at the court house on Saturday before. In answer to this question we say that we just haven't got the heart to write our ideas about the party in question. But for the benefit of these friends we are reproducing the editorial Victor Hanson gave Senator Heflin after he made his public appearance in Birmingham, which was published in "The South's Greatest Newspaper." In reading this article we ask you to kindly remember that the Birmingham News is Democratic and so is Cotton Tom. The article follows:

"Before an audience of about fifty listeners Monday night in Birmingham, J. Thomas Heflin, United States Senator from Alabama by grace of a primary law which permits a minority choice to slip into office—he being elected by 26.7 per cent of the voting strength of the States of Alabama—devoted most of the time to recommending himself highly and abusing the newspapers which have appraised him at their opinion of his true worth as a public official.

"Tom charged that the newspapers that did not like him were "subsidized"—the one stand-by of the small-bore politician who on analysis assays 90 per cent wind and the rest ignorance and bumptious self-esteem. Doubtless if The News printed all of the self-laudatory stuff sent out by Mr. Heflin in his frantic bid for notoriety and those who are aiding and abetting him in his monomania on one subject, it would have his high esteem. Not doing so, Tom says the paper is 'subsidized.'

"Whether he is clear in his mind as to whether a state of being subsidized is a disease or something to eat—judging by his utterances on the Federal Reserve question he is liable to be muddled on this as well as the Federal Reserve—The News cannot say. At any rate, Tom and The News can't get up any quarrel, because who can quarrel with anyone who, in his profoundest moments, is a monumental joke?

"If Tom did not take himself so seriously there might be some hope for him, but alas, it is gravely feared that our sartorially effulgen Senator is fundamentally endowed with a superabundance of ego in his cosmos!"

BASKET-BALL TOURNAMENT

Montevallo, Ala., Nov. 2, 1923.—Alabama College has sent an invitation to the various high schools of the state for their basket-ball teams to enter a contest in the Basket-ball Tournament which will be held on the college campus the latter part of February or first of March, as was done last year. At the same time, an invitation is extended to all those who may be interested to enter a contest in Art, Home Economics, and Expression. Handsome trophies will be offered in each contest.

Later in the year, about May 1, a music contest for the high school glee clubs will be held.

Free entertainment is offered to the representatives of high schools who may attend all of these contests. There will be a good time for all.

We are pleased to announce that late reports from Rev. J. L. Hand of Climax, Ga., say that he is improving from his recent serious illness. When we printed the paper last week a letter from Bro. Hand's folks said he was very sick, but he was able to write himself since then and says he is much improved.

SERVICES FOR TWO COUNTIES ASSURED

It was learned in Montgomery, Saturday that negotiations are under way between the Alabama Power Company and citizens of several of the small towns in Autauga and Chilton counties to put several of these places within the radius of service by this company which have not, heretofore, been served with any electrical lighting or power plant equipment.

It is said that these places are to be furnished with "juice" after they have made certain changes so that they can be legally served through contracts. Verbena, Mountain Creek and Flaketown, it is understood, are considering a concerted effort for the purpose of obtaining this big improvement.

These places at this time are using kerosene lamps for lighting purposes. They want electric lights and have made overtures to the Alabama Power Company to extend its transmission lines from Lock 12, on the Coosa river, to these places in order that they might have light service of the more modern kind.

It is understood that a committee of busines men of Verbena and a representative of the company will visit Mountain Creek, Marbury and Flaketown, Monday afternoon and hold a series of conferences with citizens of these places.—Montgomery Advertiser.

EXTENSION WORK

Last Saturday Dr. E. G. Howe of the University of Alabama organized an extension center here at Clanton for this winter. He will give a course in Modern European History from 1871 to date. In other words the course deals primarily with the World War, its causes and results.

Any teacher of mature years or any individual desiring to do so may take this course. The course will be equal to that given to resident students of the University and any person of this county desiring to take the course will be able to do so, providing they meet at the County High School building, next Saturday at 9 a.m.

Respectfully,
HOWARD L. FOSHEE,

OLD KING TUT

That old Egyptian king may have been the big man of his day, but he has been dead 3,000 years, and there have been a good many changes since he had charge of things. We now ride through the air like a bird, speak through the air like gods, go under the sea like the fish. We do all these things and hundreds of others that would have startled King Tut in his day. And banking keeps pace with progress, too. The treasures of the old King's tomb haven't earned a cent, because they were buried all this time.

MEMBER OF FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

WOULD USE STATE MONEY ON COUNTY CONNECTING ROADS

A meeting of 125 representative Alabamians Tuesday practically unanimously favored a policy by the state of expending state road bond money for county site to county site roads regardless of federal aid. The meeting was held at the house of representatives' hall at the state capitol.

The meeting Tuesday was participated in by probate judges and members of county boards of revenue and county commissioners of a number of South labma counties. There were also present a number of members of the Alabma legislature who were invited.

The meeting unaniously adopted the resolution of Senator Powell of Macon, that county boards of revenue and commissioners courts take up the matter of the state spending money outside of federal aid, the counties to maintain the roads which are built by the state without federal aid until the state is able to take up the burden of maintaining them. The various boards will either pass or reject the proposed plan.

Governor Brandon presided at the big gathering which filled the hall of the house of representatives and at its conclusion said: "I regard this as a great day for Alabama. This administration wants cooperation. In union there is strength. We will pull Alabama out of the mud."

Chilton County Represented.

Judge Reynolds of Clanton and Mr. Gulledge of Verbena, together with two or three others from Chilton county were present at this meeting of the Highway Commission. The State Commission asked all the probate judges of the state to call a meeting of the citizens of their counties and find out the sentiment in regard to this change of the highway policy. Judge Reynolds says that a meeting of the people of Chilton will be announced in the near future, to determine whether or not such a policy is approved.

CLANTON, ALA.

Since the end of Federal control, the L. & N. has expended or appropriated a total of $88,000,000 for the purpose of providing a better transportation plant. This represents an investment of several times the income derived from the properties, and should impress the public with the earnest determination of the L. & N. to build constructively for the future and to furnish adequate and efficient transportation to the territory it serves.

Don't add the Ball & Chain

Railroads are the most regulated business in the United States. There are all of 99 state and national bodies created by law to tell the railroads what they must and must not do. In no other business is individual initiative governed in its efforts by such a volume of legislation.

Notwithstanding the legislative restrictions, the Railroads, under efficient private management, have been making rapid progress in rehabilitating the transportation plant after the well-nigh disastrous period of Government operation and control, and are successfully handling the peak traffic load.

In spite of the fact that net earnings have been small, the railroads of the country are spending this year a billion and a half dollars in the purchase of new locomotives, freight and passenger cars, better tracks, bridges and terminal facilities, etc., in order that the nation's business may move unhampered and the public may be adequately served.

Unmindful of the enormous losses and the under-maintenance during the twenty-six months period of Government control, there are some radical politicians and other selfish interests who are agitating and advocating Government ownership of the railroads as a solution of the transportation problem. They have a number of misguided followers.

The L. & N. Railroad, in common with the other railroads of the country, ask that you get all of the facts and consider well the conditions which would exist under Government ownership. With these fully understood, no right-thinking man or woman who is interested in our nation's progress would advocate the further impeding of transportation by the addition of the ball and chain.

Boston Transcript:—Whoever may hold the watch on the Rhine, Uncle Sam makes it plain that he does not intend to monkey with the works.

Henry Ford says that he is no politician. But the way he has managed his bid for Muscle Shoals looks to us mighty like pretty shrewd wielding of the political convoy. Henry Ford has got something up his sleeve. You just wait.

The Grand Jury of Chilton County was a very busy affair last week. They examined 146 witnesses in 46 cases and returned 24 true bills. We understand that most of the cases examined were violations of the prohibition law. The course of the moonshiner and bootlegger in Chilton county is getting to be a very hazardous one, and the lines are going to continue to be drawn tighter and tighter. We say let her come; the quicker the better.

"The crying need of the hour in the United States is real statesmanship. We are fed up on peanut politicians."—Chilton County News. The above statement, especially the latter sentence may sound vague to some people, but we fully understand and appreciate the condition The News is in. Anybody that gets anywhere about Tom Heflin cannot avoid getting "fed up on peanut politics." Cotton Tom is so full of this kind of stuff that a person couldn't possibly eat dinner at the same table with him without incidentally taking in a full dose of his hot-airdried peanut-political combustion. No, we don't wonder that The News is "fed up."

BETTER USE THE BRIDLE

From the statement Dr. Gragg is having published in this week's paper, it appears that somebody has let his tongue slip and has talked just a little too fast. Well, as most everybody knows, Clanton is the worst place in the world for just such things as this to happen. Too many of our people are entirely too anxious to talk and slander their fellow-beings, and some of these days somebody is going to reap his just reward for not keeping a bridle on that vile forked tongue.

THAT STATE HIGHWAY

The citizens of Chilton county along the right-of-way of the proposed state highway should not go to sleep and just wait for the highway commission to get ready to build Chilton's part of the highway. Let us get up that delegation and go down there and show that state highway board that we want our part of the highway money of the state. The only sure way to get action from them is to let them know that we are not going to let them rest till work is started on our section of this road. If we do that they will soon get tired of fooling with us and etiher kick us out of the state capitol or build us a highway. We feel sure they will decide to do the latter if we send a big crowd before them.

Theodore Roosevelt:—"The man who is always sneering at our public life and our public men is a thoroughly bad citizen, and what little influence he wields in the community is wielded for evil. The public speaker or the editorial writer who teaches men of education that their proper attitude toward American politics should be one of dislike or indifference is doing all he can to perpetuate and aggravate the very evils of which he is ostensibly complaining."

FACTS, NOT OPINIONS

The report of the reparations investigating commission to be appointed under the Hughes plan will be governed by values in Germany as they are found and not by German protestations of inability to pay, nor by French insistence that the Germans are fully able to meet the reparations terms of the Versailles Treaty. Facts and not opinions will dictate the findings of the commission.

REVIVING SECTIONALISM

Senator Underwood of Alabama is generally recognized as by far the ablest member of the Democratic party, and yet one of his recent utterances would indicate that he falls short of that broad statesmanship which is essential in a man to be placed at the head of the executive branch of the United States Government. Mr. Underwood opened his campaign for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency in an address delivered in Texas. In that address he said:

"I am going to give the South a chance to select a Southern man to carry the banner of Democracy. The South must assert itself and I believe if the South asks, the Great Democratic North will recognize the right for you to carry the banner yourself. If you don't think I am the man to carry this banner, send your delegation to the convention pledged for another Southern man, but let him be a Southern man."

Mr. Underwood's insistence is that the candidate of the Democratic party must be a Souther man. To that ultimate result there can be no objection, and yet no man should be nominated or elected because he comes from any particular section of the United States. Some of our ablest Presidents came from the South, notably Washington, Jefferson, and Jackson. There is no reason why other Presidents should not come from the South; in fact, Woodrow Wilson was a Southerner by birth, although a resident of a Northern States at the time of his election.

The trouble with Mr. Underwood is that he lets his geographical consciousness prejudice him into fixing Southern affiliation as the controlling factor in determining the nominee of the Democratic party. Thus he insists upon nourishing old sectional prejudices when the reasons for such prejudices no longer exist. Mr. Underwood and his friends can justly urge his nomination on the ground of his intellectual qualifications and his experience in public affairs. It is true that from the Republican standpoint he is unsound on the tariff question, but he is in full harmony with the traditional policy of the Democratic party and can reasonably ask for and expect the support of his party associates on that important issue. He is also in thorough accord with former President Wilson on the question of the League of Nations. He is sound in that important particular in which Mr. McAdoo is weak—the issue of paternalism. In fact, it would be difficult to find any criticism which any Democrat could make of Senator Underwood except the fact that he has tried to have the Democratic nomination in 1924 determined by sectional tests rather than by the qualifications of the individual and the principles for which he stands.

The North has no prejudice against the South. Democrats from the South have migrated to Northern States, have been welcomed into public life and have been elected to the highest office in the gift of the States of their adoption. They have been given equal opportunities in every line of industry and in every profession and have acquitted themselves with credit to the States in which they received their earlier training.

If Mr. Underwood shall be nominated by the Democrats he will undoubtedly be vigorously opposed by Republicans on numerous issues, but he will not be opposed on the ground that he comes from the South.

He might reasonably be criticized, however, for having made that an issue in the Democratic convention.

DYE TO SING IN BIRMINGHAM

We are requested to announce that Prof. John M. Dye will sing in Birmingham the third Sunday in November. Also Prof. A. J. Showalter will be there. All the singers of Chilton county have a special invitation to attend this singing. A full announcement of it will be made later.

FRUITLESS SPECULATION

While visting Richmond Mr. Lloyd George remarked that "No doubt the history of America would have to be rewritten had Stonewall Jackson lived." Maybe so, and also the history of the Civil War period would have been different if a fleet of British blockade runners, Confederate men-of-war fitted out in British ports, and millions of British gold had not aided the Confederacy to live and made the task of preserving the Union immeasurably harder. We cannot help wondering what would have been the outcome of the World War, and where Great Britain would be today, if the efforts of Stonewall Jackson and his British sympathizers had succeeded in destroying the United States Government and Sonstitution. The subject is one Mr. Lloyd George might better have avoided.

FORD'S MUSCLE SHOALS BAIT

(Springfield Union)

Henry Ford says that the only thing he could do at Muscle Shoals that he couldn't do elsewhere would be to make fertilizer for the farmer, and he claims that this is the only reason why his proposal has been opposed by the War Department and in Congress. If he has any success with such political propaganda it will be because the farmers and others of the country do not know what has been brought out in the various hearings upon the matter from the time the offer was submitted to the end of the last Congress.

In those hearings it developed that the Ford offer gave no guarantee whatever that he would continuously produce fertilizers. In fact, he himself said that he would make no agreement to continue the production of fertilizers or to invest a certain definite sum of money in the production. He frankly said that he would stop, if he could not produce it profitably. Yet all the political fuss that has been made over Ford's offer is merely because of the fact that it carried this delusive bait of cheap fertilizer production for the farmer.

The history of the whole matter shows that Ford offered $5,000,000 for an unfinished plant on which the Government at the close of the war had spent about $103,000,000 and which could have been scrapped to yield $16,000,000. The loss in scrapping would be heavy, of course, because much money had gone into a dam and into other works that would yield nothing by such a process. But the Ford offer did not mean that the Government would get $5,000,000 and be at no further expense. Under the proposal the Government would have to proceed to finish certain works at an estimated expense of $50,000,000. Mr. Ford would then lease them for 100 years to a company that he controlled at an annual rental of 4 per cent of the cost of completion. He would also pay the Government $55,000 annually for Government maintenance of dams, gates and locks the Ford company owned and on its part the Government was to insure him not only against floods but all depreciation during the term of the lease. He would also make a payment of $46,746 a year to amortize the cost of completion.

The Ford offer did not contemplate payment of any interest on money necessary to complete the dams until they were completed, and Senator Norris in his report against the Ladd measure to accept the offer stated that "Mr. Ford is actually paying as rental, not 4 per cent interest as it appears from a first examination of his proposal, but 2.79 per cent. This means that under the Ford offer this corporation (the Ford corporation) is getting money from the Government at 2.79 per cent on 100 years' time." It was further estimated and has been clearly proved that, if the Ford offer were accepted, he could at once sell off over $5,000,000 worth of the property and have two nitrate plants and the Waco quarry, together with all buildings and lands on which they were situated—in fact, all he wanted—free of all cost.

This plant free from cost as Ford wanted it would include the Gorgas steam plant, with transmission lines which the Government developed on land belonging to the Alabama Power Company merely to get power until the dams were completed and on which the power company had an option under the contract. The validity of the contract has been sustained and the company has recently exercised its option, paying the Government $3,472,487, which is within a million and a half of what Ford offered for the whole Muscle Shoals development. It is because of this sale that Ford now complains that his offer to make fertilizers for the farmers is being set aside. If he could have had the main thing for nothing, provided the Government would put up $50,000,000 more on which a Ford company would pay 2.79 per cent interest with a 100 years' amortization. But he wouldn't guarantee to make fertilizers for the farmers unless it paid. If Ford wants to run for President on his Muscle Shoals offer he is likely to have some bad encounters with the evidence now before Congress.

MAINTAIN EQUALITY

The British Government is making plans to add six cruisers to its fleet, of the greatest size and strength permissible under the Washington armaments treaty. Already the British Navy far outclases our own in cruiser units, and our own Government will be derelict in its duty to the Nation if the disproportion is not soon eliminated. The Washington treaty assumed the American and British naval strength as being on an equality in the future and two-thirds greater than that of Japan. It was the expectation of the Washington conferees that their nations would not only not exceed the maximum limitations of the treaty, but would maintain their navies up to the standards fixed therein. Anything les is not fulfilling the spirit of that agreement.

MRS. M. J. PARRISH SICK

We regret to make the announcement that the wife of Rev. M. J. Parrish is very sick in the Central Alabama Hospital. Dr. Benedict of Birmingha has charge of her and intends to treat her here for a few days and carry her to Birmingham for an operation. We sincerely hope for Bro. Parrish and his family that she stands the treatment and operation and will soon be on the road to recovery.

WITHOUT VICTORY OR PEACE

More war clouds are looming in Europe. he Rusian soviet government is reported as moving cavalry armies to the Latvian and Esthonian frontiers. It is said to be the determination of the Rusians to break a route through to Germany so that there may be no hindrance to trade with that country. There is not a chance for those small countries, with their meager resources, to resist a Bolshevik invasion. The question arises, what are the powers of Europe going to do about it? The answer is easy, appeal to the United States to save the situation.

The Value of Land Abstracts

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

THORSBY SECTION

By a peculiar combination of circustances which left but few men, who are active in Congregational church leadership in Thorsby, last Sunday, the women had an opportunity to prove their mettle, with great credit to theselves and profit to all who heard them.

Although we have two men who conjointinly serve a sSunday school superintendent, both Mr. Butler and Mr. Turner were out of town. Mrs. R. L. Primm served admirably as a substitute. The hour of morning service was under the leadership of Miss Olive Pearson, who is assitant secretary of Sunday school extension (Congregational) for the department of the southeast. Although not an ordained minister, she is a forceful preacher and delivered a sermon, that will long be reembered by her hearers, on the text "God is a Spirit and Those that Worship Him Must Worship Him in Spirit and in Truth." She gave descriptions, from her recent personal observations, of the varied forms of public worship practiced by several different denominations, indicating how each in their own way seek to "Worship in Spirit."

Miss Pearson was accompanied by Mrs. Fred P. Ensminger, a member of the faculty of Star Academy, North Carolina, and wife of the Congregational Home Missionary Superintendent for North and South Carolina, Kentucky and Tennessee, and herself, has recently been appointed Secretary of he Woman's Missionary Union, for the Southeast, which includes eight states in the southeast section of the United States.

Miss Pearson called on Mrs. Ensminger to offer prayer and also to speak briefly of her work. In the afternoon, Miss Pearson and Mrs. Ensminger attended Mrs. Butler's Mission Class of Girls at the church. Later Mrs. Ensminger had a conference, at the home of Mrs. Norton, with state officers of The Alabama Branch of The Woman's Missionary Union, just before leaving for Nashville.

In the evening Miss Pearson conducted the installation of officers, for the coming six months, of The Christian Endeavor Society. Miss Lillian McKee, Pres., Margaret Butler, Vice-Pres.; Medie Swilley, Sec.; Ben Brown, Treas.; Mrs. E. W. Butler, Corresponding Secretary.

Mrs. T. W. Robinosn made a trip to Birmingham on Friday.

Mrs. Harry V. Thompson spent a couple of days in Birmingham last week. She now has with her, Mrs. J. C. Copeland of Birmingham.

Mrs. J. M. Graham returned Monday from a two weeks visit with her son, Clarence and his family at Anniston.

The Science class from Jemison high school made a visit to Thorsby one day last week, taking in Howard Bros. Carnation plant, Mrs. Villadsen's Pecan Nursery and other places of interest.

The Cook Bros. Show Company, which gave nightly performances in Thorsby, each night last week, was well patronized by appreciative and pleased people. This is the second visit of this organization and their entertainments are of a good class. Miss Lena Franklin secured the prize, (a chest of silverware) which the show people gave away.

The Lutheran Ladies' Aid will meet with Mrs. C. R. Foss, Thursday afternoon, Nov. 15th.

Mr. Howard Garrick and wife have returned to Thorsby. Mr. Garrick may be found at Thorsby Garage, where he is employed. They expect in the near future to occupy the ground floor of Mrs. Villadsen's house.

Don't forget the Ladies' Guild Bazaar, to be held Saturday afternoon and evening, Dec. 8th. Anyone wishing to donate fancy articles please see Mrs. Louis Howard, chairman of fancy articles committee. Refreshments will be on sale from 3 p.m. until about time to close the Bazaar.

Miss Ida M. Lockwood, a former teacher in Thorsby Institute, but now an ordained Congregational minister in charge of a group of four churches near Headland, Ala., arrived in Thorsby Monday and spoke at Chapel Tuesday morning. Miss Lockwood was returning from Springfield, Mass., where she went as a delegate to the National Council of Congregational churches. She was also a delegate to the Alabama State Conference of Congregational churches at Hanceville last week. She was a graduate of Atianta Theological Seminary a few years ago and is doing a lot of good work among the people in her field. We are always glad to welcome Miss Lockwood to Thorsby.

At this meeting some very interesting reports were well given by Misses Nell Shannon and Lorena Primm, delegates from the Thorsby Society to the recent district Christian Endeavor convention held at Prattville, Ala.

Following the Christian Endeavor eeting, Miss Althea Parker took charge of the regular monthly praise service, consisting of special music and congregational singing by the audience. These monthly services are becoming a very enjoyable feature of community work, at this church and the constantly increasing audiences indicate that they are appreciated.

Miss Parker is a graduate of The Emmerson School of Music at Boston, and is a good leader in choral work. Miss Pearson, who was also present at this service showed careful training as a singer in the solo with which she favored the audience.

We learn on good authority, that Mrs. Loveland and Miss Fairbank, who went from Thorsby Congregational church, as delegates to the state conference at Hanceville, contributed considerable to the sum of interesting matter to come before the conference.

We have an idea that the apostle Paul would hardly be likely to give expression, if he lived in these days, to his edict "Let the women keep silence in the churches, but if they want to know anything let them ask their husbands at home." But Paul lived before the days of woman's emancipation and being a bachelor, had but little personal knowledge of their capacity in good works.

All honor to the worthy women of America and the world!

SARDIS NEWS

Health of this place is fairly well at present, except we all regret to hear of the death of Mr. Wyatt.

Our teacher at McCary school has resigned. She left her school for home last Monday. We hope she will find a school somewhere that suits her. Her name was Miss Velma Kelly.

Our attendance at Sunday school last Sunday was small, as it was so cold and rainy.

Mr. L. B. Broadhead, son and daughter, Mr. Harmon and Miss Cleo motored to Pletcher last Saturday afternoon.

Miss Delene Littlejohn and brother, Mr. Lloyd Littlejohn spent the weekend week before last with Misses Cleo and Bernice Broadhead and Mr. Harmon Broadhead.

Misses Frances, Addie and Tomie Christian and Mr. Sam Christian motored to Antioch to prayer meeting Sunday afternoon.

Dr. Fred Cobern of Birmingham was visiting friends and relatives of this berg last week end.

Mr. Luther Hayes of Liberty Hill community visited his grandma, Mrs. J. L. Hayes last Sunday.

CHESTNUT CREEK

The Chestnut Creek Singing Society met in regular session Sunday p.m., at 2 o'clock, and as usual rendered a very interesting program.

The society was called to order by Chairman W. M. Devaughn. After singing one song, title, Smile All the Way, prayer was led by Bro. S. M. Yates, Jr. After which the following directors directed: Ralph D. Grant, Gordie Sorrell, O. L. Devaughn, Roy Talyor, L. T. Grant, W. M. Devaughn. Organists were Ralph D. Grant, Lena Mae Devaughn and Lee Robinson.

The Cooper Quartett also rendered three good selections which we think everyone present enjoyed.

Owing to the bad weather, we think we had a very good session. The church was near full and a very good class. Also each director seemed to have sang in the spirit and with the understanding which we all ought to do and do if we ar ewhat we ought to be. We should sing praises to the most high God and not to be praised by men.

We think we have one of the best societies in the county and want to thank each and every one who has helped to make it so.

The society meets every 1st and 3rd Sunday afternoon. Visitors are welcome at any time. So come and let's sing and work together for our Master, that we may still make our society better.

Yours in the service of song,

O. L. DEVAUGHN, Sec.

Our Tax Collector, Mr. J. T. Rockett, asks us to announce to the ex-soldier boys of the county who have been exempt from paying poll tax since the war will have to pay their poll tax this fall. There has been some misunderstanding as to this point, but Mr. Rockett has looked up the law, and finds that such voters to be legally qualified will have to pay their poll tax this fall. We understand that a number have not paid yet due to their misunderstanding of the matter, so they are asked to take notice now, and attend to this matter before it is too late. Poll taxes may be paid any time between now and February 1, 1924.

ALABAMA HAS MANY BENEFICIAL BIRDS

Only English Sparrows, Hawks, and Crows Are Classed As Undesirable.

Auburn, Ala., Nov. 5.—In every Alabama county man has thousands of friends. They are more than friends in that they are consumers of his enemies,—weeds and insects. These friends are the birds.

Although many of them are not appreciated, Prof. J. M. Robinson says that nearly every bird found in Alabama is beneficial. Only three birds common to this State are undesirable. They are English sparrows, hawks, and crows. Even the crow is only about one-fourth bad and three-fourths good. His chief bad habits are those of eating eggs and young chickens, and destroying young corn.

On the other hand, Alabama is inhabited by a large number of very beneficial birds. Their chief benefits are that of destroying injurious insects and weed seed, upon which they depend very largely for food. Among the beneficial birds are the quail, woodpecker, blue jay, kingbird, night hawk, cuckoo, snowbird, catbird, mocking bird, brown thrush, song bird, robin, wren, chickadee, swallows, ground robins, grackles (black birds), orioles, dove, meadow lark, bobolink, cowbird, and all sparrows, except the English.

With the approach of winter a special opportunity is afforded to befriend beneficial birds which will work for us during the entire year.

VERBENA WINS OVER PIKE ROAD TEAM

Friday afternoon the Verbena High boys dedicated their home grounds by a clean cut victory over Pike Road's eleven before an enthusiastic crowd who had gathered to witness their home boys in action for their first time. The Verbena boys, after the first few minutes of play, caught their stride, and but for fumbles when fumbling meant the loss of a touchdown, would have piled up a much higher score. The boys from Pike Road were somewhat lighter than the home boys, but had had one year of football and were more seasoned in the game. The game was hard fought and clean all the way through, only one penalty—for off-side, being inflicted. Ed Hammell suffered an injury to his knee in the third quarter which forced him from the game, but the other members tightened up individually and put across two touchdowns, one in the third and one in the fourth despite the loss of Verbena's dependable full back.

The game opened with Verbena kicking off. The ball was quickly brought within striking distance of Verbena's goal by a series of end runs and line plunges, Mumma, Smilie and Reynolds doing excellent work for the Pikers. Verbena recovered the ball on a fumble and went prancing down the field by plain old time football, only to lose the ball by fumbling. This was repeated twice, when more than sixty yards had been made by line plunges, a forward pass and end runs. The end of the first half saved the Pike Road crowd being scored on, the whistle of the time keeper stopping Verbena on the fifteen yard line. Patterosn, F., Bill DeRamus and Norris carried the ball for gains nearly every time it was snapped or passed to them. Norris shone brilliantly in a 30 yard end run and a catch of a twenty yard pass from DeRamus. He was also good in breaking up the offense of the visitors. Dansby played excellent defense on the line. The others on Verbena's line, Williams, C. Patterson, D. Patterson, Hopper, Messer, Lett—all played well, holding the other team for downs and breaking the defense of the visitors for first down after first down, allowing the ball to be carried through by the backfield men.

In the third quarter with the ball in Verbena's possession and sixty yards or more to go the rooters on the side lines began crying for a touchdown, and the home boys then showed what a driving force the line had. From the twenty yard line DeRamus carried the ball for a touchdown by straight line bucks, the boys from the consolidated high school of Pike Road seeming unable to get enough men on him to hold him. Just after the first scoring the visitors lost their best man, Mumma, from quarter, by an injury.

Rutland replaced Hammell at full during the third quarter but never had opportunity to show his stuff until the last few minutes of the game, when he caught a beautiful forward pass from DeRamus and leaped across the line for the second touchdown. Verbena failed to kick goal each time.

Verbena's team has hit its stride now. The next game is with her arch enemy, Marbury, Friday, Nov. 9, when she hopes to avenge her previous defeat. The Marbury team is not discounted, for it has won consistently this season, and has a nucleus of seasoned men about which their team has been built, while this is Verbena's first season. The next game on the home grounds will be against the fast Cloverdale aggregation and then on Turkey Day Verbena comes to Clanton to lock horns with Chilton Hi, which is the game of the season—the classic of this section.

DEAD

On last Friday, Nov. 2nd, Mr. Wyatt of near Maplesville, Ala., made his flight to the great beyond. He was a man of high character and of course we regret very much to hear of his death. He had been ill for about two months, and his death was not much of a surprise, as he was getting old and was most always puny. He leaves a wife and several children to mourn his loss, but weep not dear ones, he is gone to a better home above.

The lasting lustre of the exterior finish is equalled in richness by the soft brown shades of the silk window curtains and the deep broadcloth upholstery.

A LESSON IN POLITICS

(By Uncle Ted)

The two kiddies had been good. Ruth came home promptly from school and stayed in the house helping her mother right up to supper time. Jack had been busy in the yard. He had cleaned up all of the leaves and rubbish in both the front and back yards. The rubbish was burned and after that a big pile of wood had been piled high beside the garage. It was a jolly crowd at supper and a hungry one to.

"Worked hard this afternoon, didn't you?" said Uncle Ted to Jack.

"Yes, Jack, it looks fine," said his mother. "And Ruth has been busy helping me. I am proud of my two kiddies, Uncle Ted."

"You have a right to be," said Uncle Ted. "Look who's their uncle. But, joking aside, it is fine to see these children industrious. It makes me feel that I want to tell them the story of a man now dead—a man who believed in hard, earnest work and who knew that to gain anything worth while meant work."

"Please tell us, Uncle Ted," said Ruth.

"All right, I will." It wasn't long until the three chums were gathered together again at bed-time.

"I told you last week about the wise Owl and how like him is our President today. I have told you of many great living men and there are more of whom I want to tell. The man I mentioned at supper was Theodore Rooselevt. He was born on October 27. Had he lived he would have been 65 years old on that day this year. He died young, but he had fought ill health and worked hard. Any American boy who wants a live, red-blooded man for a hero can well pick Theodore Roosevelt. He had clear, well defined ideas on American citizenhsip, something of which we all need to think these days when enemies of good government are sneaking into our midst all through the country.

"On this year, commemorating his birthday, the house in which he was born at 28 East Twentieth Street, New York City, was dedicated as a museum of Americanism. It was dedicated by the women of America as a shrine for all those who would follow in the footsteps of a man who loved his country above everything. In this house have been brought together many interesting things which help tell the story of Roosevelt's life. There are drawings which he loved to put into the letters written to his children. There are manuscripts and trophies, books and souvenirs and many things reminiscent of the days he spent as a cow-boy or as a Colonel heading the Rough Riders in the Spanish-American war.

"The collection in this house will be interesting for all time. It reveals the magnitude of the life of an extraordinary man—a man who, as a child, was so sickly that everyone thought he could not live. Yet he fought ill health and having won that battle he continued to fight all his life for those thing that are right and big and true and clean.

"Among the manuscripts preserved in this house of his birth is an addres delivered by Roosevelt in Buffalo, N. Y., January 26, 1893. He was not yet 35 years of age. His ideals were indicated by the words in which he opened his address. 'No man,' he said, 'can be a good citizen who is not a good husband and a good father, who is not honest in his dealings with other men and women, faithful to his friends and fearless in the presence of his foes, who has not got a sound heart, a sound mind and a sound body."

"That's it, Jack. You must have a sound, clean body as well as a clear, clean mind to be successful and to be a good citizen. Further on in this address he said: 'Nothing worth gaining is ever gained without effort. You can no more have freedom without striving and suffering for it than you could win success as a banker or a lawyer without labor and effort, without self-denial in youth and the display of a ready and alert intelligence in middle age.'

"And further on he said:

"'The people who say that they have not time to attend to politics are simply saying that they are unfit to live in a free community. Their place is under a despotism.'

"Do you see the point Roosevelt was making, kiddies?" asked Uncle Ted. "He tells the story in a few words. In a free country, freedom for the individual is entirely up to the individual. Our form of government makes it so. If we take an interest in our country we can make of it almost what we will. The only way to take that interest is to become active in the work of politics. I don't mean that everyone should run for office. Everyone can't do that. But I mean, after having decided to become a Republican, for instance, to stick to that party and to work for it as long as you believe in its principles. It has produced our greatest men. It has brought the country through misery and poverty and today has placed it upon a sound business foundation. Let's follow the advice of a great man. Be big enough to be willing to work for our country. Otherwise there will be those who are willing but who may work against it instead of for it."

Some Road Building Worthy of Imitation

Commissioner Mims And Crew of Citizens Build Big Fill at No Expense to County.

DeKalb county is not the only place in the State where people can come together and co-operatively build a road. A fine specimen of this kind of road building has just been put into actual form by Uncle Jimmie Mims, county commissioner, of Collins Chapel. Mr. Mims told the people of that community that if they would clean out the stumps and rubbish and lend him a little of their time he would have a fill put in the creek swamp between Collins Chapel and Thorsby. This the people gladly consented to do, so Mr. Popwell, the county road worker was notified to come up there and bring one of the county's road trucks. This was done, and there was some dozen or two men there ready with picks and shovels to help out. This outfit made some record time hauling dirt from an adjacent hill and dumping it off into the fill. The place where the dirt was taken from was between four and five hundred yards from the fill, and the crew made the record several times of loading three yards of dirt on the truck, carrying it to the fill and dumping it off in 8 1-2 minutes by Mr. Mims' watch. Everybody worked like fighting fire, and in a short time the fill clear through the low swamp was finished and put in first class traveling condition.

But the beautiful part about this piece of work was that it cost the county nothing except the furnishing of the truck and the driver. Mr. Mims and the workers just donated their time to the work because they wanted the road fixed. If the people in all the communities of the county would get together and work this way, it would not take long to have good roads all over the county. The county will be glad to furnish you a truck and a driver if the people will first get the stumps and other impediments out of the way so that the work will not be hindered. The people ought to be interested enough to come together and put in a day or so in order that their roads might be put in good shape. The co-operative plan has built good systems of roads elsewhere and it will do it for us in Chilton county if we will only get together and hustle.

CIRCUIT COURT CLOSES THURSDAY AFTERNOON

The circuit court of Chilton county, which has been in session for the past two weeks came to a close last Thursday afternoon. Several cases of minor importance were tried during the last two days, so the disposition of the cases will not be reported through the paper. We have heard several favorable comments on the manner in which Judge Smoot conducted the court. He is a judge who believes in expediting business, and he has things move when he gets behind them. From what we have heard, most everybody is well satisfied with the disposition he made of all the cases he tried. All in all, Judge Smoot seems to be well on to his job.

Mr. Lloyd Teel and Spurgeon Calloway went through the country to Vredenburgh to see Lloyd's father, Robert Teel, last week.

MR. J. WASH FOSHEE PASSES AWAY THURSDAY

On last Thursday morning at 5:00 o'clock at his home near Mt. Pleasant Mr. J. Wash Foshee passed from this life into that country from which no traveler ever returns. Mr. Foshee had been very ill with paralysis for the past seven months, and his folks have felt all the while that he could not recover and that the end was near.

Mr. Foshee was born in Chilton county in 1843 in the Mulberry community, and has spent his entire life in the county in which he was born. 46 years ago he was united in marriage to Martha Wilson, and to them were born four sons, Enoch, Monroe, R. L. and M. D. The aged wife and all four of the sons survive the deceased.

J. Wash Foshee was known and loved by nearly everybody in Chilton county, and we yet have our first one to hear say aught against him. He fought in the Confederate War and engaged in some of the fiercest battles of that great conflict. Since the war he has waged a continuous warfare against the things he opposed and for the things which he believed to be right. He has been a member of the Baptist Church for around half a century, and has been just as faithful and loyal to the cause as anyone could ask.

The funeral was preached at the Clanton Baptist Church last Friday at 11:00 o'clock by Rev. R. M. Honeycutt. Rev. Honeycutt stated in his discourse that he had been acquainted with the deceased for fifty-two years, and he spoke very favorably of the old man's life record. The remains were buried in the Clanton Cemetery.

TOO BUSY TO COME TO COMMISSIONER'S COURT

Last Monday morning when Judge Reynolds called the Commissioner's Court together, it was found that one of the most important assets of that famous body was out of pocket. Inquiries were sent out, but no one had seen anything of the representative from Stumps Hills. A call was sent far and wide for Thomas Jefferson Dorminey but the efforts were of no avail. Sheriff Littlejohn happened to be going up about the Hills, so he was instructed to go to the home of Mr. Dorminey and see what was the trouble. When the sheriff arrived, T. J. was over in the field pulling corn just like there never had been such a thing as a commissioners court. Upon being asked why he did not report at Clanton for Commissioner's Court, Mr. Dorminey replied that he had just simply forgotten all about that thing.

Well, this kind of an occurrence is not so uncommon in the life of such a man as Thos. J. If you remember, when the time came for Thomas A. Edison to get married, the famous wizard was so busy making inventions that he had forgotten all about the engagement, and some of his friends had to go tell him that it was time for him to get married. That is exactly the mood Mr. Dorminey was in Monday morning. He was so deeply engrossed in his business of getting that corn out of the field that his mind was floating high above such frivilous things as commissioners court.

Mr. J. Walter Teel is renovating the Frank Lumkin house on Second Avenue, and will move his family there soon.

CONTRACTORS OF SHELBY PROJECT HOLD UP WORK

Revised Contract Unsigned; Conference To Be Held To Settle Differences.

It was learned Tuesday from the state highway department that the W. T. Taylor Construction Co., which has the contract for the section of the Montgomery - Birmingham highway through Shelby county, has not signed the revised contract, providing for a reduction in the price paid the contractor, holding that the reduction proposed by the highway commission is excessive and further that under the terms of the contract the engineer and not the commission has the power to make changes in the character of the work.

As a result of this difference between the contractor and the highway commission as to amount of reduction in the cost of the project, a conference will be held next week between members of the highway commission, the contractor, and the attorney-general, to consider the point of law involved in the matter.

Some time ago the engineers authorized the contractor to change the specifications for the Shelby county road, upon his agreeing to a reduction in price to be paid by him. The reduction decided upon between the engineer and the contractor was not specific, but simply provided that it should be between 25 and 50 cents per cubic yard. The highway commission has sought in the revised contract to make the reduction 47 1-2 cents, which the contractor regards as excessive.

The standard contract of the state highway department, as signed in the Shelby county contract, gives the engineer the right to make reasonable changes in the character of work on a project, provided that any increase or decrease in cost as a result of such change shall be accompanied by a corresponding increase or decrease in the amount paid by the contractor. There is no reference in the contract to the highway commission having the power to alter the specifications.

It is stated that the new state highway law gives the highway commission the power to provide in contracts that alterations in specifications must be made by order of the commission and not of the engineer. It is held, however, that a legislature cannot pass a lew that is retroactive and the question to be decided at the conference with the attorney general, it is stated, is whether the new highway commission can set aside a contract made by the Taylor Construction Co., and the old commission.

It is stated that the chairman of the state highway commission has been advised from several sources by persons who have inspected the Shelby county project that in their opinion the changes in the specifications authorized by the engineer will result in a better road through Shelby county at less cost to the state.

Washington, Nov. 13.—The growing strength of the country's national banking system is reflected in a composite statement of the condition of the national banks as of September 14, made public tonight by Comptroller Dawes, of the currency. The statement discloses that, although there were 8,239 national banks in operation on that date, one fewer than a year ago, almost every item figured into their combined resources showed increases over the bank call on September 15, last year.

Total resources of $21,712,876,000 included loans and discounts of $11,934,556,000, or an increase of $700,000,000 in the latter item alone. Holding of government securities also were larger by $200,000,000 than in September, 1922, although the entire volume of government securities outstanding has decreased materially in the year covered by the statistics. There was, moreover, an increase of about $100,000,000 in the value of securities, other than those issued by the government which were held by the banks.

The total deposits September 14, of $17,040,540,000, represents and increase of nearly half a billion dollars over the deposits reported in the call of September 15, 1922.

FEDERAL AGENTS SWOOP ON MOBILE LIQUOR SELLERS

Simultaneous Descent of Fifty-two Operatives Nets Twenty-five Prisoners and Liquor Valued at $100,000.

Mobile, Ala., Nov. 13.—Mobile today duplicated the Savannah liquor seizures and arrests when federal agents working under the direction of A. R. Butler, special agent of the internal revenue service, staged simultaneous raids in Mobile and vicinity which implicated prominent persons in bribery and conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws, netted numerous truckloads, of liquors, and twenty-five prisoners.

Seizure Outside City.

Late this afternoon five large truck loads of imported liquor or 448 cises were brought to the city from near Fowl river. Perry Collins, in whose barn the liquor is said to have been found, was placed under arrest. The agents also went to a point near Axis, 20 miles from the city, where they seized a large still and arrested George Lofton, a negro.

Federal agents to the number of fifty-two were concentrated last night at New Orleans and Mobile and came here in special Pullmans. The raids were timed to start simultaneously at 8:30 this morning. When the whiskey began coming into the federal building in immense quantities, the exhibits drew large crowds who watched the agents working.

The federal government had just finished an investigation of conditions said to exist in Mobile relating to a complaint filed, that an organized effort was being made to prevent enforcement of the prohibition laws at this city.

LATE LICENSE RUSH SWAMPED PROBATE CLERKS TUESDAY

Wednesday At Midnight Brought Penalty For Auto Tag Purchasers.

Wednesday at midnight was the deadline for the obtaining of automobile licenses without having to pay the 15 per cent penalty. This explains such a long line of waiting automobile owners in the court house corridors Tuesday trying to get their licenses before this penalty lengthened so greatly by noon Tuesday. So many automobile owners postponed getting their licenses that it was a physical impossibility to get them all sisued before the penalty became effective.

HOW FOOTBALL IS PLAYED

There are a number of people who say they would enjoy the football game if they knew anything about it. In as few words as I can, I shall give some of the main features of the game.

The object is to carry the ball to the end of the field. The line at the end is the goal line. When the team carries the ball across or passes it across the goal line, it scores six points called a touchdown. (This article is not for those people who know the game so do not get excited.) The team scoring a touchdown can bring the ball back inside the goal line five yards and try for point. The ball may be passed, carried (commonly called bucked) across the line or kicked over the goal upright bar. If either is done, one point more is scored. If a team carries the ball across the line and fumbles before the whistle blows and the other side gets the ball, it is called a touchback. The ball is then brought back to the twenty yard line and given to the opposing team.

The field is 300 feet long by 160 feet wide. It is lined off in distances of five or ten yards as the team may choose. The team with the ball has four attempts to gain ten yards. If it fails to gain ten yards in the four trials, the ball goes to the other side. This is commonly called "The ball goes over."

The main idea in football is to use formations or ways of lining up so as to deceive the opposing team as to the way the ball is to be carried. The team with the ball is called the offensive team; the other the defensive team. Come and learn.

CLANTON TO PLAY ECLECTIC HERE FRIDAY AT 3:00 P. M.

The fast team from Eclectic will come to Clanton next Friday to lock horns with the local team in a football game. Our own boys have settled down to good playing and should have the support of the people to show them their work is appreciated. Those who saw the team in action against the heavy team from the army aviation camp last Friday know that we have a team that can go against heavy odds in weight and not be afraid of fighting.

We lost money on the game last Friday. If we continue to lose money we can not afford to have games at home. I feel like the people in hte town who like to see a game of football, are entitled to some games on the home grounds, yet if we can not make expenses we will be forced to have nearly all the games away from home. I feel like the people in the dule for next fall. Show by your action whether you want games here or whether you prefer to have the team go away to play the entire season.

The Electic team defeated Marbury 6-0 and Marbury defeated us. We are out to defeat Eclectic and remove some of the sting of defeat from Marbury. Help us do it.

Come out and back the home team.

Sincerely,
IRA PEGUES, Coach.

CHILTON COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL TO PLAY ELMORE COUNTY HIGH

On next Friday afternoon at three o'clock, the fighting Tigers of Chilton will lock horns with the fast charging, hard-hitting, rapid passing aggregation from the town of Eclectic. The visitors have been playing good football all the year. The fact that they defeated Marbury 6 to 0 is a fair indication of their strength. The local boys are aiming for a larger score against Eclectic than Eclectic made against Marbury. If the people will come out and give them the backing they will take care of the scoring end. Those who saw the team in action against the army team last Friday know that they have the pep and snap to put it over.

We lost money on the game last Friday and we want you to show by your actions whether you want any more games on the home grounds. If we can not make epensesx when we have a game here, then we must go to other towns to play where we can be assured of less likelihood of losing money.

The team will be in good shape for the game next Friday and if the weather is favorable it should be the best game yet played.

Come out and back the home team.

Sincerely,
IRA PEGUES, Coach.

Dr. J. P. Crumpton and J. M. Wyatt went by way of Pink's new Dodge to Fort Payne last Sunday. They went to carry M. D. Foshee back home and to get Mrs. Crumpton who has been visiting up there for the past few days. They returned Monday night.

Clanton M. E. Church Corner Stone is Laid

With a very impressive ceremony the corner stone of the new Clanton Methodist Church was laid Monday at 11:00 o'clock. The Alabama Grand Lodge of Masons had charge of the occasion, Mr. J. F. Spearman of Anniston, Grand Master, leading. Several other officers of the Grand Lodge were present, including J. W. Terry, Grand Treasurer, and H. O. Earnest, State Chairman of the Washington Memorial Association.

The corner stone, a large block of finely polished marble, was placed in the corner of the magnificent structure. There was a cavity dug out of the center of the stone in which was placed a Bible, a copy of each of the county papers, a list of the officers of the church and a roll of all the contributors to the church fund. After these things were placed in the stone it was closed up and sealed air-tight so that those relics will be preserved indefinitely.

During the service a short talk was made by Rev. S. J. Ezell, pastor of the Clanton Baptist Church, who was followed by Rev. S. M. Adams, Hon. J. O. Middleton and Rev. C. C. Wilkerson, pastor of the Clanton Methodist Church. All these gentlemen made short but very interesting and pointed speeches.

On the face of the corner stone is inscribed the present officers of the church and the building committee. The officers are: J. O. Middleton, Secretary; Eric Hart, Treasurer; Rev. C. C. Wilkerson, Pastor; and Rev. E. M. Dunnelly, Presiding Elder. The building committee is composed of Rev. C. C. Wilkerson, J. Q. Wade, T. C. McSwain, J. C. Jones, T. H. Neighbors, J. B. Atkinson and V. J. Elmore.

Practically every Masonic Lodge in Chilton County was represented at these exercises. about seventy-five Masons joined in the program, and there were present around five hundred people to witness the occasion.

The new Methodist Church when completed will be one of the finest buildings in this part of the State. Practically all of the brick work has been finished, and the roof and finishing work will be done in the course of a few weeks. The building is made of stone and white pressed brick, and when completed will have cost in the neighborhood of $40,000. This church will be a beautiful and living mounment to the Methodist people of this community who have labored so untiringly in getting it built. A building of this quality and beauty would be a credit to a city much larger than Clanton.

COOKE PLAYERS IN CLANTON

The famous Cooke Players, a vaudeville company, is playing in Clanton all this week. These people have played Clanton several times before, and they are drawing large crowds at every performance. They stage some mighty good plays, all of which are clean, educational and entertaining. The players all seem to be very nice people and they have received a very cordial welcome into our little city.

Mr. Luther Teel and wife have moved into the Dudley Thompson house on First Street.

STATE BAPTIST CONVENTION CONVENES IN MONTGOMERY

The first day's session of the Alabama Baptist Convention was featured by the election of officers and the filing of reports by various boards and activities of the denomination. Dr. L. O. Dawson of Tuscaloosa was elected president for the third term by acclamation after he had said some other Baptist should be honored.

M. M. Wood of Birmingham was unanimously re-elected secretary. The two vice-presidents, W. M. Blackwelder of Huntsville, and J. R. Hobbs, of Birmingham, were re-elected by acclamation, the secretary being instructed to case the ballot o fthe convention for these two men. A. S. Barnes of Baptis theadquarters was re-elected assistant secretary.

Committee on committees: J. R. Curry, chairman, W. K. E. James, J. E. Barnes, H. J. Willingham, R. W. Langhorn, S. W. Clements, H. L. Anderton, Park Nichol, T. M. Dix, R. R. Brasher.

Committee on Vacancies on Boards: J. B. Ellis, chairman; J. M. Thomas, J. A. Howard, J. F. Ashcraft, R. L. Durant, W. H. Black, Walter Dudley, A. L. Smith, G. W. Still and W. P. Reeves.

Interesting events of the morning were the devotional services conducted by Dr. J. M. Thomas of Talladega and the convention sermon delivered by Dr. J. W. Phillips of Mobile.

Dr. Thomas read the 17 chapter of Luke, 12 verse, "As He entered into a certain village 10 lepers met Him and asked Him for Mercy." Dr. Thomas then went on to explain how one leper of the ten, after being cleansed, turned back and glorified God and gave thanks for his deliverance from the vile disease. Jesus asked after the nine others. He used the illustration of the leper, to show that a sense of gratitude would fill the hearts of those gathered in the Baptist Centennial convention.

Text From Book of Kings

Dr. Phillips announced his text from the first book of Kings, 8 chapter and 57 verse. "The Lord God was with our fathers, let Him not leave us or forsake us." With this passage as a text Dr. Phillips launched into a powerful discourse which thrilled his hearers. Dr. Phillips told of the work of the fathers in the Baptist denomination of Alabama. He told of how God in the long ago walked with the fathers of Israel, Abraham, Jacob and Isaac. Of how he was with Moses in Egypt and of how He led the Israelites out of Egypt, destroyed Pharaoh's army in the Red Sea. Dr. Phillips spoke of the noise and confusion of the present. He said "Sin never tries to start a row in the world. Bad men with bad policies seldom open the battle against the good." He said the noise was caused by the good people of the world opening battle and striving with sin.

Dr. Phillips said the world was quiet when Jesus came to it but the Saviour immediately opened the battle on the scribes and Pharisees in the temple, calling them vipers, and asking them how they hoped to escape eternal damnation. And he said these fought back and the result was the crown of thorns and the Cross.

At the conclusion of Dr. Phillip's sermon, a motion was made that it be printed in tract form for distribution and the motion immediately carried.

D. C. Wooley opened the convention with prayer. It was announced that owing to sickness of Dr. A. L. Davidson, Dr. Thomas would conduct the devotional.

The election of officers with the result named above followed the devotional. W. H. Manly of Birmingham, was chosen treasurer and A. L. Smith and S. Perry Fowlkes of Birmingham were chosen auditors.

New pastors were introduced by S. H. Bennett of local Baptist headquarters as follows: A. D. Prentiss, of Theodore; W. H. Griffin of Vernon; W. E. Finley, of Clayton; H. B. Mellinger of Central Church, Selma; Caleb S. Martin of Slocomb; C. S. Thomas of Geneva; J. . Poole, of Citronville; O. F. Barnes, of Brandon; G. E. Ellis, of Florala; R. W. Jordan, of Docena and Edgewater; N. R. Stone of Fayette; Dr. E. V. Baldy, new presdeint of Judson; A. N. Sanders, of Hayneville.

The number of persons sentenced to the penitentiary for violating the prohibition law, although it had reached a figure of 31 per cent of total receipts of new inmates in the fiscal year which ended Sept. 30, 1922, has continued to climb, and in the 1923 fiscal year which has just closed, a total of 37 per cent of the commitments to the penitentiary were for violating the bone-dry law of Alabama.

Cash fines assessed during October resulting from activities of the state law enforcement department totaled $10,225.65, according to an official report of the month's work, submitted to Gov. W. W. NON-STOP RECORD IS ESTABLISHED BY STUDEBAKER CAR

Running continuously for seven days for a distance of 5504 miles at an average speed of 33 9-16 miles per hour, a Studebaker Light-Six has just completed another remarkable performance record at Syracuse, N. Y.

The run was undertaken by Gere & Willis, Studebaker dealers in Syracuse, to demonstrate the merit of Studebaker Light-Six cars for performance, endurance and economy.

In seven days' time, the Light-Six delivired more than the average mileage for a whole year and did it so decisively that it is causing wide comment among motorists in that section of the country.

Outstanding features of the long run were the fact that the highest average for any one hour during the run was 48 miles; the highest speed, 67 miles an hour; the use of but three gallons of water for the whole run and the further fact that no air was put into the tires during the entire seven days.

The best gasoline average for a six-hour period during the trip was 23 miles, and for the whole trip, the average was 18.1 miles to the gallon.

Thirteen men took turn-about driving and at all times an observer of the Syracuse "Post-Standard" accompanied the car.

Exclusive mechanical features of the Light-Six motor account largely for this remarkable record in the opinion of Geo. C. Polk, local Studebaker dealer.

"For example", said he, "Studebaker machines all surfaces of the crankshaft and connecting rods of the Light-Six engine instead of the usual practice of machining only the bearing surfaces. This insures exact balance and uniform weight of reciprocating parts.

"Vibration is, therefore, practically eliminated, a feature that is responsible in part, for unusual records of performance such as the run at Syracuse."

WOCO-PEP SOUGHT IN FOREIGN LANDS

Requests For Franchise to Sell Birmingham Motor Fuel Come From Many Regions.

Agencies for Woco-Pep—the Birmingham made motor fuel have been sought by motor fuel dealers in practically every state in the east and middle west, and in many foreign countries, according to officials of the Wofford Oil company. A recent request was received from a sales agent in Stockholm, Sweden, who inquired about the possibilities of handling the Birmingham-made motor fuel in foreign markets. Another recent request was from a sales agent in Havana, Cuba, asking for terms on a contract for the West Indies. Numerous requests have been received from southern states in which the Wofford Oil company is not operating and many middle-western gasoline dealers have written for terms under which they could handle Woco-Pep. One recent request, it is stated, came from as far west as Texas.

At the present time, the Wofford Oil company is operating in four southern states, with distributing plants in 24 cities and towns. In all localities in which the Wofford company's products are sold, Woco-Pep motor fuel is sold at the same price as gasoline. Reports show that in only one other place—Henry Ford's River Rouge Plant, is a benzol-blend; similar to Woco-Pep sold at the same price as gasoline.

OLDEST HIGHWAY ON CONTINENT IN N. MEX.

Road Was Old When Pilgrim Fathers Landed.

The most ancient highway in North America is said to be the New Mexico section of the National Old Trails Road. According to Judge J. M. Lowe, president of the National Old Trails Road Association, this section of the great highway is the oldest road established on the North American continent. It extends from Socorro to Santa Fe, about one hundred and fifty miles. Don Juan Onate, a Spaniard, who was governer of New Spain (which comprehended all of Mexico) in the fifteenth century, was the first man to establish a road in America.

Long years before the Pilgrim Fathers landed at Plymouth Rock, Onate had marked out and established this road, which started at Santa Barbara, now Jiminez, Mexico, and ended in the vicinity of what is now Santa Fe, New Mexico. This territory had been claimed by the King of Spain in 1598, and 1606 Santa Fee was founded as the capital of New Spain. This route was used later as a highway over which goods were freighted from the Gulf of Mexico via Vera Cruz, via the City of Mexico and Santa Barbara, until the Santa Fe Trail wa ospened under the Act of Congress of 1824. This old road was then known as the "Camino Real"—"The Kings Highway"—and it traversed the Rio Grande Valley from the Gulf of Santa Fe.

RED CROSS HELPS WAR'S SUFFERERS

Aids 200,000 Veterans and Their Families—27,000 Disabled Still in Hospitals.

SPENDS $5,866,255 IN YEAR

Individual Attention Assured to All Physically Ailing or in Distress.

Washington. — War service five years after the armistice, which on November 11 the American Red Cross marks with the opening of the annual membership canvass, shows that during the past year assistance was extended by the Red Cross to some 200,000 ex-service men or their families. To 130 hospitals throughout the country approximately 75,000 ex-service men were admitted for treatment, and to 63,296 of these men definite and specialized service was extended, the Red Cross annual report discloses. In all hospitals under government operation a total of nearly 27,000 disabled veterans were reported by the Surgeon General of the Army.

These facts of the aftermath of physical and metal disability five years after the World War, and the burden resting upon the relatives and dependents of the ex-service men, show conclusively the great need of the Red Cross to act as a supplementary arm of the government in service to these many thousands of men who wore the uniform of the United States. It should be emphasized that government assistance is necessarily standardized along specified lines affecting them as a whole. The Red Cross service is to the individual man and the solution of his problems. This the Red Cross designates "home service" for its aims to give the loving care and interest of the home to these men undergoing physical reconstitution far from their actual home influences.

In the year ended last June 30 the Red Cross reports $3,920,000 spent by its Chapters in extending individual attention to the ex-service men and $1,946,255 spent by National Headquarters of the Red Cross, a total of $5,866,255. In behalf of the men called to duty in the World War the Red Cross since July 1, 1917, has spent nearly $184,000,000. Today there are 2,608 Chapters in as many localities carrying on this work, aiding the individual veteran, assisting his family furnishing creature comforts and funds to tide over troublesome periods.

The strong connecting link between the Red Cross and the United States Veterans' Bureau takes the complications out of difficult cases of claims. The Red Cross in this work requiring personal representation of the ex-service man has acted in appeal cases, insurance matters, personal and family problems, camp and hospital activities, and in cases of death. This service handled nearly 12,000 compensation and insurance claims, and 2,225 allotment and other claims.

Solves Serious Problem

The financial problem of the ex-service man when traveling to and from hospitals is a serious one, and in meeting this constant demand the Red Cross expended $138,334.17 during the year. For extra recreational equipment in Veterans' Bureau training centers $14,306 was spent, and for the blinded veterans in the government school funds were supplied to enable some of these unfortunate men to enter business as storekeepers and poultry raisers.

In Veterans' Bureau hospitals the record of a single month illustrates the large service rendered by the Red Cross. For example, 15,504 new cases required attention, and a total of 26,007 cases were acted upon; 49,368 letters and 1,863 telegraph messages written, and more than 1,600 entertainments given in recreation houses for the benefit of the patients.

Authorities declare that the present is a critical time in the lives of many of the disabled ex-service men who during the five years since the armistice have developed misgivings of recovery.

Work Among the "Regulars"

Service to the enlisted men of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps is a charter obligation of the Red Cross, which in the last year recorded over 200,000 cases of assistance extended and 834,420 visits to the sick and disabled. Inquiries by the Red Cross at the request of Government authorities into the home conditions of soldiers, sailors and marines aggregated 17,714, and there were nearly 6,000 instances where the Red Cross located men for their families.

All these activities constituting a single responsibility of the American Red Cross demonstrated during the year that its "war service" in behalf of the veteran and the man enlisted in the nation's defensive arms must go forward unfalteringly and without stint of funds. The work of the last five years has welded a close bond of regard between the men who sacrificed and the Red Cross, whose efforts are praised and indorsed by the veterans' organizations. To do all that can be done to soften the consequences of the hard blows of war is the supreme duty of the Red Cross, to which it is giving its best work and most liberal service.

The Railroads are a Barometer of Business

There is no better standard by which to judge business conditions and forecast the future than the volume of traffic being carried by the railroads. Because of the vital inter-dependence of the railroads and general business enterprises, prosperity, or the lack of it, affects both of them alike.

Just now the factories of the nation are working almost full blast, and the farms have produced bountoous crops. The railroads are successfully handling an unprecedented account of business, and the volume is steadily growing. These conditions not only denote a present healthy state of business activity, but foretell a continuation of our national prosperity.

The L. & N. is increasing its facilities to take care of increased traffic demands in order that general business may move unhampered. The L. & N. has appropriated during the past year, over $50,000,000 to improve its service. It recently purchased over fifty thousand tons of new rails costing over $2,100,000. Consider these and other facts before you give approval to the destructive regulative measures now being proposed. Help to keep the barometer of business from falling.

IN FREE RUSSIA

The other day eighteen persons were sentenced to death in Moscow for bribery, and yet a distinguished American bishop who has recently visited the city says it is a safer place in which to live than New York. Most of us prefer the safeguards of our own Constitution, which says, among other things, that "cruel and unusual punishments" shall not be inflicted.

JUDICIOUSLY SILENT

In all his talks in the United States, Lloyd George said not one word about the immense and commercially valuable territories Great Britain secured control of as a result of the treaty of peace. As one writer aptly remarked, Great Britain was careful to get hers early in the peace settlement. If Great Britain never gets another dollar, she has not fared badly in the ultimate results. The United States is not going to burn its fingers trying to pull more chestnuts out of the fire for England.

UNWISE SECTIONALISM

Senator Underwood is short-sighted. He wants to be given the Democratic nomination because he is a Southerner. If the casting of votes is to be determined by geography, what chance has a Southerner to be elected? If Mr. Underwood shall be nominated, he will have an election contest ahead of him. If votes are to be determined by sectionalism, what argument will he have then, if the Republicans nominate a Northerner? Mr. Underwood is an able man, courageous enough to stick to a low tariff policy even when his constituents are turning to protection, and brave enough to continue wet when his state is dry. But no man is really big enough to be President of all the people when he bases his candidacy on sectional pleas.

REVELATIONS COMING?

Senator Couzens says he knows a lot of interesting things about Henry Ford he can tell if the need arises. Some years ago the two men were partners, and the Senator had an opportunity to get an insight into the Ford character, his tendency to make reckless promises, and his thirst for publicity. If Mr. Ford ever becomes an avowed Presidential candidate, there are likely to be some revelations.

INROADS OF POLITICS

A former member of the Federal Reserve Board, a Democrat, expresses great concern because, as he says, "Inroads by politics upon the independence of the Reserve System have already reached the proportions of a serious threat to its integrity." In other words, when the Board was controlled by Democrats, there was no politics in it, but as soon as a Republican administration appoints a majority of the board, politics threatens its integrity. Bah!

COSTS OF DISTRIBUTION

The New York World complains that Maine farmers sell potatoes at 70 cents per bushel while New York City retailers sell them to the consumer for $1.44. The chief reason for that difference in price is that farmers sell by the wagon load while the consumer buys by the peck or even quarter-peck. It takes nearly as much of the retailer's time ot sell a quarter peck as to sell a bushel. It is the service that accounts for most of the difference.

ADHERE TO BUDGET SYSTEM

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon says that, "The budget system has brought business into government. It has cut down unnecessary governmental expenditures and saved the country much money. The integrity of the system should be maintained." Nobody will dispute that proposition. Any increase of taxation or additions to the national debt through further bond issues, except for unavoidable emergency, cannot be countenanced if the integrity of the budget system is to be maintained.

THE WAY TO ENFORCE

A judge in New Haven has set an example that might well be followed by other wearers of the ermine in other states. He rined 22 violators of the prohibition law a total of $25,000 and sentenced them to jail terms aggregating 2,240 days. The fines were of little consequences, it must be admitted, for the bootleggers could make many times that amount in a short time, but the jail sentences will have some effect. As a matter of fact, fining a bootlegger is merely slapping him on the wrist—a friendly gesture. But sending him to jail is a real effort to uphold the law.

RESULTS OF PATERNALISM

Even the labor party in England is opposed to the pernicious dole system. Mr. J. R. Clynes, one of the leaders of that party in the House of Commons, declares that he is not in favor of giving something for nothing to either rich or poor. He advocates certain changes in state organization that he claims would turn wasteful dole money into wage-earning money, given in exchange for the wealth that labor would produce. The present expenditures each week by the British government for doles are put at almost $10,000,000, which is at the annual rate of almost $500,000,000. Probably Great Britain never entered on a more disastrous economic policy than the distribution among a few people of money belonging to all the people. It was easily begun, but is almost impossible to abandon. The former workers have become so accustomed to being supported by the state without effort on their part, that a near revolution would probably result were the practice to be suddenly discontinued.

Chelsea Record—Instead of going backward the prohibition movement will go forward.

A WONDERFUL SERMON

A large crowd was present at the Clanton Baptist Church last Sunday at the 11:00 o'clock service, and took advantage of hearing a very good sermon preached by Rev. S. J. Ezell, the pastor. Rev. Ezell always preaches well, but from our way of looking at it last Sunday he preached an exceptionally fine sermon. His subject dealt with the qualifications of an ideal Christian, and the way he handled his discourse was simply grand.

Together with several classes of people who violate God's law, the dead-beat was given to understand that the preacher didn't have very much good to say about him. One of the strongest points Rev. Ezell made was that "No one is a Christian who will not pay his debts." To this assertion we wish to add the strongest emphasis which we have at our command, and we must say with shame that more people are guilty of this sin than of any other we know of. A person never knows of how many people there are who won't pay their debts until he goes into public business.

We are sure that if the credit books of the business concerns of Clanton were opened up and published to the world you would be surprised to find a number of names of people whom you thought were above such degredations. Not many months ago the Clanton Chamber of Commerce drew up a list of all the "bad eggs" they could get. They published this list twice and furnished a copy to the merchants and business men of the town, but the list grew in size so fast that the Chamber of Commerce couldn't afford to have any more printed. This and its hustling secretary, and the organization has been going down the hill ever since.

Rev. Ezell also made some excellent points touching on inside and outside consecration as a Christian. This phase of his text was discussed very ably and as the rest of his sermon, was made so plain that any child could understand the fullness of it. We wish to say to Bro. Ezell, and not flatteringly either, that he is doing a great work in Clanton. The kind of doctrine which he preaches is the kind that will stand the fire test and will live on and on even after his life on earth shall have been spent.

THE COOPER HIGHWAY

Since the road crew did some work on the highway between Clanton and Coopers a few days ago, we have heard quite a bit both pro and con said concerning the work. Well, the editor of The Union-Banner decided to go ever the road and make a personal investigation so that we might intelligently write a bit about the road. We will say that the road is in the best general condition we have seen it in for several months. The workmen drew the ditches in and dug them rather deep, but as everyone knows, a road has got to be torn up before it can be leveled up and put in good shape. The road as it is at the present makes it rather inconvenient for two cars to meet or pass without slowing down, but we understand that the commssiioners do not intend to let the road stay as it is very long. It is their intention, as soon as the loose dirt gets rained on and settled down to a firm mass, to take the scrapes and drag some of the dirt out of the road back into the ditches. After this is done, we are sure there can be very little objection to the condition of the road. Of course, as the Cooper road is now, it is about the best road in the county, so we feel that any criticism made against the road workers for the work done on this highway is unfounded.

CHILTON TIGERS DEFEAT MONTGOMERY AVIATION CORPS

The Aeronauts proved no match for the Chilton County High School here Friday afternoon when the Orange and Blue machine ran up a 53 to 0 victory over Montgomery's fast delegation.

Chilton began scoring in the first quarter and scored in every period until the final whistle blew. There were several smashing end runs and off tackle plays. However, the greater part of the game consisted of the swift aerial offensive put forth by the locals, which the khaki backs were unable to break up.

The visitors made only two first downs during the game. They tried the passing game occasionally, but resulted in the loss of the ball so many times that they resorted to defensive play in the last quarted.

NUGGETS FROM WISDOM'S MINES

Boston Transcript—Chairman Howard Elliott of the Northern Pacific says that the Northwest is suffering from "gloomy exaggeration" of its present difficulties. That disease of gloomy exaggeration is one of the most troublesome of human ills.

Troy, (N. Y.) Times—President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes are expressing the American attitude exactly: Willingness to help all nations, when all the nations need and wish our help, but no partnerships, limited or unlimited.

Advocate of Peace — America's contribution of approxibately ten millions of dollars to the relief of the stricken peoples in Japan fits well with the work of the Conference for the Limitation of Armament.

Fort Wayne Sentinel — Strange that there are so many bankers in this country urging the United States to cancel the war debts. If you were to ask them to cancel the debts owing them they would throw you out on your head.

Marion Star—What we need in this country more than anything else are officeholders who will have the same high regard for economy in office that they profess to have while campaigning.

New York Tribune—While nobody would dissuade a boy from going to college if he has the means, he ought to be reassured that the self-taught, self-reliant leader is as much in demand as ever.

Boston Transcript—A Spanish cartoonist has been imprisoned for pictures ridiculing the government. In this county he would have been invited to go upon the lecture platform.

Philadelphia North American—Of course, once you grant that history is bunk there seems no reason at all why Henry Ford shouldn't be elected to make it.

Philadelphia Inquirer—Our own candid opinion is that we ought to have more persons laying bricks and fewer throwing them.

UP TO YOU

Secretary Mellon—"When the average citizen is as careful about how public funds are spent as he is about spending his private salary, we will not hear any more about government extravagance."

Providence Journal—In any part of our American agricultural domain the farmer who refused to tie himself to a single crop in the 1923 planting season is apt to close his books this fall with a fair degree of satisfaction.

Cincinnati Enquirer—The Filipinos still are knocking on Wood. But it will bring them no luck.

Chicago Tribune—If our government were mistakenly induced to put $50,000,000 into the wheat market, we would be headed straight for a worse situation next year.

XXVII.

THIS WAS YOUR MONEY

Consider for a moment, if you will, some further figures. This is your money I am talking about.

For every fiscal year from 1866 to 1893, inclusive, there was a surplus of receipts over expenditures. During this period of 28 years the surplus of receipts over expenditures totaled $1,920,205,013.41.

For the fiscal years 1894 to 1899, inclusive, the expenditures exceeded the receipts in the aggregate of $283,022,991.14. For the fiscal years 1900 to 1904, inclusive, the surplus of receipts over expenditures aggregated $310,319,165.04. For 1905 the expenditures exceeded the receipts by $78,776,622.30.

For the years 1910 to 1914, inclusive, the receipts exceeded the expenditures by $149,024,404.27. For 1915 the expenditures exceeded the receipts by $33,488,931.53. For 1916 the receipts exceeded the expenditures by $55,171,553.59, and for 1917 there was a deficit of $29,724,864.73.

From 1866 to 1917, inclusive, the receipts exceeded the expenditures for each year with the exception of 1894, 1895, 1896, 1897, 1898, 1899, 1905, 1908, 1909, 1915 and 1917. The total amount by which the expenditures exceeded the receipts for these 11 years just named, is $443,766,744.70. For the 52 fiscal years, 1866 to 1917, inclusive, the receipts exceeded the expenditures in 41 years, the total of such excess for that period being $2,591,453,184.16.

For the fiscal years 1866 to 1910, the revenues were raised through an indirect system of taxation. Beginning with the fiscal year ending June 30, 1910, the receipts from direct methods of taxation have usually grown each fiscal year, as will be seen by the following table:

1910—Corporation tax .....$	20,951,780.97
1911—Corporation tax	33,616,976.59
1912—Corporation tax	28,583,303.73
1913—Corporation tax	35,606,299.84
1914—Corporation excise tax.	10,671,077.22
1914—Corporation income tax	32,456,662.67
1914—Individual income tax..	28,253,534.85
1915—Emergency revenue.....	52,069,126.29
1915—Individual income tax..	41,046,162.09
1916—Emergency revenue.....	84,278,302.13
1916—Corporation income tax	56,903,657.98
1916—Individual income tax..	67,943,594.63
1917—Emergency revenue.....	95,297,553.88
1917—Individual income tax..	180,108,340.10
1918—Income and excess profits tax	2,838,999,894.28

The number of corporations making income tax returns showing taxable income, aggregated 52,498 in the calendar year 1909, and that number increased to 232,079 for the calendar year 1917. The number of individuals making personal income tax returns aggregated 357,598 for the calendar year 1913, and that number increased to 3,472,890 for the calendar year 1917.

For the fiscal year 1909 the total ordinary receipts aggregated $603,589,489.84, of which $300,711,933.95 came from customs duties, $246,212,643.59 came from internal revenue, and the balance was received from the sale of public lands and other miscellaneous items; whereas, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1919, the total receipts from customs amounted to $184,457,867.39, while the internal revenue, including income taxes and corporation and excess profits taxes, amounted to $3,839,950,612.05.

So you will see that until 1910 the money you paid toward the support of the government was slipped away from you so easily that you hardly knew anything about it. You did not know that you were paying taxes to the national government.

Indirect taxation is the most seductive form of raising public revenue. You never came in contact with the federal government except when you bought a postage stamp. But now you know it every time you buy a drink at a soda fountain, or a bottle of medicine, or send a telegram, or make a long-distance telephone call, or perform any one of a score of other normal activities of daily life. Something must be put in the kitty for the government. Its annual rakeoff runs into the billions. You pay it and the government spends it.

But all that part of the party is about over now. The oysters have been eaten and put in the bill. They must be paid for. It is perfectly clear that in the future by far the greater part of the revenue required for conducting the public business must come from direct taxes. It is also clear that the ordinary expenses for running the government will in future probably exceed four billion dollars a year. That is a lot of money to take out of your pockets, and mine. Hadn't we better see what is done with it, and whether we can save any of it? Congress, which is very far-sighted, and able, when its own skin is concerned, to distinguish a hawk from a hand saw at a very great distance, is beginning to take notice.

Brahmins Avoid Friday.

Mrs. T. E. Wyatt and Mrs. V. E. Wyatt of Clanton went to Shiloh Tuesday to visit relatives.

SOUTH CALERA AND CALERA ITEMS

Will you kindly allow us a space in your paper to tell of a few of the happenings of our community?

We were very glad to have in the community last week, Mr. Coll Chism, who was visiting home folks. Mr. Chism has been in North Carolina since last fall for his health. We are delighted to say that he is improving greatly.

Miss Ruth Mooney,' teacher of the South Calera school, spent the week-end at her home in Columbiana this past week. She came back Sunday afternoon to be ready to take up her work Monday morning.

Mrs. W. Clark is in Birmingham visiting relatives. She is expected home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Burgess were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Crim for the past few days.

Our regular preaching day is the fourth Sunday. Won't you come out and hear our new pastor next fourth Snday?

Mr. O. C. Busby, who has a position in Marbury, was home for the week-end.

Mrs. C. Campbell entertained quite a number of young people at her home last Saturday night. There was a large crowd at the singing and all seemed to enjoy it very much.

Miss Mexa Tate was a visitor at Miss Lutie Jones' last Monday.

Rev. Thornburg gave a very interetsing talk last Sunday night on, "What November 11th means to America." They had a live program at the Epworth League Sunday night and quite a large crowd attended. Mr. Herbert Milstead had charge of the program and he rendered a very selective one.

A centenary worker from Birmingham preached in Rev. Thornburg's place Sunday morning at the preaching hour and he also gave a splendid talk on general church work and the centenary movement.

Mr. T. F. Busby visited the home of Uncle Bill Shaw at Ocampo Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Sarah Crim is spending a few days in Birmingham. She left Monday morning.

Miss Thelma Pilgreen entertained a few of her friends Sunday at a dinner. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Busby, Mr. Leon Busby and Miss Hazel Cox. Eeach one say that the day was very much enjoyed.

Mrs. Jessie Cox was the guest of Mrs. Frank Shaw in Calera last Eunday.

IS DOUBTING THOMAS NO LONGER

"All medicines and doctors for stomach trouble proved worthless in my case. Everybody recommended something else and nothing helped, so I became a doubting Thomas as to any cure. While in St. Louis a party praised Mayr's Wonderful Remedy so highly that I bought a bottle and I am now a doubting Thomas no longer." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Alred Drug Co.

Women to attract must

Radiate Health!

BEAUTY is the magnet which draws all eyes—and back of beauty—Health—working silently.—Red blood tingling through the veins;—the glow of youth in the cheeks;—the spring of eagerness, of vim, of vitality in the walk;—the ever graceful air, unrestrained by care or worry.—All the charms of beauty.—All the works of health.

Men are fascinated by the charms of beauty. Women gaze with envy, secretly jealous, perhaps—wondering—hoping—praying for that attractiveness that is not theirs.

But why the wondering—the hoping—the praying for that craved-for attractiveness—that beauty. Good looks is the barometer of one's condition. Good health radiates beauty. S. S. S. purifies the blood—creates new red blood cells—rids the system of impurities which make beauty and attractiveness impossible. As women to attract must radiate health so must they keep their systems free from impurities and their red blood cells ever increasing. S. S. S. does both.

S. S. S., since 1826, has been ridding the system of impurities—pimples, blackheads, boils, eczema and rheumatism—building red blood cells—aiding women to be attractive by radiating health. S. S. S. is made of carefully selected herbs and barks, scientifically prepared and proportioned. All good drug stores carry S. S. S. It is more economical to purchase the large size bottle.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Eptiomized Form.

Citation of considerable interest throughout the state, naming as respondents all Alabama steam railroads, has been issued by the Alabama Public Service commission. The citation, which will be formally heard on Dec. 17, call upon the railroads to show cause why they should not revise all commodity rates, both for single line and joint line movements, that now exceed the class rates to which such commodities belong, to a basis not higher than said class rates, and all through rates that exceed the lowest combination to a basis not higher than the combination.

The Daphne Normal school opened for instruction as a Grade A institution for the first time Nov. 5, thus marking the victorious close of the long campaign to have this school made of the first rank. Because of the delays incident to reorganization it was said that the school president has not yet been named, but that he will probably be appointed shortly. The school offers work, including the first year of college this year, and will include the second year next fall, thus bringing it up to full Grade A status.

Probability that north Alabama asphalt soon may make its appearance in large quantities on north Alabama streets and roads looms as a result of a conference of engineers in Florence when the visitors were the guests of C. W. Ashcraft. The engineers and Mr. Ashcraft examined the asphalt, which has been found in various parts of the valley, and special attention was given to the rock now being mined near Florence, which in its prepared form, is being used on the streets of Florence.

Award of a contract for 40,700 tons of steel rails to the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company has been announced by the Southern railway. The rails will be rolled at the T. C. I. plant at Ensley and are for delivery during the first six months of 1924. The contract was placed in line with the Southern's policy to purchase materials in the south to the greatest extent possible. This is the second large order obtained by the T. C. I. recently, the Louisville and Nashville having ordered 50,000 tons last month.

The new state board of agriculture at its first organization session at Montgomery reorganized the department as provided for in the agricultural code, which provided for an additional division known as the division of plant industry, which in turn embraces a sub-division known as the division of citrus industry. This organization will give the department for the first time full-time workers to look after citrus fruit and other features of the plant industry.

About six months ago Whit Torbet, a negro employe of the Clement Hotel at Opelika, decided to make his home in the north. Accordingly he journeyed thither one bright and pleasant summer day. Recently E. O. Pearson, manager of the Clement Hotel, received the following urgent request from the said Whit Torbert: "Please send me $24 to come home on. It looks like it was going to snow up here, and snow quick."

The federal bureau of public roads does not approve the idea of the state of Alabama auctioning off surplus road building material furnished this state by the federal government from war time supplies. A telegram was received at the state highway department in Montgomery from Thomas McDonald, chief of the United States bureau of public roads, in response to a query on the subject.

Harry Clayton Howze, postmaster at Marion, has sent his resignation to the post office department to take effect November 15th. EX-SOLDIERS ATTENTION

Our Tax Collector, Mr. J. T. Rockett, asks us to announce to the ex-soldier boys of the county who have been exempt from paying poll tax since the war will have to pay their poll tax this fall. There has been some misunderstanding as to this point, but Mr. Rockett has looked up the law, and finds that such voters to be legally qualified will have to pay their poll tax this fall. We understand that a number have not paid yet due to their misunderstanding of the matter, so they are asked to take notice now, and attend to this matter before it is too late. Poll taxes may be paid any time between now and February 1, 1924.

Weak Back

Mrs. Mildred Pipkin, of R. F. D. 8, Columbia, Tenn., says: "My experience with Cardui has covered a number of years. Nineteen years ago . . . I got down with weak back. I was run-down and so weak and nervous I had to stay in bed. I read of

CARDUI

and sent for it. I took only one bottle at that time, and it helped me; seemed to strengthen and build me right up. So that is how I first knew of Cardui. After that, . . . when I began to get weak and 'no account', I sent right for Cardui, and it never failed to help me."

If you are weak and suffering from womanly ailments, Cardui may be just what you need. Take Cardui. It has helped thousands, and ought to help you.

The Value of Land Abstracts

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

Miss Bertha Littleton has returned from a two weeks visit to friends in Birmingham.

Mr .and Mrs. S. . Norton made a business trip to Birmingham last Saturday. Among the places they visited was the new Pizitz million dollar department store, truly one of the great show places of the "Magic City." Of the building and its interior arrangement, one is impressed with its magnitude which, although containing enormous stocks of all sorts of merchandise, seems to provide room for everything and everybody. The rooms are light and airy, giving a sense of room to breathe, the goods are amply displayed in a very effective manner, courteous clerks stand ready to give attention to the slightest wish of customers, and underneath it all one is impressed with a sense of the perfect organization that moves the small army of emplyoees to co-operate as one gigantic whole in a movement for efficient and acceptable service. To one familiar with modern business organization it is simply a great treat to visit this great institution.

At the Congregational church next Sunday, Nov. 18th, at the hour of morning service, 11 a.m., under direction of Miss Fairbank, the following missionary program will be given:

Norton.

Mrs. Ivey Horn and children will be leaving Thorsby early next week to live in their new house at Boyles, which is now completed. Mr. Horn has for several months past been employed at Boyles at a machinist, and has had the pleasure of keeping in intimate touch with the construction of their new home. We congratulate them on the consummation of their plans, but assure them that they will all be greatly missed in Thorsby and especially by Mrs. Horn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Magne nderson.

Two Lives Spent in Helping Sick People

By V. M. Pierce, M.D.

Sixty years ago, my father, Dr. Ray V. Pierce, then a young doctor, called on the sick, diagnosed their troubles and prescribed medicines that helped them. Two of his prescriptions were so uniformly successful that he decided to give them to the world. Giving up his private practice, he began making these two remedies at Buffalo, N. Y. One, a special remedy for women, he called "Favorite Prescription"; the other, a vegetable tonic, "Golden Medical Discovery."

Father added other remedies to the line, and he also established the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, to which people come from all over this country for the advice and treatment of its large staff of diagnosticians, analysts, specialists, surgeons and nurses.

It was natural that I should study medicine, attending two of the finest medical colleges in the U. S. A., and when Dr. R. V. Pierce died I was ready to "carry on." As the directing head of the Invalids' Hotel, I have had the opportunity to observe thousands of cases of kidney disease, thousands of analyses connected therewith. And my addition to the Dr. Pierce line of family medicines is An-uric (anti uric acid) Tablets to combat kidney disease which, after heart disease, pneumonia and tuberculosis, causes more untimely deaths than any other human ailment.

I have just recently placed An-uric Tablets within the reach of every family in the South. If you have dizzy spells, lame back, backache, unexplainable headaches, neuralgia, rheumatic pains, or dull, drowsy spells, coupled with irregular, too frequent or painful passages of the kidney secretions, treat the trouble with An-uric. Get a 65c bottle from your nearest dealer, or send 10c for a four-day trial treatment to Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

JEMISON NEWS

The Sophomores of the Biology class of Jemison High school motored down to Thorsby in Mr. L. D. Atchison's truck Nov. 2 to visit the pecan orchard of Mrs. Villadsen. She carried us in the orchard and showed us how she budded and grafted her trees. If any one wishes to purchase pecan trees at a bargain you will find them there.

While down there we went to Mr. Howard's florist and he told us some interesting things about it and we also went to the institute and the science teacher carried us in the science room and showed us some very interesting things in which we learned some important things there that we did not know.

The health work girls, with a few assistancees, staged a play Saturday, Nov. 10, for the benefit of the Health Work Class. Everybody seemed to enjoy it very much, but above all we think Mr. R. B. Langston enjoyed it most of all.

Miss Marion Howard spent Sunday with Miss Irene Atkinson.

Miss Iva Barefield of Minooka, one of the students of Jemison School, spent the week-end in town, as she was one of the main characters in the play.

Messrs Charles Glass and Herbert Williams, who are at work in Birmingham, spent Sunday with home folks.

The Jemison High School boys challanged a game of basket ball with Stanton boys Nov. 9, and the scores were 32 to 1 in favor of the home school boys.

Misses Sybil Langston, Olo Rodgers, Catherine Mickle, Ethel Brown and Malene Howard took a pleasant walk out in the woods Sunday afternoon.

The Y. W. A. Society of Jemison carried Mr. Paul Maronia a very appetizing supper this past week, as he is shut in.

The Jemison High School student body celebrated the armistice day by parading the town Monday between 11:00 and 12:00 o'clock.

Hoping to see this in the paper this week.

MONTGOMERY MAN IN W. O. W. MEMORIAL SANATORIUM SENDS A LETTER OF APPRECIATION

Appreciation of the Woodmen Memorial Sanatorium is expressed in a letter from a former Montgomerian which has just been received by Harry A. Cook, clerk of Magnolia Camp No. 2, Woodmen of the World. It is written by B. L. Wiggins, who is now under treatment in the sanatorium at San Antonio, Texas.

Mr. Wiggins was formerly a conductor on a Montgomery street car, and is a member of Magnolia Camp No. 2.

Developing tuberculosis a few years ago, Mr. Wiggins went west for his health and soon after the opening of the Woodmen Sanatorium he gained admittance to the institution and is rapidly regaining strength.

Text of the Letter

"Will write you a few lines to say that I am still improving and expect to be able to return to my family and work in a few months. nd again I wish to thank the members of Magnolia Camp and yourself in particular for the assistance given me.

"While the hospital is still in its infancy and there are a number of improvements yet to be made, its only a matter of a short time before it will be one of th ebest equipped hospitals for the treatment of T. B., if not in the whole country, at least in the southwest.

New Equipment

"At present time there is being installed in the hospital an X-ray machine at a cost of eight thousand dollars.

"It is impossible for me to express my appreciation of the sovereign Camp in erecting an institution of this kind and I would urge every member of the Woodmen of the World to aid and encourage the Sovereign Camp in this movement. I say in this movement because I understand from reading the El Paso papers of last week that Sovereign Commander W. A. Fraser was in El Paso looking over a possible location for another hospital of this kind and as the only known cure for our disease is the fresh air and rest cure. And as you are under a certain amount of discipline at the hospital that you would not be under at home makes the hospital the best place for you.

"The T. B. is no respector of person, and the Sovereign who is a well man today may be a victim tomorrow or next year."

To Get Advertiser

Following the reading of this letter at a meeting of Magnolia Camp, the clerk was directed to subscribe for The Advertiser and have it sent to the Woodmen Memorial Sanatorium for the benefit of Alabama Woodmen who are there undergoing treatment.

In addition to Mr. Wiggins, another former Montgomerian is at the institution for treatment. This other Woodman is A. S. Chandler who went west several years ago seeking a cure for the dreaded white plague.

LAWLEY NEWS

This community was saddened last week by a message stating that Mr. Jones, son-in-law of Mrs. Jasper Gentry, had been instantly killed by electricity while at his work some place above Birmingham, we have not learned just where.

Mrs. Jones is one of our home girls and will be remembered as Miss Edna Gentry. She is known and loved by many here who very deeply sympathize with her in her breavement.

Mr. Jones was buried at his home town. Mrs. Jasper Gentry and children of this place attended the funeral.

The new home of Mr. W. P. Collins is now being completed by painting. Mr. Collins states that he will probably be movel by Thanksgiving.

Mr. Enoch Latham of California, now visiting relatives here, is planning to go into saw mill business here with his brother, Mr. Manly Latham who resides at Tuscaloosa. Enoch is an accomplished young man, and his many friends hope he will carry out his plans to stay here and not return to California.

On last Saturday Mrs. Seaborn Latham delightfully entertained at a spend the day party, at her home, in honor of her sister, Miss Nellie Holley, of Tuscaloosa, a bride of only a few days. The living and dining rooms were very beautifully graced with ferns and cut flowers. The hostess was assisted in entertaining by her sister, Mrs. Oscar Hicks.

Miss Nellie was married to Mr. Charlie Springer of Tuscaloosa last Thursday. After a few days here with relatives they will return to Tuscaloosa where they will make their future home.

Mr. Lum Hicks, who has been here several days on a visit, will return to Florida this week, accompanied by Mr. Eugene Thompson. We are just wondering what some of the girls here are going to do if Eugene goes away.

Miss Ernestine Bosdurant of Centerville spent last Sunday here with Misses Maggie Mae and Nannie Bell Head.

Mrs. James Bedford spent a few days last week in Birmingham visiting her uncle, Mr. Ben Head.

Mr. Holland Hicks of Birmingham spent last week here with his mother, Mrs. Celia Hicks.

Mr. Rufus Gentry of Tabernacle community has moved into the house owned by Mrs. J. H. Shoults, formerly occupied by Mr. Klinner, who has moved to Maplesville.

Mrs. W. P. Hicks received a letter fro her sister, Mrs. Allan Seeley of Massacmhusetts, stating that she and little son will be here by December 1st to make home folks a visit. It has been three years since she visited here. Her many friends will remember her as Miss Lettie Walker.

About two weeks ago Mr. Edward Abercrombie of Cox community happened to a little accident just about the time he arrived at the home of Mrs. Celia Hicks where he generally stopped to pay his weekly call, his horse was frightened and ran throwing him out, only burising him a little, but he was compelled to borrow clothes to wear home.

Miss Mary Belle Wooley of Birmingham was here Sunday. She went out to Mulberry to see her relatives and returned to the Magic City Monday afternoon.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

Dear Editor:

Please allow me space in your paper to report the results of Mr. A. L. Robinson's 47th birthday celebration, who resides near Mitchel Dam.

His children, their husbands and wives, were all present; grand-children, 13 in number, were all present; his father-in-law and Mrs. Goss from Georgia. They had a nice time, plenty of dinner, singing in the evening and the best of all he made each of his children a present of ten dollars, which was appreciated by all. After the celebration all returned to their homes. Mr. and Mrs. Ellison had a long drive back to East Tallassee.

HIGHWAY BOARD FAVORS CHANGES

Decision Reached To Send Two Members To Birmingham And Selma.

In order to facilitate the highway program in Alabama, the state highway commission has reached a decision to have one of the associate commissioners establish headquarters permanently at Birmingham, and the second associate commissioner at Selma, with the president of the commission to remain with headquarters at Montgomery. Announcement of this contemplated action was made by Senator John Rogers, chairman of the commission Monday afternoon following a meeting of the body. Senator Rogers stated that the matter will be taken up with the governor as soon as possible, the law requiring the approval of the governor to the actions of the commission.

Under this arrangement, the commission would meet monthly at headquarters at Montgomery, or at such other time as circumstances might require, to transact business requiring the presence of the entire commission, instead of meeting each week as at present.

The commission after studying the situation has reached a decision that the establishment of headquarters for associate commissioners at Birmingham and Selma would largely expedite the business of the body. At present there are four division officers of the highway department, located at Montgomery, Birmingham, Selma, and Decatur. The commission plans, with the approval of the governor, to consolidate the Decatur division office with the Birmingham office, Senator Rogers stated.

Governor Brandon has gone on a deer hunt in Sumter county, and the plan of the highway commission, as outlined above will be placed before him upon his return.

Judge Sessions Appears.

The commission at its session Monday went a step further in the direction of building roads with state funds independent of Federal aid. Judge L. F. Sessions, probate judge of Dale County, appeared before the commission and requested the building of a road with state funds nineteen miles long to connect Ozark, county site of Dale county, with Enterprise, one of the county sites of Coffee county. Judge Sessions stated that his county will maintain the part of the road in its borders, and expressed the belief that Coffee county will do likewise.

This request placed before the commission the basis of the proposition which it has for some time had under consideration, that of building roads independent of federal aid, and also of county maintenance of state highways. The commission voted unanimously to build the road as requested, with a provise that such action should be contingent upon adoption of a general policy of building roads with state funds alone. Senator Rogers stated that a number of counties have already endorsed the proposition of building roads independent of federal aid, and of county maintenance of state roads, and expressed confidence that at least sixty of the 67 counties will endorse these policies.

A delegation from Autauga county appeared to request a survey on the section of the Birmingham-Montgomery highway through Autauga county, via Reese's Ferry, which was taken under advisement.

GOV. WALTON IS IMPEACHED

Chief Executive Removed From Office By Unanimous Vote On First Article.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 19.—J. C. Walton, fifth governor of Oklahoma, was removed from office tonight by unanimous vote of the state senate court of impeachment, after his trial on charges of corruption in office, neglect of duty, moral turpitude and general incompetence.

A formal verdict ordering the removal was returned after the executive had been found guilty of 11 of the 16 charges presented. The vote was 41 to 0.

Six of the original 22 charges constituting the impeachment bill were dismissed by order of the court.

The court, by a standing vote, denied a motion for a new trial, which Governor Walton's counsel filed immediately after the verdict was announced.

The governor's removal, although not formally ordered until after a verdict had been returned on each charge, was made certain shortly before 4 o'clock when the court without a dissenting vote, found him guilty of abusing his pardon and parole authority.

Forty-one senators, lacking only one of the total membership of the body voted for conviction on the clemency charge, the first to be voted upon. Senator Jack Barker, who had voted consistently in the governor's favor throughout the 16 days of the trial was absent when the final roll was called.

The articles of impeachment were filed by the lower house of the state legislature, which less than two months ago the executive at the height of his power had dispersed by military power.

Trapp is Governor.

By the removal of Governor Walton, Lieutenant-Governor M. E. Trapp became governor of the state. Trapp has been lieutenant-governor during two four year administrations and has been acting governor since October 23 when the senate suspended Governor Walton following the filing of the impeachment charges against him.

The vote on the pardon and parole charge, which determined the removal followed with surprising suddenness after the examination of the last witness. E. W. Marland, president of the Marland Refining Company, had barely left the stand when W. E. Disney, chairman of the house of managers which conducted the prosecution, announced that the evidence was concluded.

Paying Taxes Well Says J. T. Rockett

Mr. J. T. Rockett, Tax Collector of Chilton County, says that the people of Chilton County are paying taxes better than they ever have before since he has been in office. Over two-thirds fo the tax payers of the county have already paid up. Of course none of the big corporations have paid yet. They always wait until the last day. Up to Tuesday of this week there has been collected in all, including automobile and poll tax, $33,511.25. Of course, this is a small portion of all the taxes of the county, as the big concerns pay a great part of the entire taxation.

"TWO ARMS FULL" OF TURKEY

How would you like to be this Turkey and nestle in so fair a maiden's arms? We wouldn't mind it a bit only we'd hate to face this bird's future. You see, he's one of the advance guard of big gobblers destined to decorate the festive board of city folks on Thanksgiving day. No wonder he has such a glum expression. Something seems to tell him he's due to "get it in the neck."

But the girl. Look at that pearly smile on her countenance. We can almost read her thoughts. Bet she's thinking just how delicious this big Turk is going to be—roasted to a crispy brownness and stuffed with luscious chestnuts. It's enough to make anybody's "mouth water." Wish we had him.

ENDORSE PLAN TO LOWER TAX

General Belief That Executive Strongly Favors Mellon Proposition.

Washington, Nov. 19.—President Coolidge is strongly inclined toward the Mellon tax reduction problem and is expected by some of his advisers to endorse it flatly in his message to congress.

Such an endorsement in the opinion of administration officials would be sufficient to sweep aside such opposition as there has been among some republican leaders to a tax revision at the coming session.

With the gathering here of Senators and representatives of the majority party, taxation has become one of the principal subjects of coak room discussion. Although some of the leaders insist that to open the tax schedules would invite endless controversy and lead nowhere, most of them appear to believe that legislative consderaton of the Mellon and other reduction proposals is certain. Since announcement of Mr. Mellon's plan to cut the nation's tax burden $363,000,000, President Coolidge has been carefully watching the reaction of the country. He has read much editorial' comment and has received a large number of letters and telegrams endirsing the proposal. A large proportion of the over-Sunday mail of about 2,000 letters received at the White House had to do with the tax question.

WORK TO BEGIN ON REESE BRIDGE

Contractors Advise Highway Commission That They Are Ready to Start.

Actual work of construction on the piers and approaches of the Reese's Ferry bridge, which is to form one of the most important links in the Montgomery - Birmingham highway, will probably begin within the next two weeks.

L. G. Smith, bridge engineer for the state highway department, was advised Monday, by officials of the Koss Construction company, of Des Moines, Iowa, which firm has been awarded the contract for building the bridge sub-structure and approaches —that equipment to be used in the construction work, has been shipped from Lansing, Michigan.

Building operations will begin promptly upon the arrival of this equipment in Montgomery.

The Union-Banner's Illustration Service

The management of The Union-Banner takes great pleasure in announcing to our readers and advertising patrons that we have recently installed new machinery and have bought a service from Chicago that will enable us to give you a still better and neater newspaper than we have heretofore been giving. This service will enable us to print every week big cartoons and comic strips, also current news pictures of great educational value.

The time has come when for a newspaper to keep abreast with the times it has to carry in connection with its reading matter some pictures and illustrations to break the monotony of pure solid reading matter. People love to look at pictures as well as read news. Well, that is what this new service is going to give you. One of the main attractions in the big daily papers is its comic sheet, its funny paper and its cartoons. Of course, our service will not be as extensive as the big papers use, but it is along that same line.

And the best part of it all, we will be able to make illustrations for our advertisements. A person will read an advertisement much quicker if there is a picture of the articles advertised. And too, a deeper and more lasting impression will be made on the mind of the reader. Therefore, this service will greatly add to the value of our advertising space.

We have added this attraction to our paper for the purpose of making it better and more attractive to our readers. It is our desire at all times to make the Banner just as good as we can and to give our patrons the very best service possible. So, we ask the co-operation of everybody in making the Banner better and better.

BOX SUPPER

HI JOHNSON TO BE IN 1924 RACE

California Senator's Hat Drops Shortly Following McAdoo's Entrance In Race.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—Two presidential booms emanating from Chicago resounded throughout the country today following announcement by Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California that he was in the contest for nomination as republican candidate for president. His hat dropped into the political ring shortly after that of William Gibbs McAdoo whose friends let it be known that they intended to support him for the democratic nomination.

Senator Johnson launched his bomo with a formal statement issued after a conference here with party leaders who favor his candidacy, in which he assailed present policies in domestic and national affairs, and enunciated the principles upon which his race would be made. He expressed unequivocal opposition to the "league of nations and all its subsidiaries," including the world court, and set himself up as the "progressive" candidate in contrast to the "ultra-conservative" and "ultra-radical."

He sounded his keynote in the statement that "the ensuing contest will determine whether the republican party shall be the permanent instrument of reaction or whether it shall respond to present day conditions and aspirations."

Johnson's Declaration

Senator Johnson made the following declaration:

"Theoretically, under our system, the people themselves select their pesident. Those states with presidential preference primaries not only recognize this theory, but put it in practice. They preserve the spirit as well as the letter of American institutions. It is an American's birthright to submit himself and his political tenents to the decision of his fellow citizens. He is entitled to his decision and he is entitled to make it. I recognize no prescriptive right to office and I deny that any one or any number of men may disregard tre popular will, and in defiance of it, or dictate our candidates. Particularly should this be so at the present time.

"There is discontent abroad in the land; there is threatened disintegration of the republican party. This discontent and party difficulties arise, not because of popular government, but from the lack of it. Two warring philosophies of government in the nation, just as in the state from which I come, struggle for mastery. Designate them as you will, the contest between them is age old. The one ultraconservative, materialistic, stolidly and stubbornly resisiting any change and vigorously contesting every human advance, invites an ultra radicalism. The other, mindful of existing rights, but recognizing conditions and mankind's gradual progress, is idealistic and forward-looking. It avoids alike ultra-conservatism and ultra-radicalism.

"It's the old, old struggle beginning in the early days of man's first achievements, and never ending since. Reaction and progress must fight it out again in the republican party in the coming presidential primaries. I question not men now, but their philosophy of government. That which obtains at Washington does not fit present day needs. Ultra-conservatism there rules; progressism challenges it.

"Not only is there the fundamental and irreconciliable difference in our domestic politics, but a like divergence, perhaps even of greater importance in relation to our foreign affairs.

Our timid, vaccillating and contradictory positions demand that America's foreign policy again be decided by the whole people who must themselves, at whatever cost, maintain it. This time the decision should be so clear, so definite and certain, that no casuistry, no specious plea, no indirection can destroy it."

"Mr. McAdoo, at Omoha endorsed a statement issued here by David Rockwell of Ravenna, Ohio, that supporters of the former secretary of the treasury intend to nominate him at the democratic convention. Mr. Rockwell's statement left formal announcement of his candidacy to Mr. McAdoo, but said "supporters in forty states will bring him into the race."

"Mr. Rockwell has stated the situation accurately," Mr. McAdoo said.

NEW SENATE'S CALENDAR FULL

Four Treaties Will Come Up For Ratification; Mexican Pact Is Foremost.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Added to the legislative burden of the coming session of congress is to be the presentation of the senate of several new treaties, for whose reception arrangements already have been made by President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes with Chairman Lodge of the senate foreign relations committee.

With the Harding proposal for American participation in the world court already before the senate the new treaties which are to be transmitted to the senate upon its reconvening include:

The treaty of Lausanne between the United States and Turkey, re-establishing relations with Turkey and containing capitulations governing commercial as well as diplomatic intercourses.

The Mexican treaty which paved the way for recognition by the United States of the Obregon government and provides for protection of American property rights in Mexico, as negotiated by John Barton Payne and Charles B. Warren, special envoyh of President Harding.

The Hugh-Curzon treaty extending the shore limits of American operations against rum runners and providing for entrance under seal of "ship stores" of liquor on British vehsels.

In addition the Canadian halibut fisheries treaty is to be re-submitted to the senate for amendment to meet Canadian objections. This was ratified last winter but turned down by Canada because a senate amendment added during ratification conwlicts with a Canadian law, barring British halibut fishermen from Canadian markets in competition with Canadian fishermen. It is planned to have the senate strike out the provision affecting British fishermen.

Which of the pending treaties will receive first attention is yet to be determined by the foreign relations committee.

The home of Mr. C. T. Walker was made happy Tuesday by the arrival of their daughter, Mrs. Sealey, from up in Massachusetts. Mrs. Sealey wrote her parents that she would come home some time this winter but her arrival this early was quite a surprise to them.

Watch the Kidneys Before and After Childbirth

During the period of pregnancy the kidneys have double work to do, which is apt to strain and weaken them so that they break down and fail to keep up their work of filtering the uric poisons out of the blood-stream. This condition, unless looked after promptly, may kill the baby before birth and ruin the mother's health, too.

The expectant mother, should have her urine examined every two weeks. This should be done by the attending physician, or send sample to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, in Buffalo, N. Y., for analysis.

For toning up weakened kidneys, Dr. Pierce's An-uric (anti-uric-acid) Tablets provide effective treatment, and a bottle should be kept in the house and should be used for a time after baby has come to keep the blood free from poisonous matter that might affect the little one during the nursing period.

"An-uric" can now be had from all medicine dealers.

PAY YOUR POLL TAX

The poll tax records of the county show that the voters of the county are very slow in paying their poll tax. Our people should watch out about this matter. The amount is small and trivial, but the consequence is great. Everybody within poll tax age should see to it that their poll tax is paid, so that they may be allowed to vote in the elections next year. There are going to be some very important offices to be filled in 1924, and you can't afford to be disqualified by failing to pay your poll tax fee of $1.50. You have until and including February 1st to pay your poll tax, but you should play safe by not waiting until the last few days.

Here's Proof That Advertising Pays

Famous Wrigley Building in Chicago Being Doubled in Size

The part of the Wrigley Building erected two years ago has filled such a want that the north section, nearly double the floor area of the south section, is being added.

This north section, nearly completed, occupies the entire block, immediately across North Water Street, fronting on Michigan Avenue and reaching to the height of the main part of the first structure, with a connecting bridge.

The space in the new section is already nearly all taken by high-class firms in advance of the completion of the building.

Here is a concrete (as well as a steel and glass) proof of the saying that "advertising pays." In these magnificent buildings Mr. Wrigley has erected an impressive testimonial to this great truth. They loom large and beautiful. They typify the achievements of the man who built them. They stand as a monitor over the activity of the Nation's second city—inspiring—dominating—massive—bearing unanswerable testimony to the POWER OF ADVERTISING.

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

The new Madison county wheel tax which has been decided upon as a means of raising additional money for the public roads, will be put in effect the first of the new year, while the monthly commercial tax will be made payable on December 1 and the first of each month thereafter. The scale agreed on is: One-horse wagon or one-horse buggy, $1.50 per year; two-horse buggy or wagon, $2.50; one-horse commercial wagon, $1.50 per month; two-horse wagon, $2.50 per month; four-horse wagon, $5 per month; six-horse wagon, $7.50 per month. All the money collected from this tax will be used in the improvement of roads in the precinct in which collected and on the roads nearest the man who pays it.

WiNiam Harris, president of the Tenneasee Valley Negro Fair association, has given the press a statement declaring his belief that many more negro farmers will be leaving Alabama for the north during the approaching winter unless something is done to hold them. He declares many of them cannot live until the landowners make seasonal provisions for them in the spring and that their removal will be a necessity in a great many cases. Harris suggests that road building and other public works now being planned be started as soon as possible so as to provide the needy negroes with employment.

Marshall County citizens have presented their claims for state and federal participation in the erection of the proposed bridge over the Tennessee river at Guntersville to J. H. Scruggs and J. F. Suttle, members of the state highway commission. It is said that the argument for state and federal aid in the project was based mainly on two facts: First, the county is too small to undertake the construction of such a costly bridge as would be necessary, second, the structure would be a part of Jackson highway, which is one of the main routes of tourist travel north and south.

The cotton grower in Alabama is not so badly off financially this year as he has been in others, according to F. W. Gist, of Montgomery, of the state bureau of economics of the department of agriculture. He pointed out that the state will produce this year about 100,000 more bales of cotton than was produced two years ago. He stated the increased acreage this season had, of course, greatly increased the expense of the current crop, but added that the greatly increased price would aid materially in offsetting this disadvantage.

A verdict of $500 for the plaintiff was returned by a jury in Jefferson county in the case of Isaac Williams, negro, against W. C. McCarty, loan broker. Williams sued for $5,000 on grounds of unlawful garnishment. The plaintiff testified that he had been paying interest of $3 every pay day to McCarty on a loan of $12 two years ago. It was figured out that a total sum of $170 had been paid as interest on the money.

Ensley will have an arcade shopping district in the near future, if present plans mature. A project is being considered to widen and pave the alleys in two downtown blocks so as to make eight small blocks, with nothing but pedestrians allowed on the narrow walks, to be made from the alleys. Safety, and a greater ease in going from one shop to another, are the chief advantages of the plan, it is claimed.

Wallace Waites, 16, son of chief deputy sheriff M. C. Waites of Coosa county, was dangerously burned when a match was struck in the dark to see how to pour gas in a car which had become stranded on the Turnpike road, one mile from Rockford.

The Huntsville city council has called a special election for December 18 to permit the voters to express their will as to issuing $150,000 of municipal bonds for school improvement purposes.

Talladega suffered $50,000 loss by four fires in one day.

The students of the Tallapoosa county high school at a chapel exercise organized a stock company of their own and subscribed enough capital to purchase and install a modern picture machine in its auditorium.

A good-sized crowd of farmers and business men attended a meeting held in Parrish under the auspices of the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs of Jasper, for the purpose of helping the farmers of Walker county work out a better system of farming and cropping.

The State Highway Board is changing their offices around. Maybe they will get settled down in a year or two and decide to build us a highway. We are still hopefully and watchfully waiting for some concrete action.

Since Hi Johnson announced as candidate for president the Sphinx in the White House has begun to gasp a little. It seems as though he will be able to speak out loud if a few more fellows will throw their hat in the ring.

There are now two candidates on each side for president. On the Republican side of the fence we find Calvin Coolidge and Hiram Johnson, and on the Democratic side are Oscar Underwood and Wm. G. McAdoo. We anticipate some great fun when the two national conventions convene to nominate their candidates.

We notice that a delegation from some of the South-western counties of the state went before the state highway commission last week and asked for some roads to be built. Among their demands was a road from Selma to Clanton. Perhaps some good men from other parts of the state will get us a road in Chilton County. Our people here don't seem to care enough about it to ask for it.

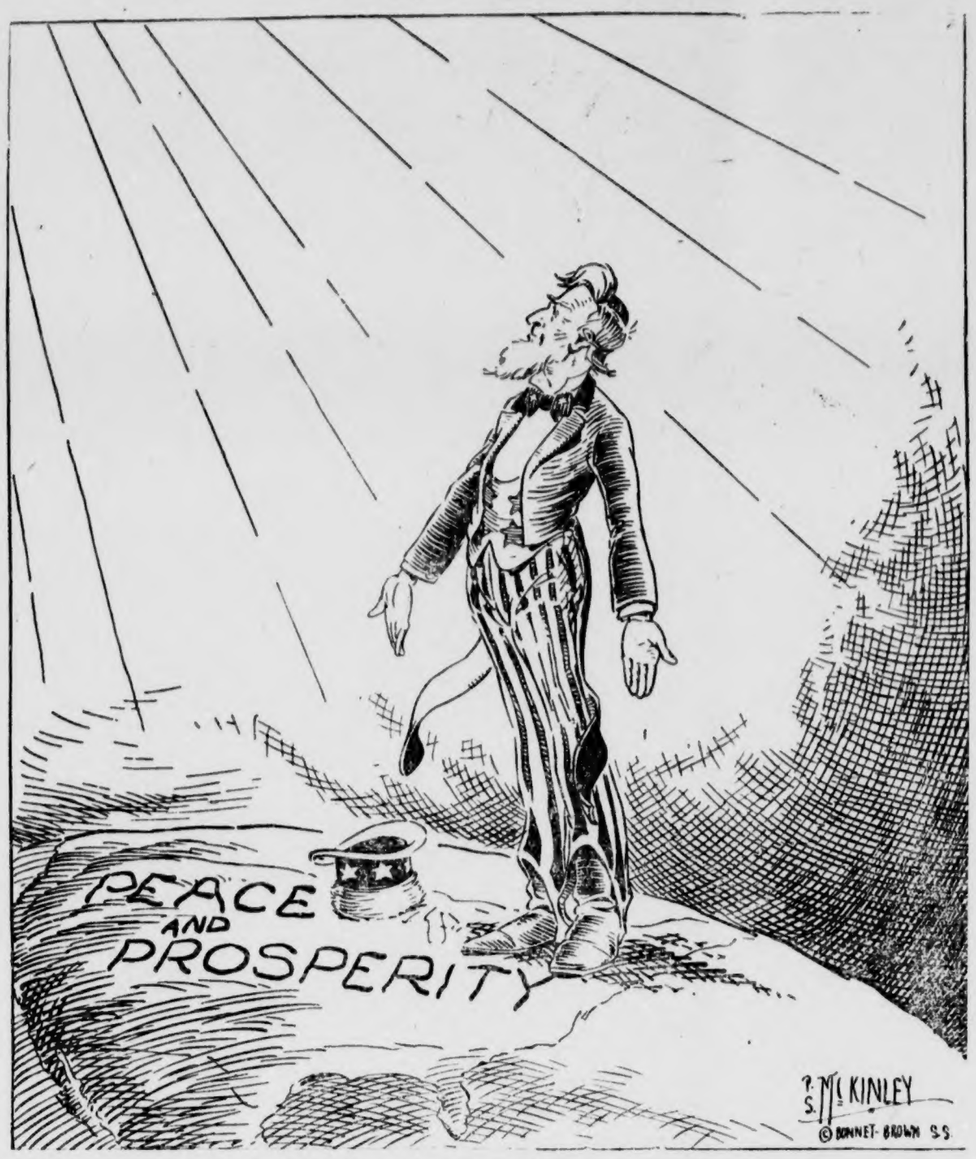
Judge A. W. Hargett, federal prohibition director of Alabama, is getting square in behind the bootleggers of the State. He has stirred up an awful stinch down in Mobile, where it is alleged much illicit liquor has been being trafficked. The bootlegging business is the greatest menace we have in our country today, and it behooves every officer and every citizen to do his full duty in subdueing this awful traffic. Let all of our state, county and municipal officers co-operate with Judge Hargett in his effort to enforce the prohibition laws of our country.

The entrance of Hiram Johnson of California into the race for President next year has rather changed up the political situation of the country and especially of the Republican party. Johnson has given the Old Guard quite a bit of trouble in keeping him lined up, but you have to hand it to the Californian that he is a deep thinker and a strong man when it comes to executing his convictions. If you remember, Hiram Johnson was a very close friend of Teddy Roosevelt, and he has a general disposition very similar to that of the famous Rough Rider. We have not the least doubt that Johnson would make a splendid president of these United States.

MRS. JANE WALKER DEAD

Mrs. Jane Walker, age 81, died last Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. R. Holley of Route 2. The remains were buried at Mt. Pisgah Tuesday, Rev. T. J. Deason conducting the funeral.

THANKS FOR IT ALL



Secretary Mellon of the U. S. Treasury has figured out a scheme whereby he proposes to reduce taxation. Well, the people of these United States are "from Missouri" when some officer proposes to reduce taxes. Heretofore, when you hear a big roar about tax reductions you might as well look out for a 10, 20 or 30 per cent raise. But here's hoping that Mellon really means business and intends to do what he promises. President Coolidge states that he is wholeheartedly behind the scheme, and we feel sure that public sentiment is the same way. It is hard to imagine anything that would be more welcome in this country than a reduction in taxation.

ADMITTED FAILURE

In his controversy with Secretary Mellon on prohibition enforcement in Pennsylvania, Governor Pinchot says, "The state administration is doing its level best." Apparently his best is none too good when, after being in office nine months, Mr. Pinchot suddenly discovered that 1,300 saloons were operating in defiance of the law.

WOULD HELP SMALL TAXPAYERS MOST

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon wants income taxes reduced for both large and small taxpayers. The fact is that the reduction, if made, will benefit chiefly the small taxpayer, for the large taxpayer is able to pass on most of his tax to the consumer. But any tax reduction, anywhere, will be a relief to the country. Where we need tax reduction the most, and where we are least likely to get it, is in local, county and state taxes. Few of us feel the burden of Federal taxes, for that is the lightest tax we pay. We'd like to see a few state and county officers recommending reduction of taxes.

PROTESTING PATERNALISM

Most advocates of the intervention of government in business eventually change their minds when their theories are put into practice. A few years ago the South was insistent that the Government should undertake to keep the cotton growers of the country informed as to cotton conditions. It was asesrted that buyers of cotton have their private sources of information, and, since they are able to tell in advance, with approximate certainty, what the acreage and yield of cotton is to be, they are able to buy or withhold from buying, according to their own interest. It was argued that in order to place the grower on an equality with the buyer, the Government should ascertain the acreage to be planted to cotton each year, the condition of the crop from time to time, the effect of weather conditions, the progres of the boll weevil, etc., and give this information to the public, for the benefit of growers and buyers alike.

Congress made appropriations to coer tvhe expense. Although there were some Northern members who could not see the practical nature of this work, they supported the appropriation through a desire to do anything that would help the South. But, as mihgt be expected, the Government crop reporters are not always exactly right in their estimate of conditions. At least, there are some growers who allege that the crop reporters make mistakes. Lots of people make mistakes, but we always assume that when figures are given out by the Government, they must be right. It is a foolish but common failing to assume that when a man or group of men speak with the authority of the Government they speak with a degree of dependability that they did not have while speaking through their personal or other private authority.

The Atlanta Constitution, in the midst of a cotton growing region, thus voices the most recent judgment of the South concerning the crop estimates:

"The rumblings of protest against the issuance of cotton condition reports by the Department of Agriculture are fast assuming proportions that will inevitably lead to a concerted effort on the part of the cotton trade to have these reports discontinued. From many parts of the South are coming words of protest. The issuance of these reports is undoubtedly hazardous to the trade. The speculative estibate that the Government releases early in the year before the cotton even begins to show out of the ground is the greatest of all the evils of the system.

"As an example of the method used by the Government to obtain this first estimate—the farmer is approached by a crop reporter of the Department of Agriculture and is asked to tell how much acreage he will plant. These are the figures that are used, despite the fact that a considerable part of this acreage may be abandoned and again the farmer may decide not to plant as much cotton as he told the Department agent."

And yet, if Northern Senators and Congressmen had not supported the appropriation for this work, they would have been accused of selfish sectionalism.

Hon. J. O. Middleton went to Montgomery Tuesday to attend the session of the Alabama Supreme Court.

USING CLOAK OF SYMPATHY

Democratic leaders occupy an utterly untenable position when they put Woodrow Wilson forward to address the public on current topics and then try to shield him from criticism by asserting that it is improper to attack a man who is broken in health. The Armistice Day address was not a non-partisan affair. Senator Glass, a democrat, a former member of Wilson's cabinet, was chosen to deliver the address of greeting to Mr. Wilson. The democrats are trying to get every possible advantage out of everything Mr. Wilson says. When, therefore, republicans point out the fallacy of Wilson's ideas and the inconsistency of his position, democratic leaders cannot be heard to protest that Wilson must not be answered because of the manifest physical and mental weakness he is suffering.

Republicans do not desire to be unkind to the former president. They would much prefer to let him have the advantage that may come from rest and quiet in his effort to regain his health. But when he is led out into the public view and is prompted to discuss pending issues, due regard for the public welfare demands that what he says shall be submitted to the same test of accuracy and logic that is applied to the utterances of others.

If democratic leaders do not wish their party to be held accountable for what Mr. Wilson says, let them refrain from putting him forth as their spokesman. The sixteen million people who voted to terminate Wilsonism in American Government do not feel called upon t oaccept in silence the declaration that they are cowardly and selfish.

The same people who refused to acknowledge the dictatorship of Wilson when he was in health will continue that refusal when he is ill.

St. Paul Dispatch—Mr. Mellon's program of tax revision appeals to all classes but to no one at the expense of another.

NUGGETS FROM WISDOM'S MINES

Troy Times—That President Coolidge purposes to follow the example set by his predecessor in the practice of economy is evidenced by the fact that he has ordreed the cut of $126,000,000 made in the annual budget by President Harding to stand.

New York Herald—If Congress does not accept Mr. Mellon's proposal it will be only because Congress will want to keep the income taxes at their present height and spend that $300,000,000 instead of letting the people keep it and save it.

Fort Wayne Sentinel — Farmers who are dissatisfied with prices for their produce are, for all their discomforts, breathing a prayer of thanksgiving for the enactment by a Republican Congress of a tariff which shuts out Canadian grain.

Pittsburg Gazette-Times—The major fact is that Mr. Mellon has laid before Congress and the country a comprehensive plan for taxation relief where it is most needed that bears the stamp of practicability.

Public Ledger—The strength of the Mellon proposal rests in the fact that it would mean almost horizontal reduction of the taxes paid by every one of the 7,250,000 income taxpayers.

Los Angeles Times—The policy adopted by the Government and the people during the last 20 years toward the railroads has finally culminated in bringing railroad building to a full stop.

Omaha Bee—A lot of people in this country wish that their creditors would be as slow collecting from them as Uncle Sam is in collecting from his foreign debtors.

Boston Herald—Secretary Mellon deserves the praise of the country for his insistent endeavors to obtain a reduction of our present excessive schedule of income taxation.

Marion Star—It evidently has never occurred to France to get Germany started in the paying habit by setting a good example.

Aurora (Nebr.) Beacon-News—Stop, look and listen is merely a railroad warning, but should be our National slogan.

SIXTEEN MILLION FOOLS

The physical condition of Woodrow Wilson precludes outspoken comment upon his Armistice Day speech. Because of his position, because of his broken health, broken in the service of his country, allowances must be made which need be made for no other man. His bitter words are spoken out of a great tragedy. It is for history to write the final act.

There is but one comment we care to make. "I have seen fools resist Providence before," ran his closing words, "and I have seen their destruction, as whil come upon these again—utter destruction and contempt." We have no wish to debate the prophecy. But we would record a fact. If Mr. Wilson is right there were in the United States on November 2, 1920, more than 16,000,000 fools. The precise figure is 16,152,200. On that day, according to the World Almanac, that number of American citizens voted for Mr. Harding and against Mr. Wilson.—New York Tribune.

A USEFUL INVESTIGATION

The people of the United States are paying for the maintenance of a Bureau at Washington which recently conducted an intensive investigation to determine the effect of industrial depressions upon the welfare of children. Any ordinary newspaper reporter could have told that without conducting an investigation, intensive or otherwise. But the investigation served to prevent any depression in the finances of the people employed to conduct it.

POOR ORIGINAL

A LETTER FROM MRS. M. FORD DIXON

Clanton, Ala., Nov. 11, 1923.

My conduct is above reproach in the State of Alabama, and I appeal to the mighty thinkers of the State when I say, is it right to condemn anyone without first hearing them or knownig what they do? Or is it sensible to be influenced by anyone who get peeved at some imaginary grievance? Yet, our country is suffering from slanderous tongues, and the innocent are victims of some of the most absurd accusations and cruel oppression that was ever heard of.

On the 6th day of October, 1923 we began a meeting at B. G. Jones' home. Our tent was near his yard gate, and nothing but Bible truths were being taught. Our meeting started off nicely, but in three days I could feel an evil influence in the atmosphere. That afternoon I received an anonymous letter telling us that the sooner I got out of the community would be too slow, signed 21 men from Indian Grave community, but no names given. On Thursday I was told that Ben Lemrick said that if the Indian Grave set sould not drive me out he could get men that would. I was also told in the presence of Mr. B. G. Jones that Preacher Lemrick said that before holiness should be precahed in that community they would run me out with shot guns: I was told that G. C. Weldon, principal of the Enterprise school, was telling it around that I broke up Messer's Chapel, when the truth is that after I had held one of the most successful meetings at Meser's Chapel, where more than forty souls were converted, reclaimed or sanctified, G. C. Weldon's step-father and great uncle by marriage, Rev. C. D. Messer, tore up his church by trying to influence his members against me. The seed thoughts sown by C. D. Messer has caused thousands of souls to be defrauded and helped on in sin, until a lawless conspiracy against me has again been perpetrated.

On October 13th, after our meeting began, we were warned by a Mr. Bowls that a crowd of men was coming to break up our meeting. I would not believe it, and went under the tent and started service. When about two-thirds through with my sermon cars began to come, and my congregation being apprised of the threat, became restless and disturbed, and twice I was compelled to stop preaching. Sister Jones took a lamp and went out of the tent and invited the men near the tent to come in. But they did not come in. One fellow I was told, opened a big knife and said that if I came out he would rip me open. Directly Brother Jones went out and didn't return to the tent. He was surrounded by a large number of men. Rev. Joe Moore, the Baptist preacher at Indian Grave, Ben Lemrick, P. M. pastor of a church a few miles away, Mr. Joe Jones, G. C. Weldon, principal of the Enterprise school and Oliver Weldon, his brother, and many of their followers were there. Brother Jones said that the Weldons said "We have come to stop that meeting." They wanted to come in contact with me but he told them that he didn't think that best. He said that Rev. Moore said that the community was in good condition and that he didn't want it interfered with. (Plenty of whiskey, I think.) Brother Jones says that Ben Lemrick denied saying the things that were reported on him, but he was there with his men just the same, and I have written statements from parties who heard him say damaging things against me.

I understand that Ben Lemrick is whining about a letter that I wrote to him after his threats came to my ears, in which I sent his own spirit back to him and told him twice that if he was not guilty I didn't mean him, but if he was, it would do him good. I also invited him to come to see me. But no. He chose to ride over in the dark in order to strengthen the courage of his lawless frineds. Instead of conferring with a true friend of Jesus, I wanted the cooperation of those very two preachers, and Sister Jones invited them to kindly cooperate with us in the meeting and we were so glad of a change to worship God under our own vine and fig tree.

I understand that Mr. G. C. Weldon says that if it costs him five hundred dollars, he will sue me for slander if I have anything done with him. He had better save that money to pay his fine for threatening us so that we had to close our meeting at Jones' Mill, a good, sweet-spirited meeting. My first sermon was preached from the text found in the 2nd chapter of II Peter, 20 and 21 verses. One sermon was preached on the subject of "Hell", one on the "Second coming of Christ and the end of Time," one on "Wickedness," one on "Christ our Sacrifice", one on "Holiness" one on "Sanctification as a second work of Grace," one on the "Creation of the World and Adam and Eve and the Fall with its Results." So you see, my teaching was not fanatical but well balanced.

I am of old Methodist stock. My Grandfather Ford was an Elder of the M. E. S. Church, closely related to the richest man in the world. My home and religious training was as good as anybody could have in my day. I am a member of a church that has the cream of four fine old denominations in its sectarian belief and doctrine. I hold ordination license in said church and have proper credentials from the union that I am working for. Yes, I have my church, but as a Union Mission evangelist, I am loyal to her principles and keep silent when not employed by my own church.

No, I am nothing like the "Holy Rollers" and have nothing in common with that sect except the mighty power of God that all true saints in every church have when truly converted or sanctified. I don't talk in unknown tongues but I preach by the inspiration of God and am taught by the Holy Ghost and kept pure by the blood and love of the Lord Jesus Christ.

May I plead with the people to hear me before they judge me. It is not fair to me nor yourselves to take the word of envious or jealous men who are not afraid to speak evil of God's anointed or to do His servants harm. Like Paul, the apostle, I make my defense in the fear of God. I have written statements from parties who testify to my claims of they are needed.

Respectfully,
MRS. M. FORD DIXON.

DELEGATIONS ASK FOR NEW PROJECT IN WEST ALABAMA

Perry and Dallas Citizens Want New Road Between Selma and Marion

Delegations of Perry and Dallas County citizens appeared before the state highway commission at its session Tuesday morning on behalf of a project to connect Marion with Selma. John A. Rogers, chairman of the state highway commission, after hearing their arguments in favor of the project stated that he was rather of the opinion that if the work was undertaken, it would have to be without federal aid. He, however, declared that he thought, like the delegations that the project asked was a reasonable one and that the road would serve a good farming section without other adequate means of transpodtation.

The Dallas county citizens also asked projects that would connect Selma with the county sites of Wilcox, Chilton and Autauga counties. The Marion delegation's spokesman was Dr. Mason, while A. J. Atkins, E. W. Pettus and E. C. Melvin spoke for the Dallas county projects.

WHO WILL BUILD NATIONAL HIGHWAYS?

Expenditures to Come From Taxable Wealth.

Nine States in the East and Northeastern part of the Union, although they have but 5 per cent of the area of the United States, possess one-half the national wealth.

Some taxpayers in these States, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticutt, sometimes argue against the idea of national highways to be built and forever maintained by the National Government, on the ground that they will have to pay half the cost of such roads.

Probably they will. But they have to pay half the cost of all the expensive hauling now done over all the bad roads of the nation. These nine States, paying half the taxes of the nation, have to pay half of all national works. They have to suffer half the ills of all national reversest. They have to pay half the cost of all the money lost by all the other States through having bad roads.

It is as impossible to live outside the working of the laws of economics as it is to work outside the laws of nature. The apple falls, be it in Maine or California, and thhe tax paid, is half collected from half the wealth. The expense of poor roads is half paid by half the national wealth, which suffers half the loss. And while half the cost of the whole country-wide system of national highways will eventually be paid by the nine States in which half of the wealth of the nation is located, they will also reap half the benefits though they possess but a small part of half the mileage of the proposed system.

ANOTHER REPUBLICAN TAX REDUCTION

Washington, Nov. 18.—"It is apparent from a study of Secretary Mellon's suggestions that he has gone very deeply into the subject of tax reduction," says the Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr. "He has kept constantly in mind the need for reducing the huge amount of money now tied up in tax-exempt securities, and bringing out new capital into productive fields where its profits may be taxed. Of course the reduction of the surtax rates will be the greatest influence in that direction. Another is the recommendation that interest paid and losses sustained outside the line of business may be deducted only when their sum is in excess of the income derived from tax-emempt securitioes. That language puts immediate pressure on the holder of state and municipal bonds to put his money into some other investment s othat he may enjoy the full benefit of the law.

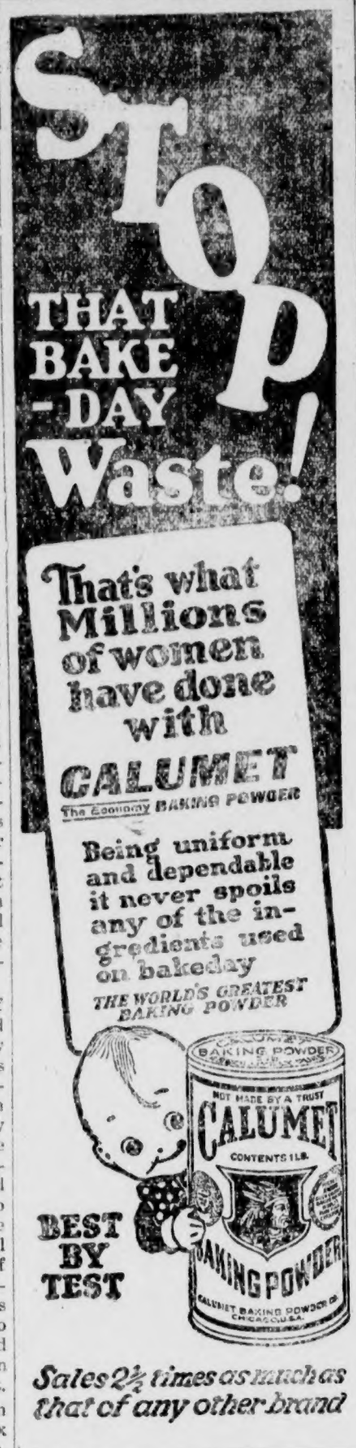
"In the Republican revenue law of 1921 about $800,000,000 was lopped off the public tax burden, and now Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has recommended a further cut of $323,-000,000. The drastic economies in the cost of government enforced by the Republican Administration have produced a surplus under the present tax law, which the President and his advisers will urge Congress to hand back to the people in the shape of reduced tax rates. People of small incomes will probably be the chief beneficiaries from the change, although the cuts in surtax schedules will be a decided encouragement to capitalists and enable them to expand their industrial enterprises with an assurance of a reasonable net profit.

"Mr. Mellon's first recommendation is to reduce by 25 per cent the tax on earned incomes, mostly wages, salaries, and professional services, which would mean a loss in revenue of $97,500,000 a year. The greater part of that sum would be saved to people of very moderate means. Another great saving to the same class of taxpayers is the suggestion for lowering the present normal tax rates of 4 and 8 per cent to 3 and 6 per cent, respectively. That change will furnish an estimated relief of $91,600,000 annually. A further reduction of $70,000,000 would come from the repeal of the tax on admissions, and another cut of $30,000,-000 from the repeal of the tax on telegrams and telephones. The surtax rates would begin at $10,000, instead of $6,000 as at present, and would be scaled progressively upward to 25 per cent on incomes of $100,000. This change may mean a temporary loss of Treasury revenue at first, but experience has taught that in the long run it will bring increased receipts.

"Of course the greater part of those reductions are warranted by the surplus of $310,000,000 recorded in th elast fiscal year, but other changes in the law recommended by Mr. Mellon are expected to bring in additional receipts to offset some of the reductions. Limiting deductions of capital losses to 12 1-2 per cent will increase the revenue about $25,-000,000, and an increase of about $35,000,000 is anticipated from a provision limiting the deductions for interest paid and for losses not of a business character.

"Mr. Mellon emphasizes the fact that the reductions he has recommended can be realized only if the soldier bonus idea is abondoned. 'The Treasury has proceeded,' says he, 'on the theory that the country would prefer a substantial reduction of taxation to the increased taxes that would necessarily follow from a soldiers' bonus, and I have faith to believe it is justified in that understanding.' The Secretary declares there is nothing better calculated to promote the well-being and happiness of the whole country than the lifting of a part of the heavy burden of taxation.

"Every citizen will echo that statement."



ADVICE TO THE DEMS

If you'd put the railroads back in a stew
Just clutter up the White House with Bill McAdoo,
Or if you regard Prohibition as a myth,
Disgrace the Big Arm Chair with Alcohol Smith.
If you would make times as hard as a brick,
Free Trade Underwood might turn the trick,
But any new Demmy you might care to run

EX-SOLDIERS ATTENTION

Our Tax Collector, Mr. J. T. Rockett, asks us to announce to the ex-soldier boys of the county who have been exempt from paying poll tax since the war will have to pay their poll tax this fall. There has been some misunderstanding as to this point, but Mr. Rockett has looked up the law, and finds that such voters to be legally qualified will have to pay their poll tax this fall. We understand that a number have not paid yet due to their misunderstanding of the matter, so they are asked to take notice now, and attend to this matter before it is too late. Poll taxes may be paid any time between now and February 1, 1924.

WASHING OF SOIL TAKES HEAVY TOLL

Auburn, Ala., Nov. 19.—If all the soils washed from the farms of America in one year were brought together it would cover an area as large as Alabama to a depth of 8 inches, says Prof. M. L. Nichols, of the Department of Agricultural Engineering. Deploring this great loss, Prof. Nichols said: "How long are farmers going to let this destruction of the best and richest part of their land continue?"

"This is certainly a problem which confronts us and the quicker we make up our minds to stop it the better off we will be. The value of the top soil from an agricultural standpoint is well understood, and it is this soil which goes away in washing or is injured most in the leaching."

To stop this heavy loss, terracing is recommended. It costs only one or two dollars an acre to terrace, and if the low, broad-base terrace, which is recommended by county agents and other Extension workers, is constructed washing and leaching will be prevented or reduced to a minimum. Rows may be run as desired.

For the purpose of increasing interest in terracing the county agents will conduct a large number of terracing demonstrations and schools this fall and winter.

Let's all come and enjoy a social afternoon together and at the same time be a help to our church and community.

LIBERTY HILL SINGING SOCIETY

The singing society met Sunday afternoon and had the best singing that we have had for quite a while.

We had with us visitors from Clanton, Thorsby, Pates Chapel and Walnut Creek.

The directors for the afternoon were Messrs J. A. W. Mims, Chester Maddox, Harrison Hays, Glover Smith, Misses Beanie Mims and Claudie Smith. Organists for the afternoon were Misses Lois Primm, Bonnie Littlejohn, Lillie Smith, Mesdames Beatrice Mims and Nora Maddox.

Some splendid quartette singing was rendered by the Walnut Creek band, which consists of Messrs J. A. W. Mims, Rufus Powell, Enoch Mims and Miss Beanie Mims. The Liberty Hill quartette sang also.

We were indeed glad to have the visitors with us and ask them to come again.

Everybody is invited to come and sing with us. Remember the singing afternoons on first and third Sundays.

JOHN A. COLLINS,
Secretary.

HIGHLAND NEWS

The health of this community is good at present.

As Saturday and Sunday were our preaching days we had a very large crowd, as it was such a beautiful day.

Mr. G. C. Traywick and family of Haynes visited Mr. B. C. Traywick Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Jocie Lockhart and daughter visited Mr. Tom Holley and Miss Leelie Lockhart of Coosa county the past week.

REPUBLICANS PREPARE FOR NEXT CONVENTION

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Although the republican national committee will not formally decide on a convention city until next month, tentative hotel reservations for Coolidge headquarters and for Johnson headquarters already have been made and a mid-western Coolidge headquarters was opened today by friends of the president at the same hotel.

COTTON ADVANCES ON MONDAY'S OPEN TO NEW HIGH LEVEL

New York, Nov. 19.—Cotton made new high prices for the season today on renewed trade buying and re-buying by recent sellers who evidently were influenced by the better European political news and the rally in foreign exchange.

December advanced to 34.75 and May to 34.70, or 60 to 66 points above Saturday's closing quotations. Contracts for delivery next August in which there has been very little interest sold up to 31.50, or 150 points above the closing price of last week.

John T. Ellis and Sons are having built another truck to haul Woco-Pep in. It will be ready for business next week.

WRIGLEY WILL HEAD JOHNSON COMMITTEE

To Take Charge Of Campaign In Illinois.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—William Wrigley, Jr., the chewing gum manufacturer, will be in charge of the campaign of Senator Hiram Johnson for President in Illinois, and probably the entire central and north-western section of the country, Senator Johnson announced today before leaving for Washington.

"Mr. Wrigley is to be the general director here," the senator said. "I understand he plans to go ahead immediately with the organization of the committee and gt things in shape for our campaign in this region."

Mr. Walter Teel and family have moved in their new home on 2nd Ave.

Queer Feelings

"Some time ago, I was very irregular," writes Mrs. Cora Roble, of Pikeville, Ky. "I suffered a great deal, and knew I must do something for this condition. I suffered mostly with my back and a weakness in my limbs. I would have dreadful headaches. I had hot flashes and very queer feelings, and oh, how my head hurt! I read of

CARDUI

and of others, who seemed to have the same troubles I had, being benefited, so I began to use it. I found it most beneficial. I took several bottles .... and was made so much better I didn't have any more trouble of this kind. It regulated me."

Cardui has been found very helpful in the correction of many cases of painful female disorders, such as Mrs. Roble mentions above. If you suffer as she did, take Cardui—a purely vegetable, medicinal tonic, in use for more than 40 years. It should help you.

The Value of Land Abstracts

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

Trains Are Run for Your Accommodation

Did you ever stop to think of the accomodation you get from the railroad? Did you ever compare your situation with that of your father or grandfather who lived when or where there was no railroad nearby? Just to remind you, here are a few of the ways in which the railroad accomodates you:

The "Accomodation Train"—which comes along every day; stops at all the little stations; takes you anywhere up or down the road, in a short time, at little expense (even takes the children to school and back); brings your mail daily, and keeps you in constant touch with the outside world.

And the railroad takes to market the things you have to sell, delivers to you the things you can't get at home, and makes it possible for you to do lots of things and have lots of pleasures and comforts which you couldn't do and have without the railroads.

If you find yourself inclined to criticize the railroad or to be influenced by the meddlers who are trying to add to its burdens by restrictive and hampering legislation, and otherwise; just think about the railroad accommodation you enjoy—and of the predicament you would be in without it.

Thursday and Friday wil be Tag Day at T. I. for better English. Saturday at 7:30 p. m. in Bates Hall, a Thanksgiving program will be given by the various classes of the Institute. The program is as follows: Shadow Pictures, Drama of Pokey Hunter; Songs; Peake Sisters; Pyramus and Thisbe. How many peaches are left; Songs of seven; music.

The first number of the season Lyceum Course will be a Male Quartette, Monday night, December 3rd. Tickets on sale by Thorsby Institute students. Course for adults $2.00; students and children $1.25; single admissions 50c and 35c.

Friday night, under auspices of Thorsby Parent-Teachers Association there will be a community entertainment, to which admission is free, in what is now known as the Wade building, the only vacant store building in Thorsby. Entertainment and refreshments will be provided for everybody who comes. All interested i nthe public school be sure to come.

The main object of the meeting is to get together as a community and arouse some interest in matters of great importance to all the people of Thorsby and vicinity. A general invitation is extended to citizens regardless of age or sex. There are some live people behind this matter and it will be well worth your attention.

The Thorsby Christian Endeavor Society is one of the live and growing institutions of the community. Its regular meetings are held in the Congregational church at 6:30 p. m. each Sunday. With upwards of sixty active members and a large contingent of non-members who are fairly regular in attendance, because they are made welcome, it is simply inspiring to see the orderly and dignified manner in which the meetings are conducted by these young people. The leaders are selected by the proper committee, weeks before i tcomes their turn to oficiate, thus giving them time to work out a program that is interesting, and gives opportunity for as many as possible to take part. This is distinctly a young peoples affair and few elderly people occupy any of the time, yet there is no dragging. Questions asked are promptly answered, prayers are readily offered, the singing is spirited and older people who are privileged to look on cannot but feel that our churches will be safe so long as such a training camp in religious service is maintained. We say " Churches" advisedly, because if the C. E. Society stands for anything it believes in loyalty to the organization (or church) of which one may be a member or the family to which they belong may be a member.

This society has been running for upwards of fifteen years on this principle, and the young people of the community have come to know that while they are welcomed to these meetings and encouraged to take part in them there is never any attempt to draw them away from the church to which they or their parents belong, if it is at all possible for them to attend their own church. The society believes it is best fulfilling its mission if it can make its meetings seriously attractive to young people and inspire them to become active and consistent Christians. Its doors and hearts are open to all young people who feel the need of Christian fellowship among those of their own age and abilities.

Last Saturday night many members and friends of the C. E. Society enjoyed some of its social features, when some sixty or more assembled at the home of Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Butler and spent an evening of varied amusement, in a program prepared by the social committee of which Miss Bernice Williams is chairman.

Just one more thought, who can compute th epotential good such meetings may do in the way of training young people in christian leadership so sadly needed all over the rural sections of Alabama? These boys and girls of today wil be the bulwark of our churches in years to come.

The Christian Endeavor Society met at the usual hour last Sunday evening. Miss Pearl Steiner, the leader for the evening, gave a very interesting talk on "How you can be a Missionary." Several other members of the society gave short sketches of the lives of some of the outstanding Missionaries that the world has produced. A cordial welcome awaits you. May we expect you next Sunday night?

Next Sunday, November 25th, at the Congregational church during the hour of morning service, Miss Helen C. Jenkins will make her report as a delegate to the National Council of Congregational churches at Springfield, Mass. This was one of the largest and in some respects the most important meeting ever held by this organization.

Rev. John L. Whorton of Howard College is expected to occupy the pulpit at the Baptist church next Sunday morning and evening.

There will be no services at the Lutheran church next Sunday, but on the following Sunday, December 3rd, services will be held in the Swedish language at morning service and in English at night.

Mrs. Carl Petersen and Mrs. Nels Peterson and children spent Friday of last week in Birmingham.

Mr. G. G. Conway of Kansas City, Mo., visited his mother, Mrs. L. M. Conway, on Thursday. Mr. Conway is Vice-President of a large soap manufacturing company.

Mrs. Ivey Horn and family left Sunday morning for their new home at Boyles, Ala. Her father, Mr. Magne Anderson, accompanied her and will remain some days.

Rev. Joseph B. Each and family are expected to arrive in Thorsby the latter part of next week. Mr. Each is the new pastor for the Congregational church and will occupy the pulpit Sunday, December 2nd.

Commissioners Court Continued This Week

The Commissioners Court of Chilton County, which convened at the court house last Monday and Tuesday did not get through with the business before them, so the session was continued over to Monday of this week. They met again Monday morning and resumed their business. The principal business done Monday was the passing of claims against the county. Warrants were issued for practically every valid claim against the county. The old claims for service in guarding dipping vats several years ago were passed, also other claims in regard to the dipping law. The treasurer will not be able to cash all of the warrants issued, but he will take care of as many as possible.

Tuesday morning the commissioners went out on Mulberry and inspected the bridge across Mulberry creek between Cross Roads and Mulberry Church. They went there for the purpose of deciding what would be best to do to the bridge. They also inspected some other bridges and road work in the county.

Our good old Republican friend, J. S. Jones of Cooper was in to see us a while Tuesday morning. We are always glad to see Mr. Jones and talk with him. He always has something good to tell us.

Center of River Divides Counties

Since the Alabama Power Company pays their first tax on Lock 12 and their power lines in Alabama this year, it might be of interest to the people of Chilton county to know that the question of the boundary line between Chilton and Coosa Counties has some time in the past been definitely settled. The center of the river is the dividing line, as held by the Alabama State Tax Commission. This decision gives Chilton County two-thirds of the Lock 12 property and Coosa County one-third. The Mitchell Dam will be more nearly equally divided between the two counties as there is nearly as much machinery on the Coosa side of the river there as in Chilton. The Power Company will have to pay taxes on Mitchell Dam next year.

Oliver Mullins Wants The Union-Banner

Mr. Oliver Mullins of Jumbo came into our office Monday. When he entered the door he asked if we had anything in here that would make a Republican out of a Democrat. We told him that we didn't know but we would give him the best perscription we knew of, namely a year's subscription to The Union-Banner. He accepted our offer and said that he would give us a trial. After subscribing to the paper Mr. Mullins asked us if we had heard about his neighbor, T. J. Dorminey, turning to the Democratic party, to which question we answered, no. Mr. Mullins and Mr. Dorminey are opposites when it comes to politics, and they like to joke each other about their politics. Other than politics, they are the best of friends.

CHILTON COUNTY MINUTES READY

The minutes of the Chilton County Baptist Association have just come off the press of the Baner Print Shop, and by the time you receive the paper these books will have been finished and turned over to the clerk, Mr. Wm. J. Billingsley. As will be seen from the minute, the association has done a wonderful years work this year. All the churches of the association have worked faithfully.

PREACHING DAY AT FRIENDSHIP

Next Sunday, being the Fourth Sunday, is time for the regular preaching services at Friendship Church. Rev. W. W. Robinson of Providence will have charge of the services and will preach at 11:00 and 7:00 in the evening. All the members of the church are requested to be present.

There will be singing on Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. All singers are requested to be present and help out in singing praises to God. Everybody is invited to come.

Attorney Middleton Moves His Offices

Col. J. O. Middleton, who has had his law offices over the Upchurch Drug Co., has moved into the second story of the new Hayes building just across Seventh Street from his former location. In his new location Mr. Middleton has as fine a suite of law offices as can be found most any where. He has three rooms in all, and they are equipped with all the books and office furniture that any lawyer could have any use for. One of the rooms is used as a reception room, one as stenographer's room, and one big room is occupied by the library. In this room are enough books to occupy the attention of a person for a whole lifetime if he should attempt to read everything in them.

Col. Middleton issues a special invitation to his many friends to come up and inspect his new location. He doesn't especially wish you the misfortune of getting tangled up in any kind of a law muddle, but if you should happen to such a misfortune he will be glad to have you call around to see him.

COOLIDGE FAVORS FORD FOR SHOALS

Washington, Nov. 24.—President Coolidge is taking an active part in efforts to solve the Muscle Shoals problem, and is described at the White House as working in harmony with Representative Madden, of Illinois.

Whether the president is in agreement with all details of Mr. Madden's legislative plans affecting the project, which are known to contemplate acceptance of Henry Ford's offer for its lease and purchase, has not been revealed, but he is authoritatively declared to favor the Illinois representative's proposal for construction on the Warrior River of a power plant to replace the one recently sold to the Alabama Power Company. This, it is pointed out, would have the effect of restoring the Muscle Shoals undertaking to the same status it had when Mr. Ford's offer was made.

Mr. Coolidge's interest in Muscle Shoals is said to lie primarily in the assurance of a war-time supply of nitrate and a peace-time supply of cheap fertilizer, and he feels that it would be to the government's advantage to operate the project at a loss or dispose of it to private interests at a sacrifice to bring about such a result.

A DAY AHEAD OF TIME

Some of our readers will no doubt be surprised to get The Banner a day ahead of time this week. We are getting out the paper on Wednesday in order that we may have a full holiday Thanksgiving, also due to the fact that no rural carriers go on Thursday. This rush has worked a hardship on the force, but if you find anything short or slightly balled up, just lay it to the Turkey for he is the cause of it all.

This being the season for giving thanks, the management of The Union-Banner wishes to extend its sincerest thanks to each and every one who has contributed in our behalf during the past year. We have been greeted with a liberal subscription patronage and we certainly are thankful to our friends for it. The business men of Clanton and other towns of the county have patronized our advertising columns and job work very liberally and our appreciation for same cannot be expressed with words. In lieu of what you have done for us we have been fired up with the zeal to give you the very best newspaper that we are able to produce, and we intend to continue to do this throughout our future years. Again we extend our thanks to all of you.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to the many friends and relatives for their kind sympathy and beautiful floral offering during the sickness and death of our dearly beloved mother and grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Holley, Sr., and family.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Chancellor and family.

Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Farley went over to Roanoke in their car the first of this week to visit Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Willis.

WOULD YOU LIKE ONE OF HIS DRUM STICKS?

Just a week ago this old gobbler was proudly strutting in the arms of a beautiful young lady; but look what a fix he is in now. Last week he looked mighty attractive but it was all on account of the pretty girl who was holding him. Today old Santa has charge of him and he still looks rather inviting. Just take your butcher knife and whack off a drum stick and go for it, compliments of The Union-Banner.

INVESTIGATION OF THE ANTI-SALOON

Washington, Nov. 25.—Investigation of the activities of the Anti-Saloon League by a special house committee will be sought by representative Tinkham, republican, Massachusetts, who announced today he had drafted a resolution calling for an inquiry.

Mr. Tinkham charges in his resolution that the league has "openly and flagrantly" violated the federal campaign contributions law and the corrupt practices laws of various states; has attempted to influence federal judicial appointment; has denounced judicial officers and decisions; has attempted to influence the president in ris appointments of heads of departments, and "actually exercised its insidious influence successfully upon a bureau of an exective department" to an extent that even appointments of persons in the service of the bureau are made "with the sanction and approval" of the anti-saloon league.

Without a public accounting, the league, Mr. Tinkham asserts, has raised and expended vast sums of money to influence public opinion," directly to control elections and to pay professional organizers and lobbyists throughout the United States, and particularly in Washington.

The resolution will propose that the investigation be made by a committee of seven members appointed by the speaker.

Mrs. W. M. Wyatt and children of Fort Payne are visiting relatives here for a few days. They came down Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Foshee have just returned from a week's visit to their daughter, Mrs. Arthur Willis, at Roanoke, Ala.

'ROUND-THE-GLOBE STEAMSHIP LINES

There is cause for gratification throughout the United States over the announcement that the U. S. Shipping Board has been able to make an agreement with a private steamship line for the operation of around-the-world steamship service. The Shipping Board has sold a number of its steamships to one of the old established steamship lines with the express agreement that these ships will be operated in around-the-world service for five years. It is the intention of the Company to operate in the same service ships it already owns, giving the United States sailings every two weeks with a three-months period required to make the circuit of the globe.

The greatest value of this service lies not so much in the opportunity afforded for the transportation of freight and passengers as in the prestige given to the United States, to the American flag, and to American shipping, in the maintenance of a service of this kind. Most passengers and most goods can be transported equally as well in ships making passage between distant ports and return over the same course. But there is something that appeals to the imagination in a shipping service that goes entirely ariund the world. This service will have an advertising value for greater than that which would be possessed by ships traversing the same distance in going half the way around the world and back again.

There is another incident in connection with this contract entered into by the Shipping Board which will have particular value to the United States. A dozen of the ships bear the names of American Presidents. These names alone will have a very material advertising value in impressing upon the minds of people whereever these ships touch the fact that they are American ships and in a measure representatives of the American Government, for the United States will have a call upon the ships in case of an emergency.

The ports at which the vessels will touch on their round-the-world service are, New York; Havana, Cuba; Colon, Canal Zone at Panama; Balboa, Panama; Los Angeles; San Francisco; Honolulu; Kobe, Japan; Shanghai; Hongkong; Manila; Singapore, Malay; Penang, Malay; Colombo, Ceylon; Suez, Egypt; Port Said; Alexandria; Naples; Genoa; Marseilles; Boston.

LINDSEY HENLEY DEAD

At his home near Mt. Nebo Church last Sunday night occurred the death of Mr. Lindsey Henley, age 82. Mr. Henley was a member of the Methodist Church and had been for several years. Was the father of ten living children and two dead. His wife died some two or three years ago.

This old gentleman served his time in the Civil War and his regiment getting defeated in one of the battles he was taken prisoner by the Yankees. Mr. Henley was born and reared in Chilton County and spent his entire life here.

Funeral services were held at Pleasant Grove church Tuesday morning and interment was made in the cemetery at that place.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Calloway and son Winston and Mr. Hardy Hurtt went down to Montgomery to get their dinner Sunday. We presume that they might have found something to eat nearer home than that but they just wanted to be riding any how.

REV. W.J. BONE DIED ON LAST FRIDAY

He Was a Native of Alabama, And Resided In This County Where He Preached For Several Years.

Rev. William Johnson Bone died at his home near New Cedron Church last Friday afternoon about four o'clock. Mr. Bone was 90 years old having been born at Mt. Meigs, Montgomery county, on April 9, 1833. Shortly fater the beginning of the Confederate War Mr. Bone enlisted in the 34th Alabama Regiment and fought until the close of the struggle. He took part in all of the fierce battles which took place in the western states.

Shortly after the close of the war he entered the Baptist ministry and settled down in Chilton county. As long as he was physically able the good old preacher stuck close to his calling and preached all over Chilton and Coosa counties. He also joined the Masons about this time and has been a member of that order ever since. There is not a preacher today who was more faithful to the cause and who gave more of his life to the cause of Christianity than the deceased brother. Most everybody anywhere in reach of here has heard old Brother Bone preach, and his noble life is a living example in the lives of thousands of his acquaintances.

Mrs. Bone, the life companion of the old brother died nearly a year ago. They were the parents of twelve children, nine of whom are still living. All the children are married and have families except two daughters who played the good part of remaining at home and taking care of their aged parents. The living sons are: J. S. Bone and O. D. Bone, both of Autaugaville, Ala., and Prof. J. F. Bone of Midland City. There remains one brother of the deceased, Rev. J. F. Bone of Sylacauga. The names of the daughters could not be obtained for publication.

The remains were buried at Shiloh Church Sunday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock with Masonic honors. Words of commendation of life and work of the old gentleman were spoken by Rev. W. S. Cox, Rev. J. T. Nelson and Mr. Oliver Mullins, all of whom had known Bro. Bone for several years.

The passing of the earthly life of this old man marks the close of a career that is well worthy of anyone's imitation. He was called to serve his country and he gave it all he had. He was called to serve his God and he kept back none of his strength from the work. His life is a living monument to his memory on earth, and there is stored up for him in heaven a just reward for all of his earthly toils and hardships.

STATEMENTS FROM SENATOR JOHNSON

Says Reaction And Progress Must Fight It Out In Coming Primaries.

Sen. Johnson's announcement reads:

"Theoretically, under our system, the people themselves select their President, Those States with Presidental preference primaries not only recognize this theory, but put it in practice. They preserve the spirit as well as the letter of American institutions. It is an American's birthright to submit himself and his political tents to the decision of his fellow-citizens. He is entitled to their decision and they are entitled to make it.

"I recognize no prescriptive right to office; and I deny that any one or any number of men may disregard the popular will and in defiance of it dictate our candidates. Peculiarly should this be so at the present time.

"There is discontent abroad in the land; there is threatened disintegration of the Republican Party. The discontent and party difficulties arise not because of popular government, but from the lack of it. Two warring philosophies of government in the nation, just as in the State from which I come, struggle for mastery. Designate them as you will the contest between them is age-old.

"The one ultra-conservative, materialistic, stolidly and stubbornly resisting any claims and vigorously contesting every human advance, invites an ultra-radicalism. The other, mindful of existing rights, but recognizing conditions and mankind's gradual progress, is idealistic and forward-looking. It avoids alike ultra-conservatism and ultra-radicalism. It's the old, old struggle beginning in the early days of man's first achievements and never ending since.

"Reaction and progress must fight it out again in the Republican Party in the coming Presidential primaries. I question not men now, but their philosophy of government. That which obtains at Washington does not fit present-day needs. Ultra-conservatism there rules; progressive challenges it. And the ensuing contest will determine whether the Republican Party shall be the permanent instrument of reaction or whether it shall respond to present day conditions and aspirations.

"We would have a revitalized Republican Party, a party representing alone its rank and file, the instrument neither of static reaction of destructive radicalism. Only such a party with the broad understanding vision and human sympathy of progressivism can solve our pressing domestic problems.

"Not only is there the fundamental and irreconcilable difference in our domestic politics, but a like divergence, perhaps even of greater importance, in relation to our foreign affairs. A foreign policy once entered upon may with difficulty be changed. One false move may do what years cannot undo.

"The whole future of national existence may be endangered by the ill-considered act of a day. I am against the League of Nations and all its subsidiaries membership in which would tend to participation, directly or indirectly, in the League. To take us into the League Court or to involve us in the political struggles abroad inevitably will draw us into the European maelstrom from which we fondly imagined the election of 1920 had delivered us.

"Of course, we would always promote peace and endeavor to prevent war. We would help Europe in any rational way. We would continue to alleviate suffering, clothe the naked, feed the hungry, but we would ever be the sole judge of our own actions, the arbiter of our own destiny. Our country, the greatest on earth, should have its own foreign policy, thoroughly understood by our people, frankly proclaimed.

"Preserving our country as it is, we preserve the world's greatest asset, civilization's highest promise. Our timid, vacillating and contradictory positions demand that America's foreign policy again be decided by the whole people who must themselves, at whatever cost, maintain it. This time the decision should be so clear, so definite and certain that no casulstry, no specious plea, no indirection can distort it.

"Upon these as fundamentals, amplifying and expressing details hereafter, to the men and women who constitute America's free citizenship, I will make my appeal. In every State the contest will be waged.

"In those States where the voters may express their preference the issue can be definitely decided; and I hope all candidates will participate in the Presidential preference primaries, including California and cheerfully acquiesce in the result.

"No man who aspires to the highest office in the gift of the American people should shrink from a verdict by those he seeks to serve; and, equally, none is entitled to the Presidency, whom the people do not want."

Hiram Warren Johnson, Republican and Progressive, was born in Sacramento, Calif., September 2, 1866; was married in the city of Sacramento to Minnie McNeal, daughter of Archibald McNeal, and of this marriage there are two sons, both adults, Hiram Warren Johnson, Jr., and Archibald McNeal Johnson; resided in Sacramento until 1902, and then removed to San Francisco; present residence, 857 Green Street, San Francisco; by profession, lawyer; elected governor of California in 1910, re-elected governor in 1914, and elected United States Senator in 1916.

SHERIFF'S FORCES AFTER LIQUOR MEN

Much Progress Has Been Made During The Past Week After Hootch.

Sheriff Littlejohn and his force of deputies for the past week have made very good progress against the violators of the prohibition laws of the county. Littlejohn, Easterling, Foshee and J. L. Gore found where a still had just been in operation in the northwestern part of the county near Union Springs church last Thursday. The still had been removed the day before but the officers confiscated seven barrels of beer which was ready for condensing. No arrests were made.

On Saturday afternoon Joe Duncan was arrested in the edge of Clanton under the charge of driving a car while intoxicated. A Mr. G. A. Wood of Birmingham was in the car with Duncan when arrested. A warrant was served against them for stealing a dog, but they were acquitted of that charge.

Saturday night John Maddox was caught out in Frog Level transporting a quart of liquor in his Ford. The car was taken by the officers and Maddox was carried and put in jail. He later made bond and was released from jail.

MUCH TO BE THANKFUL FOR IN CHILTON COUNTY

Thanksgiving Day this year finds America the favored land of all the earth. No wars or overwhelming catastrophes of nature disturb our prosperity and happiness. Therefore, let us forget for the moment, our trifling individual woes, and unite as a Nation in giving thanks for our many great blessings.

The country is at present enjoying a period of "good times." And though some of us, perhaps, feel that we have been slow in receiving our just share of this prosperity, it has only made us more determined to win it through our own efforts—by courage, thrift and industry.

Conditions in Chilton county, generally speaking, are good; and, for our own part, we find in the present strong position of the PEOPLES SAVINGS BANK and its growing list of loyal friends, abundant cause for Thanksgiving.

We are deeply grateful for the patronage and co-operation which has contributed so much to our success, and in return we wish to do everything we can to assist both old friends and new friends to make the most of their opportunities.

It will always be a pleasure to serve you, and we hope you will not hesitate to come in any time to discuss your problems with us.

Will Undo Much Evil

By Dr. V. M. Pierce

Knowing the vast amount of harm wrought by diseases of the kidneys, and having had opportunity to observe the analyses and the successful methods of treatment in thousands of cases of kidney trouble at the Invalids' Hotel, I have recently given to the public the latest and perhaps most important of the Dr. Pierce home remedies, "An-uric" (anti - uric - acid) Tablets, which I now recommend to those who suffer with kidney backache, irregularity of urination and the pains and disturbances that come from excess of uric acid in the blood.

"An-uric" can be had now at all the drug stores. The mere drinking of a cup of hot water each morning and a little "An-uric" before every meal should bring remarkably quick improvement. You may have kidney trouble and not know it. The danger signals to be watched for and quickly heeded are backache, depression, aches, pains, heaviness, drowsiness, dizziness, irritability, headaches, chilliness, rheumatic twinges, swollen joints, gout.

GLEEN WOOLEY ENLISTS IN ARMY

Gleen Wooley of Stantan, Ala., who enlisted about three months ago for the U. S. Army is serving at present in the 29th Infantry at Fort Benning, Georgia. This regiment is the demonstration regiment for the Infantry School located at that place and as such its work is especially interesting. Wooley states that he likes the Army because the work is more congenial than the majority of jobs in civil life and also because the opportunity to save money is much greater. Friends of Wooley in this section will be glad to know that he is doing so well. He says he has gained seven pounds since enlisting.

LOCAL NEWS HAPPENINGS OVER ALABAMA

Four more counties were added to the list of those that have endorsed the plan advanced at the recent highway conference held at the capitol for the connecting with roads of all county seats in the state with state funds, regardless of federal aid. Chairman John A. Rogers, of the state highway commission, was advised the proposal has been adopted by the counties of Pike, Walker, Washington and Coosa.

Abolition of the convict leasing system in Alabama or the entire revision within the near future was forecast in a report that Governor Brandon would appoint a committee of prominent citizens of the state to investigate fully the system employed in Alabama and submit a report to him with recommendations on which he would urge the state board of convict supervisors to act favorably.

The county commissioners of St Clair county met at Ashville and adopted the survey of Mr. Moore, who has laid out the work of a road from Odenville to Pell City. The citizens of the towns of Pell City and Odenville and adjoining communities have been working on the project for some time. They have secured a right-of-way 50 feet wide and have cleared it between the two towns.

The Southern Manufacturing Company of Gadsden will shortly begin the construction of a plant to mill lumber in transit in connection with its large finishing mills. It is said that the company desires to take care of all the surplus rough lumber produced in the county and district. The new buildings will be of brick and the equipment will be modern in every respect. The cost will be around $100,000.

Action of the executive committee of the Calhoun County Rural Letter Carriers association in condemning the bad condition of the county roads over which they travel daily and which was presented to the county board of revenue, aroused attention of many Anniston people. The protest was in the form of a resolution asking that immediate repairs be made on several of the roads of the county.

The extent to which the general public is responsible for the enforcement of law has been forcibly brought to the fore by the Morgan county grand jury. In its report last week the jury stated its regret that it could not bring an indictment against the public for its apparent indifference to the enforcement of law. The jury's report has created wide discussion.

Carbon Hill is in the midst of a building boom, according to George W. Wakefield and Luther Sides, prominent merchants of that place. Messrs Wakefield and Sides stated new brick business houses are in course of construction in Carbon Hill this fall, and other substantial buildings are contemplated by Carbon Hill business men.

Arthur Segars, white, convict from Lauderdale county, made a daring escape by leaping from a train near Jemison, while en route to the mines. Twenty men were being transferred from Kilby prison to Aldrich on the train leaving Montgomery. When the train slowed up near Jemison, Segars made a successful leap for liberty.

J. H. Doughty, general agent of the Union Pacific System, is notifying Alabama manufacturers that the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific, joint owners of the Pacific Fruit Express Company, are asking for bids on 3,00 additional refrigerator freight cars, delivery to be required prior to July 1 of next year.

Though a limited number of buck deer may be shot by hunters in Alabama at a certain season of each year the ban is clamped down tight upon the slaying of a doe. For that reason Calvin McGrader, convicted in Hale county of shooting a doe, was fined $2 and costs.

A delegation of 100 citizens headed by Rev. A. B. Carlton, president of the Civic Improvement league, appeared before the Phenix City commissioners, at their regular meeting and asked to be deputized as special officers so that they might "clean-up" the entire community.

As an added incentive in the search for Roy Dickerson, noted criminal and escape, a reward of $400 offered for his recapture, has been raised to $600 by Governor William L. Brandon, acting upon the recommendation of Roy L. Nolen, associate member of the convict supervisors.

State Highway Engineer W. S. Keller, who recently underwent a serious operation at the Mayo Brothers Hospital, Rochester, Minn., has recovered his strength sufficiently to be able to sit up in a chiar and expects to be able to return to Montgomery in about two weeks.

Jasper's speeders are to have a hard fight, according to the traffic officers there. They have been bringing them in every day, some being in the mayor's office every morning. The speed limit of the school zones is eight miles per hour, and the mayor says it is strictly going to be enforced.

Poultry breeders in Jefferson county are much interested in the annual poultry show to be held in Birmingham, December 11 to 14.

O. C. Hill, 39, merchant at Winona was shot and seriously wounded in his store by an unidentified negro, to whom he was trying to sell a supposedly "empty gun."

Investigators from the United States Shipping Board have been in Mobile making an investigation of war-time contracts at that port and the activities of several concerns handling war contracts.

FRIENDSHIP CHURCH

Last Sunday was regular preaching day at the Friendship Baptist church, and Rev. W. W. Robinson of Providence preached both in the morning and evening. Rev. Robinson delivered two excellent sermons and very good crowds were out to hear him both times.

The interest at Friendship has dropped to a rather low ebb, but if the people of the community will cooperate with their pastor it won't be long before you can see things begin to move again. Bro. Robinson is a mere country preacher who graduated in theology between the plow handles and in front of a pine knot fire, but even at that he is no novice at the game of soul winning and preaching the unsearchable riches. It might not be altogether amiss for some of the good brethren of Clanton to come out to Friendship on the Fourth Sunday and hear Bro. Robinson. He doesn't preach like a college graduate who commands a salary of two hundred a month, but you may rest assured if our word is worth anything, that he will tell you something that you hadn't thought of before. The people of Friendship invite and appreciate the help and cooperation of all the Christian people in reach of the church.

There was Sunday School Sunday morning at the usual hour with a fair attendance, but room for several more. In the afternoon at 2:00 o'clock the singing society met and spent two hours singing. Everybody sung well and seemed to enjoy it.

We might say in passing that there is Sunday school every Sunday at Friendship at 10 o'clock. The support of the church members and others in the community is earnestly solicited. Mr. E. W. Miller is teacher of the Bible class, and always has something worth while to tell his students. Just come out some Sunday and see what they are doing.

Chicago Tribune—The proposal of a reduction of income taxes attests the soundness of American prosperity, of Republican policies, and of Secretary Mellon's financial administration beyond any dispute.

EX-SOLDIERS ATTENTION

Our Tax Collector, Mr. J. T. Rockett, asks us to announce to the ex-soldier boys of the county who have been exempt from paying poll tax since the war will have to pay their poll tax this fall. There has been some misunderstanding as to this point, but Mr. Rockett has looked up the law, and finds that such voters to be legally qualified will have to pay their poll tax this fall. We understand that a number have not paid yet due to their misunderstanding of the matter, so they are asked to take notice now, and attend to this matter before it is too late. Poll taxes may be paid any time between now and February 1, 1924.

It is the hardest matter in the world for a big organization to function very long without getting contaminated with politics and at the same time diverting the true purpose of politics. The Anti-Saloon League of Alabama has gotten to be more political than it is anti-saloon—and of course, it is Democratic. It is a shame that an organization with as worthy object as the Anti-Saloon League should allow itself to be influenced by politics. It should steer clear of such tactics.

The big fill at Gore's Bridge seems to have become a rather unlucky place for autoists again. In spite of the efforts of the drivers two cars took the aerial side-track down there during the past week and some how the side of the cars that missed the road did not keep its original elevation and near calamaties resulted both times. However, the worst result was a demolished top and broken windshield. Unless more care is observed by drivers something worse than that will result some time.

In last week's DeKalb Republican Mr. J. P. Hawkins of Collinsville made a most worthy appeal to the Republicans of Alabama. Our state organization has always been split up in such a manner that it could do very little for the cause of the Republican party. Among other worthy things Mr. Hawkins says "The public admires a man who can meet defeat bravely and keep on fighting." It is no test of a man's metal to stick to his party while everything runs smoothly. The real man is the one who, although he is defeated in his personal aspirations, gets back in line with his party and fights just as hard as if he had won. If a fellow has to be fed on sweet milk all his life to be kept in the harness he is not worth a cuss to himself or anybody else. Let's be real men and stick through hardships and disappointments as well as through facility and agreeable sailing.

A FINE THANKSGIVING PRESENT

The Union-Banner force is in receipt of a full box of "Florida's Best" Oranges from our esteemed friend Mr. M. L. Henley of Lakeland, Fla. These oranges are fresh right off the vine, and are just as fine as can be had from anywhere.

We are indeed more than grateful to Mr. Henley for this splendid present. While this delicious fruit is being pierced by the tooth of the "devil" and the foreman and the editor, we will have constantly in mind the generous hand of the friendly giver, wishing that at that moment he is enjoying the same bliss which the force is.

Mr. Henley is a former resident of Chilton County and has a number of friends around here. When he lived here he resided in the western part of the county. He has been in Florida for several years.

A VOICE FROM THE PAST

CLIMBING THE WALL

The so-called "Chinese Wall" which the Democrats charged the Republicans with erecting in the form of a protective tariff was not so high as to prevent an invasion by 100,000 wooden and tin soldiers made in Germany and sent to the United States in one shipment. And this shipment will be many times duplicated. This must be bitter reading for the Democrats who were so blatant in their talk about a "prohibitory tariff."

NO AFTER REPUDIATION

A prominent Democratic editor says that "after the treaty was signed, America withdrew and repudiated the President." That is scarcely a true statement. While the treaty was still in course of preparation 39 Senators signed a public statement declaring that they would not ratify it with the league covenant in it. The President and the Allied nations had notice in advance, and the responsibility was theirs.

BROKE HIS VOW

"After trying all remedies and doctors for stomach trouble for eight long years I decided I couldn't be helped and swore I would never take another dose of any kind of medicine, but when I saw what Mayr's Wonderful Remedy did for a friend, who also suffered from bloating as I did, I concluded to try it myself. It helped me at once." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.—Alred Drug Co., and druggists everywhere.

CHRISTIANS VS. CHRISTIANS

Some time during the progress of the World War David Lawrence, or Frank H. Simonds or some other famous writer wrote an article and headed it "When Christians Fight are they Christians?" This article dealt with the warring European nations who professed to be Christians but were killing each other like hogs, using every conceivable means of destroying human life.

Well, this same question may be asked of two factions of people in Chilton County who are badly at variance on certain religious affairs. Last week we published an article in the paper signed by a lady preacher who gave her name as M. Ford Dixon. This lady made various charges against some of the Methodist and Baptist leaders of the Indian Grave community in the south-west corner of this county. This week one of the accused is replying to the charges made by the lady preacher.

It is very unfortunate that such conditions have arisen and especially is it unfortunate that the matter had to be published before all the people of the county. Such matters as this ought to be settled without being published in a newspaper and being scattered far and near. We are not at all prepared to say who is wrong in the controversy, but we do say that if both factions were the conscientious and consecrated Christians that they ought to be, they could get together and in a heart-to-heart intercourse bring the matter to a peaceful settlement. The fact that they are on uncompromising terms is sufficient proof that somebody is not much of a genuine Christian.

After publishing the letter of Mr. G. C. Weldon regarding the affair this week both sides will have been given a shot at the thing through the paper, and if they want to say anything else about it they will have to go somewhere else besides the columns of the Union-Banner to say it. We don't want to be and will not be the means of keeping up confusion among the churches of our country. We believe that the organized churches of this land are the very backbone of the life and morality of the country, and anyone who is continually stirring up confusion among and using their influence against these churches is a specific detriment to the welfare of the country. The Methodist and Baptist churches have been standing for centuries, and the good that they have done the people of the world is unmeasurable. We believe that when somebody begins to buck against these and the other established churches of the country they are simply fulfilling the prophesy that Christ spoke of when He said that false prophets would come claiming that they were Christ and that they had power to do thus and so. The good old denominations have stood the fire too long for it to be proved at this late day that their doctrine is false.

REPUBLICAN TARIFF NOT TOO HIGH

New York Democrats are getting a dose of their own free-trade medicine. They have recently received a shipment of 3,000 tubs of Siberian butter and $5,000,000 worth of Chinese eggs. They will have an opportunity to see whether they prefer those varieties rather than the home-produced kinds. The farmers of Wisconsin and other states of the Northwest, who have recently been quite critical of Republican policies, will experience the loss of their markets to the extent of those New York butter and egg receipts. Democrats and radicals in Congress have attacked Republican attempts at protection whenever a tariff bill has been under discussion, and have succeeded in forcing lower rates in many instances. The cheap labor of Europe and the Orient is quick to take advantage of the opportunities thus afforded to invade the American markets. Even the Republican tariff is not high enough to shut them out.

New York Tribune—Foreign trade is a long, hard, competitive race, in which each nation—except America—backs its own entrants by every means at its disposal.

NUGGETS FROM WISDOM'S MINES

Boston News Bureau—Certainly the avenues of publicity for the last three years are a great deal more open than they were during the preceding Administration. Newspapermen who were badgered, insulted and misled previous to March 4, 1921, have found their relations with responsible government officials more pleasant since that date.

New York Times—The markets of the world have suffered a much slighter shock from the rumors of war in Germany than they would have undergone had it not been known that a strong French military force was keeping watch on the Rhine.

New York World (Dem.)—What one courageous man in high office can do when charged with responsibility and inspired by a sense of duty to the people and the Nation, Secretary Mellon has shown in his letter advocating tax reduction.

Boston Transcript—Former President Wilson may be a very sick man but it is a cause for rejoicing that he is in a much better state of health than his League of Nations.

Fort Wayne Sentinel—No "tariff-for-revenue-only" can show a record for having changed six million idle workmen seeking employment into six million workmen employed at good wages.

Troy (N. Y.) Times—Premier Poincare seems to think that Germany's capacity to pay should have some relation to Germany's capacity to destroy.

Fort Wayne News-Sentinel—If Ford runs for President 18 months from now he may not be the richest man in the world.

IT'S UP TO US. WHAT WILL WE DO?

Conditions all over the United States are prosperous. Working men are employed at good wages and factories are selling their output at good prices.

What interest has any citizen of the nation in supporting political policies or candidates for office tending to destroy confidence, curtail payrolls and limit production?

Every citizen, regardless of his policies, and every political party should fully realize the responsibilities involved in disturbing the present industrial condition in this nation thru the adoption of theoretical experiments or questionable candidates for office—local, state or national.

It is well to remember that in the long run we all make our living from industry and agriculture as it grows and prospers under a stable form of government rather than from political experiments which destroy value and the opportunity for growth and development.

REMOVE THE BAR

The Veterans' Bureau has 71,000 ex-service men undergoing vocational training, of whom 22,000 will be graduated in the next six months. Director Hines is asking the American Legion to aid in finding employment for the graduates when their courses are completed. Of course there will be assistance from many quarters to place the men in positions where they can be self-supporting members of the community. But in his address to the convention of the American Federation of Labor Ben. Hines pointed out the chief obstacle to the government's attempt to return our disabled soldiers to profitable employment. There has been no disposition on the part of Mr. Gompers' organization to reduce the severity of closed-shop requirements for the benefit of wounded veterans, and they are thereby barred from entering many of the more profitable trades. The American Legion can render their comrades no greater service than to take this matter up with the American Federation of Labor.

Mr. John Harrison Collins has given his residence at the corner of Michigan Ave. and Jones St., a new coat of paint, greatly improving the appearance of that piece of property. A little further to the south on Michigan Ave. the Congregational church people are hastening to put their Parsonage in good order for the new pastor and his family, who are expected this week. A new Garage has been built and some interior decorations are going forward at the house.

She referred to a recent statement by Roger Babson, the world's most eminent financial and economic statistian, "One of the best barometers of a states growth and prosperity is the average salaries paid ministers. In the Congregational group, in Georgia there has been the greatest increase in ministers salaries, the increase being 2.11 per cent, Alabama coming next with 160 per cent Every business man knows that the greatest business improvement has been in the south during the past ten years and that these two states led. A collection will be taken for the benefi tof Armenian Orphans.

What We Thank God Fod

Do you really know? If you do not, then you were not at the meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society last Sunday evening. Mrs. Primm, who had charge of the meeting, gave a very interesting and inspiring talk on "What We Thank God For." Various other members gave their reasons for thanking God and for what they were thankful for. All in all, this was one of the most inspiring and enthusiastic meetings of the society held thus far this year. Miss Nell Shannon was cordially welcomed into active membership of the society and we trust that others may soon follow in her footsteps. At the request of Mr. Ben Brown, the new treasurer of the society, new pledges were signed by all of the members. We were indeed glad to have so many visitors with us and we trust that you will come again next Sunday evening and bring someone else with you. Come along folks and let's see if we cannot put a little "Pep-Er-Pep-Pep" in the meetings and we will have the social committee get busy and give us another social soon.

A. M. Johnson to Retire From Business.

The oldest merchant in business at Thorsby is about to close out his stock and retire from active business. Mr. Johnson came to Thorsby when there were few people doing mercantile business here. 26 years ago he came from Waseca, Minn., and opened his store with a small stock of groceries and dry goods, ever since that time he has been distinctly "on the job" with no help, except from his wife, at busy hours. He has kept his doors open as regularly as any store in town, except Sundays. He long ago gave up dry goods and confined his business strictly to groceries and delicatssen goods. Mr. Johnson has built up a business and a reputation for suqare dealing that will stand as a high water mark among merchants in Thorsby for many years to come.

Having honestly acquired what he considers enough to keep him and his good wife for the remainder of their life, and having passed the alloted three score and ten years, he feels that it is time to step down and out and make way for some younger man.

The people of Thorsby and vicinity will greatly regret the closing of this justly popular place of business. But there are few who will not congratulate him on the success of his business career in Thorsby and the place he has won in the hearts of her people.

FOOD RULES FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

Auburn, Ala., Nov. 26.—For best results in school children must have proper nutrition. In view of its importance, Miss Dora Sonnenday, Nutrition Specialist for the Extension Service, has prepared simple food rules for school children. They are:

1. Drink at least one glass of water before breakfast; drink 4 to 6 glasses daily.
2. Drink a quart of milk each day.
3. Do not drink tea or coffee.
4. Eat one vegetable, in addition to potatoes, each day.
5. Eat leafy vegetables at least four times each week.
6. Eat meat only once each day.
7. Eat some fruit, fresh, dried, or canned, each day.
8. Eat candy only immediately after meals.
9. Do not eat between meals.

By observing these rules, Miss Sonnenday says that not only will children get along better in school but that they will be healthier, happier, and will grow more rapidly.

SOUTHERN PROSPERITY

In one state the peach crop amounted to eighty-eight carloads.

Production of tobacco is increasing rapidly and yielding substantial traffic.

Building activity has been wide and well sustained, one of its particularly gratifying aspects being the large number of school houses both in urban and in rural communities.

Southern iron and steel have had a thriving year; important additions are being made to plant capacity.

The stride of the cotton textile industry continues in seven league boots. During the twelve month ended July 31, 1923, the net increase in southern spindles was 371,000 as compared with 80,000 for all the rest of the United States.

Notable, too, is the year's growth in dyeing, bleaching and finishing cotton goods in this region. Two extensive plants have gone up and three others are under construction.

Omaha Bee—Another reduction in the tax rate will convince the people of the United States the Republican Party was sincere in its main purpose, that of reducing the cost of government and lowering the cost of living, in so far as it is affected by taxes.

G. C. WELDON REPLIES TO MRS. M. FORD DIXON

I have before me an article signed by one Mrs. Cason (who gives her name as Mrs. Dixon) setting forth her many virtues and qualities. All her many excellent attributes do not interest me, as I have access to biographies of many notable characters.

If I have been reliably informed, Mrs. Cason left an invalid, her home, and several small children when she first began preaching. After a few years her husband, Mr. Dixon, died. As the years rolled by she became lonely and concluded to embark on the matrimonial vessel with one Mr. Cason. I have been told, for some reason, he became insane. While Mr. Cason was still in the insane asylum, Mrs. Cason applied for divorce—she can tell you what success she attained.

This Mrs. Cason claims to have caused forty conversions at Verbena. I rave just returned from Verbena this afternoon. Persons, who are mutual friends to both Mrs. Cason and myself say there was not a single addition to any church while Mrs. Cason was preaching there.

Mrs. Cason (Dixon) is posing as a Methodist Protestant preacher. Some ten or fifteen years ago, I am told, she was licensed to preach by the Methodist Protestant church. The license became defunct within twelve months. I have been informed the license has never been renewed, she has no connection with the Methodist Protestant church as a minister. Draw your own conclusion.

She claims to be related to Henry Ford. Some more free advertising for Henry I suppose. Benedict Arnold was once a commissioned officer in the American Army. Judas Iscariot one of Christ's disciples.

In regard to the disturbance at Mr. Jones' home, I can prove by a score of disinterested persons that I was at a singing at the time Mrs. Cason claims I caused so much disturbance. Here are the facts:

A neighbor met me Saturday afternoon and asked me to meet with the citizens of Indian Grave at Mr. Jones' home at 8:00 o'clock to talk to Mr. Jones and tell him why we considered Mrs. Cason's doctrine hurtful. I went to the singing and came back by the tent just before preaching closed. Mr. Jones came out of the tent and requested the citizens to walk with him down the road. Mr. Jones did almost all the talking himself, saying among other things that he had nothing for the woman to do himself, but his wife was a believer in holiness and wanted Mrs. Cason (Dixon) to preach so he could not object. Without any threats from any one, Mr. Jones said he would see to it that Mrs. Cason (Dixon) did not preach there again.

Clarence Shaw, Mrs. Jones' son-in-law, who is now living with the Jones', told me the following Monday morning he had nothing for her (Mrs. Cason) to do, and that he was very glad to get rid of her.

Here is the substance of my remarks to Mr. Jones: "I consider her doctrine hurtful. She did tear up Messer's Chapel church. She is an extremist. We thought that when you knew the sentiment of the community you would stop her preaching." In the conversation I told why I thought Mrs. Cason's doctrine hurtful. She claims to have had the power to heal; she claims to have been instantly healed herself; she claims to have raised the dead; she claims to have had one loaf of bread and one quart of strawberries to have increased to several dishes with but a small portion of the original used.

In regard to my fine, the money is already in the bank to pay it—for she could not pick twelve men from the wilds of Africa who would convict me for anything I have done. I am not afraid of any twelve men in Alabama convicting me.

She says she is not a "Holy Roller." I say she is not a Methodist Protestant preacher. You, dear reader, say what she is.

Mrs. Cason has honored me by coupling me with Rev. Limbrick and Rev. Moore. Their conduct is above reproach. The fact that each man is now serving his home church in the community where he was reared is sufficient proof of his character.

The spirit Mrs. Cason claims to have has a peculiar way of manifesting itself. I read the letter she confesses to have written to Rev. Limbrick. In said letter she vilified him with any and all epithets her limited vocabulary would allow, calling him everything except a gentleman. She has the spirit all right. You name it.

In a letter to a gentleman in Prattville she called herself a Nazarene. In the insertion mentioning her meeting at Clanton she claims to be a Methodist Protestant. I suppose she, like the chamelion, changes her belief to suit her own whims.

In the course of human events it becomes necessary to blow ones own horn occasionally. So here goes: I was born at Weldon, Shelby County, Alabama. Have spent almost all of my life in Alabama. My conduct can easily be investigated. I have never been arrested nor accused of crime. If I should live twenty years I expect to have the same record.

I should have treated Mrs. Cason's epistle with the contempt it deserved but thought the public should know the truth. I realize but little good can be accomplished by mud-slinging. I hope this will be the last time I am forced to mention this slime.

G. C. WELDON.

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 26.—Inmates of the Alabama penitentiary are to fittingly observe and celebrate Thanksgiving Day. In the morning special religious services will be held at each of the prisons, then a bounteous dinner. In the afternoon there will be contests of various kinds, and at night there will be minstrels, and vaudevilles, and picture shows.

Large quantities of food have been secured for the 3,000 inmates of the penitentiary that day. There are many barrels of apples and many boxes of oranges. There are mixed nuts, raisins, candy and cigars a plenty. Pies and light bread for the day are to be baked in the prison bakeries. Hogs and cattle from the prison farms will be butchered for the dinner. Vegetables will be gotten from the prison gardens.

The chaplains of the department have been arranging a special religious program to be given during Thanksgiving morning at each of the prisons. The sick and aged at all of the prisons will not be forgotten. They will be especially looked after by the officials at the prisons and such delicacies that they can eat will be provided.

The dinner will consist of barbecued beef and pork, brunswick stew, pies, cakes, candied yams, light bread, pickles, oranges, apples, nuts, raisins, candy and cigars. Among the amusements scheduled during the day are baseball, foot-racing, music, dancing, movies, singing, boxing, bouts, minstrel shows and bootball games.

The Value of Land Abstracts

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

Frequent Headaches

"I suffered with chronic constipation that would bring on very severe headaches," says Mrs. Stephen H. Kincer, of R. F. D. 1, Cripple Creek, Va. "I tried different medicines and did not get relief. The headaches became very frequent. I heard of and took it for a headache, and the relief was very quick, and it was so long before I had another headache. Now I just keep the Black-Draught, and don't let myself get in that condition."

Thedford's Black-Draught (purely vegetable) has been found to relieve constipation, and by stimulating the action of the liver, when it is torpid, helps to drive many poisons out of your system. Biliousness, indigestion, headache, and similar troubles are often relieved in this way. It is the natural way. Be natural! Try Black-Draught.

Do not put the Railroads Back in this Roundhouse

Certain demagogue politicians and others who hope to profit thereby, are agitating Government ownership and operation of the railroads. They would put railroads in the Governmental "Pork Barrel", and pile on the back of the tax-paying public a still heavier load.

Government operation during the war caused a net loss of over $1,200,000,000; and to this there had to be added the cost of continuing the standard contract for six months and also the deferred labor claims and the cost of under-maintenance; altogether a total of $1,900,000,000. This enormous cost had to be met by appropriations from the Public Treasury.

President Harding said he believed that "Government Ownership would be a colossal blunder which would destroy initiative, infect us with political corruption, create regional jealousies and impose incalculable cost on the Public Treasury."

There are also a few mis-informed but honest and well-meaning people who believe that Government ownership would solve the transportation problem. The L. & N. joins the other roads in asking that these people pause and consider the consequences of using the National "pork barrel" for a railroad roundhouse.

What promises to be the largest poultry show ever made up in North Alabama will be put on by the North Alabama Poultry association December 5, 6 and 7, at the Madison county fairgrounds. The association is receiving inquiries from fanciers throughout Alabama and Tennessee and many exhibits from out of the state are expected. Secretary Norris M. Payne announces that the association has contracted with Prof. Arthur S. Chapin of Cookeville, Tenn., to act as judge for the exhibition.

One of the agents making the liquor raid at 102 North Royal street, Mobile, carried to the government building to be used as evidence together with other things, a case of bottles, several hundred new and unused caps, such as is found on bottled-in-bond liquor and a large number of new gummed labels of well known brands of whisky. The federal men expressed the opinion that much of the stuff sold in Mobile as imported whisky was made right in Mobile.

Bessemer city officials announced that the Alabama public service commission would be in session in that city on November 28, when the question of a reduction in water rates for the city would be opened. There has been considerable agitation for the past three years for a reduction, city officials and citizens stating the present rate is excessive and that they believed once the matter is carried before the utilitices commission, a substantial reduction will be granted.

A nine-room addition to the East Alabama hospital at Opelika, which has been under construction for several months, has just been completed, together with the remodeling of the entire building. The plant has been equipped with all modern conveniences, signal system, steam heat. Miss Nell Lurton will be superintendent and a training school for nurses will be established in connection with the hospital.

The wartime Red Cross house in the central part of Sheffield, which was one of the prize institutions of the city during the World War, is to be sold with its contents to be moved by the purchasers from its present location. The spot on which the building stands may be the site of an imposing structure, probably an office building, at no very distant date.

A majority of the dozen or more persons who have been arrested on charges of engaging in the wholesaling of meat in Huntsville without license have made common cause and will have a test case appealed to the circuit court. Mayor Adams fined them $100 each on their refusal to pay a city license and they have given bond and appealed to the higher court.

A contract between a railroad and a livestock owner, which seeks to relieve the railroad from responsibility for livestock killed by it, is against the public policy and void, according to a decision by the court of appeals in the case of the Central of Georgia railway company against G. A. Hammond, appealed from the Houston circuit court.

Gamboge's Mabel's Lassie, 398949, owned by John F. Fletcher of Birmingham, has just forged to the front as the new champion junior four-year-old of the state. She finished her record with 9,162 pounds of milk and 542.58 pounds of butterfat in 365 days according to announcement of the American Jersey Cattle club.

The town council of the town of Scottsboro has called an election to be held in the office of the sheriff on December 3 for the purpose of submitting to the qualified electors of the town the proposition levying a special tax of one-half of 1 per centum for the years of 1923 and 1924 to be used for school purposes in the town of Scottsboro.

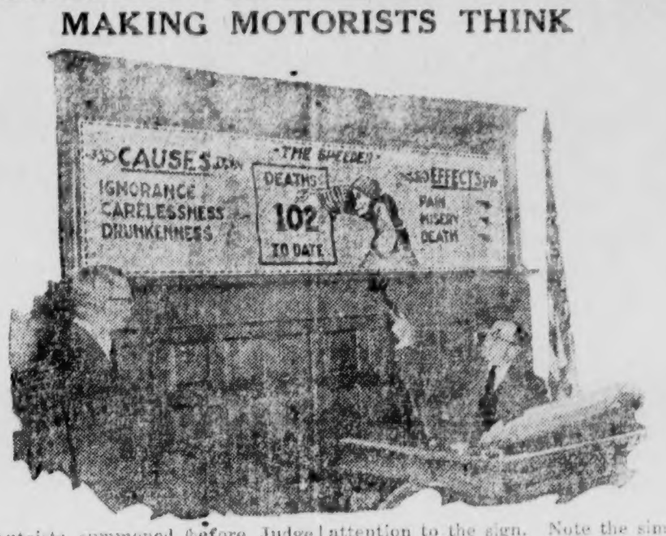
MAKING MOTORISTS THINK



Autoists summoned before Judge Meredith Yeatman in the Cincinnati, (O.) Municipal Court must get pretty uneasy under the collar when their eyes glimpse a certain wall decoration immediately behind and above "his honor's" chair. There, in big bold letters and an illustration of skeletonized death, appears a sign of warning to law-breaking motorists. It's one they can't soon forget.

Above is a reproduction showing Judge Yeatman in the chair, calling attention to the sign. Note the simplicity with which it is worded, yet there can be no doubt as to its meaning. The numerals in the center—"Deaths — 102—To Date" — are changed almost every day—every time another fatality occurs. And, it is reported, the psychological effect of this sign on speeders is having a helpful efefct. A good idea for speeders' courts in other cities to follow.

Baby arrived safely. Mother's Friend praised!

"I WANT to express my appreciation of 'Mother's Friend.'" says Mrs. Laura Hendrix, Gracemont, Okla. "I am the mother of six children. I used 'Mother's Friend' with every one of my babies. I think it is the grandest help that has ever been discovered for the expectant mother. I can't do without it. I recommend it to all expectant mothers. I can't say too much for it."

"Mother's Friend" was originated by an eminent physician. It has saved thousands of expectant mothers from useless suffering. It is externally applied; aids the muscles and tissues to relax easily and readjust themselves to the changes during expectancy and up to the moment baby arrives.

"Mother's Friend" is safe and beneficial, and contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. Avoid mere greases and useless substitutes.

Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-74, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book, containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores.

BETTER BISCUITS

Madam, you can delight the entire family with better buscuits than you have ever baked. You can make buscuits that will cause every member of the family to say with great surprise: "Gee! they're dandy; How did you bake them?"

And they will be more surprised than ever when you tell them that you used less lard or shortening than you ordinarily do. And they'll wonder why.

Then, you can give them the best surprise of all, for you will tell them the whole secret when you say that you baked those excellent buscuits with

Gilster's Best Flour

Yes, it's true, you will have better buscuits and will not use as much lard as you usually use if you bake with GILSTER'S BEST FLOUR. This is because the wheat that is ground into this brand of flour is the choicest that can be had, ground to feathery fineness, sifted many, many times, and every pound is guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction.

GILSTER'S BEST is plain flour, but should you prefer Self-rising Flour that will give equally as good results, ask your grocer for

Senate Tradition Upset In Opening of Congress

Complexity of Membership is Probably Without Parallel in U. S. History.

Washington, Dec. 1.—The Senate of the Sixty-Eighth Congress, which convenes on Monday, presents a complexity of membership which probably is without parallel in the annals of the American Senate.

Not only is the group of 18 new senators one of the largest in years, but the personnel itself includes a type that is new and strange to the upper chamber of Congress. For the first time the Farmer-Labor Party is represented.

With some notable exceptions the new senators bring into the Senate little or no experience in national political affairs. Few have held other than minor and relatively unimportant state offices.

These men, for the most part, and more particularly those from the Middle and Far West, have been thrust into national prominence through what commonly is referred to as the "progressive appeal to the voters." Regardless of party affiliations many of them can be classed together in that new belief in politics that is opposed to the conservative and the reactionary. Many cannot be labeled or pigeon-holed as Republican, Democratic or Farmer-Labor, despite what party flag they flew at the time of election.

Party Lines Vague.

Never has the senate seen such a large influx of members who cannot be counted upon always as "being within the party reservation." Most of them were elected on the stand that they would vote for principle rather than for party.

In this connection consider for a moment a few new senators: Dill, of Washington; Wheeler, of Montana; Adams, of Colorado; Frazier, of North Dakota; Johnson and Shipstead, of Minnesota; Howell, of Nebraska, and Neely, of West Virginia. These men represent the parties in the Senate, and yet it is a safe bet that party leaders will worry about their votes whenever there is a showdown on strict party lines. It is not at all unlikely that any or all of them would "bolt" at the slightest provocation.

Progressive Rule.

This very fact has made the numerical advantage of eight by the Republicans over the Democrats most uncertain. It has placed, in fact, the control of the Senate in the hands of the Progressives, headed by Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin.

Another interesting sidelight about the new senators is that most of them have come up direct from private life, and not step by step in state office, as usually prevailed in other days, but by a jump from the farms and the professions to the Senate. That is true particularly of Minnesota's new members. Johnson was called from a harvest field to make the race.

G. O. P. Majority

The Senate now has 51 Republicans, 43 Democrats and two Farmer-Labor. Of the 18 new members 11 are Democrats, five Republicans and two Farmer-Labor.

What is the nature of these new men? What do they stand for? What have they done in private and official life that earned for them seats in the Senate?

Road Meeting To Be Here Next Saturday

Everybody in the County Should Come To This Important Meeting.

There will be held at the court house at 10:00 o'clock a.m. on Saturday, the 8th day of December, a mass meeting for a discussion of the new Federal Highway through Chilton county. Hon. John Rogers, chairman of the State Highway Commission and also Mr. J. Hubert Scruggs, one of the highway commissioners, will be with us on that day. The Commissioners' Court will also be present.

The matter to come up for discussion at this mass meeting will be the question of the new Federal Aid road through our county, the letting of the contract, the right-of-way and other important features.

Possibly the most important feature of this mass meeting will be the question of building additional highways in the county by the state regardless of Federal aid. It is the purpose here to discuss the change in the plans and instead of building a Federal highway to build state roads through our county with the understanding that the county is responsible for the maintenance and upkeep. We especially request the citizens who desire these additional roads built through their territory to be present at this meeting.

This is indeed one of the most important questions before the county at this time, as every citizen is interested in this new road project and if the people will turn out, including the farmers, business men, women and others throughout the entire county and show the commissioners our co-operation it will mean a great deal towards the obtaining of this highway. We can all afford to lose one day for such an important matter.

Please do not forget the date, Saturday, Dec. 8th, at the court house at Clanton, Alabama, at 10:00 o'clock a.m.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS,

BUSY DAYS FOR SANTA'S ASSISTANT

HAMMERS and nails, chisels and planes, brushes and paint—all are being worked over-time these days in Santa Claus' many toy shops throughout the land. Christmas is only a few weeks off and what would Christmas be without toys to the millions of tiny tots who already are youthfully chattering—"Tell Santy I want a wagon and a doll, and, and—and."

Here you see one of Santa's tireless assistants—Dr. Benjamin Rice, age 92, the oldest inmate of the Old Men's Home in Philadelphia—busily engaged in putting together a toy icewagon which he made. And from the appearance of the toy, we'll wager some little youngster is going to send forth a cry of cheer and gladness when he receives this little present on Christmas morn.

Care of Hens for the Best Egg Production

Auburn, Ala., Dec. 3.—If properly housed and correctly fed chickens will lay a large number of eggs during the winter season, says John E. Ivey, poultry specialist for the Extension Service.

In discussing the actual needs, Mr. Ivey says that the house is of major consideration. Chickens will not lay if allowed to stay out in the weather and roost in trees when it is wet and cold. They must have protection in order to stay warm. This protection is best provided in the shed-roof type of house, opening to the south or southeast. About 2 1-2 or 3 square feet of floor space should be provided for each bird; and plenty of dry straw, excelsior, or other litter should be on the floor to provide scratching material when grain is fed. Comfortable nests are also important.

During cold weather, Mr. Ivey says that a hot mash should be fed late each afternoon. It should be composed of equal parts by weight of corn-meal, ground oats, wheat bran, wheat middlings, and meat scraps, with one pound of salt and one pound of steam bone meal added to each 100 pounds of this mixture. Buttermilk should be heated and enough added to the dry mixture to moisten it thoroughly but not make it sloppy.

In connection with this dry mash lettuce, cabbage, sprouted oats, collards, or other satisfactory green feed should be supplied. It may be steamed and fed in connection with the mash. In addition, a sufficient amount of scratch feed should be fed.

CADILLAC, FORD & CHEVROLET CARS ARE SEIZED BY McADORY

Several thousand dollars worth of automobiles were seized for confiscation in raids by state and county officers Monday in the counties of Jefferson and Washington. Besides a Cadillac touring car, the raid in Jefferson brought to light two large tsills which were destroyed together with 4,200 gallons of beer and 10 gallons of whiskey, and the driver of the seized automobile was arrested ona charge of violating the prohibition law.

A Chevrolet tournig car and a Ford touring car were captured by state oficers in Washington county; a still, 780 gallons of beer and 15 1-2 gallons of whiskey were destroyed— and two men were arrested for alleged distilling; two others being taken into custody on charges of prohibition law violation. Another alleged distiller of prohibition liquor was arrested in Franklin county in connection with the destruction by state and county oficfers of a still and 550 gallons of beer.

In Shelby County, state and federal officers assisted by forces of the sheriff of Jefferson County, destroyed two large stills, 500 gallons of beer and 10 gallons of whiskey, and arrested three men on charges of alleged distilling. Another man was arrested on the same charge in a raid in Tuscaloosa County which restuled in the destruction by state law enforcement ofifcers of two stills, 5,000 gallons of beer and 61 gallons of whiskey.

Seeks To Prevent Secret Oil Rates

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 3.—A petition asking a permanent injunction against the Standard Oil Company, the Gulf Refining Company, the Gelena Signal Oil Company and the Texas Oil Company to restrain them from making secret rebates and from selling gasoline below cost, has been filed in the United States District Court here by the Wofford Oil Company, it was announced today.

The date of hearing on the petition has been set for December 16th. The Wofford company controls the filling stations operated by the Woco-Pep company, it is said.

The petition set out that the defendant companies are selling gasoline at 14 cents a gallon wholesale from tank wagons while the plaintiff's tank wagon price is 16 cents.

Profit Not Made.

Wofford officials are quoted as saying they are unable to meet this lower price and make a reasonable profit. They pointed out that gasoline in Atlanta today was retailing for 18 cents.

Officials of the petitioning company also explained that gasoline costs 6 1-2 cents at the refinery and with 3.86 cents freight, 3 cents occupation tax and 1-3 cents inspection tax added bringing the cost to a fraction under 14 cents.

Officials of the Standard Oil Company and other defendant companies would make no comment on the restraining petition.

Thomas W. Hardwick, former governor of Georgia, is handling the Wofford Oil Company's injunction suit which was filed in U. S. Court in Atlanta Monday, and any statement about the case will have to come from him, G. T. Wofford, president of the company, said Monday night.

"There is really little to be said in advance of the hearing of the case, which the court has set for December 16th," said Mr. Wofford.

Prominent Visitors in Clanton from Russia

Last Saturday there were in Clanton two prominent visitors from Russia. They were Messrs. Theodore A. Dujeff and Vladimir Gniessin, who are extensively interested in cotton ginning and cotton seed oil milling in their home country. They are at present engaged in a tour of inspection of the cotton producing section of the United States, for the purpose of seeing first hand the different types and modes of cotton ginning and other processes that are in vogue in the general process of cotton commercialization. While here they visited the different gins, and took a very keen interest in being shown through the plants. They gathered some valuable data which they expect to carry back to Russia with them to be used as a guide in the perfection of systems and machinery for the handling of the cotton crop of that country.

They stated that for the past fifteen years certain sections of Southeastern Russia have been developing cotton production until at present it has grown to be quite extensive. We didn't hear them say whether there were any boll weevils and army worms over there or not.

Van Heuval and Smith Given Federal Positions

Coolidge Recognizing Powers, Leaders Say, in Appointing Marshals in Alabama.

Washington, Dec. 1.—President Coolidge Saturday night appointed John W. Van Heuval as United States marshal for the southern district of Alabama and Douglas Smith as United States marshal for the middle district of Alabama.

Douglas Smith, who becomes United States marshal for the middle district of Alabama, with headquarters at Montgomery, is a resident of Wedowee. He is connected with the big Smith family in Republican politics, uncle of Col. Dallas B. Smith and son of R. T. Smith and is cousin of William H. Smith, a prominent attorney of Birmingham.

He is connected with a bank at Wedowee. He was recommended by O. D. Street, Alabama member of the National Republican committee and also by Chairman Atkins, of the states committee.

John W. Van Heuval of Mobile, who becomes marshal of the Southern district of Alabama, with headquarters in Mobile, is the son of a prominent druggist of that city. He, too, was recommended by Mr. Street and Mr. Atkins.

Republicans in Birmingham Saturday night expressed the belief that these appointments will have significance on the next national convention, showing that President Coolidge is recognizing the powers in control in this state.

Republican Executive Committee Met Tues.

Every Precinct in County Represented; Committee in Harmony With County Officials.

A very enthusiastic meeting of the Republican Executive Committee of Chilton oCunty was held at the court house in Clanton on Tuesday, Nov. 27th, which was atetnded by committeemen from every precinct of the county. At this meeting it was demonstrated that all of the committeemen and party workers were in harmony with the county officials.

The following resolutions were adopted by the Committee:

1. We deplore the fact that we have here in this county some few men who preetnd to be Republicans, yet who never let an opprotunity pass to say or do anything they can to hinder or destriy the party. They have not the interest of the party at heart, and are not in line with the party principles, but on the other hand hey are working hand in hand with some of the self-appointed Democratic leaders and secretly and in an underhanded manner make false charges to keep worthy Republicans from being appointed to office in this county and to attempt to tear up the Republican party in this county.

We especially urge the people of Chilton County to be watchful of that type of so-called Republicans and not be misled by their deceptions and hypocricy.

2. It is to be regretted that there are a few Democrats and other citizens of this county who are continually nagging and criticising unnecessarily and thereby hindering and delaying the road work and progress in general of this county. We take this opportunity here to commend the Democrats of this county who are big enough to rise above politics and are assisting and aiding the county officials and the Commissioners Court in every way they can to make the road work a success and otherwise to further t pehroersgsawin em bv b vbvb thefr the progress of this county.

We trust that when the new road is put into effect that every good and honest citizen who has the interest of the countl at heart will leave politics out of the matter and stand for the improvement of the public roads of Chilton County.

In a downpour of rain and on a field ankle deep in water and mud, the Verbena Bluejackets twisted the tail of the fast Clanton Tigers, rolled with them in the mud and all but wrested a well earned victory from them in the last minute of the game, when the Verbena team after an intercepted forward pass by Norris, fought, plunged, and passed the ball to the one foot line of the Tigers. Here the whistle stopped the game, with the score: Clanton 0, Verbena 0.

The game had been scheduled for Thanksgiving, but was rained out; Clanton had suggested the game be played Tuesday afternoon, and the Verbena team went to the lair of the tiger and closed a first-year season in a very satisfactory way. Clanton had recently won two victories by large scores, and had held the undefeated Columbiana team to a ten to nothing score, and the odds against Verbena were being offered at 18 points. Clanton, however, had not fully estimated the team they were to play, and the first several minutes of the game made them realize that they had to change their dope.

Verbena won the toss and kicked off. Clanton immediately made two first downs, and the ball then went to eVrbena. The Bluejackets immediately and easily returned the compliment, making two first downs by line bucks and end runs, big Ed Hammell, DeRamus, and Norris carrying the ball. The game then sawed back and forth, Clanton carrying the ball within 30 yards on two occasions, where they were either held for downs or lost the ball on fumbles. Two of Clanton's punts went across Verbena's goal line and the visitors then returned the ball to the center of the field. Jack Hayes featured the first half by sending out two long forward passes which were neatly gathered in by Clanton men, the gain being for about half of the field. These gains were offset by costly fumbles. Verbena intercepted pass after pass, and thus broke up the aerial route over which Clantno has relied so much to gain the victory. What with the passes intercepted and held, and the forward passes completed by the Verbena aggregation, the visitors outplayed their opponents at their own game, while the end runs and line bucks were about eualq. Jack Hayes starred for Clanton, as he usually does. His generalship, courtesy and clean sportmanship throughout the game was of the highest order. Other members of the Tigers played well, especially men in the line.

In the last few minutes of the game Norris for Verbena intercepted a forward pass and raced with it within the ten yard zone of Clanton, all but getting away for a touchdown. Clanton's line became a stone wall, and held for three downs. DeRamus then threw a forward pass to Dansby, who was downed on the one foot line. Before Clanton could line up to snap the ball the whistle blew, and the game was over.

Verbena's line was all but impregnable—Jack Hayes made some few gains through it. Ed Hammell could plunge through Clanton's line for gains, failing to make yards only one time. In the early stages of the game an old hurt to his knee was renewed, which kept him from showing all the stuff he has. In the first half it was Hammell wo tackled, blocked, intercepted passes, and carried the ball. It was distinctly Ed Hammell's day, with all due regard for the good work of his team mates.

Every man individually on both lines played well throughout the game. That the score was not different may be due to the fact that Verbena consistently broke up the forward passes Hayes hurled for long distances, and that they were probably helped by the slow field and heavy ball. However, Verbena played the forward pass well, and found the ball heavy and slick and the field muddy, too, when the ball was in their possession. Verbena will not offer the weather or mud or the heaviness of the ball as an alibi that they did not score. A Clanton man or two tackled a fraction of a second too early for Dansby to make that touchdown.

Verbena considers the score, in the light of the high rating of the Tigers, and the fact that in the last few minutes of the game she outplayed Clanton in every department, to be a happy closing to her intital year in football. Not a man of the Verbena team had before this year donned a football uniform, and while the team is still a new one its followers are justly proud of its first year's record. Dansby and DeRamus will be out next year. In the event all the others are back in harness, Verbena will put out a team that will reckon with the best.

And by the way—Clanton's nearest approach to eVrbena's goal line was 20 yards, with the ball in Verbena's possession after a punt. Nominal victory? What?

"Devil Dogs'" Dog

It's "Sergeant Billy" of the U. S. Marines saying—"Hello, Folks!" "Billy," and he wants the world to know it, is mascot of a live bunch of "Devil Dogs," stationed at Quantico, Va. This crew boasts an invincible football team and every time it goes forth to battle on the gridiron, "Billy" is right there to "bark" them on to victory. Some dog. And it's certainly a business-like looking face he's got on him. Nice to look at but—give him room.

TRADE WITH Universal Agriculture Prosperity Indivisible YOUR FRIEND

The Democrats of Chilton county want to have a contest and get things cleaned up. Well, if the Republican party was as rotten as the Democratic we would advocate some plan to clean it out too.

Mr. McAdoo's support of the bonus, just like the wage increases which he recklessly gave the railroad workers, boils down again to another attempt to get something advantageous for himself through the use of other people's money.—New York Tribune.

The only difference between Oscar Underwood and Woodrow Wilson is that Wilson got tied up in entangling alliances and hung himself, and Oscar will do the same thing if he is given enough slack. Wilson was more interested in Europe than he was the United States and our friend Osker is traveling the same road.

Two important questions are to be considered in the Democratic meeting at the Wilson Hotel in Clanton Wednesday of this week, namely the contest and registration. What? The registration laws of Alabama are very simple. Wonder what they are going to consider about that? Guess they are going to frame another scheme to register Democrats and disfranchise Republicans like they did last year. Gee, this lilly-white Democratic party down here in the Solid South is an "equal rights to all" organization.

Representative L. K. Bowen of Jefferson county, a Democrat, making a speech before the legislature last summer, said that if he had his way about it he would cut the throat from ear to ear of every Republican in the State of Alabama. He also said that his plan was to GET Republicans out of office—if they couldn't be voted out then legislate them out. Remember, this Democratic party is behind the contest in Chilton county. They claim to be working for fair play and a clean ballot, but do you remember the stunts the Democratic registrars of Chilton county pulled last year? They went out single file contrary to law and registered every Democratic woman they could hear of and shunned the Republican women. Do you call that clean play, Mr. Chilton County News?

First Monday In Jan. Set to Hear Contest

The day for the opening of the contest for the probate judgeship of Chilton county by C. D. Messer against L. H. Reynolds has been definitely set for Monday, January 7th. This is an occasion to which the Democrats of Chilton county have been looking forward with much hope and anxiety for the past several months. Through this contest they hope to enjoy the superb bliss of seeing Judge Reynolds cast out of office and the structure which the Republicans of Chilton county have built by years of hard and persistent work shattered to the ground. They figure that they have the necessary dope and crooked cabal arranged to bring about the desired end, and maybe they have, but as we have said before, this is not going to be a one-sided game.

Last week the Chilton County News speaking in regard to the contest said that "Our county has labored under very unfortunate conditions now for a number of years. It has not only cost us our rightful place among the progressive counties of the state but it has crippled us in a business way to an untold amount in dollars and cents." Yes, it is true that our county has been badly crippled ever since the Republicans went to sleep on the job and let a Democratic administration slip in. True to their established and trusted custom they put our county so deep in debt that it will take several more years labor to get it back on its feet. They spent $250,000 of the people's uncollected tax money in building a $50,000 highway through the county. Yes, brother, this condition is very unfortunate indeed, but who is the cause of it?

The News also advances the bright and glittering idea that Chilton county being Republican has repelled outside investors from coming here and building large enterprises. This is indeed a creditable argument for a full grown newspaper to try to preach to folks. If this is the case we will ask The News why it is that 80 per cent of the big manufacturing industries are in the North instead of the dear old Solid Democratic South? According to their theory there would be a cotton mill or oil mill on every acre of ground in Alabama, if being Democratic had anything to do with it. Also, we will ask you, if your argument is reasonable, why did the Alabama Power Company come here and build in our county two of the biggest plants of its kind in the whole country? We presume they did it because they felt sure that Messer would bring the county around Democratic all right. Nope, your argument won't hold water, Brother News.

We agree with The News in their argument for a clean ballot box in Chilton county, and you may rest assured that when this contest is over with some things are going to be brought to light all right. And the Democrats will not be the only ones to enjoy the fun either. You just wait.

DEMOCRATS CONSIDER THE REGISTRATION OF VOTERS

We read in the Chilton County News of last week that a complete and definite policy for the registration of voters in Chilton County was to be considered at the meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee in Clanton on Wednesday of this week.

The question arises with us: What does The News mean by a complete and definite policy of registration as the same concerns the Democratic Executive Committee of this county?

We would suggest to the Democratic Executive committee and the Board of Registrars that if they desire a complete and definite policy for the carrying out of the work of registering voters they will find full and complete details laid down in the laws of the State of Alabama. That ought to be all the guide that they need for performing their duties legally and judiciously.

The new Board of Registrars ought to be reminded of the wave of discord and criticism that was brought about here a few years ago when it was charged upon good reason too, that the work of registering voters was not being done acording to law. We hope they will have foresight enough this time to avoid anything that would tend to brood dissatisfaction and criticism among the people.

Registration ought to be fair and honest and impartial. It is not a matter that is to be determined by the policy of the Democrats alone. There are some Republicans in Chilton County yet, and they have rights under the registration laws just the same as Democrats. It will be well for the Registrars not to overlook this fact.

The people of the county, both Republicans and Democrats, should look for the announcemens of the Board of Registrars and see that every voter is duly and legally registered according to the law when the proper time comes. This registration business, if properly and legally done, will not produce any unnecessary political discord. But if it is attempted in an unfair and illegal manner the result will be more political discord. It is up to the Board of Registrars to handle the matter correctly or incorrectly, just as they choose.

COMPLIMENTED FOR GOOD WORK ON ROAD

The citizens of Maplesville have publiycly commended the Commissioners of Chilton County for the splendid work the county has recently finished on the Clanton-Maplesville Highway. This road is in better shape than it has ever been before, and the road working crew of the county is to be complimented for it.

THE ROAD MEETING HERE ON NEXT SATURDAY

We are publishing this week a call for a meeting at the Court House on next Saturday, of all the citizens interested in better roads. The matter of the Birmingham - Montgomery Highway through Chilton County is to be up for consideration; also a plan for buildoing roads all over the county by the State. If you want a good road through your community, it will be to your interest to attend this meeting next Saturday.

Under the new system the State Highway Commission proposes to grade and build the roads and let the county take care of the upkeep. The bridges on these graded roads will be made of permanent material, so the expense of maintaining will be comparatively small.

So everybody come out next Saturday and learn all about this new road project. The question of roads is the greatest problem that confronts us today, and good roads will be the kreatest accomplishment our county can hope and work for.

"FROM GENERATIONS TO REVOLUTIONS."

One would naturally suppose that a man must have a very elastic brain to be capable of sinking himself in the mire and pollution of political prejudice and ridiculous reflections, and at the same time imagine himself a great luminary of purity and brightness, perched upon the highest and noblest pinnacle of the sublime. But our good friend Brother Corley proves himself very capable at such mental gymnastics, especially when he gets all het up by his fantastic dreams of Democratic political triumph, when the Probate Judge's election contest shall have been completed in Chilton County, the ballot boxes purged of all semblances of his visionary Republican corruption, the Republican voters annihilated and disqualified and thrown into the trash can, and the Democrats given undisputed control of the affairs of the county.

As an example of the ridiculous, we quote him as follows from The Chilton County News of last week, wherein he assumes to reflect upon his readers some more light about the contest:

> "Our county has labored under very unfortunate political conditions now for a number of years. It has not only cost us our rightful place among the progressive counties of the state but it has crippled us in a business way to an untold amount in dollars and cents. We have been at each other's throats continually and have not been in a position to cultivate a community spirit that would be attractive to outside investors.
> "In our own experience in corresponding with oil mill and cotton factory people, we have had this very divided sentiment of antagonism that exists among our home people urged upon us as the one reason why capital hesitates to make large investments here. They desire a community where local sentiment is harmonious and where the people present a solid front in working together for the good of all alike."

Now, see how deftly he dips his pen in the Elysian fluid, washing away all the pollution in which the above was written, turns the leaf and upon the other side strikes out so beautifully and so gracefully to ascend above the clouds that he imagines hover about him and obstruct his vision, finally to place his editorial lamp upon that high place whence its rays may go out to all the world, dispelling the great political darkness that, in his mind, hangs over the people:

> "Now, after this contest has been settled, let us hope that the political atmosphere will clear up, and that we may all abide whole heartedly by the result and turn our eyes to the future with a loyal determination to get together and work for the material prosperity of our common home."

Whom does he refer to when he says "we" have been at each other's throats continually, and have not been in a position to cultivate a community spirit that would be attractive to outside investors? Upon whose head would he heap such a grave charge, for indeed it is a grave charge to say of a man that he is so blinded by political prejudice that he cannot and does not see or discharge properly his duty as a citizen of the commonwealth?

Does he mean that he, The Chilton County News, and those for whom it speaks, have been so engrossed in political aspirations and so bent upon appropriating unto themselves political pelf that they have not been able to give to the discharge of their duties as citizens of the town and county in which they live? He says "WE."

His confession of this glaring civic and political crime, and his charge of the same against his cohorts is remarkable, indeed almost senstional. But maybe he figures that an honest confession is good for the soul.

What does he mean when he says our county has labored upder very unfortunate political conditions for a number of years? Does he mean that the unfortunate part of it is that during the period of years he is thinking about, the Democratic candidates have not been elected to office by the people of the county?

That fact is indeed unfortunate for the Democratic politicians, but it is not so unfortunate for the people of the county. One time during that period there was a couple of Democrats elected, and the people found it to be very unfortunate for them; consequently they retracted at the very next opportunity and returned the Republicans by a bigger majority than ever.

Yes, it has been an unfortunate season for those Democratic politicians whom we suppose Brother Corley includes in his confession that "we" have been so busy with our political crazy quilt tactics to get our heroes into office, that "we" have not had time to perform our duties as becomes good and progressive citizens.

What does he mean when he says "it has cost us our rightful place among the progressive counties of the state?" and "it has crippled us in a business way to an untold amount in dollars and cents?" We suppose he means that if the Democrats had been elected to office in Chilton County the county would not now be head over heels in debt; and that the Democratic valets and lieutenants, having succeeded in getting their bosses in the offices, would then have had time to get out and induce factories and industries to come here—pointing them to a solid Democratic county where none dared to raise up and question the power of the gods of the party of greed and corruption and prejudice and oppression; where big corporations and wealthy interests would be given the right of way down the main line, and the interests of the common people sidetracked and disregarded.

We want Brother Corley to make a comparison between Chilton and any other county he may select, which has had its ideal condition of Democratic management in past years, and show us wherein such county has made any more progress or enjoyed any better conditions of government, or made more civic or industrial progress due to such political conditions, than has Chilton County.

We wonder who and what kind of oil mill and cotton factory people, have told him they would not come here because the people were not all one way (Democratic we suppose he means) in politics.

Do you reckon, Brother Corley, they got the bad taste in their mouths about Chilton County politics from their correspondence with you and from reading The Chilton County News? Perhaps you think they got it because they happened to see a copy of the Union-Banner, seeing as this is such a darned fool Republican paper.

Our opinion about an industry that refuses to locate in a place because politics there doesn't suit them, is that such an industry is not worth having in the first place; and we did not lose anything worth while when they refused to come here. Such industries are doubtless engaged more in the work of manufacturing votes for the Democratic party than they are in making goods for commercial markets. Such being their business they naturally did not get much encouragement from Brother Corley or The News, we presume.

After the contest has been settled, Brother Corley wants us all to abide whole heartedly by the result, and turn our eyes to the future and so forth and so on, ad infinitum, up the magnificent heights of the sublime and primrose path.

We guess he means he wants us to do that if Brother Messer wins the contest. But of course if Reynolds wins it the Democrats will quit fighting the Republicans and turn their attention to the performance of their duties as good citizens ought to do. When Reynolds won the election last year, Brother Corley, The News, and those othes whom he includes in his confessional pronoun "we" showed the public how gracefully they could meet defeat and how willing they were to quit getting at the throats of their neighbors and unite with everybody for the good of the home county in a civic and industrial way. We may look for another demonstration if it when they lose out on the contest.

Now here is the climax of Brother Corley's wonderful mental contortion of last week:

> "Vote your honest convictions at the polls, and if your neighbor votes against you, grant him that privilege, but when that is done, let it go at that, but when it comes to boosting Chilton County, unite like one man, for our interests are the same."

The above expression is certainly a creed that any good citizen might well adopt. We endorse every word of it and have been preaching that doctrine all along. Now, if The News and its editor believe in granting their neighbors the right to "vote against them if he pleases," and "when that is done, let it go at that" why didn't they accept that view of the matter after the last election?

They, of course, will shout that it wasn't a fair election and that Reynolds was crooked and beat them dishonestly. We shall see how crooked and unfair and dishonest Reynolds was before the contest is finally wound up.

If Brother Corley and The News and a few other dissatisfied and disappointed and disgruntled Democratic wind-jammers had been willing to abide by the results of the expressions of the people as suggested by Brother Corley now, they would be having more time to devote to the discharge of their duties as citizens.

If the atmosphere of Chilton County is so seething with political discord, who is to blame? It is not the voter who goes out to the polls on election day and votes his convictions as has been the custom here. It is those who have not been willing to abide by the result of the elections and have kept up their grumbling and kept fanning the fires of prejudice by the institution of contests and other measures in an effort to thwart the will of the people. A few camp followers of the Democratic party in Chilton County, at the behest of The News, are the ones that are responsible. The majority of the citizens who voted the Democratic ticket in the election did not produce the situation which Brother Corley complains about. The News has got the situation all muddled and is now attempting to lay the blame upon others.

The News is certainly making a poor job of excusing themselves for the contest by such beautiful admonitions to the voters at this late day. They doubtless mean that if the Democrats win the thing to do is to abide by the result and turn to the future and forget the past, and so on; but if the Republicans win, give them hell forever until some way may be found to put them out of office and discredit the whole tribe in the eyes of the world. The actions of The News speaks much louder than its words.

The Union-Banner congratulates the people of Chilton County upon the fact that they have always exercised and manifested an interest in their political affairs. If some fellow does not want to put his mill here on that account, we can get along better without him any way, if it is just politics he is running his mill for. Chilton County would like to have many industries here. But the people of the county cannot afford to surrender or abridge their rights of franchise in order to induce them to locate here.

Theodore Roosevelt spoke a great truth once when he said: "The people who say that they have not time to attend to politics are simply saying that they are unfit to live in a free country. Their place is under a despotism."

And let us add that the fellow who is so confounded narrow and prejudiced as to let his political activities interfere with his civic duties is not good enough to live under a despotism, much less in a free country. His place is in the bug house.

As for us, we would not stand for the accusation that "we" have been at our neighbors' throats in such a way that we have not been able to cooperate for the betterment of our community. We have always tried to stand our ground so far as political duties and privileges are concerned. And our cooperation and support of county development has been wholehearted and unselfish, with no thought of political enmity entering into the matter, except in places where politics rightly belongs. We are glad that The Union-Banner and the other Republicans of the county have no confession or apology to make to any body for having allowed politics to blind us against cooperating with our Democratic and Republican friends and neighbors alike, for the best interests of our town and county.

We hope The News and Brother Corley may some day get such a cleansing of heart that they may be able to join in with those other Democrats of the county who can accept political defeat with grace and compunction, and have the smoke screen of political prejudice wiped from their eyes, so that they may be able to see clearly and perform unreservedly their duties to the town and county, as will become them like good citizens.

We regret that our friend, Brother Corley, has wandered so far astray as to make it necessary for him to come out voluntarily and confess that he is one of those who have been so blinded by political prejudice that he has been unable to see and discharge his duties as a good citizen ought to do. Maybe, now that he has got the great burden off his chest, he will feel better. We hope so any way.

A "SLIGHTLY MIXED" DUET

Yes, folks, this duet is "slightly mixed." It's Frankie Darro, the four-year old movie starlet, and his pup, "Cameo." But, believe us, when this picture was snapped, the boy and his canine pal were tunefully hitting on "all six." Their director was putting them through "A Musical Selection in A Flat." It was mostly "flat" but what difference does that make? You don't have to listen to it in the movies anyhow.

This particular scene, so the press agent informs us, is part of the Graf production "Half a Dollar Bill," which is soon to appear on the nation's screens. Little Frankie and his pal, "Cameo," of course, are taking the leading part. From the looks of their rehearsal here, the film ought to be good.

A FRUIT OF ALCOHOL

The unfortunate tragedy which occurred over in Montevallo last week just goes to show what whiskey will do for a man if he persistently messes with it. Both the men who were killed and the third one who did the second killing were under the influence of whiskey. We understand that when not under the influence of booze all three of the men were the very best of friends, but when they were all three drunk they all went wild and completely lost control of themselves. The result was fatal to two of them and the third one would probably be better off if he had gotten his light put out also.

In the face of such tragedies as the above, we are at a complete loss to know why men and boys continue to drag themselves down by fooling with this awful drug. Only one result can possibly come from it and that is sorrow and disgrace and very often it is these in the superlative degree. There can be only one excuse for a man fooling with it and that is that he just has very little respect and care for himself and his loved ones.

CALERA AND SOUTH CALERA

Everybody is feeling fine owing to the several days of bad weather.

The new pastor of the Shiloh Church delivered his first sermon on Sunday, November 25. There was a large crowd present and everyone enjoyed hearing the first sermon. Let us hope that everyone will cooperate with him and make this the most helpful year of church wark that has ever been at Shiloh.

Miss Catherine Clark was a visitor at Miss Mexa Tate's Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Charles Busby of Marbury was at home last week.

Mr. McKinley Anderson was a visitor to home folks this week. He has a position in Birmingham and this is the first tome we have seen him at home in quite a while:

Miss Lois Busby come home from Calera where she is attending school to spend the week-end with home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Martin and two children spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Busby.

Miss Sarah Crim was the guest of Mrs. W. N. Jones Saturday night.

Mr. Amie Boswell of Cooper was in South Calera Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. R. L. Crim, who is working at Cherokee Bluffs, is isiting tvhe home of his son, Mr. E. D. Crim this week.

Thursday night is prayer meeting night. Everybody come.

Mr. Roy Rogers spent Monday at the home of his father in South Calera.

A supper was given at Shady Grove of the young people were present and many of the older ones. A guess cake was won by Mr. Amie Boswell and the prize cake was won by Miss Mamye Clark. Many nice gifts were fished from the fish pond, but best of all the supper was good. A sum of $27 13 was raised for the benefit of the Shiloh League and church.

PLEASANT HILL NEWS

There is going to be preaching at Pleasant Hill next Sunday at 11:00 o'clock and also Saturday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. Rev. Pope Hail from Shelby will preach. We would be real glad to see the whole community out to hear him and the church members especially. So everybody come and feel welcome to old Pleanant Hill, better known as Blow Grave Yard. We expect to hear a wonderful sermon fram Brother Hail.

A DELIGHTFUL ROW

"My wife had suffered from stomach and liver trouble for many years and had taken medicine enough to sink a ship; so when I brought home a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, on the advice of my employer, she refused to take it. Her liver trouble hadn't helped her disposition any. We had a big row, but she took it the next week. Her ailments have all disappeared." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Alred Drug Co., Clanton, Ala.

UNDERWOOD OVERPLAYS

Senator Underwood says that the United States has been almost without influence abroad for three years. Well, we got all the leading nations together and induced them to agree to a limitations of armament program which has been declared to be the greatest step toward permanent peace in the history of the world. That isn't so bad for a nation "without influence." Then we induced Japan to relax certain claims she was making upon Chinese territory and concessions which claims were certain to lead to war. That isn't a bad accomplishment for a nation "without influence." Then, too, we proposed a plan for the settlement of the reparations dispute which the leading diplomats of every nation except one have agreed is the only practical plan. That is a proper subject for pride in a nation "without influence." The fact that the plan has not been adopted is nothing to our discredit, for no other nation has accomplished more in that particular. We led the nations of the world in a crusade against narcotics and induced Great Britain to agree to a modification of international law concerning search of ships for illicit transportation of liquor. We have prevented a war between two South American Republics and induced them to agree to arbitration of their differences.

The chief trouble with Senator Underwood seems to be that he wants to be President, has no constructive ideas of his own, and, therefore, spends his time making general complaints without being specific.

The American people are not likely to take very kindly to a chronic kicker, especially when he belittles his own country in comparison with the rest of the world, when his own country is doing more for the promotion of world peace and prosperity than any other nation.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

One of the distinguished Britons who frequent our shores returned to his own country and recorded his impressions. Among other comments he said, "The standard of living of the working man is three times, certainly twice, as high as here. Where a man uses a bicycle here an American uses a motor car."

Here is food for thought for those who urge the abolition of the protective tariff, and also for those radicals among us who are working for the destruction of American institutions. Not long ago some miners in the Middle West went on strike because the mine management refused them parking space for their cars in the spot where they had been accustomed to leave them. Quite likely those men are among the thousands who are loud in their criticism of government as they find it in the United States. They never stop to think that if they lived in Great Britain they would do well if they could afford a bicycle.

The Republican party bases its argument for a protective tariff on the need for maintaining the American standard of living free from the competition of cheap foreign labor that seeks to drag it down to the Old World standard. The Democrats are for admitting the products of that cheap labor into this country practically free of duty. The inevitable result of such a policy, demonstrated many times in the past, is to close American factories, throw their employees out of work, establish bread lines to keep htem from starvation, and perhaps give them employment later only at wages near the European level.

ELIOT'S INDICTMENT

Many people place great faith in the opinions of Dr. Charles W. Eliot, President-Emeritus of Harvard University. His comments, therefore, on affairs in Europe are timely. They cannot fail to raise the question in the reader's mind how the United States can possibly be of practical assistance in bringing peace to Europe if the state of international morality there is at the low ebb described by Dr. Eliot. In the course of a recent letter to a friend the distinguished educator had this to say:

"Do not all the nations need desperately more peace and good will both externally and internally? How can such proceedings as those of France on the Ruhr, of Italy at Tripoli years ago, at Corfu and in the Aegean now, and next at Fiume, and of England and France recently at Constantinople and Lausanne breed anything but hate and longing for revenge, and therefore war? Such proceedings always have bred wars in the past. Must they not now and in the future? In the end it will be the peace-makers, not the warmakers, that make this world a better place to live in."

(S. E. NORTON, Manager)

Rev. Joseph B. Each, long heralded as the new pastor for the Congregational church, from Florida, arirved in Thorsby with his family and household goods Sunday night and Monday night in installments. They left their Florida home on Thanksgiving morning hoping to cover the 200 miles to Thorsby in one day. The caravan was comprised of ten people, a Ford car and two motor trucks, each with an experienced driver. Soon after starting they met with a big rain storm and troubles began and staid with them, the chief obstacle being bad roads. But they stuck to it day and night like veterans, and finally arrived safe and sound but exceedingly wearied. The first contingent arrived after dark Sunday night, and with the help of Mr. Jim Pate and his family were made comfortable for the night at the parsonage and given breakfast at the Pate home before any Congregational people knew of their arrival. Mrs. G. L. Foshee was also an early helper. Their kindly Christian attention to the wayfarers simply shows the Thorsby spirit of helpfulness when opportunity offers. Rev. Each is about half the size of Brother Davenport in statue, but how well he will measure up to his predecessor in service awaits development. Mrs. Each is a woman of very pleasing personality and experience as a Mrs. Pastor. Of the children there are two boys and four girls, Cecil 14, William 13, Alta 11, Juanita 8, Lucile 6 and Mary Marie 2, and in the language of Mrs. Wiggs of "The Cabbage Patch" they are as nice a mess of children as one could wish to see.

Miss Lena Franklin of the Thorsby Public School faculty has been appointed county secretary in charge of distribution of Red Cross Seal stamps to be sold by the public school children throughout the county. She is now sending out allotments of these stamps to all public school teachers in Chilton County. It is now a wel established fact that these seals are sold at the Christmas season each year as a means of securing funds for fighting Tuberculosis. The cause is a most worthy one and should receive hearty support by all citizens.

Rev. Charles L. Fiske of Cleveland, Ohio, District Congregational Secretary of Religious Education, is expected to visit Thorsby and speak next Sunday.

Mr. W. L. Leary has bought from George Freeman his grist mill and warehouse. Mr. Leary expects to begin operation there on Saturday of this week. He also contemplates adding a wood working plant in the near future.

Prof. C. M. Williams has moved with his family to his farm about a mile and a half below Thorsby on the Montgomery highway. Mr. Burnett and family who occupied the Williams place have moved up to the Hughes farm, formerly the home of J. L. Winslow.

The ladies of the Guild are much disappointed in being deprived of the use of the store room, vacated by "The Leader," in which to hold their Bazaar. But through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Foshee, they have secured space in the Foshee store. The sale will begin there strictly at 2 o'clock p.m., Saturday, Dec. 8th. Refreshments at 25c a plate, will be served from 3 to 8 p.m.

The Congregational Ladies' Aid Society will hold their monthly social at the home of Mrs. Martin Petersen, Thursday afternoon, Dec. 6th.

Miss Jewel Minor of Clanton, was a week-end visitor with Mrs. Wm. Billingsley.

The Misses Jennye and Edith Robinson, who are in college at Montevallo, were home for Thanksgiving holidays.

Mr. Willie Scott, who is working in Clanton, spent the week-end with homefolks in Thorsby.

The first number of Thorsby Institute Lyceum Course, was greeted by a good house in spite of the inclement weather. A quartette of young men furnished delightful vocal and instrumental music and readings. The next attraction will be a magician, always an interesting entertainment.

Next Thursday and Friday, Dec. 6th and 7th will be given the second term tests, among the students of Thorsby Institute.

Golden Rule Sunday was observed at the Dormitory and pretty generally among Thorsby families.

For the first time in many years the young people of Thorsby were kept by rain from visiting the Poor Farm Thanksgiving afternoon. At the Dormitory the time was spent with games and music.

Mr. Truman Pierce, a graduate of Thorsby Institute, now attending Birmingham-Southern College, was a guest at T. I. Dormitory over Thanksgiving.

Last Sunday afternoon and night the people of Thorsby were literally "fed up" with singing. At 3 o'clock "The United Singing Societies," organizations of young people at several places around Thorsby, met at the Baptist church. Mr. Gresham Lowery was leader of the meeting, and during the concert the following leaders of singing took part: E. L. Glasscock, Akin Collins, Jesse Jones, G. D. Retherford, Spurgeon Kelley, Vester Campbell. Organists: Misses Althea Parker, Jennie Collins and Emma Campbell. The Clanton Quartette also gave some good numbers.

At four o'clock there was a singing meet at the Lutheran church and at 7:30 p.m. the regular monthly praise service (singing) under the leadership of Miss Althea Parker, was held at the Congregational church.

Why Obey?

This is a question that comes before every one some time during life. Do you know why we should obey? If you do not know, you were not present at Christian Endeavor meeting at the Congregational church last Sunday evening. The leader, Miss Parker, gave a very interesting talk on the Life Obedience Psalm. After she had finished the society discussed the question, 'Should we obey and why? After the question had been properly discussed the meeting was turned over to the president and Miss Dora Lee Hunt and Miss Fellie Stephen were cordially received as members of the society.

The topic for next Sunday will be, "What makes a successful worker?" Come and give us your ideas about this subject.

MODERN WOODMEN GET TOGETHER MEETING

The Modern Woodmen of America will hold a special booster and get together meeting at the regular meeting place on Tuesday night, Dec. 11. All members and friends of the order are invited to come out and enjoy the eats and friends of the occasion. The purpose of the meeting is to stimulate interest and increase the membership of the local camp. Mr. C. S. Bishop is here in charge of the campaign for new members.

"Feeling Fine!"

"I was pale and thin, hardly able to go," says Mrs. Bessie Bearden, of Central, S. C. "I would suffer, when I stood on my feet, with bearing-down pains in my sides and the lower part of my body. I did not rest well and didn't want anything to eat. My color was bad and I felt miserable. A friend of mine told me of

CARDUI

and I then remembered my mother used to take it. . . After the first bottle I was better. I began to fleshen up and I regained my strength and good, healthy color. I am feeling fine. I took twelve bottles (of Cardui) and haven't had a bit of trouble since."

Thousands of other women have had similar experiences in the use of Cardui, which has brought relief where other medicines had failed.

If you suffer from female ailments, take Cardui. It is a woman's medicine. It may be just what you need.

POWER AND ROADS ARE RELATED

Electrified Farms to Follow Highways.

The proposed "Giant power system" of Pennsylvania and the "Superpower system" of the Atlantic seaboard, have an intimate relation with the highway development, which the proponents of such systems are now considering as of very great importance.

Hard roads offer a solution to this problem of the development of rural power lines which are to be underground, since such conduits naturally follow the hard roads for many reasons; the need of easy access for repairs and additions, and the growing necessity to light the highways being among the greatest. The engineering problem is now in process of solution in road and electrical laboratories.

The farmer is demanding electric power, and with reason, for statistics show that he can be supplied at a price which is wholly an economic possibility.

Governor Pinchot, in an article on the subject of the giant power survey for Pennsylvania, notes that "In Ontario, where the Canadians have expended more than $200,000,000 in utilizing Niagara's water power, the Government finds it possible to supply current to farms at rates which are making its introduction quite general throughout the province. This power is used for domestic purposes —cooking, cleaning, washing, and ironing—and for purely farm purposes, such as milking, churning, pumping and thrashing.

"There was a time not so long ago when the farmer's ideal was to own a homestead free of mortgage. He is no longer satisfied with that. He knows that the country can not prosper unless he prospers. He feels that he and his wife and children are entitled to as many of the advantages of modern life as the folks who live in the city. He wants to have his farm as fully equipped with labor-saving machinery as the best modern factory. He wants to be able to use his brains for something better than chores. He wants to share in the benefits of the electrical age. He and his wife want an electrically equipped farm. And nothing is more certain than that in the end he is going to have it."

The Value of Land Abstracts

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than going ahead and having a law suit a little later on.

Editor Union-Banner:

Please give us space in your valuable paper to write in the most commendable terms of our Hon. Probate Judge and Board of Commissioners, relative to the condition of our road.

We, the undersigned citizens of Maplesville, wish to take this means of expressing our keenest appreciation of the well constructed road that we now have leading from this place to Clanton. It is in excellent condition now and we believe that it will stand through the winter months with any ordinary traffic. We are proud of the fact that we can have free access to our county site and can drive there in less than an hour without fear of being stuck in the mud as the case has been in the past. We feel sure that we are voicing the sentiment of our entire community when we say that we heartily appreciate the interest our officers of the county have shown and the very efficient work done on the road by the men under the supervision of Mr. Will Deshazo and Mr. Popwell. Nervous? Run Down?

Read What Mrs. Sharpe Says:

Dozier, Ala.—"I cannot fully express my thanks for the good Dr. Pierce's medicines have done me. My whole nervous system was rundown. I felt like something would happen to me, I would tremble at times. Sometimes I had sick-headaches twice a week. I suffered from feninine trouble and irritation of the bladder, but I am thankful to say I have none of these symptoms since taking Dr. Pierce's medicines. I took a few bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription', one of the 'Golden Medical Discovery', two of the Anuric (kidney and backache) Tablets, and I can truthfully say I feel better than I have for many years, and weigh more." Mrs. Arrie Sharpe, Route 1.

What "Favorite Prescription" has done for others it should do for you. Get it today, in tablets or liquid, or send 10c for trial package, to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y.

ANGEL FOOD CAKE

Are you going to entertain soon, in honor of some guest, a birthday, or just have the neighbors in for dinner? And would you like to have something good—something mighty good that will bespeak for your good reputation as a good cook and hostess?

Everybody likes Angel Food Cake, because of its purity and wholesomeness. But some cooks don't like to bake it because they are afraid of failure, which means quite a loss because of all of the eggs, sugar, flour and other good ingredients that go into Angel Food Cake.

But you, madam, who have a supply of GILSTER'S BEST FLOUR in your bin, need not fear of failure with Angel Food or any other kind of cake or bakings, because GILSTER'S BEST, like the very Angel Food Cake itself is pure and wholesome—made of the purest and most wholesome parts of the choicest soft winter wheat. You absolutely know that you are going to bake a fine cake every time you decide to do so.

Don't bother about getting down the cook-book, just try this recipe. First, be sure you have a supply of GILSTER'S BEST FLOUR, or call your grocer and ask him to send over a sack right-a-way.

INGREDIENTS

Whites of 12 eggs, well beaten;
1 cup GILSTER'S BEST FLOUR, sifted at least four itmes;
1 1-2 cups fine granulated sugar;
1 level teaspoon cream of tartar;

DIRECTIONS

Add cream of tartar to eggs when about half beaten; sift sugar and flour together and add a little at a time to the eggs. Put in ungreased pan and bake in a very slow oven 45 minutes.

TARIFF ECONOMIC; IS NOT POLITICAL

The South is Awakening to Fact That Tariff is an Economic Question, and Not Political.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Dec. 10.—The South is swinging out of its lethargy regarding the tariff and is awakening to the fact that the tariff is an economic and not a political question, according to officials of the Southern Tariff Association, a non-partisan organization, which held its fourth annual congress here December 6 and 7.

The Congress, attended by Commissioners of Agriculture, representatives of farm unions, farm bureaus, state banking associations, and business men from many southern states, adopted resolutions designed to forward the campaign of Southern peanut growers in their fight against a reduction in the tariff on vegetable oils. It also declared in favor of an emergency tariff act to protect sesame oil, copra, and other vegetable oils and fats, hides, long staple cotton, broom corn, patna rice and other farm, ranch and mineral products which are on the free list under the Fordney-McCumber tariff law.

Any downward revision of tariff schedules on southern products was opposed and a resolution was adopted favoring the repeal of the flexible provision of the present tariff law.

Telegrams were sent to all Southern Congressmen urging them to actively oppose any reduction in rates on vegetable oils and animal fats and asking them to favor a tariff policy that maintains American standards of living and wages in all lines of productive industry.

The following individuals attended the Congress: J. J. Brown, Commissioner of Agriculture, Atlanta, Ga.; John H. Kirby, President Southern Tariff Association, Houston, Texas; J. A. Arnold, Vice-President and General Manager, Southern Tariff Association, Washington, D. C.; Jas. W. Morton, President Georgia Farmers' Bureau, Athens, Ga.; Robt. E. CAUGHT WITH STOLEN CAR

Deputies Culp and Foshee went out to Pletcher Sunday night and took into custody Mack Culp and a big seven-passenger Stephens car which Culp is said to have stolen three or four days previous in Orlando, Fla. The officers had reason to believe that Culp was at the home of his father, Enoch Culp, so they went there in search of him. It was in the night and the house was searched in vain for the alleged criminal. Foshee took his search light and began to look all around the place. He finally flashed his light under the house and spied Mack hunkered up under the house. He was given orders what to do, and forthwith came out from his cherished place of safety.

Both Culp and the car were brought to Clanton. Culp was placed in jail and the car is in the possession of Sheriff Littlejohn. The car and the young man will be held here until officers from Orlando come for them.

It is reported that Culp got married under a fictitious name only a few days ago. Such troubles as this to start off his married life are very unfortunate for thte young coupie.

I want to meet each of you before the year 1923 shall have passed into history. We have a number of things of vital importance to each of our members. It means dollars and cents as well as a lot of other good things to you to attend your county meeting next Saturday, Dec. 15. We expect to have the biggest and best meeting of the year at the Court House in Clanton. Mr. R. E. Bulloch editor of The United Farmer, Blytheville, Ark., and other good speakers, will be with us. MAIN FEATURES OF COOLIDGE SPEECH

Recommendations Made Before Opening of Congress in It's 68th Session This Week.

The following are the principal recommendations made in the president's message to the Sixty-Eighth Congress and touch on the most vital topics likely to be discussed during the present session:

Muscle Shoals—Property should be sold. Committee is wanted to consider offers.

Veterans—Bonus opposed. Government asked to continue rehabilitation work.

Tariff—Coolidge will lower or raise rates where he sees fit under terms of act, but frowns on changes in present law.

Coal—Congress requested to give president power to deal with coal strike emergencies. Coolidge does not favor United States ownership.

Prohibition—The president believes "free government has no greater menace than continual violation." Law should be made effective.

World Court—Administration favors Harding-Hughes world court protocol with refusal to adhere to League of Nations.

Agriculture—Coolidge believes the War Finance Corporation should be given liberal credit extension powers to aid surplus crop exportation.

Immigration—America must be kept American. Restrictive immigration measures favored.

Debts—The $7,000,000,000 still owing the U. S. by other powers gives America a "direct interest in Europe's economic recovery." Debt cancellation not favored.

Foreign Affairs—"We attend to our own affairs, conserve our own strength and protect the interest of our citizens; but we recognize thoroughly our obligation to help others, reserving to the decision of our own judgment the time, the place and the method." As to the League of Nations, the United States "sees no reason to limit its own freedom and independence of action by joining it."

Army and Navy—The president opposes reduction in the personnel of the Army and Navy, believing the "danger point" has been reached in reduction of armed forces, and declaring that a "people who neglect national defense are putting in jeopardy national honor."

Highways and Forests—The president pledged support of the government to plans for highway development and reforestation.

Mrs. W. M. Wyatt is still undergoing treatment in the Central Alabama Hospital in Clanton, but we are glad to report that she is steadily regaining her health and strength. It is hoped that she will be able to get up again in a few days.

HIGHWAY BOARD AT ROAD MEETING

Large Gathering of Citizens and Visitors From Other Counties Attended Road Meet Here.

The good roads meeting was held at the court house last Saturday in accordance with previous announcements of the same. The meeting was attended by representative citizens from practically every beat in Chilton County, also a delegation of citizens from Dallas county, including representatives of the Board of Revenue, Chambers of Commerce and other organizations interested in the furtherance of the cause of good and better roads.

Hon. John A. Rogers, Chairman of the State Highway Commission, and two other members, Hon. J. Hubert Scruggs, who is in charge of the construction of highways throughout the State, and Mr. Suttles, who is in charge of the maintenance of highways, were present at the meeting.

Mr. Rogers addressed the meeting and opened his speech by emphasizing the fact that the construction and maintenance of highways was not a political question, but a question of most vital importance to every man, woman and child in the State. He asserted most vigorously that the party or parties who injected politics into the road question to hinder or delay the matter, or to embarrass those in charge of the road building work was not a loyal citizen.

Mr. Rogers paid a nice tribute to Judge Reynolds, stating that he had always found the Judge, when it came to questions of interest to the people at large, above politics, and working for the common good. He further stated that he had been asociated with Judge Reynolds for twenty-five years or more, and although opposed in politics, they had generally worked side by side in matters for the common good of all the people.

Mr. Rogers gave a brief history of the progress of our roads in this county, and explained the new Federal aid project under which the State is now building highways. He is a very impressive and forceful speaker, and is probably the best informed man in Alabama on matters of roads.

He readily won the sentiment and good opinion of his hearers by his oratory and wisdom of expression.

Mr. Scruggs made a talk, confining his remarks mostly to a discussion of the highways through this county, and advised that the route now selected be not changed, otherwise the building of the road might be further delayed. He also advised the land owners along the route to be selected to give the right of way without resistance in court, as their objections would also tend to delay the project.

Mr. Scruggs also cleared the Commissioners Court of some unjust criticism which has been thrown upon that body for not securing the right of way. He showed that it was not the duty of the Commissioners Court to make any move whatever, nor could they make any move whatever, until the proposed route was filed in the court, showing the exact route, and the places where the road would cross the property of the several land owners.

It seemed to be the opinion of the members of the Highway Commission present here Saturday that the contract for Chilton County's part of the State Highway would be let soon.

Mr. Suttles spoke along the lines of maintenance of highways, recounting some interesting facts that come out of a recent southwide meeting held at New Orleans in reference to highway maintenance and road construction.

It seemed to be the opinion of the Highway Commissioners that the route of the highway would come by Clanton from the north, on the east side of the L. & N. Railroad, and will leave the B. & M. Highway below the city, and go by way of Prattville.

As to the local roads in this county, the Commissioners Court have made some changes and these were explained to the meeting; that is concerning the taxing of trucks and wagons engaged in hauling logs, timber, etc. Notice of these changes, explaining details of same have been published in the papers already.

A motion was made by Mr. F. A. Gulledge of Verbena that all vehicles be taxed, including farm wagons and buggies, etc. This motion was overwhelmingly defeated.

The Selma delegation also appeared before the Commissioners and the question of the road between Clanton and Selma was settled. This is a very important road for Clanton as it opens up a good territory in southwest Alabama.

Altogether the meeting was very harmonious and prospects very good. Extend thanks to Highway Commissioners for being here on that date.

SOME FINE TURNIPS

Mr. J. R. Short of Maplesville, R. 2, was in Clanton Tuesday displaying a couple of the biggest turnips ever seen here. They were of the purple top variety. One weighed 9 pounds and the other 6 and one-half pounds. We thought Mr. Short had brought them to give us, but he took them back with him. They sure would have made a fine dinner for a half-starved editor.

"Well! Strong!"

Mrs. Anna Clover, of R. F. D. 5, Winfield, Kans., says: "I began to suffer some months ago with womanly troubles, and I was afraid I was going to get in bed. Each month I suffered with my head, back and sides—a weak, aching, nervous feeling. I began to try medicines as I knew I was getting worse. I did not seem to find the right remedy until someone told me of

CARDUI

I used two bottles before I could see any great change, but after that it was remarkable how much better I got. I am now well and strong. I can recommend Cardui, for it certainly benefited me."

If you have been experimenting on yourself with all kinds of different remedies, better get back to good, old, reliable Cardui, the medicine for women, about which you have always heard, which has helped many thousands of others, and which should help you, too. Ask your neighbor about it; she has probably used it.

DEPARTMENTAL NEWS

Slain In Fight on Liquor

These prohibition enforcement agents have to brave death because they are obliged to wage warfare against murderous men who think no more of a human life than they do of a dog's.

Stewart died as much of a hero as any of the men who fell in battle, because it takes a good deal more courage to do the lonely work of law enforcement when you have been threatened with death than it does to go forward amid the cheers and excitement of battle.

It is the kind of "two o'clock in the morning courage" that Napoleon said so few men have, and which he proved by a well-known experiment made with the bravest of his marshals.

Let the prohibitionists make the death of George Stewart, in a cause which means much more than winning of a battle in war, an opportunity to show honest men who are risking their lives in this work that their valor is appreciated. — Editorial, Washington, (D. C.) Herald.

California Governor Urges Enforcement.

"The Constitution is the foundation of our Government and should have the support of every citizen. I urge every public official in California to lend his aid in enforcing the Constitution. Every effort should be exerted by peace officers and judicial officials of California to enforce the law."—Governor Friend W. Richardson, Calif.

Judge Promises Jail Sentences For All Liquor Manufacturers

Jail terms will be imposed hereafter in the Phoenix district of the Federal court on all violators of the prohibition law who plead guilty or are convicted of manufacturing liquor, United States District Judge Fred C. Jacobs announced in court. "There will be no more fines for these offenders," said the Judge.—News Item, Bisbee (Ariz.) Review.

The Growth of Public Sentiment

While the thousands crowded the Bowl for the Yale-Army contest, a youth stood erect from the crowd and tilted a bottle to his lips. Instead of envious glances that formerly occasioned such a move, there was a roar from the surrounding multitudes. The crowd denonced the bold move and cries of "put him out" were heard echoing over the field.

A policeman suddenly appeared on the scene and the drinker was ejected from the Bowl along with three companions. The crowd cheered the bluecoat and settled down with a satisfied air to witness the contest. Those who saw the affair are convinced that prohibition and the enforcement of law has at last found root in the people and it will be but a question of time when a more enduring growth will overshadow the curse of rum.—News Item, New Haven (Conn.) Union.

State Law Enforcement Drive

At the conclusion of the state-wide prohibition enforcement conference in Des Moines, the Iowa Conference pledged their state to complete harmony and co-operation with the federal authorities. Resolutions indorsing the Coolidge program and demanding for Iowa the strict enforcement of both federal and state prohibition law were drawn by a committee.

The plan thus drawn was adopted by unanimous vote of 200 state, county and city officials. The program as set forth in the resolutions calls for the revision of state laws drawn in such a way as to permit the presentation of technicalities in defiance of the real intent of the law. This section of the resolutions is addressed to the special session of the Iowa legislature, which will convene early next month for the purpose of revising the code. Simplified laws are asked in order that convictions may be secured with greater speed.—News Item, Christian Science Monitor.

Enforcement of the Laws

If all citizens or even a large majority of citizens, were law-abiding there would be little difficulty in the enforcement of the laws. What is needed just now apparently is a revival of law observance. There is too much inclination to do as we please and waste time in chasing motes in other people's eyes and forgetting all about the beam that may be in our own optics.—Editorial, Washington, (Pa.) Observer.

PART OF CHARTER

The novel requirement in Pennsylvania that a notary in taking the oath of office shall, after swearing to uphold the Constitution, additionally swear he will stand by 18th Amendment, is the first intimation yet received that the Amendment is to be regarded separate from the Constitution. Heretofore it has been the general belief that the constitutional amendments were a part and parcel of the Constitution, although the non-observance of the 14th Amendment in the South has done something to shake one's faith in that regard.

ALL LEADERS

A bemused parson of New York City who is still whining because we are not in the League of Nations, declarse that statesmanship in America is at the lowest ebb in the history of the Nation. "Can you," he asks, "point to one leader in the Senate tried and tested to whom his countrymen instinctively turn?" Obviously the question is answered by another: "Who sends them to the Senate?" The truth is, however, that allowing a few exceptions, and they are glaring we will admit, the Senate is made up of very able men, so able, in fact, that no one stands out conspiculously as a leader. Leaders spring up as mediocrity in a community or body becomes increasingly apparent. The Senate "leader" who attempted to "lead" us into the League was himself led out to the chopping block and beheaded by the voters of Nebraska. And the "leader" for whom he led today presents a sorry spectacle as a consequence of popular anathema and former lack of self-control.

ARMED ASSAULT ON OUR LAWS

The British Government is making inquiry regarding the seizure of rum runners outside the 3-mile limit, it being contended that prior to the ratification of the treaty extending that limit this Government must be bound by it. It is understood, however, that the seizures have not been based on the tentative treaty but on other laws of unquestioned validity. A typical case was that of the British ship Tomako, which brought a cargo of some 5,000 cases of whiskey from Nassau to New Jersey, sold most of it and was caught in the act of discharging the remainder within the 3-mile limit. When approached by a United States revenue cutter she rushed across the 3-mile line, stopped only when four shots had been fired at her, and threatened a boarding party with death. One of the most notorious smugglers in the country was found hiding in her hold.

Great Britain would engage in dubious business if she undertook to defend an armed assault upon the laws of a friendly nation. It is true that the treaty giving this country the right of search beyond the 3-mile limit is not yet in effect, but even so the United States will not stand idly by and permit such expeditions to proceed unchallenged.

WASHINGTON SHYLOCKS

Thanksgiving turkeys sold in Baltimore and nearby towns for from 30 to 35 cents a pound. In Washington the food ring held them up at 65 cents a pound. Thus a man desiring a 10-pound turkey could have bought a round trip Baltimore-Washington ticket, purchased his turkey in Baltimore and saved a dollar. The instance is cited to indicate the strangle hold purveyors have on Washington residents, the great majority of whom are employed by the Government. The Washington landlords have long since become a byword in the land for skinflintism and greed.

Washington is the center of a rich market section, but the city and District of Columbia are of limited area. It is somewhat difficult to retreat from the mercantile wolves for that reason, although outlying areas in Virginia and Maryland are being rapidly settled, and there is still plenty of room which might be availed of if some fair and reasonable method of home-building could be devised which would permit the clerks to own their homes. This would have the additional advantage of restoring the franchise to those who escaped from the clutches of avarice in the city.

As things now stand, any bonus or increased compensation awarded Federal office forces in the Capital City, is quickly and neatly absorbed by the butcher, the baker, the grocer and the landlord. It would almost simplify matters to pay the increase to them direct. Practically every law on the statute books grows out of adherence to the Golden Rule as amended by Josh Billings, viz: "Do others as they would do you, but do it fust."

UNDERWOOD REPUDIATES UNDERWOOD

Senator Underwood complains because of the failure, alleged by him, of the Republican Administration to extend the moral influence of the United States to Europe. He is out of touch with the facts and has forgotten matters of recent history with which he was personally connected. Mr. Underwood was appointed by the late President Harding as one of the American delegates to the Washington armaments conference, and participated in all its deliberations. His name is signed to no less than six treaties, each of which has had, and always will have, a marked effect toward removing the causes of war and stabilizing peace conditions not only in Europe but in all the rest of the world. The inspiration for that conference and for those treaties was wholly of American origin.

As a member of the United States Senate Mr. Underwood has had unusual facilities for keeping in touch with other instances where the United States has extended both its moral and material assistance to Europe. He has participated by his voice and vote on several of those occasions in making the action of this government effective. He helped ratify the debt pact with Great Britain which voluntarily surrendered hundreds of millions of dollars to the British and spread the period of debt repayment over 62 years, when the United States had a clear legal right to demand immediate repayment in full. There was material and moral aid combined, and a policy was thereby established for treating all other debtor nations with substantially similar leniency. Mr. Underwood is familiar with the Hughes plan for settlement of the reparations dispute. That it did not become effective was no fault of the Administration.

Every act of the Republican Government, concerning both domestic affairs and foreign relations, has stood as a guide toward peace, reconstruction, and honorable relations with neighbor nations for other countries to follow if they chose. Never before has such an example in national morality been set up for others to observe and do likewise.

Mr. Underwood should consider the facts and not let his ambition for the presidency blind him to the truth.

WHEN THE PLUCKED GOOSE SQUAWKS

Senator William Caball Bruce, of Maryland, is the latest Democratic leader to come out whole-heartedly in favor of Secretary Mellon's plan for a reduction in taxes, and in doing so he recalls the famous saying of the French minister, Colbert, that the art of public taxation consists in plucking the goose without making him squawk. "The surtax goose," says Senator Bruce, "is squawking to such an extent that the task of plucking is producing fewer and fewer feathers."

This Democratic statesman from Maryland does not beat about the bush. He has no patience with those who would drag partisanship into the issue. He commends "the enlightened and fearless spirit" in which the Secretary of the Treasury has dealt with the tax question. He has studied it carefully and is particularly impressed with the wisdom of scaling down the present normal income taxes from 4 to 3 per cent and from 8 to 6 per cent, respectively. Also he is pleased with the plan of making $10,000 instead of $6,000 the initial surtax peg and then reaching a maximum surtax of 25 per cent at the $100,000 peg by a graduated scale.

In a word, this clear-sighted senator realizes that the Secretary of the Treasury has conceived the most ideal arrangement possible under existing conditions. He sees that the slash in the normal tax rate will benefit the mass of the people. There is no manner of doubt about that. And he also sees the public advantage of stopping the squawking of the plucked surtax goose. There is no sentiment about this. It is a cold matter of business and finance. Everybody knows that millions of dollars once subject to surtax have been diverted from productive enterprise and reinvested in tax-exempt securities. If a reduction in surtaxes will bring many additional millions into the Treasury, it is manifestly the part of wisdom to reduce them.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Williams-Davis Wedding.

A beautiful home wedding was solemnized on last Wednesday at nine o'clock, when Miss Esther Davis became the bride of Mr. Robert Williams. Before the appointed hour Mrs. Barney Roberts rendered a couple of piano selections and Mrs. John Armstrong sang sweetly "I Love You Truly."

The living room was decorated in festoons of smilax and chrysanthemums, and an improvised altar was arranged with palms and ferns. Rev. Chas. C. Wilkerson, in his usual impresive manner, performed the ceremony in the presence of a few relatives and close friends.

Promptly at nine o'clock the couple entered together to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March. The bride was never lovelier than on this her wedding day, wearing a white canton crepe with Rhinestone trimmings, and carried an arm cluster of bride's roses showered with valley lilies.

Entertaining at a miscellaneous shower on Saturday afternoon at their home, Misses Louise and Madelyn Orr were joint hostesses as a special courtesy to Mrs. Oscar Jones.

UNION-BANNER HAS BIG PUBLICATION THIS WEEK.

The Union-Banner this week is getting out an exceptionally large edition, and we wish to call the attention of all of our readers to the advertising which we are carrying. The merchants of Clanton and Chilton County have purchased our space very liberally, and we ask our readers to take notice of every advertisement in the paper. Give these merchants all of the patronage you can.

These merchants are our own home folks, and they are asking their own home folks to patronize their stores. We believe that nearly everything that the trade calls for here can be supplied by our local merchants, and there is no use for anyone to go to the extra expense and trouble of going away to a distant city to trade.

Our merchants here are our friends and your friends, so let us patronize their stores. The Union-Banner urges its readers to trade with those business houses who care enough about you to invite you to come to their stores. Trade at home and thus keep your money at home.

In reading the advertisements as well as the other things in the paper we ask you to especially notice the picture service which we are carrying to illustrate our advertisements and special features. We have recently installed the necessary machinery for making all sorts of feature and advertising cuts from which pictures are printed in the paper. This service is rarely ever carried by a country newspaper, but belongs to the big city dailies. The Union Banner figured that this new advantage would be appreciated by the business men as well as the readers of the paper, so we added it to our plant for your convenience. Look over the pictures, advertisements and other features and see how you like them.

Uncle Ted's Bed-Time Stories

President Coolidge Speaks.

Uncle Ted had been away for some time. He had taken a long trip to the East, visiting several cities. He had been fortunate enough to be in Washington when President Coolidge made his first address to the Joint session of Congress. Being forced to return by way of New York, the kiddies were anxiously awaiting his return to hear all about his trip.

"Hurrah!" called Jack as he came into the house. "A messenger boy just brought this telegram."

"Read it," said Ruth who was too excited to say much.

" 'Will be with you tonight. Be good and I will tell you a story.'—That's Uncle Ted all right, Ruth," said Jack. "I knew he would be back soon. What's that noise? I believe it's Uncle Ted."

They both rushed to the door and, sure enough, up the walk came Uncle Ted. Seeing the telegram in Jack's hand he said: "Well, well, I almost beat my own wire, didn't I? How are you anyway? It's great to see you."

"We're fine, Uncle Ted, and mighty glad to see you, too."

"Well, I've had a great trip, and as soon as I wash up we'll have a story."

It wasn't long before the three chums were together and Uncle Ted began.

I'm going to jump right into telling you about my wonderful experience in hearing President Coolidge address Congress. He has been in office only a few months and yet he showed a remarkable grasp of affairs. The thing that should delight us most is what he had to say about the World Club. So far as the United States is concerned, according to Mr. Coolidge, the World Club is dead. He said:

" 'For us peace reigns everywhere. We desire to perpetuate it always by granting full justice to others and requiring of others full justice for ourselves. Our contry has one cardinal principle to maintain in its foreign policy. It is an American principle. It must be an American policy. We attend to our own affairs, conserve our own strength, and protect the interests of our own citizens; but we recognize thoroughly our obligation to help others, reserving to the decision of our own judgment the time, the place and the method.'

Further on, when speaking of foreign affairs he said that since the country had refused to adopt the World Club he could see no reason to change that policy because so far as we are concerned the whole matter is closed and dead.

"I was relieved to hear the President repeat what he has said before that he does not favor canceling the foreign debts. He simply takes the attitude that while we do not want to appear oppressive, still we must be firm in the thought that financial obligations between nations are likewise moral obligations which international faith and honor require should be discharged.

"Of great interest to the farmers is what he had to say about the agricultural situation. The President is not one of those who are deluded with the notion that every time any sort of industry has trouble, the Government can and should supply the remedy. He does not feel that the Government can relieve the wheat farmers by purchasing their surplus. That could not be done, of course, for if the government helps wheat farmers by buying their surplus, it must also help every other kind of producer by taking over his surplus and paying for it. Agriculture, for the most part, as the president said, is prosperous, but there are certain sections, such as Minnesota and North Dakota and further West, where actual distress exists. He does not feel that any governmental plan will aid the trouble. He feels that the best way is by simple and direct methods to be put into operation by the farmers themselves. As he said, speaking of the farmer: 'He must have organization. His customer is organized, business is organized, labor is organized, and there is no way for agriculture to meet this unless it, too, is organized. The acreage of wheat is too large. Unless we can meet the world market at a profit, we must stop raising for export.'

"And this is exactly what those who have studied the situation feel to be the correct solution."

"Did he say anything about the soldiers?" asked Jack.

"Yes, Jack, he did. He knows, as do all of us who have read and listened that a great deal has been accomplished for the men who fought for their country in the Great War. But he knows he is only human and he is open to constructive advice. He said that no more important duty falls on the government of the United States than the adequate care of its veterans and that if investigation reveals any present defects of administration or need of legislation, orders will be given for the immediate correction of administration, and recommendations for such legislation should be given highest preference.

"All in all, kiddies, we are mighty lucky to have a man at the head of our government who has so ably stepped into the office left vacant by the late President Harding. He knows what he is doing and he has the best interests of the country at heart. It was a great privilege to hear him and I simply wanted to give you some of the high spots of his address for you to think about. Now run along to bed."

Studebaker Special-Six Makes Fastest Time Man Ever Traveled Overland Between These Cities.

Breaking the record time of the famous Los Angeles Limited from Salt Lake City to Los Angeles by one hour and ten minutes, a stock 1924 Studebaker Special-Six, driven by D. A. Jenkins of Salt Lake City, has established a motor car performance mark that is causing wide-spread comment among motorists along the Pacific Coast.

This is the fastest that man has ever traveled overland between these two cities. It is one hour and fifty-eight minutes—almost two hours—faster than the best previous motor car record.

The Arrowhead Trail over which the record was made winds through many treacherous mountain passes and traverses hundreds of miles of desert roads. For this reason, and because no attempt was made to wait for ideal road and weather conditions, the feat is all the more impressive to those who are familiar with the route.

No Water Added to Radiator

Even more remarkable than the speed attained was the endurance displayed by the car. Despite the fact that its cooling system was naturally subjected to severe test over the mountain and desert roads, no water was added to the radiator during the entire run. The American Express Company sealed the filler cap at Salt Lake City and broke the seal at Los Angeles. When checked in at Los Angeles, the motor was running as smoothly and as quietly as it was when it left Salt Lake City.

The run, arranged by the T. W. Naylor Company, Studebaker dealers in Salt Lake City, was timed and authenticated by the Western Union.

The distance of 853 miles was covered by the Special-Six in 23 hours, 43 minutes. The best previous automobile record was 25 hours, 41 minutes and the time of the Los Angeles Limited is 24 hours, 50 minutes.

Other Studebaker Records

With the addition of this record, four official road records are now held by Studebaker in California. Considering the fact that the per capita ownership of automobiles in California is higher than in any other state, with the result that rivalry for automobile records is extremely keen, the accomplishments are all the more important. The three previous records have been held by the Studebaker Light-Six for nearly three years. They are:

Valley Route Record: Los Angeles to San Francisco; total distance, 411.1 miles. Official time, 9 hours, 15 minutes, 50 seconds.

Coast Route Record: Third and Townsend, San Francisco to Main Postoffice, Los Angeles, total distance 453.7 miles. Official itme, 10 hours, 12 minutes, 30 seconds.

Round trip record: San Francisco to Los Angeles and return, south by coast route, north by valley; total distance, 864.8 miles. Official time, 21 hours, 23 minutes.

VERBENA'S ANNUAL FIDDLIN' CONVENTION

The date has been set—Dec. 20, on Thursday—just five days before Christmas. That will make a kind of a big Christmas gift of a lot of fun to fiddlers and audience. And it is a fine time for fiddlin' too—just the right time of the year to make the merriest kind of music. And Verbena intends to have the best one of the whole list this year. Verbena is proud of the big successes that the previous conventions were, and she wanst to make this one a bigger, better, and livlier one.

Verbena make it so? Well, say, boys! It is you fiddlers that turn the trick, isn't it? You did it last year, and the year before, and we all had a good time of it too. And you can mighty be sure that everything will be settin' pretty on that Thursday night before Christmas, when all thru the house and the community there will be fiddlin'.

Whenever a feller has a lot of good fiddlin' up his sleeve, you can always count on it that he is a good feller. They are just that way. And the next best feller to him is the one who likes fiddlin'. Some folks say that these days are just as good as the old ones in every way, but when we get them out to the Fiddlin' Convention and they hear the shuffling strains of "Old Hen Cackle," "Arkansas Traveler," "Leather Breeches," "Happy Heine," "Old Dan Tucker," and a hundred others, including the horn pipes, reels, jigs, barn dances—well they just try to find out more of the old times, and wish that they could bring some of them back.

The old timers remember how of evenings they used to sit around the fire, if they were not off at a hop, and for hours listen to the plaintive appealing strains of the old sweet music that gripped their hearts, and they'd look longingly into the big fireplace with its glowing coals, and their thoughts—who knows where? Then suddenly the fiddler would go off into that stirring, rippling, galloping reel, of hornpipe, and the shuffling of feet would begin. Oh! for someone to call the numbers.

It is meet that we keep alive this distinctly American folk-type of music. It is not so common now as it once was. And the fiddlers who come out and give us the opportunity of hearing this music for the first time, or of renewing our hearts in the old time melodies, are conferring a great favor upon us. We are glad to have them. We appreciate their music—and them.

Well, in thinking of the music the business of the affair was kind of neglected for the moment. Prizes will be given again, liberal, big, and handsome prizes, as at the convention last year, for all varieties of string instrument music. Fiddles, banjos, mandolins, guitars—individual or in orchestra. Verbena will furnish the prizes, and the fiddlers will be the guests of Verbena.

Fiddlers, please write the Fiddling Committee, Verbena, Ala., that you will be there, and tell them about any other fiddlers you know.

ED DOTY WILL RUN DAILY IN HUNTSVILLE

We read with interest the announcement that Ed Doty has sold The LaFayette Sun to Will O., and C. L. Walton, and that he will go to Huntsville to run a morning daily newspaper. In future the Waltons will have complete charge of the LaFayette Sun, C. L. being the publisher and Will the Editor.

There are not any more likable fellows than the Walton boys. We got acquainted with Will as a fellow-member of the last legislature, and soon learned to love him very much—just as much, in fact, as is possible for a Republican to love a Democrat. We also met Will's brother, C. L. and he at once impressed us as a fine chap.

As for Ed Doty, he is the best known and most universally popular man in Alabama newspaper circles. He has had varied experiences in the State as editor and publisher of papers at Andalusia, Tuscaloosa, and LaFayette. He has made every one of his past efforts a success. Nothing less than that may be expected of him at Huntsville.

Our best wishes go with Doty to his new field, and we welcome the Walton boys into the family of Alabama Journalists.

TYPHOID FEVER SERUM

Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 10.—Increased interest is shown in the State Laboratory as a producer of anti-typhoid fever serum, in a statement recently issued by Dr. L. C. Havens, Director of that department. This statement contains the information that during the month of November enough serum was manufactured by the State Laboratory to immunize eighty thousand people against typhoid fever.

More and more the physicians of the State are turning to the State Laboratory for examinations of specimens to determine the presence of communicable diseases. The physicians are also using the anti-thyphoid fever vaccine in the concerted fight against this disease. The results of this fight are noted in the reduction of diseases from typhoid.

According to figures on file in the Bureau of Vital Statistics, there will be a reduction of approximately 100 deaths in Alabama this year in the number of deaths from this disease.

Railroads Are Operated For The Public Good

Railroads, necessarily, are run for the public good—their charters are granted by the public on this condition; and if they fail in the performance of this obligation, they forfeit their rights as common carriers.

While railroads must serve the public, they must also serve their many thousands of individual bondholders and stockholders. "The laborer is worthy of his hire" and if he does not get "his hire" he will not long continue to labor.

For many years, especially during the well-nigh disastrous period of Government control during and subsequent to the World War, the railroads of this country have been burdened and more or less handicapped by too many legislative restrictions and regulations; inspired, in the main, by self-seeking demagogues; but, to some extent, by well-meaning people who were uninformed as to railroad conditions.

Unless railroads are allowed to run their business under reasonable Governmental regulations, they cannot operate efficiently and economically.

Unwarranted legislative interference and regulation result in conditions from which the public suffers, as well as the railroads.

The L. & N. Railroad fully recognizes its obligations to the public and is honestly and arduously striving to meet these obligations. With the other great railroads of America, it is asking intelligent and fair-minded consideration and co-operation at the hands of the public; in order to be able to serve the public to the best advantage, protect its investors and maintain its own existence under its charter rights and privileges.

NOTICE OF STOCK HOLDERS MEETING

The annual meeting of the Stockholders of The Bank of Thorsby, of Thorsby, Ala., for the purpose of electing directors, and the transaction of any other business that may come before the meeting, will be at the office of said Bank on Tuesday, January 15th, 1924, at 9 o'clock, A. M. All stockholders are asked to be present.

C. R. FOSS,
Cashier.
1-15-24 ch

Many Thorsby people will be interested to know that the Thorsby Light Plant has been sold to Thorsby Warehouse and Gin Co., who expect to take it over about January first, move it to their property near the railroad, and run it with adequate steam power to permit a much wider scope of utility and many more hours of service both night and morning, besides being in a position to furnish light power if needed, and to considerably extend the field of light service.

A part of the equipment is a 55hp steam engine which has not been used since the plant was moved from the planing mill because there was no boiler to which it could be connected. The Warehouse people have an 85hp boiler which will furnish steam to run the engine to capacity, which is almost three times the actual power furnished by the Tractor engine now in use at the plant.

As the new owners are situated it is hoped that they will be able to run the business at a profit that will justify expansion, which is more than can be said for it up to the present time, but the people of Thorsby should not forget to be exceedingly grateful to the group of citizens who prevented this utility from going to the junk pile, even at some personal sacrifice, and have kept it going in a manner to secure its sale to people who are now in position to increase its capacity and usefulness. We should "Take off our hats" to these men, who in spite of discouragements have hung on "like a dog to a root" until they have promoted successfully something that will benefit the whole community.

Rev. John L. Whorton of Birmingham is expected to preach at the Baptist Church both morning and evening, Sunday, Dec. 16th.

Miss Mae Parnell arirved in Thorsby last Thursday from Washington, where she has been working for the past few months. She left for a few days visit to Birmingham, and will return here for the month of December, after which she will go back to Washington to take up her work.

Mrs. D. M. Paxson is enjoying a visit from her brother, Mr. William Neidhart of South Bend, Ind. Mr. Neidhart likes Thorsby so well that he is thinking of spending the entire winter here.

Mr. Sam Goddard left for Sylacauga last Friday. He is looking for a job.

The Ladies Guild wishes to publicly thank Mr. Foshee for the use of his store and the many favors he showed them while holding a bazaar there. Also all others who willingly and faithfully worked to make it a success.

The Baptist Ladies Aid will meet with Mrs. G. H. Harper on Thursday of this week. The ladies will offer surprise packages for sale there for 25 cents each, all worth 25 cents.

The Lutheran Aid Society will meet next week, Thursday, Dec. 20, with Mrs. J. O. Johnson.

The Christian Endeavor Society meeting last Sunday night was one of considerable interest to a full attendance. The leader was Mr. Cody Bell, and the subject "How to Make a Successful Worker." Mr. Orrville C. Mastin of Clanton led the singing. Both Mr. Mastin and his wife, who was with him, were once members of the Society. This was the first meeting of the Society at which Rev. Joseph B. Each was present. Both he and Rev. J. M. Graham made interesting talks, and several of the young people joined in the discussion of the subject. A notable feature of these meetings is the class in expert Christian Endeavor work, conducted by Mrs. E. W. Butler for fifteen minutes at each meeting. Special music was given by the faculty of Thorsby Institute.

Mrs. Wm. J. Billingsley has her mother from near Billingsley, Ala., as her guest for a week. Mrs. Billingsley also entertained Mrs. Andrew Miner of Clanton, at dinner Sunday.

The Helen Kellar Literary Society will meet at Bates Hall Saturday night, Dec. 15th. A Christmas program will be given, thus early on account of the Christmas vacation. An admission fee of 10 cents will be charged to non-members.

Miss Helen C. Jenkins entertained the Thorsby Institute Faculty Thursday evening, Dec. 11th.

The enrollment of students at the Thorsby Institute this year is now an even one hundred, and more likely to enter after Christmas.

Rev. Joseph B. Each, the new pastor at the Thorsby Congregational Church, was greeted both morning and evening last Sunday by large and attentive audiences, most of whom were convinced that he is a pleasing and forceful speaker, with a voice of good carrying quality. His sermons were not lengthy, but each of them gave as much food for thought as the average mind could well digest, without verbosity. In fact one lady was heard to remark: "His terminal facilities are good." Next Sunday in the morning at 11 o'clock he is expected to preach again at the regular morning service. There will be no preaching service after Christian Endeavor Meeting in the evening.

A meeting of the Thorsby Fruit and Truck Growers Association will be held at the public school building at Thorsby, on Saturday, Dec. 15th, 1923, for the purpose of considering crates and containers for marketing the produce in 1924. All members are urged to attend.

Mr. Frank Higgins, of Tallapoosa county, was at home with his family in Clanton Sunday. Mr. Higgins is engaged in clearing the Tallapoosa river basin above Cherokee Bluffs, being in charge of a crew of men for the Dixie Construction Co.

R. L. Clark of Mt. Creek was among the visitors to Clanton Saturday.

Boston Transcript.—If we practice the Golden Rule toward Europe, doing to her what we would have her do to us, we shall certainly let her alone.

BLEED THROUGH

On last Friday Mr. Terry, who has been sick for a long time, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Mount, of this place. Mr. Terry was a very old man, a Confederate veteran, and a devoted Christian, always at church services when his health would permit. He is survived by several children, his wife having died several mears ago. His remains were buried here at Rehoboth Church on last Saturday afternoon.

Again last week this community was saddened by the news of Mr. John Fancher's death, at his home at Montevallo. Mr. Fancher owned a farm here and was in this community very often looking after his business. He has quite a number of intimate friends here who regret to learn of his death, but we know that God always knows best.

Last Friday Mesrs. Eugene Thompson, W. P. Hicks, and Moodie Collins left here for Quincy, Florida where they will work for a while. They were accompanied by several of the people of Shoults Community.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Latham and little son, Edward, spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Lawley, near Randolph.

Mrs. Sam Shoults and son Charles, with her sister, Mrs. A. H. Seely of Massachusetts, and little son, Allan, Jr., boarded the train last Saturday for Autaugaville, where they will be several days with Mrs. Taylor, sister in law of Mrs. Shoults.

Mrs. J. H. Shoults of Shoults community spent last Friday night here with Mrs. Emma Maness, while here she will be looking after some business matters.

Mr. W. P. Collins moved into his beautiful new home last week. Mr. McKinney, who came here some time ago from Centerville, has rented the old home of Mr. Collins, and will be moved here soon.

Miss Mamie Hicks left last Sunday to visit relatives in Birmingham. We hope she doesn't stay very long, for we miss her very much; but we wish her a pleasant trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McGee are the proud parents of a fine baby boy, born last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie King and two little daughters, spent last Sunday with Mrs. Bettie McGee.

We are sorry to say that our W. M. U. here is about dead and buried. Hope this good work can be revived when the winter months are over. It takes work and prayer to accomplish any results, and this we have failed to do.

The B. Y. P. U. is doing good work, also the Parent-Teachers Association, which has only been organized a short time.

Mrs. W. P. Hicks has as her guest now her deaf and dumb aunt, from Shoults community, Mrs. Eliza Hall. Miss Hall is a graduate of the Talladega School for the Deaf, and a very intelligent lady, always doing any kind of fancy work, for which she gets a fancy price. We are always glad to have her visit this community.

Mr. Enoch Latham went to Tuscaloosa last week on business.

Mrs. Celia Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Fred McGee, attended the double funeral at Randolph last week of Mr. Allan MBahan and Mr. Dan Walker, who were both shot at Montevallo. These men are well known here, and the news of their tragic death was a sad shock to the community.

IN MEMORY OF BENJAMIN L. GLASSCOCK

On Dec. 4, 1923, the death angel called for the spirit of Benjamin L. Glasscock, and wafted it to that great beyond, after a protracted illness of more than two months, yet it came as a great shock to all.

He was born Jan. 12, 1863. He lived in Beat 12, where he had spent practically all his life, and reared a family, all of whom now have families of their own. Surviving him are his wife, two sons and one daughter, a number of grand children and a host of friends who sadly mourn his passing away. They had looked to him for counsel and advice for many years. He was ever ready to give good advice to the boys and to help anyone in need. To know him was to love him. He was a faithful husband a kind and loving father and a friend to all.

His motto in this world was: What you do, do right.

The funeral was conducted at the Union Grove Church Thursday afternoon by Rev. W. T. Davis, after which burial of the body was made in the Union Grove Cemetery.

He had been a member of Union Gove Church for many years.

Weep not dear ones, for our loss is heaven's gain. 'Tis sad indeed to part, but God knows best. The Lord giveth, and the Lord taketh away. Blessed be the name of the Lord. Let us put our trust in him and strive to meet our loved one in a better place.

—One Who Loved Him.

TELEPHONE MEETING IS HELD ON MONDAY

Important Business Transactions Are Effected—New Officers For Next Year Elected.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors and patrons of the Peoples Telephone Company at the court house in Clanton Monday several important business transactions were effected. The first thing to come before the body was the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

It was unanimously decided that the post-right fee and central service fee remain the same as it has been for the past year—post-right, $2.40 per line, and central service, $2.50 per phone. Everybody seemed to be well pleased with the amount of these fees. Mr. J. N. Dennis, the out-going Secretary-Treasurer reported that there is now in the treasury of the company some over $200.00. The complete report of the receipts and disbursements for the past year will be published soon.

An amendment to the by-laws was submitted by Mr. W. H. Kennedy to the effect that no one be allowed to pay central service until he presents an individual receipt that he has paid his post-right. The object of this amendment is to protect the first man on every line who pays his central service after first having paid all the post-right for his line. There have been several cases where men did this and other parties on the line never did pay their individual post-right to him. This is indeed a wise idea. As it now stands no man can pay his central service until he has first paid his post-right and got a receipt for it.

The question of getting an operator for the central for the coming year was disposed of. It was decided by the Board of Directors that one man contract for both operating the central and keeping up the switchboard and lines in Clanton. About five bids were put before the body, and it was decided to contract with Mr. G. W. Culp for the operating of the central and keeping up the switchboard and lines in Clanton. It was agreed that he be given $100 per month for this service, and that a written contract be drawn up between the Board of Directors and Mr. Culp, specifying exactly what each party in the contract was required to do. If the operator should fail to give satisfactory service it is required that ten days notice be given him before he vacates. As soon as the contract is drawn up, same will be published.

The Board of Directors say that the first thing they are going to do is to put the switchboard in good shape and then urge the people outside of Clanton to put their lines in shape. This being done properly, there will be nothing to prevent everybody from getting good service.

A very good spirit is manifest by the new officers and board, and we feel sure that they are going to give us some real telephone service during the next year. They are going at it in a business-like way, and that is what it takes. If the people in the country will fix up their lines to the corporate limits of Clanton, we feel sure that the board of directors will do the rest. Let's all co-operate in this matter and have a telephone system that we can get some service out of.

—Thomas Haynes Bayly.

Oh, happy Christmas day—we bid thee welcome. We've been counting the days—yea, the hours and minutes—to hear thy merry bells ring out that joyful message of old—"Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men." And—at last—we've heard it. We're content. Happy. Thankful.

In every home in the land—from the humble candle lighted shack up to the marble halls of the rich man's castle—there prevails a certain spirit of kindliness that only this festive occasion brings. It's that Christmas feeling of Good Will toward our fellow man. And that this is sincere is proven by the smiling countenances, the kindly words and the hearty hand-clasps which greet one on every side.

Yes, verily, all the world is looking on the brighter side of life and enjoying this "day of days."

Hence The Union-Banner desires to express its feelings as well. We most heartily and sincerely wish everybody in this great community

A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS

A PREMATURE CONTEST

One day last week, while Judge Reynolds was in Washington, Messrs. Tom Hand of Jemison, Prof. J. J. Pickens of Clanton and Hon. J. Fritz Thompson of Birmingham went into the probate's office and in the Judge's absence proceeded to tell the lady clerks in the office how crooked and low down Judge, in their estimation, was. They made their discourse so strong and abusive that the girls burst into tears and went out for assistance. They went to the Judge's son, Omar's office and asked him to come up to the probate's office, which Omar did. By that time Mr. J. L. Gore was present and quite a heated argument was indulged in for a few minutes. Omar and Mr. Gore talked rather straight to the intruders and let them understand that they were not going to take charge of affairs. So the above named gentlemen kindly cooled down and stopped their fussing.

So, after Judge Reynolds came back, Mr. Hand and Mr. G. C. Walker came into the Judge's office. Judge Reynolds began to ask Mr. Hand about the fuss he tried to raise while he was out of his office, and Mr. Walker left Mr. Hand and the Judge in the office alone. The argument between the two assumed a rather high temperature, Judge Reynolds slapped Mr. Hand down and got on top of him, by that time two or three more men were there and pulled the Judge off Mr. Hand.

Mr. Hand then left the court house and came back in a few minutes, accompanied by Prof. Pickens, Mr. G. C. Walker, G. D. Retherford, V. J. Heard and Mr. Tom Curry. Prof. Pickens came to the Judge assuring him that he was going to hold his temper, and made apologies for any aggression he had made against the Judge. Before the apology was accepted Judge Reynolds called all the above named men together and gave them to understand exactly how he felt about the attacks some of them had made against him out of his presence and made a very broad challenge to any of them who said that he had managed his affairs corruptly or had allowed anything to be carried on in his office that was not right and just to everybody. He also gave them to clearly understand that he was running the Probate's office and that he was not going to take orders from anyone until he was legally ruled out of office. No one took issue against him, and things went off without any further disturbance.

Mr. Hand asked the Judge if he would be permitted to come back into the office the next day and work on the contest, and the Judge forthwith granted him permission to come back any time he wished. He said that the records were public and anyone who wished to examine them had perfect access to them.

ALABAMA'S BIGGEST BRIDGE IS STARTED

Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 17.—Actual operations in the construction of the piers and approaches for the Reese's Ferry Bridge, on the Montgomery-Birmingham Highway, which when completed, will be the largest highway bridge structure in the state, began last week. Ground was broken early Tuesday morning of last week, and the work will proceed to its completion.

The Koss Construction Company, of Des Moines, contractors for the work, completed the placing of equipment Monday. The number of men employed will be relatively small at the beginning, but as the job proceeds, more will be employed, the maximum number of workers to be about 125 when the work is at its height.

Approaches and piers for the new bridge which when completed will be a little less than half a mile in length, are to be of solid concrete. The piers will be three in number, the central pier to support a pivot span for permitting the passage up and down the river of large vessels. The cost of the piers and approaches alone will be around $245,000.

It is estimated that it will take 300 working days to complete the substructure. Work on the superstructure, however, will necessarily be more rapid, the building of the three steel spans, it is expected, will not take longer than three months.

ALABAMA G. O. P. FAVORS COOLIDGE

So Declares State Organization Which Has Backing of Administration in Washington.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Oliver D. Street, who came to Washington for the meeting of the Republican national committee, at which it was decided to have the convention of that party assemble at Cleveland on June 10, will remain here several days longer.

The State Republican organization has obtained substantially everything they have asked for under the Harding and Coolidge administrations, and about all they have to consider in the patronage line for the state is the postmastership question.

Mr. Street talks as if the Alabama Republican organization with which he is affiliated is justified in claiming that it has the backing of the present administration in Washington, and which it also had under the Harding administration.

At this stage of the national political game he is not inclined to discuss the probable lineup of the Alabama delegates to the Cleveland convention. Republican politicians from states other than those in the South, in making up their forecasts, lean strongly to the opinion that Alabama delegates to that gathering will favor the nomination of President Coolidge, even though former Postmaster General Hitchcock, campaign manager for Senator Hiram Johnson, is recognized as a hustler in corralling delegates in the cotton growing states.

Among nominations sent to the Senate Saturday by the president are two Alabama postmasters—both recess appointments: Washington H. Carlisle, at Alexander City, and Samuel F. Rickman, at Ethelsville.

FRANCE RENEGES

At its next session the French parliament will consider the grant of a loan of 1,500,000,000 francs to the Little Entente and Hungary. There is no intimation that the repayment of any of the money borrowed by France from American taxpayers will be a subject for consideration. We have been infromed that repayment of that loan may be made when the German reparations bill is settled, but the lack of receipts from Germany appears not to interfere with French ability to distribute money among European countries strategically located.

GONE TO RIO GRANDE VALLEY

Last Saturday evening a party consisting of ten or twelve men from Clanton and vicinity left for a visit to the Rio Grande Valley on the southern border of Texas and the northern border of old Mexico. The party consisted of C. R. Mullins, E. H. Mims, W. A. Poole, Andrew Easterling, Walter Popwell, C. B. Cox, H. F. Downs and Dr. R. J. Eiland. The party will return to Clanton about Christmas day.

The purpose of this expedition was to look over the lands in the valley. It is reported that some of the finest land in the world is in this valley, and it is being sold out to people all over the country. Some of these men have already visited the country down there before and were very favorably impressed with the prospect.

WILSON—COX WEDDING

At the home of Uncle Dock Wells in Clanton Tuesday occured the marriage by Uncle Dock of Mr. A. Merritt Wilson to Miss Averee Cox. Mr. Wilson is the son of T. W. Wilson of Route 2, and Miss Cox was the charming daughter of Mrs. J. T. Cox of Route 4.

WELLS AGREES WITH SENATE

"Flimsy sentimentalities and mere gestures of peace," declares Mr. H. G. Wells, "are a danger rather than a security between countries with opposing interests. It is because of my sense of the necessity of rooting peace deeply that I criticize and demand a fundamental reconstruction of the League of Nations." That opinion coincides with the decision reached by the Senate when it rejected the league covenant. It was the judgment of Republican Senators that the league was an influence for war rather than peace, and experience has shown that where the league has exerted any influence at all it has been in that direction. Peace among nations is an ideal worth striving toward, but if the league is to aid in the struggle it must be rebuilt along entirely different lines.

ALA. CANDIDATE LAW IS IGNORED BY G. O. P.

National Executive Committee Rules No State Law Shall be Observed Which Hinders, Abridges Or Denies

The intention of the congressional friends of President Coolidge and Senator rival candidates for the republican presidential nomination, to enter them as candidates in Alabama before the people has blasted the presidential preference law passed by the Alabama State Leigslature for the benefit of Oscar Underwood.

In that official statement it is provided that "no state law shall be observed which hinders, abridges or denies to any citizen the right or privilege of being a candidate for the nomination for President or vice president; or which authorizes the election of a number of delegates or alternates to the national convention different from that fixed in this call."

The act of the legislature in recent session under which the forthcoming primary will be held is construed by the republican committee as denying any citizen save a citizen of Alabama the right to enter Alabama as a candidate for the office of President. Formally, the committee declares that law hinders, abridges or denies; informally, however, the committee declares that law unfair ridiculous and unconstitutional.

In ignoring the law of Alabama, the republicans will proceed along original plans and select their delegates in a convention.

PROBATE JUDEG CONTEST POSTPONED

At the request of Mr. Messer's attorneys, Judge Reynolds and his defense have agreed to postpone the election contest over the probate judgeship of Chilton county. The date for the hearing was set for the first Monday in January, and the date has been set back up to some future date not earlier than the latter part of January. The exact date for the trial to begin will be mutually agreed upon by the two parties involved.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Last week we published an item about Mr. J. R. Short showing us two fine turnips which he raised on his farm, but also stated that Mr. Short carried them back home with him. So, Mr. Scott seeing this mention was not exactly satisfied with the way it went off, so he brought us in two turnips about the size of the ones mentioned last week and gave them to us. Yes, we are very thankful to you, Mr. Scott. The turnips are certainly nice, and we think that these you left this time are much better than the ones you had here last week.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION WILL BE IN CLEVELAND JUNE 10

The Republican National Delegated Convention will be held in Cleveland, Ohio on June 10th, 1924, it was decided last week by the Republican Executive Cimmittee in session at Washington. At this convention all the states in the Union will have delegates who will select the candidate to head the Republican party for president in November of next year. The election of the delegates to the national convention will be held some time in March.

SHOULD HIGHWAY TRAFFIC HAVE FEDERAL SUPERVISION?

United States Chamber of Commerce Committee Says "Yes"

Motor transport should come under Federal supervision, like rail and water carriers. Highways should be developed in response to needs, so says a report submitted by a special committee to the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The personnel of the committee includes railway traffic officials, officers of farm and labor organizations, representatives of the motor industry, motor haulage companies, water carriers, and the shipping public.

The committee believes that—

"The best interests of the public and the carriers lie in co-operation between the various agencies of transportation.

"The greatest opportunity for co-operation is at the points where the capacity of the railroads is most limited; that is, in the terminal areas of our great cities.

"Store door delivery by motor truck is undoubtedly the greatest contribution which can be made to the solution of the terminal problem.

"Outside of the terminal areas, motor trucks and busses should be used to supplement the facilities of existing common carriers.

"It is to the public interest, as well as to the interest of the respective carriers, that the economic limitations of each type of carrier be recognized; that the railroads be permitted to discontinue unprofitable service, to which the motor is better suited, and that the motor abandon its efforts to handle general traffic over excessive distances."

HORSES BARRED FROM ASPHALT

Not so many years ago, "horseless carriages," as the first automobiles were called, were ordered off the streets of at least one Indiana city. Now the order has been rveersed, for in Terre Haute horse-drawn vehicles are prohibited from using certain streets in the down-town district. Exception is made, however, for horse-drawn delivery wagons.

Trucks or wagons can not use any asphalt-paved street in Terre Haute except from the nearest intersection to the destination.

"Feeling Fine!"

"I was pale and thin, hardly able to go," says Mrs. Bessie Bearden, of Central, S. C. "I would suffer, when I stood on my feet, with bearing-down pains in my sides and the lower part of my body. I did not rest well and didn't want anything to eat. My color was bad and I felt miserable. A friend of mine told me of

CARDUI

and I then remembered my mother used to take it. . . After the first bottle I was better. I began to fleshen up and I regained my strength and good, healthy color. I am feeling fine. I took twelve bottles (of Cardui) and haven't had a bit of trouble since."

Thousands of other women have had similar experiences in the use of Cardui, which has brought relief where other medicines had failed.

If you suffer from female ailments, take Cardui. It is a woman's medicine. It may be just what you need.

TUBERCULOSIS IS SPREAD BY INFECTION

Science has demonstrated that tuberculosis, in all forms, is spread by contact and infection and not by inheritance, as some of us once believed. We see tuberculosis develop in one member of a family, and then it spreads till perhaps every one of the family will have it and die with it. This shows that the disease is very easily passed from one person to another.

Here is a case known to many of us. A young woman, the main support of herself and mother, because of over-work, suffered her vitality to run low, and she developed tuberculosis. She did not believe her physician when he told her she had tuberculosis, and she kept at her work. Finally her strength failed and she went to bed. Her condition grew worse, and then it was that she realized that her end was drawing near. Kind friends visited her, and helped her mother attend her to the last. Very soon her mother went down with the same disease, then several of the girls who had worked with her, and had eaten from the same dishes, and who drank from the same common dipper, went down with tuberculosis. The mother died, and so did two of the girls, but one of them who had contracted this terrible disease gave thought to some pamphlets that had come to her from the tuberculosis association secretary, called "WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT TUBERCULOSIS." She was later instructed by some of her friends to seek still further information and this she did. Through funds raised in the sale of Tuberculosis Christmas Seals she was taught how to take care of herself, and today she is on the road to complete recovery. The Chilton County Tuberculosis Association, affiliated with forty-six other county associations in Alabama, is calling upon all the people to buy Christmas Seals now. Seventy-five cents out of every dollar will remain in the county for health work, and the county will receive, in terms of service, the remainder of the dollar, so that after all the entire sum raised in the county will be used here.

Representatives of the Chilton County Tuberculosis Association, and the teachers and school children all over the county have the little seals, and they want you and every one to buy them and use them on your Christmas packages and on your letters. The little printed seals are "drops of ink to make millions think." If you who read this have not bought your Christmas seals to help in this work, then get in touch with any of the teachers or, write direct to Miss Lena Franklin, Chairman, Thorsby, Alabama.

CARY ROBINSON SHOT

While the two were hunting in Coosa county last Thursday, Cary Robinson was accidentally shot by L. B. Adams with a .22 rifle. They were about nine miles up Hatchett Creek from the river, and it was Friday evening before they got home and treated the wound.

The ball entered Cary's knee and lodged just under the knee cap. Dr. Gragg was called just as soon as they reached a telephone, and he dressed the wound. The next morning Cary came to the hospital in Clanton and had an X-ray examination made and the bullet removed. The wound is not considered at all serious.

JUDGE REYNOLDS RETURNS FROM VISIT TO WASHINGTON

Judge L. H. Reynolds and son, Grady Reynolds, returned last Sunday morning from Washington, D. C. where they have been for the past week in attendance at the meeting of the National Republican Executive Committee.

The Judge reports that the committee had a very harmonious meeting, and that in his presence there he had the pleasure of meeting and talking with the leading men of the nation. The sentiment seems to have prevailed throughout the meeting of the committee that Mr. Coolidge will be nominated by the Republicans as their candidate for president, and that he has a splendid chance of being elected. Since the president delivered his masterful message to Congress the country is beginning to realize what a really great man he is.

Judge Renyolds says that he enjoyed his visit very much, and that he comes back to Chilton county a still stronger Republican than he was before.

THE UNION-BANNER 1924 YEAR BOOKS SOON READY

We have several times been asked the question, "Are you going to puba Year Book this time?" To this question we will answer, Yes. The book, which will contain 48 pages, is now being printed, and will be ready for distribution on or about January 1st.

You got one of the Year Books last year, so you know what to expect this time. It contains valuable information which people always need in their every-day life. Besides the weather forecasts you have all kinds of general information and business laws. It also contains numbers of interesting and educational jokes. This almanac is different from all the rest you will get in that it contains no patent medicine advertising. In all the common almanacs every other word is Black Draught or Nature's Remedy or something else. You will not find this in our Year Book. It contains a number of local advertisements from the merchants and business men of Clanton, who are endeavoring to put their business before the public. They are all nice, clean advs., which everyone will find pleasure in reading.

Don't forget that we have one here for you, so come around shortly after the New Year and get yours before someone else gets it. The supply is limited, so don't wait too long. And, too, we were about to forget to say that these books are free.

We just wonder what is going to happen down in Alabama's Gulf City next. U. S. Attorney Boyles of Mobile has been charged with bribery, but Hargett says that it is only a "Thorn in side of Mobile liquor men." We are constrained to say that Pastor Carter was right when he said that Mobile was the worst place in the world for bootleggers.

Another fatality occurred in Shelby county, which was a direct result of whiskey. This time a young man only 17 years, who died from the wound inflicted by a prohibition enforcement officer. We do not know how the thing happened, but we feel safe in saying that if whiskey and law violation had been eliminated from the boy's life he would not be dead today. Again we ask the question, why do parents let their boys grow up under such influences? The result is always tragic.

Some two thousand years ago Julius Ceasar made the statement that "Men believe what they want to believe." It is interesting to note how true this statement is even today. It is applicable more to present-day politics than to any other one thing. If a man wants to be a certain way politically, he continues to turn his thoughts in that direction until eventually he gets to honestly believing that it is right. Even though this statement was true when made as well as before and after, yet it should not be the case. Men ought to believe in and strive to accomplish the things that are right and not the things they want to be right. We have often heard men make the statement that a certain candidate would win by such and such majority. The fact of the matter was that he wanted that man to win by such majority and he didn't have much hope that he was going to win at all. Yes Julius was right all right.

President Coolidge's message before Congress last week was the most direct and straight-forward speech made by a recent chief executive. Coolidge has been criticised some for not talking and letting the world know how he feels, but he has got sense enough to know when to speak and when not to speak. His message before Congress shows that he knows his business all right. The beauty of it is that votes is not all that he is after either. He could have made a much more pleasing message if he had chosen to, but he prefered to express his opinion on the issues of the day and let the votes take care of themselves. We have just grounds to be thankful for having such a strong man at the head of our government and at the head of our great party.

BORAH STATES TRUTH

Senator Borah says that the American people are the most heavily taxed on the face of the earth. It is the object of the internationalists to convey just the opposite impression by reciting the comparative debts and the comparative debt charges of the United States and European countries. There is little doubt that the United States suffered a greater loss in wealth from the World War than any other of the principal allied countries. It is also true that this Nation is making a more determined effort to retrieve the losses of that period than any of its associates in the war. When depreciated currencies and other factors are considered, it is probable that Senator Borah has not exaggerated the facts.

CHECK UP ON OTHER SIDE

The situation at the New York immigration station the early part of November was a disgrace and a scandal, not reflecting on this country or its laws but upon other nations and the steamship companies. As an act of humanity hundreds of immigrants were taken off of the ships to Ellis Island pending determination as to their admissibility. Most of the yearly quotas from Europe were exhausted by the November flood, and immigration from those nations must completely cease for the rest of the year. The obvious remedy is inspection at the ports of embarkation. That and other improvements in our immigration law will be considered by Congress.

McCALL'S WARNING

A posthumous address of the late Samuel W. McCall, one time Republican Governor of Massacrusetts, contains this sentence: "You may see the hilltops of Italy studded with splendid ruins which add picturesqueness to the view but are worth nothing. They were once palaces, but the imposition of government grew so steadily that the produce of industry was not enough to pay the taxes and so industry was abandoned. We are seeing the same thing today in England, with the excessive tax rate upon income, supplemented by the inheritance tax. The process need not go very far before England will become like Italy, a country of splendid ruins." Chief Justice John Marshall, in a celebrated case, said: "The power to tax is the power to destroy." Have the radicals in Congress that idea in mind?

GARY ON CANCELATION

It was recently reported that Judge Gary, directing head of the U. S. Steel Corporation, had completely changed his mind on the question of our going into the League of Nations, being now utterly opposed to the idea. But there are still to be found a large number of die-hards who insist that we sign up. They are, almost without exception, the same ones who demand that we cancel the European debts to us. Scratch a cancelationist and you draw skim milk from a leagueonationist.

But Judge Gary has never suffered any illusions with respect to cancelation. He is recently quoted by the Associated Press as asserting that there is a "strenuous agitation going on at present in favor of canceling or reducing the debts of foreign countries to the United States. From the viewpoint of the United States the proposition would appear to be irrational and preposterous. There is reason to question the bona-fides or even the sanity of those who propose repudiation. The debtors should have an abundance of time to pay their obligations and a reasonable rate of interest, but that they should repudiate an honest debt is beyond the comprehension of Americans, to say the least."

Judge Gary has never been accused of any very permanent aberration. In fact, hard common sense has been his outstanding characteristic. It would be well if the majority of the obstinate ones give heed to his opinion and let up talking league drivel and cancelation bosh.

ANOTHER SENCIBLE PLAN FOR ORDERLY GOVERNMENT

It was a cold, crisp afternoon with the sun radiant and a sky of perfect blue. Not a cloud put a blemish on that azure curtain above. Jack and Ruth had returned from school, had a lunch and then back out of doors where they remained the entire afternoon. Jack was busy stacking cord wood and cleaning up some trash back of the house, and Ruth had busied herself sweeping all the walks and the front and back porches.

Now supper was over, and a big one it was, too. Everyone was quiet, except mother and Uncle Ted who were discussing the erection of a new garage. Uncle Ted was saying that a garage of their own would save some money in rents and make the car more convenient to the house when they wanted to take a ride.

I never could understand why we do things that way, said Uncle Ted. "The way we have spent money for rent and walked two blocks to get the car every time we wanted it reminds me of the way the Government has been paying rents and permitting the departments to be scattered all over the city of Washington, thus adding to the cost and difficulty of transacting business among them."

"I heard somebody say," said Jack, "that President Coolidge had a plan to fix all that."

"So he has," said Uncle Ted, " and I believe you would be interested in a story about it. In presenting the Budget for 1925 to Congress he had this to say, 'I also recommend the enactment of legislation which will authorize a reasonable progressive building program to meet the needs of the executive departments and establishments of the Government in the District of Columbia. All of the permanent and semipermanent buildings are more of less crowded, with an overflow which of necessity is housed in temporary buildings erected during the period of the late emergency. A program authorizing an expenditure of not exceeding $5,000,000 annually for a period of years would operate to gradually relieve the existing unfortunate situation and in the course of time give adequate accomodations to the departments and establishments.'

"In the Budget as presented by Mr. Coolidge almost half a milion dollars is asked for rent of many private buildings in Washington in which various bureaus now have their offices. A larger part of that sum would be saved if public buildings could be provided to accomodiate them all. but of course some of it would be represented by interest on the new investment.

"During the war the Government built a great many temporary office buildings to take care of the war workers. Most of them were made only of wood, plaster, and cheap wall board. They are fire traps, their foundations are rotting away, and they are very uncomfortable and inefficient. Moreover, many of them were built on the famous Mall and other public parks. They should be cleared away and the land restored to its original purpose.

"While the saving in rent would be considerable, the real object of President Coolidge is to supplant those crowded temporary structures with permanent buildings that will be a credit to the National Capital and permit economy in the transaction of the public business. The item for beginning their construction is not included in the Budget for the eason that it must first be authorized by law. You know everything that goes into the Budget must first have a law of Congress to back it up. So Mr. Coolidge has only asked Congress for authority to make the expenditure. If the authority is granted then he will ask for an actual appropriation.

"The President's recommendation is another step in getting away from war conditions and back to an orderly development of the Government establishment. Some day all trace of the war will be removed from Washington, the flimsy office buildings of that period will be torn down, and in their place will rise towers as durable and beautiful as those built in the years before the great emergency. Then the people from all over the country can visit their National Capital and inspect the offices of the Government with a proper feeling of pride."

A CHANGING WORLD

"We are living in a changing world. I never thought I could ever be cured of my stomach trouble. help me. But thank God we are progressing and now Mayr's Wonderful Remedy has delivered me from all stomach symptoms. I am again able to eat anything." It is a simple harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflamation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. SHELBY YOUTH IS SHOT BY OFFICER

William Ralph Guins, 17-year old son of W. M. Guins, Shelby county farmer, early Sunday morning lay in what was thought to be a dying condition at the Fraternal Hospital, the victim of a gun in the hands of a state law enforcement officer, who, assisted by a party of deputies, Saturday afternoon, destroyed a 60-gallon copper still, said to have been operated by young Guins and Willie Cardin, a neighbor, according to accounts furnished by officers.

Although he refused to give any reason for the shooting, other than that it was a regular moonshine affair, Officer W. H. Gillespie stated Satuday night that when found, the still was in full operation, and that Guins and Cardin were working nearby.

Whether the two refused to surrender, or made any attempt to prevent the officers frim destroying the still was unknown late Saturday night, as upon arrival at the Columbiana jail, Guins was in an unconscious condition, and Cardin refused to make any statement, saying that the affair would be settled when the former recovered.

Although small, officers stated that the still was one of the most up-to-date ever captured in Shiby county. It was located in a densely wooded section about two miles from the Guins' home, and about one mile from a road.

Shortly after his arrival at Columbiana, Cardin made bond and returned home, while Guins was held until the arrival of the train, on which he was removed to Birmingham. Guins was accompanied to Birmingham by his father and a brother of young Cardin, who stated they were under the impression that the two young men had gone into the woods for a stroll when the shooting occurred.

It was after the officers had placed the young men in a car and were en route to jail that they passed Guins' home and motioned for the father to follow. Knowing that something unusual had occurred, he obeyed, but was unaware of the fact that his son was shot until he was near Colmbiana.

Young Guins was short through the jaw, the bullet coming out just below his ear. Hospital attendants stated early Sunday morning that little hope was held out for his recovery. He had not recovered sufficiently to make a statement.

William Richard Guin, 17-year old Shelby county youth, died at 8:30 o'clock Sunday night at the Fraternal hospital from a gunshot wound thru the head, which, according to his father, W. M. Guin, was inflicted by state law enforcement officers as the boy was running through a wooded stretch about six miles from Shelby, Ala., early Saturday afternoon.

The bullet, according to X-ray pictures, entered the left cheek, shattered the back of the jawbone and entered the back of the skull. Some hope was expressed for him early Sunday morning and his father returned home to comfort the other members of the family. The turn for the worse came late Sunday afternoon.

The remains were placed with Johns Undertaking company pending the arrival of relatives in Birmingham from Shelby.

THE WRONG FELLOW

Mr. Enoch Culp of Mt. Nebo was in Clanton Monday and informed The Union-Banner that he was not the father of Mack Culp who was arrested last week for stealing an automobile in Orlando, Fla. The Banner reported that Mack was the son of Enoch Culp when it should have been the son of Emmett Culp. This was either a mistake of The Banner or the officer who reported the story, but we make the apology cheerfully anyway.

MISS PORTER LEWIS AND DR. D. B. STRICKLER WED

(From Selma-Times Journal)

A wedding of great interest to many friends was that on Saturday, December 15, at high noon of Miss Porter Lewis and Dr. Don B. Strickler of this city. The ceremony was performed by Dr. E. G. Gammon of the Board Street Presbyterian church in his study, the only witnesses being Miss Frances Allen and Miss May Johnson, close friends of the bride, and Mr. R. I. McClure, intimate friend of the groom. The bride was becomingly gowned in dark blue traveling suit with which she wore a gray hat and other accessories. Immediately after the ceremony Dr. and Mrs. Strickler left by automobile for Stanton, whence they took the Birmingham train for St. Louis, Chicago and Quincy and Medor, Illinois. In the last two places they will visit Dr. Strickler's family. The prominence of the couple makes their wedding of decided interest. Mrs. Strickland is a graduate of the nursing school Bryce Hosptial in Tuscaloosa, and came to Selma to do private nursing after her graduation. She was made superintendent of nurses of the Union Street Hosptial after two years of private work in the community, and subsequently became office nurse for Dr. J. N. Furniss. Standing high in her chosen profession and winning many personal friends, the annoucement that she will cotinue her position with Dr. Furniss upon her return from her wedding trip is received with decided favor by the large clientele with which she is in daily contact. Dr. Strickler is a graduate of the Veterinary Department of the Medical School of the University of Chicago and is connected with the Government Bureau of Animal Industry, with headquarters in Selma and with seven counties in this part of the state under his supervision. Upon their return Dr. and Mrs. Strickler will have an apartment with Mrs. Paul Stewart on Selma Avenue.

Mr. J. M. Grant returned Monday night from a two week's trip to see his brother, John M. Grant, in Maben, Miss. Mr. Grant reports that he had a very enjoyable trip. He promised to write us a sketch of it later for publication.

Mr. Joe Bowles of Bethsalem was in Clanton Wednesday.

WILSON DAM NEGRO FALLS 110 FEET ON HIS HEAD AND LIVES

Florence, Ala., Dec. 17.—David Price, a young negro employed at Wilson Dam, fell 110 feet from the top of the bluff on the south side of the river last Saturday striking on his head on solid rock and still lives to tell the tale, but is said by physicians to have a fractured skull as a result of his experience.

Accounts of the accident from eye witnesses say that Price was one of a gang engaged in excavating dirt and rock on the bluff in preparation for the joining up of the power house section to the bluff on the south side. A gang of men working just above him loosened a large rock which rolled down on him knocking him off into space.

Price fell a perpendicular distance of more than 100 feet, striking on solid rock squarely on his head. One of the men who was present when he was picked up says that he did not lose consciousness as a result of the fall and that he talked rationally as he was being carried to an emergency first aid station.

Reports from the hospital this morning say that he is resting well and that there is no reason for believing that he will die as a result of his injuries.

The rich, permanent luster of its finish, the quiet good taste of its upholstery, and the ornamental treatment of its full-nickeled hardware, all help to make it a car you are proud to drive.

POOR ORIGINAL

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager)

We noticed recently a statement in one of our city papers, a statement from a man in government employ, to the effect htat the time is not far distant, when central Alabama will be producing pecans at a rate that will make it compare favorably as a money producing stction, with the black belt for cotton, and south Alabama for Satsuma Oranges. There is in Thorsby today an example of how this might become true if more men had "Backbone instead of a Wishbone." Most people are in a hurry to reap the fruits of their toil and the idea of waiting from ten to fifteen years to get a paying crop makes it unattractive to them.

About fifteen years ago Mr. Gust Berlin, planted on a farm he then owned in Thorsby, several pecan trees of best paper shell varities, later he added more until his total orchard numbered about 75 trees, covering in the neighborhood of five acres, of the 20 he owned. A few years ago he sold his farm to a Mr. Grise at an advanced price, because of his Pecan grove, which at that time had begun to show something of its possibilities.

This year Mr. Grise has sold 800 pounds of pecans, at wholesale for 75 cents per pound, and still had left 400 pounds more which he feared to contract for, before he gathered his crop. These at the same price would be $300 more. $900 is 10 per cent on $9000, and but few of his trees are yet in full bearing. Two of them yielded 100 pounds each, which is but a normal yield for a full grown tree.

The original investment, aside from the land which for several years continued to be cropped, could not have been more than three to five hundred dollars. Counting the investment at compound interest on a 10 per cent basis the balance, what the project would show, would make cotton growing compared with it look exceedingly unprofitable on our red hills.

The writer has one lone pecan tree in his back yard. In 1922 when six years old the yield was seven nuts in 1923 it bore 56 nuts an increase over the previous year of 700 per cent and still a baby tree. We hope to be able to eat nuts and save all meat bills.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Robinson left on Tuesday for Texas and other points of interest. They expect to be gone about two weeks.

Mr. B. F. Dykes, who is a student at Howard college this year, is at home for the Xmas holidays.

If one could visit the workshop of Mr. D. M. Paxson these days they would think Santa Claus had his headquarters there. Mr. Paxson although advanced in years is still active and expert in the use of tools and makes many unique and useful articles.

Mrs. Magne Anderson has gone to Boyles, Ala. to spend the holidays with her daughter, Mrs. Ivey Horn. Mr. Anderson will go later.

Enie Hanson who for more than two years has been employed by The Alabama Power Company at Mitchell Dam, will take a much needed vacation for a few weeks during and after the holidays.

Miss Nora James of T. I. faculty will go to her home in north Georgia, for the Christmas holidays.

Miss Nell Shannon will visit her home and have as her guest Miss Alhtea Parker, both are T. I. Teachers.

Mrs. Ethel Loveland will spend most of her vacation in Birmingham.

Miss Helen C. Jenkins and Miss Lois Leech will visit in Montgomery and other south Alabama places during vacation days.

The Lotheran Ladies Aid Social will be held at the home of Mrs. J. O. Johnson on Thursday afternoon Dec. 20th.

AND THEY TRIED TO BETRAY IT

It was rather amusing to read and hear during the week of the Monroe Doctrine Centennial the Democratic eulogies of that great doctrine. Many of these eulogies were given out by the very gentlemen who were so earnestly endeavoring a few short years ago to have the United States sign away its sovereignty and join the League of Nations—the one which was mainly Mr. Wilson's handiwork, and which he brought home for acceptance, contained no mention whatever of the Monroe Doctrine. In fact, had we accepted that covenant the doctrine would have ceased to exist by tacit consent. There was a howl went up about that, and in the second draft the European representatives, it is understood without the co-operation of Mr. Wilson, but in order to conciliate us, wrote Article 21 which attempted to define the Monroe Doctrine as a "regional understanding." The Democrats in the Senate stood for that. If they should get into control again they would repudiate the Monroe Doctrine just as easily as they repudiated practically every principle of their patron saint, the Sage of Monticello, Thomas Jefferson. Indeed, a gentleman prominent in the court circles of the Wilson reign, just returned from Europe, expressed it as his conviction that a Democratic victory in 1922 would be followed by our entry into the League of Nations within the ensuing four years, regardless of what was expressed in the platform on the subject.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE ENDORSES C. M. T. C. ANNUALS

The Annuals prepared by the Military Training Camps Association for graduates of this year's Citizens' Military Training Camps are all in the mails, and on their way to their owners.

Three of these books were prepared for the men attending camp at Camp McClellan, Alabama, Fort Bragg, North Carolina, and Fort Barrancas, Florida, during the month of August. They are printed on the best grade of glossy book paper and illustrated by very good pictures taken at camp. The bindings are of blue board, lettered in gold. The foreword is by President Coolidge, while the dedication is to President Harding, whose warm support of the C. M. T. C. helped it through its first two years.

An interesting feature of these Annuals is that they are written and illustrated by the students at the government camps, themselves. Every man who went to camp has his picture in one or more places, as well as the pictures of his buddies during the month's camp.

In order that citizens everywhere may have opportunity to see for themselves what the government is doing with their sons at summer camps, it is announced that Major General David C. Shanks, Commanding Officer, Fourth Corps Area, has made arrangements to place copies of these Annuals in the hands of all governors of the eight southeastern states, and also to place copies in the hands of all federal and state legislators from Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Tennessee. Copies will be furnished representatives of the Military Training Camps Association for distribution to prominent organizations who may desire information regarding the camps.

TO PATRONS AND TEACHERS OF THE COUNTY

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space to say to the patrons and teachers of the county that we cannot guard all the box suppers. We have had as many as four invitations to different school houses the same night. It is the duty of the trustees to look after their schools and when they need us call and we will assist them. If a community can't have a box supper without officers to guard they had better cut out box suppers.

Yours truly,
T. J. LITTLEJOHN, Sheriff.

Los Angeles, Calif., Dec. 11.—Capt. Richmond P. Hobson, president of the Spanish-American War Veterans and crusader for prohibition, with his brother, Maj. J. M. Hobson, are missing in the mountains back of Tu Junga Canyon. The brothers entered the hills Monday night in search of Captain Hobson's son and a neighbor's boy, who at that time had failed to return from a hike. The boys came home safely later.

COOLIDGE TO WIN EASILY, IS CLAIM

Supporters Declare Fight For His Nomination Will Be Triumphal Parade.

(By Robert T. Small, in The Birmingham News).

Washington, Dec. 17.—The men behind the Coolidge campaign Saturday declared that their fight for his nomination at Cleveland next June soon would become nothing more than a triumphal parade. Events of the week here in Washington have demonstrated the complete dominance of the president over the machinery of the Republican party and few political observers see how any other aspirant for the party's highest honors can possibly break through sufficiently to upset the Coolidge plans.

This does not mean that Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, is lacking in friends and supporters here. These very friends realize, however, the herculean task that lies before the progressive candidate of the Pacific slope. Senator Johnson is a man of indomitable courage and professes to be not the least discouraged by the evidence of Coolidge's popularity in the national committee. He has realized all along that he would have to fight the "organization" in order to win and so he was neither startled nor perturbed by the turn of events at the national committee sessions.

With virtually all of the machinery against him, and with the inevitable spirit of "stand by the president" welling up in the Republican ranks, it is easy to see that Senator Johnson will have to be more vigorous than he has ever been before to turn the tide of battle in his favor. He will have to be more virile and more bitter in his attack and almost single-handed will have to struggle to tear down his party's confidence in the man who stepped to the helm of the ship of state when President Harding was permitted to lay down the heavy tasks which fate and fortune had thrust upon him.

Coolidge Has Advantage

A president seeking nomination for a second term has a prodigous advantage over all outsiders. Even so beloved a character as the late Col. Roosevelt could not upset the renomination of President Taft in 1912. The colonel could only organize a third party in which he was sure to receive the nomination. Senator Johnson was Colonel Roosevelt's right-hand partner in that enterprise. Whether his story will repeat itself remains in the lap of the gods.

Senator Johnson and several other potential candidates had been encouraged in their 1924 aspirations by the belief that President Harding would decline to run for a second term. This would have thrown the race wide open and that would have been much to the liking of the gentleman from California. In a free field he is a splendid runner.

At a time when his ambition mantled highest, Calvin Coolidge, then the vice-president, apparently was far from the minds of any of the Republican leaders as a possible successor to Mr. Harding. There had been no president of the United States from New England in 70 years, and the wise men of the G. O. P. had no inclination to break established precedent and look to the conservative zone of the far Northeast at a time when progressive sentiment once more was rising in the middle country and the far West.

Fate played its prank upon the wise men, however, and those among the national committeemen who have grinned at the "silent man," of Massachusetts six months ago, were loudest in their declarations at this week's meetings that it would be nothing short of a national disaster to think of anyone but Calvin Coolidge for president during the next four years.

Johnson to Fight

Of course, Senator Johnson and his backers do not look at it in exactly that light. They are going to try to convince the country that only a strong man from the open spaces can meet and cope with the country's problems in the important four years to come; that only a strong man like Senator Johnson can keep the gaunt hand of Europe from America's much coveted throat.

Meanwhile, virtually all talk of other entries in the G. O. P. handicap has ceased. Senator Johnson is not discouraged by the running start given to Mr. Coolidge, but evidently some of the others are very much downcast. Governor Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, another of the Roosevelt lieutenants in the great walkout of 1912, still is struggling with the anthracite coal situation and what was expected to be a spectacular bid for the presidency has turned out to be very much of a burden. The friends of President Coolidge still say he was very wise in permitting the Pennsylvania governor to conduct in person the anthracite negotiations.

The Coolidge machine is working with apparent smoothness in all its details. William M. Butler, of Massachusetts, the head of the campaign, is comparatively unknown to national politics. He is a cautious man like his chief, however, and likely to make few mistakes. That is, all the Coolidge train needs, a steady hand and few mistakes. Senator Johnson's hopes are based on the theory that things will go otherwise. Mr. Butler will not be lacking in principal political advice. C. Bascom Slemp, secretary to the president is likely to be, after all, the political brains behind all the Coolidge moves. His appointment as secretary was a big surprise to Washington, which thought that following the example set by President Harding; Mr. Coolidge would elevate his personal secretary to the post. Mr. Coolidge was more farsighted that some of his advisory friends, and the result has been the Coolidge-for-president movement has been in capable and busy hands ever since Bascom Slemp took the oath of office.

WRILEY GROVE DOTS

Oh, folks, aren't we having some rough weather? How we do wish to see the sun again.

There was a party at Mrs. Harvey Grover's home a short while ago and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves very much. There was also a nice cake for the prettiest girl, and Misses Eva Klinner and Era Klinner were put up for prettiest girls, and of course Miss "Eva" Klinner was the receiver of it.

Mr. L. B. Broadhead of this place has purchased himself a new Overland. Guess they can ride some now as he has two cars.

Messrs. Sam and Jesse Christian of Maplesville spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Christian.

Our Sunday School is progressing nicely, except we would be glad to have more people attend.

RESULTS OF READING TESTS IN THE COUNTY

Two weeks ago Miss Clara Pitts of the department of Education, Montgomery, Alabama, spent several days in our county giving reading tests to the 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th grade pupils in one-fifth of the schools of this county. I feel that the results of these tests should be known by the people of the county since Miss Pitts did not know any pupils of the county and her tests therefore were given with impartiality.

The schools were selected in such a manner as not to give preference to the better ones, that is, she had me make an alphabetical list of all the schools according to the number of teachers employed, then she took every fifth school from these groups. The one-teacher schools were Adams, Chestnut Grove, Culp, Free Springs, Lock Twelve, Mullins, Popwell; the two-teacher schools selected were Freeman, Mt. Pleasant, Providence, Vermont; the three and four-teacher schools selected were Concord, a three-teacher school, and Collins Chapel, a four-teacher school. The consolidated schools were Jemison and Stanton.

The score of each individual pupil tested in these schools was averaged to get the score for the school and the score for each school was as follows:

Free Springs, 72% of expected score.
Stanton, 62% of expected score.
Mt. Pleasant, 62% of expected score.
Freeman, 59% of expected score.
Vermont, 58% of expected score.
Collins Chapel, 56% of expected score.
Culp, 55% of expected score.
Popwell, 44% of expecte dscore.
Adams, 40% of expected score.

The median score of the county at large was 59% while the median score for consolidated schools was 67.5%, for three and four-teacher schools 62%, for two-teacher schools 58%, and one-teacher schools 49.5%.

Now, as to the significance of these figures. Jemison, which is one of our best consolidated schools heads the list with the highest score, 74%, and Adams, a small one-teacher school is at the other extreme with a score of 40%. It seems to me that that in itself is sufficient proof of the advantages received by the child in the large consolidated schools. There are two exceptions in this list which should be noticed; first, that Free Springs, a small one-teacher school in the northwest part of the county made the 2nd highest score, even higher than some of the large schools but this school also has the distinction of furnishing the pupil that made the highest grade on the County 7th grade examination by any pupil from a one-teacher school; therefore, they have either had splendid teachers in the past or the pupils of that community are exceptionally bright. Lock 12, another small one-teacher school, stood third on the list, but this school, since it was first started several years ago, has had a nine months term every year, has one of the best teachers in the county and is the best equipped one-teacher school in the county, so it should rank higher than those schools which have sort terms and poor equipment.

The results of these tests are no reflection on the present teachers since they had not been there long enough when the tests were made to teach the children all that they sould know for their age and grade and neither does it show so much the failure of former teachers to do their work properly, but it does show that with the crowded course of study the one and two-teacher schools of the county are not giving the boys and girls the advantages that they deserve. If better teachers could be furnished such schools, then the results would doubtless show up better than they do.

Miss Pitts will visit our county again in the spring and give other tests to some of these same schools and to other schools of the county, and I want to ask the teachers to especially stress the work in reading for the remainder of this term so that when the tests are made in the spring, no school may fall below 50% and that some may go above 75% of the expected score.

I want to ask the trustees and patrons to co-operate with me and the Board in seeing that the schools of the county do more efficient work this year than they have been doing in the past.

Respectfully,
HOWARD L. FOSHEE,
Co. Supt. Education.

SANTA AT STATE'S PRISONS

Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 17.—The Yuletide spirit that pervades the whole country at this time of the year has also pervaded the confines of the state's nine prisons, and the inmates feel that "Santa" will not overlook them.

Three days of each year are specifically set apart by law as holidays for the convicts of Alabama. They are Independence day, Thanksgiving and Christmas, and it is the desire to make this Christmas holiday one long to be recalled pleasantly in the memories of the inmates of the penitentiary.

Appropriate religious services will be held at all the state prisons on Christmas morning. Special attention will be given to the invalid and infirm to make their lot more cheerful and more bright.

The menu and requisitions for supplies for the uniform dinner to be served the 3000 state prisoners, were carefully made under the supervision of Roy L. Nolen, associate member of the state board of administration. The dinner will consist, among other things of the following: Beef roast with dressing, pork roast with cranberry sauce, pies and cakes and light bread baked in the prison bakeries, Irish stew, candied yams, apples, oranges, raisins, nuts, candy, and cigars.

There will be minstrel shows, music, boxing matches, athletic contests of various kinds, singing, and various other forms of entertainment for the prisoners during Christmas day. That the acting of the negro inmates was exceptionally good is attested to by Governor Brandon and Roy L. Nolen, associate member of the convict board who witnessed the negro minstrel at Kilby on Thanksgiving.

INTEREST IN HEALTH WORK

Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 17.—Increased interest in the public health program and an awakening to a sense of responsibility on the part of the medical profession is reflected in the monthly report of the Epidemiologist for the month of November. This report shows that 392 people of Alabama were afflicted with malarial fever during the month of November this year against 133 for the same month last year.

There is no reason to believe there have been more cases of malaria in Alabama this year than last year, but the physicians have begun to wake up to the fact that it is important to report such diseases and co-operate in the fight to eradicate this drain on the State's economic resources. measles is another disease which was given practically no attention last year when only three cases were reported in the month of November. This year the report places the number for November at 690.

In the cases of typhoid fever and diphtheria it is different. These have long been considered important reportable diseases and a decrease of one was reported in typhoid fever while a slight increase was noted in diphtheria cases for the month of November as compared with the same month last year.

The State Board of Health stresses the importance of reporting all communicable diseases in order that proper steps may be taken to stamp out this enemy of mankind.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Eptiomized Form.

In the Phenix-Girard case the supreme court upheld the legality of the act extending the corporate limits of Phenix to include Girard, and abolishing the old government of Girard. A separate act providing that where the boundaries of a city are extended to include another town in another county, a commission form of government shall be established with a commission named by the governor, was held to be unconstitutional. The results of these decisions in the view of legal opinion, will leave Phenix and Girard consolidated minus their newly appointed city commission, and with the old aldermanic government of Phenix City, exercising authority over the enlarged town as the old government of Girard was abolished.

The Tennessee valley section of north Alabama was the leading cotton producing section of Alabama this year, according to an estimate by districts following the announcement from Washington that the total for Alabama was 600,000 bales. Production of cotton by districts as estimated by F. W. Gist, agricultural statistician for Alabama, follows: Northwest, 27,000; Tennessee valley, 104,000; mineral, 47,000; northeast, 58,000; west black belt, 45,000; east black belt, 77,000; east central, 91,000; southwest, 60,000; south central, 48,000; southeast, 97,000.

The 212 orphans at the Louise M. Short Baptist Orphans Home in Troy will be well remembered on Christmas morning. The B. Y. P. U. of the state asked for the privilege of adopting an orphan for Christmas. These requests came in to the superintendent, Rev. J. O. Colley, thick and fast, 60 being received in one day last week. A picture of the orphan adopted and name was sent to the adopter and Christmas packages will be mailed to them in care of the superintendent as early as possible.

The report of the Morgan county health unit for the monih of November shows that during the month 500 pounds of meat were condemned, 296 laboratory examinations made, 27 venereal diseases treated and 10 sanitary drinking founts installed. During the months the department examined 800 public school children for physical defects. Out of this number, 772 defects were found and 100 have been remedied. The fall campaign of inspection among the school children has just been completed.

Road work in Walker county has been hampered recently by the discovery that one section of the local road law of 1907 in reference to prices fixed for day labor and for teams has never been repealed. The price of day labor was fixed at $1.50 per day and $3 for man and team. Of course, labor cannot be had at these prices nowadays, but the county commissioners have found a way to evade this handicap. Roads will be worked by contract, and the contractors will pay their road hands

The Hartselle branch of the Morgan county court stands adiourned pending the outcome of a friendly suit, brought by S. A. Lynne, to test the constitutionality of the bill which created the court. Courthouse officials stated that for some time court action had been expected as to the validity of the law under which the Hartselle court has been operating.

Dr. R. T. Tyler, a member of the board of trustees of the Athens College, announced that a contract had been let for a $70,000 girls' dormitory to the Walker Construction company of Fayette, Ala. The building will be three stories, including the basement, and will accommodate 80 students. Work on the building will begin at once.

Altoona is erecting a 14-room house which is to be used as a home for the teachers of the public schools of that place. It is the second "teachery" to be built in the county, the first having just been completed at Gaston.

The Alabama public service commission will meet in Mobile Dec. 22.

Probably every rural school in Walker county has had one or more box suppers since the school began and, according to county school officials, approximately $3,000 has been raised at the different schools.

Plans are being prepared for the construction of the first additional unit to the Birmingham Baptist Hospital, work to begin on or about Jan. 1, the first unit to cost approximately $400,000.

WOLF SHOE SHOP BURNS

The shoe and fruit store of Mr. D. H. Wolfe on Main Street was destroyed by fire Tuesday morning about 3:00 o'clock. Mr. Wolfe lived in the back end of the building, where he had quite a bit of costly house furnishings. Practically all of his household goods were burned up. His shoe shop and fruit store in the front were not completely burned up but were injured. Mr. Wolfe was in Montgomery buying up fruits when the business burned. The building belonged to Mr. W. H. Right.

WASHINGTON RUM SCANDAL BREAKS

Washington, Dec. 22.—"Merry Christmas! Are you going to be indicted?"

This was the brand of Yuletide greeting around the national capital Saturday—the result of holiday dry raids which have netted 13 alleged bootleggers and resulted in the capture by the police of exclusive client lists containing several thousand names, some of which are said to merit the description "high in the social and official life" of Washington.

The drys, headed by Wayne B. Wheeler, generalissimo of the Anti-Saloon League, are clamoring that the lists be made public and the purchasers of holiday cheer prosecuted.

"Every friend of law and order should insist upon the prosecution of these conspirators," said Wheeler in a manifesto. "The purchaser of bootleg liquor is a more cowardly violator of the law than the bootlegger himself. They can and should be prosecuted under section six of the prohibition code, relative to conspiracy."

CLANTON MERCHANTS HAVE GOOD CHRISTMAS TRADE

Just to step out on the streets of Clanton Saturday while it was pouring down rain and see the throngs of people who were mixing and mingling into and out of the stores was sufficient evidence that the people of this vicinity were determined to have a merry Christmas despite the hinderance of bad weather. It rained nearly all day and the streets and sidewalks were as slick as owl greese, but they came and went just the same. Nearly all the stores were well filled most of the time, and the people were here to trade too.

But Monday it was different. The sun was shinging warm and everybody was stepping around real lively. There were lots of shoppers here then, but they all looked much more pleasant than they did Saturday.

The weather during the holiday season has, as a whole, been mighty disagreeable, but still not much trading was withheld on account of it. The stores have all very well disposed of their Christmas stock of goods, and are now ready to launch out upon the new year with renewed interest and determination.

EVERYBODY PAY YOUR POLL TAX

February 1st, 1924, is not long off, and Mr. Rockett says that people are paying their poll tax mighty slowly. Now, this is not only a privilege but a duty of every person who is otherwise eligible to vote. If you haven't enough interest in your government to want to vote, then you ought to have enough interest in your schools to pay $1.50 into that fund. So, we wish to urge everyone of voting age to look after this important matter. And it would be unwise for everybody to wait till the last few days, as a big rush would result. Don't put it off but go now and look after this matter.

NITRATE OF SODA ARRIVES

Mr. J. N. Dennis informs us that he has just delivered this week four hundred sacks of nitrate of soda, and has four hundred more on the road to arrive soon. It seems from this somebody calculates on making a lot of something next year.

ALABAMA POWER CO. TO ENLARGE GORGAS

Authority Granted by Service Commission; More Than $700,000 To Be Expended.

Petition of the Alabama Power Co. for a certificate of convenience and necessity for the construction and installation of an additional generating unit and other facilities at the Warrior reserve steam plant of the company in Walker county, was granted in a formal order issued by the Alabama Public Service Commission, according to advices received in Clanton Saturday from Montgomery.

The addition to the present plant's facilities, to the installed under the authority granted by the order, will include an additional 20,000 kilowatt steam turbine electric generating unit, together with all necessary boilers, machinery and appliances.

Acting upon the authority granted by the commission, the company will immediately begin preparations for installing a third unit of 20,000 kilowatt at the Gorgas steam plant, to cost in the neighborhood of $700,000, it is stated. Delivery of the new generator is looked for, it is understood, during May, 1924, and the power company's engineers expect to have it in operation by August, 1924. Installation of this unit, it is stated, will mark the completion of the Gorgas plant, which was originially designed for three units, additions to be made at the demand reuqeried.

The plant was constructed in 1917, with an initial installation of 20,000 kilowatts, and intake and discharge canals, boilers, gates, screens and ash handling euipment were installed to care for the additional units. The second of these, with a capacity of 80,000 kilowatts, was added during the World War. Everything for the third unit, with the exception of a concrete foundation and condensing aparatus, is already in readiness and work on the foundation is to start immediately, it is stated.

Addition of the third unit, it is declared, will make the Gorgas plant one of the country's largest producers of steam power, with a total output of 70,000 kilowatts, or 94,000 horsepower.

DAILY REPUBLICAN NEWSPAPER BE PUBLISHED IN BIRMINGHAM

Mr. W. G. Culp, Chairman of the Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County, has received a letter from Mr. E. L. Tate of Greensboro, N. C., stating that he will start up a daily Republican newspaper in Birmingham, Ala., about he first of of February, 1924. The paper will be "The Birmingham Daily Tribune." Mr Tate is an experienced newspaper man and practical printer and has had broad experience in his line of work.

Mr. Tate advances the idea and it is an intelligent one, that it will be a great advantage to the South to have a daily Republican newspaper so that everybody may get both sides of the big issues of the day. The paper is to cover not only Alabama, but an extensive circulation campaign will be pushed to every nook and corner of the Solid-Democratic South. Birmingham has been selected as the location for the paper as that city is the most centrally located in the southern territory which the paper will cover. The good to be accomplished by a Republican newspaper in Birmingham, if it is properly conducted, will be inestimable to the Southern States.

"TAX CUT DOOMED" SAYS REPRESENTATIVE

Flat Statement on Outlook for Mellon Program Voiced By Rainey.

Washington, Dec. 22.—The flat prediction that the Mellon tax reduction legislation would not pass this session of Congress was made Saturday by Representative Rainey, Democrat, of Illinois, a member of the House ways and means committee.

"It may get through the House, but I do not think it can be put through the Senate because of the short session and the jam of appropriation bills, the bonus and other legislation," he said.

Rainey, however, predicted passage of the bonus.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE URGES THE PAYMENT OF POLL TAXES

Since our people are rather indifferent about paying their poll taxes this year, we wish to urge upon the Republicans of Chilton County the importance of attending to this matter. If you will just consider the matter a little you can readily see that there is too much at stake for you to ignore paying your poll tax. Next year, we elect a president, and there will be several elections of importance. So, in order that you may be pemitted to vote, pay your poll tax before February 1st, 1923, and don't wait too late.

Yours for a strong party,
W. G. CULP, Chairman.
J. Z. MIMS, Secretary.

We wish to call the attention of our readers to the big page Community Booster advertisement we are running this week on the last page of the Banner. This page contains something that should be of interest to all the citizens of Chilton County. You very often hear quoted the slogan, "In Unity there is Strength." Well, in short, the purpose of this advertisement is to encourage the spirit of unity among our people in a business way.

Read carefully the business firms who have affixed their names at the bottom of this page. They are all doing business in Clanton and they are all helping our town and county to grow. By affixing their names to this set of resolutions, they are saying that they want the spirit of co-operation to prevail among us all and that they are going to do their part toward the general good feeling and prosperity of everybody. Back-biting and nagging never got anybody anywhere, but is invariably a hinderance to progress and prosperity. So, we feel that if everybody in our vicinity would adopt and carry out the resolutions laid out in this page, we would have a much better and more prosperous county to live in. Read it carefully.

7 SHELBY COUNTY STILLS SMASHED

Preparations of moonshiners for Christmas "runs" of prohibited beverages were being nipped in the bud, and numerous illicit distilleries over the state have come to grief with the coming of the holiday season, according to reports received Monday by Walter K. McAdory, chief of the state law enforcement department. The reports show that during the week-end 24 stills were smashed and many thousands of gallons of mash fermenting perhaps in anticipation of the Christmas trade, were poured out.

Jackson and DeKalb counties yielded ten stills, with 19,000 gallons of mash, while seven stills and 500 gallons of mash were seized in Shelby county. Four stills were destroyed in Elmore and two men arrested, and two men were arrested and a still destroyed in Bibb county. Capture of one still each was reported from Talladega and Mobile counties.

In Jefferson county, three automobiles engaged in the liquor traffic, an Essex, Chandler and a Ford were seized with 71 gallons of whiskey, and six men arrested.

THE UNION-BANNER 1924 YEAR BOOKS SOON READY

We have several times been asked the question, "Are you going to pub a Year Book this time?" To this question we will answer, Yes. The book, which will contain 48 pages, is now being printed, and will be ready for distribution on or about January 1st.

You got one of the Year Books last year, so you know what to expect this time. It contains valuable information which people always need in their every-day life. Besides the weather forecasts you have all kinds of general information and business laws. It also contains numbers of interesting and educational jokes. This almanac is different from all the rest you will get in that it contains no patent medicine advertising. In all the common almanacs every other word is Black Draught or Nature's Remedy or something else. You will not find this in our Year Book. It contains a number of local advertisements from the merchants and business men of Clanton, who are endeavoring to put their business before the public. They are all nice, clean advs., which everyone will find pleasure in reading.

Don't forget that we have one here for you, so come around shortly after the New Year and get yours before someone else gets it. The supply is limited, so don't wait too long. And, too, we were about to forget to say that these books are free.

AN EXPLANATION

Last week, in the article about the Reynolds-Hand scuffle in the probate office, we published the name of G. D. Retherford as being one of those present just after the fuss was had. We wish to say in way of explanation that Mr. Retherford being there does not necessarily mean that he was taking part in the affair either way. It is Mr. Retherford's duty as police of Clanton to look into such matters, and so far as we know, this was the only motive he had in being on the scene. So far as Mr. Retherford taking any part in the election contest either way we will say that he has not, so far as we know.

HIRAM LAMBASTS FORD FOR REVERSAL

Henry Supports Powers That Be, Avowed G. O. P. Candidate Says.

Washington, Dec. 22.—Senator Hiram Johnson, who thus far is the only avowed opponent of President Coolidge for the Republican nomination at Cleveland next June, opened fire on Henry Ford Saturday night for climbing aboard the Coolidge bandwagon.

Not only did the California senator unlimber a heavy battery of sarcasm on Ford for his unqualified endorsement of Coolidge, but he went further and bluntly suggested that Ford's dramatic removal of himself from the political stage was not unconnected with administration plans for letting the auto king have Muscle Shoals.

Johnson's opening gun was fired through the medium of a formal statement, which was generally interpreted in the capital Saturday night as heralding the real beginning of the Californian's campaign.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT IS SHOWN THROUGHOUT CHILTON COUNTY

With a flood of a brilliant Winter's sun, the spirit of Christmas swept the entire community Tuesday. Bathed in nature's smile, Chilton County awoke, early and late, to enjoy probably her most auspicious celebration of the birth of the Great Master.

The gifts that the community has brought, undoubtedly remind of that eventful morn nineteen hundred and twenty-three years ago when the Wise Men made a historic journey. These historic figures brought gifts—reality. The spirit of the first gifts as a mark of honor to the Master mounted beyond and above the intrinsic value of the mere physical.

Is there a Santa Claus?

With the general relaxation after a busy pre-holiday season, the people appeared united in celebrating the holiday in a genuine spirit of Christmas, for one season at least forgetting animosities, littleness, hates, intolerance.

The old-fashioned bediam of noise, part of ancient customs of the section was not altogether absent. A few tiny tots cracked their crackers and pounded their torpedoes, and every now and then a big one could be heard in different directions.

The weather man was voted thanks. Early risers found a frost that resembled a youthful snow. The warming rays of a gracious sun turned the chill of early morning into a temperature that was, by all agreed, just right.

Really and truly, Christmas could not have been improved upon if it had been made to order.

CARTER-DUNCAN WEDDING

Mr. Tommie Carter and Miss Grace Duncan, both of Clanton, were united in marriage by Rev. S. J. Ezell at the preacher's home Sunday afternoon. Mr. Carter is one of the members of Carter Brothers Garage of Clanton, and his bride is the beautiful daughter of Mr. Joe Duncan, also of Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter are spending a few days in Birmingham, after which they will return to Clanton to make their future home.

FORD AND THE MUSCLE SHOALS PROPOSITION.

Giving all due credit as we have constantly done for the interest aroused in Muscle Shoals and the awakening of the country to this great national asset, and to Henry Ford's offer to the Government, nevertheless it must be borne in mind that Mr. Ford has not yet made any proposition worthy of acceptation by the Government. Those who are favoring the acceptance of some indefinite, intangible, proposition from Mr. Ford have perhaps been carried away by the hurrah of the moment and the thought that he would produce fertilizers at a lower cost than the farmers now have to pay, and have failed to give close heed to Mr. Ford's indefinitely worded proposition. A few questions should be asked of Mr. Ford, and definite and specific answers should be made which could be embodied in the form of a contract, if the Government should ever accept any proposition from him.

In the first place the idea of leasing a property of such enormous value for 100 years, thus violating the whole scheme of our power development work, should be immediately thrown out of consideration. The utmost limit of time which should be granted to Mr. Ford, or to any one man or any one concern would be to put what would practically be an irredeemable mortgage on an asset the real value of which to the whole nation no man can at present estimate; and what it might be worth 100 years now is beyond human calculation. Mr. Ford's demand for a 100 year lease should in itself have instantly caused his whole proposition to be thrown out of court, and Congress should not for a moment consider any proposition frm him r any one else for a longer time than 50 years.

Mr. Ford's proposition was indefinite in many respects. He agreed to form a company with a capital of $10,000,000 to which the Government should assign the Muscle Shoals contract. That was on its face as absurd as his demand for a 100 year lease. Neither to Mr. Ford nor any one else should be granted an asset of such imeasurable value unless his entire wealth, or that of any company with which the Government might make the contract, was back of the deal. There was no guarantee in Mr. Ford's proposition that the entire wealth of the Ford interests would be behind the Muscle Shoals development, and only a glittering generality of a $10,000,000 company which Mr. Ford seemed to imagine through the magic of his name would be sufficient to conjure with, and win a contract from the overnment.

Neither was there any pdomise that this $10,000,000 company might not be sold out to some one else.

If Mr. Ford has not enough faith in the Muscle Shoals proposition to back its development with his individual name and fortune, then the country cannot afford to place sufficient faith in the substantiality of his scheme to justify turning it over to him.

Mr. Ford's proposition for the making of nitrates and fertilizers was a very vague one. There are many contingencies in connection with it which apparently have not been taken account at all. Was the 8 per cent profit, which he mentioned, to be based on the actual capital invested in the making of fertilizers, or on the total turnover, or was it to be based on his total investment in the whole Muscle Shoals scheme?

It is altogether probable that new and cheaper methods of nitrate fixation will be discovered than are yet known. By no means have we reached the limit in this respect. Let us suppoes for a moment that some new and much cheaper process should be brought out making it possible for other companies to produce nitrates an dfertilizers at a very much lower cost than Mr. Ford could produce them under the system he would be using. These new processes might be under patents which Mr. Ford could not utilize. What then would be the basis of his price of fertilizers to farmers?

These are but a few of an almost indefinite number of questions that are vital in a consideration of this matter, and to which attention must be directed before Congress can afford to give to Mr. Ford a fortune which in itself might in time become as great in value as the fortune he has already madein his automobile industry.

We are in hearty sympathy with the desire of the farmers to secure lower fertilizer prices, and we believe that in the investigations which are constantly being made by chemists, new methods will be discovered or new processes invented, which will bring about a cheaper cost of nitrate fixation and a largely reduced cost of fertilizers.

The Muscle Shoals' potentialities for hydro electric power are suficiently great to be given careful consideration from this angle without tying up that property for a long term of years on so indefinite and intangible a proposition as Mr. Ford has thus far made. The amazing power of his publicity work to catch public attention has never had a better illustration than in the impression which has been created throughout the land that the turning over to him by the Government of Muscle Shoals on his 100 year proposition would instantly bring about a great lessening in the cost of fertilizers. It is difficult to understand how the public could have been so seriously misled.

From the beginning of this controversy the Manufacturers Record has taken the ground that neither Mr. Ford nor any one else should be granted this property except on the basis of a 50 year term at the outside, and the contract so binding that the public would be amply protected in every respect. Infinitely better would it be for the National overnment to continue its ownership an dmanagement of the whole Muscle Shoals situation than to turn it over to any proposition in anywise akin to the one which Mr. Ford has thus far made. There is in it no substantiality worthy of Mr. Ford's business acumen and assumed patriotism. He has asked entirely too much of the National Government. The granting of the proposition on his terms would enormously enrich him at the expense of the nation; and Mr. Ford does not need the nation's help for any increase of his wealth.

In assigning members of the appropriations committee of the U. S House of Representatives for service on sub-committees, Represenative William B. Oliver of the Sixth Alabama district was given highly important work. He will serve on the sub-committee which will provide funds for the navy, and on the sub committee which will pass on proposed appropriation for the departments of commerce, labor, justice and state. If the inland waterways service is transferred from the war to the commerce department as ultimately it will be, Mr. Oliver will be in position to take care of the Warrior, it is pointed out.

Hearing will be had at 10 a. m. Jan 9 in the Chamber of Commerce building at Birmingham on the petition of the American Casting company against 21 railroad companies in Alabama, according to an order given out by the public service commission. The petition asks for "reasonable and non discriminatory rates on cast iron culvert pipes in lengths of five feet or less, carloads, minimum weight 30,000 pounds, from Birmingham and group points to all points within the state of Alabama."

One hundred thousand dollars was paid to the state by the Alabama Power company for 106 acres of land which has constituted a part of Prison Farm No. 5 in Elmore county. Announcement of the completion of the sale and the payment of the money into the state treasury was made by the state board of administration. The deal was made with the approval of Governer Brandon. The lands will be flooded by the Alabama Power company when the development at Lock 18 is completed.

Caveat vendor is the rule laid down by the supreme court of Alabama as regards the seller of an automobile on time payments to a person who is likely to use such a car in bootlegging operations; in other words the high court has decided that the person or firm making a conditional sale of a car must use reasonable diligence to guard against such car becoming a booze carrier, otherwise the seller will lose out completely when the state catches such car in flagrant delicto.

Proposal of a change in the location of the projected road extending out of Greensboro, Ala., to the Marengo county line, was presented to the state highway commission by a delegation of Hale county citizens, headed by J. H. James. The present route for this road, after leaving Greensboro, is via Newbern to the Marengo line, near Uniontown. Recommendation of the delegation was that the road extend to the Marengo line via Cedarville.

The University of Alabama has joined with four other universities of the Southland to form the "Pentangular League" in debating. Interest in debating has taken on some of its characteristics of the time when it was the most important student activity. The best talent at the university is being enlisted, inter-society debates are becoming more and more popular and larger crowds are attending than in a number of years.

At the request of representatives of the carriers and with the consent of shippers' representatives of the public service commission postponed until Jan. 14, further hearings in connection with the commission's citation of all steam railroads operating in the state to show cause why they should not publish certain notes in their respective tariffs, tending to save expense to the shipper.

Secretary of State S. H. Blan is having many calls from other states for the new automobile laws passed by the recent session of the Alabama legislature. Senators and representatives of other states, officials and private citizens are interested in these laws, and the Alabama laws bid fair to be copied in many states, it is stated

Percy Fox, an ex-convict, has begun suit in the civil division of the Jefferson county circuit court for $50,000 against the Pratt Consolidated Coal company for injuries alleged to have been received while plaintiff was hired out to work in the company's mines.

Fingerprints on an automobile in which S. K. Thompson, Tuscaloosa motorcycle officer was killed, are not those of Jack Melette or Whitney Moran, who are being held in Tuscaloosa in connection with the crime, it was announced by M. E. McDuff, of Birmingham bureau of identification.

The Railroads Know No Holidays

In the factory and on the farm, in city and country, Christmas and New Year's Day are occasions for cessation from all labor. Stores and offices, banks and business houses, Post Offices and Federal Buildings, all close in observance of such holidays.

But has it ever occurred to you that the railroads never have holidays?—that while others are resting, railroads are working; while you are in your home or at the theater or out in your automobile, the railroad man is at his post of duty, giving service?

The business and the operation of the railroads are continuous. Twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week, fifty-two weeks a year, the service you need from the railroads is available. Irrespective of the day or the season, there is always the certainty that your transportation requirements, business and personal, will be met.

Just as the railroad as a public utility is always at your service, the railroad man as an individual, likewise is always at your call. While you are taking your holiday, you may enjoy it all the more in realizing that your safety and accommodation are assured by the railroad men who remain at their tasks.

For these faithful employees, many of whom are away from their homes and firesides, during this holiday season, the Louisville & Nashville Railroad bespeaks your appreciation.

POOR ORIGINAL

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager)

Mrs. Clara Soberg Henderson of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Walter Morgan, with her husband and children of Birmingham, are Christmas holiday visitors at the home of the parents of the ladies, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Soberg. Both of these young women grew up in Thorsby and have many warm friends here who are glad of an opportunity to greet them.

Mrs. Anna S. Villadsen had a brief visit from her two sons, Reno and Arthur. These young men seldom arirve at their old Thorsby home at the same time. Arthur is in the employ of The Alabama Power Company as a surveyor, while Reno has for several years been a mining engineer, and was assistant Superintendent at the Aldrich mine when it was closed down about the end of last August.

Before he had had time to look about for another position he received and accepted a proposition from another well known engineer to form a partnership in a general surveying and mining engineers cotractors busiess, with headquarters at Jasper, Ala. His company now have a contract for making the preliminary survey on 16 miles of new highway in Walker county, and are also engaged in preparations for opening new leads and levels at the re-opened Aldrich mines.

But this is only one side of the development of this Thorsby boy since leaving home some ten or twelve years ago with good health, a fair education, high ideals of life, like his father, who was so well known and loved in and around Thorsby. Such a man could not fail to be attractive to some young woman, who would highly appreciate these sterling qualities. Neither could he be attracted to a silly and frivilous woman. The woman he found for a wife is ideal for such a man, on whom descriptive adjectives would be wasted as they would fail to interpret her virtues. Suffice it to say that they are an ideal couple who have been blessed with five beautiful and healthy children, four boys and one girl. Surely Reno has accumulated substantial riches in the pasisng years.

Since it is always interesting to know what the development of our young people has been after leaving home, what they have built on the foundations laid in their childhood, how they reflect the infulences that have surrounded them in home and town, whether they bring us honor or disgrace, it may not be out of place to mention something of the fortunes of another Thorsby boy, who for years was a school-mate and intimate friend of Reno Villadsen. From the many inquiries we receive as to his whereabouts and circumstances we are led to the belief that information concerning Mr. Sereno G. Norton would be of interest to many who knew him as a boy and young man.

After graduating at Thorsby Institute in 1910, being the first graduate of that school who had taken the full four years classical course, he taught and attended summer schools for three years. In the fall of 1914 he entered college at Grinnell, Iowa, as a sophomore, having advanced a year after high school graduation by reading and study. With what he could earn and some he borrowed, afterwards paid in full out of his earnings, he finished college in three years, graduating with higrest honors in 1917. He was among the first contingent of 600 to be wrafted in his section, at the end of June that year, just as he finished college. Being rejected because he wore glasses, he gave up the idea of teaching, for which he had prepared himself and sought employment as a chemist in a munitions factory, that he might use his knowledge for the benefit of his country. He soon obtained employment at the Experimental Station of the Hercules Powder Company, located at Kenvil, New Jersey. This station is not only devoted to experimental work but is also a proving ground for all material entering into the products of their numerous plants scattered all over the country.

Within a few weeks he had so demonstrated a painstaking care as to attract attention from his employers who selected him, from among a large number of employees, to fill an important position in the laboratory of one of their plants located at Bacchus, Utah, where he spent about two years, during this time he married a young woman of Grinnell, whom he met in college. A few months after his marriage he was called back to the experiment station at Kenvil and given many important propositions to work out from time to time always "making good." As his worth to the company became more and more manifest his pay was voluntarily increased and his work became more varied and from time to time he was selected to manage the installation of new processes, some of them of his own devising, in some of their plants. Recently the company organized a new department and placed him at the head of it, with another increase in salary, which together with income from stock in the company he has been able to purchase with his savings now provides a comfortable income for himself, his wife and their two children. During these passing months he has been detailed to inspect plants and introduce new processes at Emporium, Pa., Bacchus, Utah, and Hercules, Calif. He expects to return to his home in Kenvil about the middle of February taking with him his family who are visiting his wife's parents at Grinnell, Iowa.

The career of these two young men who, without money to start with, but who started out with good characters, education to some extent, willing to do faithfully and well whatever was put up to them, never shirking their responsibility and without a grouch, has shown to other young men that there is today as much opportunity to get ahead in life, if the right road is chosen, as there ever was. It simply demonstrates that merit wins, and a young man can make his own opportunity by intelligent and faithful service.

The Sunday School Exercises at Congregational Church last Sunday night under the title of "The Spirits of Christmas," conducted by Miss Fairbank, was of an exceedingly interesting character and the young women of Queen Esther class, who represented these spirits, and Mr. Ronald Lucas, who represented the Shepherd, made a picture long to be remembered.

The recitations and songs by the little folks was an inspiration to one who stops to consider the potency of such things in the development of the latent abilities in these young minds.

Christmas day was celebrated at the Lutheran Church by a sunrise prayer meeting and address by the pastor, which was attended by about fifty people, also preaching service, in english, at 10 a. m. and on Wednesday night the Sunday School held their annual Christmas entertainment with songs, recitations and a Christmas tree, all of which is attractice to old and young alike.

MR. A. A. JACKSON

We were pleased Christmas Eve to have Mr. A. A. Jackson of Birmingham call to see us. Mr. Jackson is an old timer from Chilton County, having spent all his life up to ten or twelve years ago in the vicinity of Lomax. While he lived up there he was a correspondent for The Baner, and we are sure that several of our older subscribers remember reading his correspondence. While writing to the paper Mr. Jackson had a great deal to do with the beginning of the agitation for stock law in this county, which has resulted in the passage of this law almost all over the county. He is a brother of Mr. J. H. Jackson of Lomax, and used to run a store in that town. He is now holding a high position with the Southern Railway System. While down on his visit to his old home Mr. Jackson purchased a tract of land just north of Lomax, where he intends to retire and live easy after a few years. We were indeed glad to have this splendid gentleman call and see us.

The way that the solemn and sacred marriage oaths of this country are ignored and trampled in the mire of the earth is a bedraggled shame on humanity and everything that stands for decency and honor. The solemn affirmation that "I will honor and obey and clieve to him (and her) alone until death us separates," has almost become a myth, and unless something prohibitive is made effective regarding this wicked vice our country ere many years will, in a body, fall into the bottomless pits of hell. The divorce courts are all working over time and their business is doubling every decade. Where, oh where will it all end?

"Have we one single really conscientious statesman in public life today? If so, where is he, who is he, and what is he doing?"—Chilton County News, last week. What does The News mean by making such a statement as this? When did they lose sight of the famous Alabamian, Oscar Underwood, ex-President Woodrow Wilson, his famous son-in-law, W. G. McAdoo, Al Smith and others? These are surely "conscientious statesmen" in The News' estimation, judging from the things they have always advocated. In this instance, as in several others, The News has unintentionally made an honest confession. Due to the fact that they are so blinded by political prejudice that they cannot see beyond the border of the Democratic party, and since this party has no "really conscientious statesmen," of course The News is not able to see any statesmen at all. If they would only take a few more steps up the ladder of common sense and wipe the skim of sectional hatred from their eyes, they could look over and beyond the misty ranks of their little dwarfed, twisted and prejudiced regiment of "peanut politicians" and observe armies of "really conscientious statesmen." They are here today just as genuine as those of Washington's and Lincoln's and Roosevelt's day, but they are beyond the vision of The Chilton County News. Take off your smoked glasses, Brother, and you can see statesmen by the scores.

Not at all contrary to our expectations, we have been somewhat criticised by our Democratic friends for the way we reported the affray in the probate's office last week. In regard to all such criticism we will state if we had our rathers in regard to the matter, we would not have published the thing at all, for we were very displeased for such disturbance to happen in the first place. But being that it did happen, it was our honest intention to publish it as nearly as possible just like it happened. The editor of this paper did not see the occurence, but we got the information from parties who did see the whole thing, and wrote the article basing it upon this information. Since the enemies of Judge Reynolds got the worst end of the thing all the way through, of course they would rather not have it written up, but we figured it expedient to publish it so that the people of the county might know what was going on.

In regard to the criticism we are receiving, we will say that the fact that the Democratic newspaper did not as much as mention it is sufficient proof that they did not get any consolation from the outcome of the scuffle. So, we feel that our report was not so badly misleading after all. We could have gone into detail with our article and probably have explained it more correctly, but it would have taken at least a page of the paper to have told exactly every word that each fellow spoke, exactly the spot where each man stood, the exact minute when each one came in and went out and how long they stayed, etc., but we thought such details not necessary. However, if we wronged anyone either by word or implication, it was not our intention.

Mr. Guy H. DeShazo, who has been in Fort Payne with The DeKalb Republican for the past several months, is home with his father and mother on Mulberry. He arrived Wednesday morning and will leave for Fort Payne Sunday.

THE NEW ACCOUNT

HON. J. FRITZ THOMPSON WRITES ABOUT OUR REPORT

The Union-Banner is in receipt of a letter from Hon. J. F. Thompson of Birmingham regarding the report we had last week about the affray which happened in the probate's office in Clanton. Following we publish his letter in full:

"Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 24, 1923.

"Eitor Union-Banner,

"Clanton, Ala.

"Dear Sir:

"In your issue of December 20th you make the following statement:

'One day last week, while Judge Reynolds was in Washington, Messrs. Tom Hand of Jemison, Prof. J. J. Pickens of Clanton and Hon. J. Fritz Thompson of Birmingham went into the probate office and in the judge's absence proceeded to tell the lady clerks in the office how crooked and low down judge, in their estimation, was. They made their discourse so strong and abusive that the girls burst into tears and went out for assistance.'

"Were it not for the fact that for many years I have had a large number of friends among the Republicans of Chilton County, whose friendship I value very highly, I would not notice the above untrue statements. I am in no wise surprised at you as this is not the first time you have sought to injure me, and without cause. I only hope this effort of yours will be as fruitless as the others.

"The truth of the matter is that I did not say an unkind or discourteous word to either of the ladies in the office, nor was an unkind or discourteous word spoken to either of them by any one in my presence or hearing. Neither did etiher of them burst into tears or go for assistance so far as I know. It certainly did not happen in the record room where I was all the time. To show that your statement is not true, Judge Reynolds said to me in the presence of Mr. G. C. Walker in Mr. Walker's ofice last Wednesday that the young ladies told him that I was courteous at all times and that I did not speak an unkind word in their presence. You could have ascertained the truth of this matter if you had wanted to be fair to me. I am perfectly willing to leave the mater of my conduct to Judge Reynolds who investigated the incident on his return and told me the result as above.

"I always wanted to try law suits with which I am connected in the court house rather than in the newspapers, and but for tht fact that some of my friends might be misled by your statement I would pay no attention to it.

"If you have any conception of fairness or truthfulness you will publish this as prominently as you did the untre statement quoted above.

"Yours very truly,
"J. F. THOMPSON."

As you will readily see from his letter, Mr. Thompson feels that we did him a great injustice by the manner in which his name was used in the report. As we say editorially, we did not publish every little insignificant detail of the occurrence as same would have consumed unnecessary space. After a more thorough investigation, however, we learn that Mr. Thompson did not say anything himself to the girls in the probate's office that was discourteous to them, but he did come to the office with Mr. Hand and Mr. Pickens and was in the vault when these two gentlemen were talking to the lady stenographers. Although Mr. Thompson did none of the abusive talking to the ladies, he was in a sense a copartner to it since he came there with these men and was there when it all happened. This is simply another example of the law that where two or more are together and one commits a crime, they are all more or less implicated in the matter.

Mr. Thompson says in his letter that "this is not the first time that you have sought to injure me, and without cause." To what Mr. Thompson alludes by this we do not exactly nderstand as the only time we remember mentioning his name in our paper was about him being the chief attorney for the contest and an attorney for the Alabama Power Company. We fail to see what objection he could have for this, for being an attorney for such a prominent concen, it seems to us, is quite an enviable cedit, and he is surely not ashamed of having his name mentioned as connected with the contest.

The fact of the matter is simply this: Everybody, including those who took any part in the affray, knows and realizes that they who actually engineered the scheme, took a very unfair advantage of Judge Reynolds by coming into his office in his absence and talking as they did to his stenographers. This was not right at all, and they are all ashamed of having their names connected with it at all. That is where the pinch comes.

"How stange—we find that a majority of the farmers have it in their heat to try for another bumper cotton crop next year. Providence saved them this year, but we never know when Providence is going to allow experience to teach us something."—Chilton County News.

We admire the profound faith of our esteemed contemporary. "Providence saved them this year." Now, brother News, why didn't you just come out flat and say that the Republican party saved us, because you know that is what did it? Let history talk a little. Where has the price of cotton gone to, regardless of the amount produced, under every normal Democratic administration we have ever had? The average ran around five and six cents. Has cotton ever gone for such ridiculous price when a Republican administration was in power? Yes, the faith of The News in "Providence" is astounding.

Exasperating COUGHS—

NOT only you—but all those around you are annoyed by the constant hacking of a persistent cough. Dr. King's New Discovery breaks coughs quickly by stimulating the mucous membranes to throw off the clogging secretions. Has a pleasant taste. At all druggists.

DR. KING'S NEW DISCOVERY

TELL HIM WHY

A keen observer of affairs at Washington believes that success of the Mellon tax reduction plan all depends upon pressure from home. It will have support just in proportion as Senators and Congressmen are convinced that a majority of their constituents are for it. For some time it has been conceded that there are enough votes in both houses to enact a soldiers' bonus bill, although there is some doubt as to whether a two-thirds vote could be mustered to pass such a bill over the President's veto. Of course adoption of the bonus is equivalent to abandonment of the Mellon tax cut. Approval of the bonus means disapproval of tax reduction. Your Senators and Representatveis at Washington earnestly desire your opinion on those matters, and you will fail in your full duty as a citizen if you do not indicate your views to them forthwith.

DIDN'T FEAZE COTTON

Those Democratic leaders who have been asserting so vigorously that the low price and poor market for wheat are due to the failure of the United States to join the League of Nations will find it rather embarrassing if they spread such an argument as that throughout the cotton growing section. During the month of November our total exports increased $24,000,000 over the same month of 1922 and cotton made up the greater part of the increase. If failure to join the League of Nations injures our export trade, obviously the injury would affect all commodities alike. The fact that we are having a heavier business in cotton while we are having a lighter business in wheat, proves that it is something besides membership in the League of Nations that causes the decrease in shipments of wheat. As a matter of fact, and as consistently contended by Republicans, the poor market for wheat is due to over production throughout the world.

Democratic leaders also told us that because of our enactment of a protective tariff law Europe would be unable to buy from us. The records show that in November, 1923, England imported goods to the value of $26,000,000 greater than imports for November, 1922, and this was largely a matter of cotton imports. It is estimated that England's increased cotton imports amounted to $5,000,000, although exact figures are not available.

What the Democratic leaders do not know about foreign trade and the effects of international politics and international tariffs on exports and imports would fill a very large book.

GET BEHIND YOUR TEACHER

Now that the holidays are over, the children have had a restful and happy vacation from school work, the parents have dedicated themselves anew to the kind of "peace on earth" which makes for a better world for their children, and we have all settled down to a term of enthusiastic accomplishment, isn't it a good time for parents and school trustees to show their appreciation of the work of the teacher? Next to the parents no one is so interested in the children's welfare, so devoted to their general growth and development as well as their school education as the teacher. Her work will be far more effective if the children know that the parents and trustees believe in her, trust her judgment, and back her up in her ideals and her decisions. She will be happier as well as more effective in doing it if the appreciation that is in the hearts of the people of the community finds expression occasionally in words, in occasional hospitalities extended, and in other small acts of consideration. Get behind your teacher.

Kansas City Star—If America is isolated—and those Americans who keep repeating that it is never take the trouble to explain how it is isolated by European madness, not by American ignorance.

DUMB DIPLOMATS

It took Europe a whole year to see the value of the Hughes proposal for an investigation of the reparations tangle. Twelve months after the famous Hughes speech at New Haven, the allied governments appear to have agreed on an injuiry into the ability of Germany to pay, and a commission will be appointed, including an American member sitting in his private capacity. The zeal with which Europe has sought American aid in the settlement of its problems is not much in evidence when aid of the advisory sort is tendered. What Europe really wants is something more tangible than advice, and it would not take those nations a year to decide upon its acceptance, either.

26,800 QUARTS OF LIQUOR IS DESTROYED

Mobile, Ala., Dec. 23.—Lody mercy! This was the exclamation of one of the 15 negroes employed today in the destruction of nearly $300,000 worth of "good red liquor" in the narrow alleyway stretching along the south side of the federal building.

Startled by the sight of such a quantity of sure enough liquor and dazed by the fumes of the stuff, the negroes hired for the day to assist in the destruction could not quite understand all the fine points of the work.

But to some 200 Mobilians who clung from the windows of nearby buildings and who peered through the heavy iron gates along Royal street, it was very easy to understand..

A Dry Christmas.

Federal agents, upon instructions of Judge Robert T. Ervin, were destroying something like 26,800 quarts of imported liquors which were seized during recent federal raids in Mobile.

"It's going to be a dry Christmas," was the statement of condolence passed from person to person among the eager spectators.

After receiving their instructions early in the morning, Federal Prohibition Agents R. W. Buckner, F. L. Britton, G. N. Robertson, P. T. Graves, J. W. Adkins and S. O. McPherson, aided by 15 negroes, started their work of destruction at 9 o'clock Sunday morning. By 3 o'clock in the afternoon the destruction was complete.

All through the day crowds gathered at the point of destruction and windows in nearby buildings were choice positions for the onlookers. The work was carried on with regularity, and only the "wise remarks" of some of the spectatos broke the montony of the thud of the bottles against the concrete alleyway. A great deal of "free advice" was hurled at the ofifcers, but this was given little attention by the government men who were carrying on the work as though it was an every-day occurance.

2,400 Cases Destroyed.

Only a small amount of the whiskey was odered held for reference. Practically all of the 2,400 cases was destroyed.

The action yesterday climinates any possibility of former owners to have the liquor returned on technicalities. During the past few days efforts have been made by one of the original owners to have the whiskey returned to him on an alleged technicality in the service of search warrants.

Leavenworth, Kan., Dec. 22.—Twenty-seven "political prisoners" pardoned by President Coolidge were released from Leavenworth penitentiary Saturday night.

WIDE AWAKE COMMUNITY

LEWIS EASTERLING'S PRESENCE IN CLANTON APPRECIATED

As a means of showing their appreciation of the undivided presence of Mr. J. L. Easterling in Clanton every day during the good year, 1923, those whose signatures you see below have gratefully and unselfishly contributed 5c each toward the fund for buying Mrs. J. L. Easterling of Beat 16 a New Years present. They have made this sacrifice to somewhat show their appreciation to Mrs. Easterling for her untiring faithfulness in ganting her husband, Lewis, leave of absence fom their home 365 days during the year that is well nigh past. Had it not been for Lewis, the cement blocks and steps in front of the court house and the empty goods boxes in front of the stores and the idle oat sacks in front of Buck Gore's feed house, might have been mossed over long ago. But thanks be, if any parasitic growth ever accumulated there, instead of being there now to deface these objects of public complaisance, you will find such growths clinging to the seat of Lewis' breeches. He has stuck to his job.

EARLY DISPOSITION OF SHOALS ISSUE IS BEING URGED

Washington, Dec. 25.—Early disposition of the Muscle Shoals properties by the government is urged by Representative Reece, Republican, Tennessee, to promote the manufacture of commercial fertilizers.

Unless better offers with stronger fertilizer guarantees are made for the property, Reece declared the government would be expected to lease or sell the plant to Henry Ford.

"In the development of Muscle Shoals," Reece said, "the nitrate or fertilizer features, together with due regard for the national defense, should be the primary consideration.

"A continued delay in the disposition of Muscle Shoals cannot be justified. The farmers are entitled to relief. The plant at Muscle Shoals working to capacity will produce annually 250,000 tons of Chilean nitrate, or 2,000,000 tons of the plant food ingredients used in ordinary commercial fertilizer."

REV. P. G. CARTER HERE

Rev. P. G. Carter of Mobile is in Clanton for a few days. He came up Wednesday afternoon, and while here will take a few days treatment at the Centarl Alabama Hospital. There is nothing seriously ailing the Pastor, and he will be confined there for only a day or so.

Pastor Carter said in regard to the bootlegging turmoil now rampant in Mobile that they are about ready to run the devil into the Gulf of Mexico. You will recall that we predicted that he would accomplish this feat before he was there long.

The little English preacher contemplates leaving the Gulf City in a short while and is figuring on locating in Geneva, Ala. However, he has not made his arrangements definite yet. Don't you tell anybody, but we have pretty straight dope that Pastor Carter is going to get married in a few months. The Banner wishes him well.

Mr. W. C. Poole, who is working for the Dixie Construction Company at Albertville, is at home for the holidays.

MR. ANDREW EASTERLING WILL LEAVE CHILTON CO.

Mr. Andrew J. Easterling of Temple community is going to sell out all his belongings here and move to Southern Texas. He liked the land in the Rio rande Valley so well that he purchased himself a tract of it and is going down there to farm. Mr. Easterling bought ten acres at $350 per acre, which is located about three miles from Comb, Texas. He hopes to get away from here in about two weeks. We hate for Mr. Easterling to leave Chilton County, but from what he says he is going into a country which is far ahead of this for farming.

OAK HILL

The United Singing Society met in regular session Sunday evening with a good attendance for such bad weather. Nearly all of them were singers and all taken part in the sing- and an dmade it interesting to all. On account of the bad mudy roads we were a little late getting started, but they were all eager to sing and the class was quickly arranged and prayer was offered by Bo. McMurren and the following diectors were called and dicted fom two to four songs each:

E. H. Foshee, A. H. Glasscock, Akins Colli sn,E. L. Glasscock.

Organists for the evening were: Misses Gena Collins, Emma Campbell, Flossie Cobb, Lena Glasscock.

The Thorsby quartet was with us and rendered a beautiful selection between each director which was enjoyed by all present. This quartet is composed of Akins Collins, Greasham Lowery, John and David Childress. These boys sing well and the United Singing Society is proud of a quartet they can call their own, although we are always glad to have other quartets visit us as well as other singers.

Come, we are glad to have you with us any time. We will sing at Thorsby next Sunday evening, beginning at two o'clock. All singers and lovers of music are invited to take part with us.

J. N. SCOTT WRITES ABOUT TAX ON LUMBER TRUCKS

Editor Union-Banner:

Here I come with a few more of my Ignorance Drops. This time I wish to say a few words about the taxation of lumber trucks, log wagons and wagons.

I want to say that I stand for good roads, but will say that taxes will never build them in Chilton County or elsewhere. It takes labor to build roads. Tax money is commonly used partially and never put on the worst roads. I have been told that the Commissioners have agreed to gravel the red slick hills on the Randolph Road but refused to say that they would help any on the Mars Hill prong to Randolph. This road is just as bad as the other one and has more heavy traffic.

I want to say that I believe that those hauling logs, lumber, cord wood cross ties and any other heavy loads on the county roads ought to help to keep up the portion he travels. Let it be ten days or fifteen, by this way, when the road gets bad it can soon be repaired. If the commissioners have a right to make men pay road taxe for trucks and wagons they have a right to make them put in so many days on the roads where they travel and tear it up. I think this to be right and I am willing to do that for our roads are impassible now. I stuck up in hte mud this morning between Jemison and Mars Hill with my car, and if Mr. Childress, Posey, Gentry, Cofer, Brown and myself have to wait uptil the county sends machinery out here and fix up the road, I am sure our business will have to be shut down a good while. But with 10 days each and the help of the overseer and his hands we could soon gravel all the bad hills and fix the bad holes and drain off the ponds of water.

I am sick and tired of that word taxation and get nothing out of it on the roads.

These ignorance drops are free, but if taken according to directions they will do good.

Yours for good roads,
J. N. SCOTT.

WILDCAT STILL DESTROYED

Sheriff Littlejohn came into town Wednesday evening and reported that he and his force had just located and destroyed a 120-gallon distilling outfit two miles southwest of Maplesville. There was about 120 gallons of beer at the still, which was destroyed. There was no whiskey there, and no arrests were made.

WE BEG PARDON THIS TIME

The Union-Banner is getting to you a little late this week, but you will have to excuse us this time for we just had to take one day off for Christmas. Our force would have worked Wednesday night and finished the paper, but as it was so nearly on the heel of the great holiday we decided to let them off. So, we ask our kind readers to bear with us this time, and we promise not to do it again if we can possibly avoid it. You know, Christmas comes but once a year.

WHO IS SANTA CLAUS?
By C. L. Rhodes, (Col.)

I hate ter cause confusion here
Or break de Christmas laws;
Jes tell me who old Santa is

I've traced him from de birth of Christ,
De day we celebrate,
And how dey fotch him precious gifts
And worship on dis date.

I've searched de ancient histry too,
And ebry udder kind,
But when and whar old Kris was born
Is truly hard ter find.

It's puzzlin' how an old gray man
Ken work and live so long,
And ebry Christmas on his job,
And always well and strong.

De ocean ebry year,
And whar he keeps his reindeers hid
Dat hauls him over here.

And how is it he gits er 'round
Ter all in jes one night?
He sho mus be some kind o' hant
Or superhuman sight.

I'd lak to see his storage room,
Wid all his junk on hand,
A million dolls and carts and horns
And fruits jss lak de sand.

Jes big enough fer smoke,
And how he gits his bundles down
It looks jes lak a joke.

And how is it at rich folks house
He knows jes what ter leave?
His costly furs and diamond rings
And money, too, I b'lieve.

But yet he wont forget de poor
If dey be pretty smart
He'll leave de girls a doll and bed
And boys a horn and cart.

We boys set up to rob him once,
To take most all he had,
But somehow he jes read our mind
And sho did treat us bad.

And soon as we all gave him up
And went on home ter sleep,
He slipped in deir and played de wild

He eben tuk our stockings down
And carired dem away,
And carried dem away,
Jes one year from ter day.

Ef I could git his right address
I'd write him cross de sea,
And tell him when he load next year
Ter please remember me.

Ah, girls and boys, I am sorry now
I guess you know de cause,
Out who was Santa Claus.

Mrs. Anna Clover, of R. F. D. 5, Winfield, Kans., says: "I began to suffer some months ago with womanly troubles, and I was afraid I was going to get in bed. Each month I suffered with my head, back and sides—a weak, aching, nervous feeling. I began to try medicines as I knew I was getting worse. I did not seem to find the right remedy until someone told me of

CARDUI

I used two bottles before I could see any great change, but after that it was remarkable how much better I got. I am now well and strong. I can recommend Cardui, for it certainly benefited me."

If you have been experimenting on yourself with all kinds of different remedies, better get back to good, old, reliable Cardui, the medicine for women, about which you have always heard, which has helped many thousands of others, and which should help you, too. Ask your neighbor about it; she has probably used it.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

Acting on the advice of Chester E. Johnson, state fire marshal, the Huntsville board of education has placed an order for two large fire escapes for the Huntsville Grammar school. One hundred children a minute can find safe exit down each of the fire escapes and having them placed at the school will greatly minimize the danger of loss of life by fire, according to Mr. Johnson.

Southern railway rates on logs from points on the Mobile and Birmingham divisions to Aovndale are held to be discriminatory and unreasonable in formal complaint lodged with the Alabama public service commission by the Birmingham traffic association of the Chamber of Commerce. The complaint alleges that the rates are unfair as compared with rates to other sawmill points.

Baptists of Greensboro are beginning very extensive improvements on their church. They are having it veneered in brick and otherwise improving it. When completed it will be one of the handsomest in the state. This church is of particular interest to Baptists over the state, because it was in Greensboro that the first Baptist convention was founded.

Gadsden solved the jitney question, according to official belief, when the city council passed an ordinance forbidding their operation on streets occupied by street railways. The ordinance prohibits them from running on upon or along streets where car lines run, and it also prohibits them from operating between Gadsden and towns connected with it by street railways.

Prof. Clay Curtis Matthews, principal of Coosa county high school, and Dixon King, a student, were seriously burned by explosion of a gasoline can, containing a gallon of gas. Professor Matthews was severely burned on his right hand and arm, and other burns were sustained on his face, left hand and arm and leg. Young King was not so badly injured.

Effective Jan. 1, the capacity of the Albany Broom Factory will be double what it has been in the past. J. F. The Huntsville Chamber of Commerce has been in correspondence with the Southern railway officials for some time past with reference to restoration of trains No. 23 and 24, which were operated on the Memphis division until the depression following the war boom caused them to be taken off.

The pecan yield of Hale county has been good this year, despite the long drouth in the summer. Parties shipping their nuts to New York got as high as 70 cents per pound for them and express charges paid. Others shipping to the co-operative market in Georgia also got wonderful prices.

The last word in the widely discussed case involving the suit for damages of J. W. Green against the Grand International Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, took place when the Supreme Court of Alabama denied application for rehearing made by the brotherhood.

President C. E. James has gone to New York to make final arrangements for extending the Tennessee, Alabama & Georgia railroad from Gadsden to Margaret, Ala., where connection will be made via the Seaboard into Birmingham.

The Huntsville Star Publishing company, which has been incorporated by Edward Doty, formerly of LaFayette, Ala., his wife, daughter and son-in-law, will establish a morning paper in Huntsville during the latter part of January, it is announced.

UNCLE DOCK DOES RUSHING BUSINESS

Uncle Dock Wells, in partnership with Dan Cupid, is doing a rushing business in holiday marriages. Last Sunday morning at the home of Mr. Johnafer Headley in West End, Clanton, he tied the Gordeon Knot for Mr. Glen Vickers and Miss Emma Downs, also Mr. Otis Headley and Miss Beatrice Alred. Both marriages took place just five minutes apart.

MR. J. H. HAYES

The Union-Banner was pleased to have call to see us last Friday Mr. J. H. Hayes, a former resident of Chilton County but who now lives in Santiago, California. Mr. Hayes talks very interestingly of conditions in Southern California, and as his home is only a few miles from the Mexican Border, he tells interesting things regarding the big bull fights and horse races and revolutions which so abound in that old country.

Mr. Hayes was here on account of the sickness of his mother, who lives in West End, Clanton. He says that he will remain here until his mother recovers.
